$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulins, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a world celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind and baffled for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropoddical and Healing Institute, No. 705 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
OF
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prize—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

HENRY WARD BEECHER ON OLD CLOTHES.—In referring to the happiness of early house-keeping, Henry Ward Beecher recently said in the pulpit:—

"I would not give up the first two years of my married life for all I have now. I live in a big house, with a brownstone front, and very fairly furnished; but, after all, among the choicest experiences of my life were those which I passed through in Indiana, when I hired two chambers up stairs; when all my furniture was given to me, and was second-hand at that; and when the very clothes which I had on my back had been worn by Judge Birney before me. We were not able to hire a servant. We had to serve ourselves. It was a study every day how to get along with our small means—and it was a study never to be forgotten. I owe many of the pleasures which have run through my life to being willing to begin where I had to begin, and to fight poverty with love, and to overcome it, and to learn how to live in service and helpfulness, and in all the thousand ingenuities which love sweetens and more and more delightful."

Is there another clergyman in the country, of any degree of prominence, who would stand up in the pulpit before a fashionable audience, and say that the very clothes he once had on his back had been worn by Judge Birney before him! Is it any wonder that Mr. Beecher is beloved by the people? New York Ledger.

Nast has finally come to the surface again. He dived out of sight when the Credit Mobilier scandal came up for investigation, and staid out of sight, despite the earnest enquiries from the press of the country, as to what had become of the great cartoonist when such rich matter for his satiric pencil was being brought to light. But he has come up again, yet in what shape? Why, as a quasi apologist for the great culprits of the Credit Mobilier, whose doings in magnitude of audacity and richness of pecuniary rewards, outvie the highest flight of the Tammany scoundrels. Nast now portrays the female Genius of Columbia in her usual loose habiliments, with a bared arm of the size and appearance of a leg of mutton with a fearful frown upon her majestic phiz, as she glances at the Tammany ring, and with her stubby fore-finger pointing at the Credit Mobilier innocents, says, "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone." Harper's Weekly has slopped over, and has shown that if the devil can quote scripture when he will, so also can those who claim sanctity, without really being much better. Nast had better have stayed below. His pencil lost its strength when it began to die criminnate between rogues.—Charlestown Advertiser.

—Three Troy girls lately etherized a fourth, in order to ascertain who had sent her a valentine. They thought that while under the influence of the drug she would answer any question that they put to her. They were forced to send for a physician to restore her to consciousness, and were cured of their curiosity, for a few days, at least.

—Boys will be boys. The Mayor of Detroit explains that he pulled down the small pox flag from a tenement owned by him, because the boys would persist in gathering together there, and "daring" each other to scale the fence and approach the house on which the flag was displayed.

Thirty years ago a young man entered the city of New York in an almost penniless condition and without a single acquaintance in the great wilderness of houses. To-day his name is known wherever humanity breathes. It is spoken in every hamlet, is heard in every city, and is as familiar to the workers in the mines as to his brothers in the mills, and wherever language is known and ideas expressed, the name of this penniless, unknown and uncouth lad of thirty years ago is uttered. It was John Smith.

—The stylish girl will come out next spring in polonaise of Napoleon blue almost as deep as navy blue with polka dot, and refuse altogether to be considered the girl of the period after all. The master of the house will go home some warm evening this month to find his wife in costume of chocolate foulard, with dice pattern in white, and be expected to admire it.

A VENERABLE COASTER.—During one of the coldest mornings of this week, a gentleman who generally drives to his place of business in a one horse cutter thought he would change his mode of locomotion, on account of the severity of the weather.

The gentleman, who is a very giant in physical proportions, weighing about two hundred and twenty pounds, started to walk down Julien Avenue, but soon tired of this, and seeing a youth approaching with a handsome coasting sled, he signed and wished he was a boy again. This feeling culminated in his seizing the "coaster" and starting down the middle of the street as he had seen other boys do. Everything was lovely until our overgrown boy rounded the turn at the "Diamond House," when the rapidity at which he was going began to terrify him. He did not understand the art of "regulating the speed of his conveyance." He pulled upon the rope in front of him, only to find that this increased the velocity. Thoroughly frightened now, he called with the voice of a stentor to the astonished spectators, "Stop her! stop her! for God sake, stop her!"

But his appeal availed not; instead of coming to the imperilled rider's rescue, people fled hurriedly out of the way, and down came our friend faster and faster, to the music of laughing men, screaming women and barking dogs, his own cries for help adding to the uproar. Suddenly the sled shot into an alley near Locust Street, and bumped our amateur coaster headforemost into a snowbank. After ascertaining that he was uninjured, our friend registered a solemn vow to never again attempt to play boy on the ice.—Dubuque Telegraph.

Readables.

A Minnesota husband was obliged to pay a fine of $50 which he had caused to be imposed on his wife for assaulting him.

Gen. Banks is said to be glad that he is out of politics. As he spoke and voted for the salary swindle, the people reciprocate his joy.

This announcement in the New York Times will everywhere be read with profound anxiety: "We regret to learn that Mr. George W. Curtis is lying very ill at his house on Staten Island. The labors of Mr. Curtis at Washington in the civil service commission, and elsewhere, have been arduous of late and it is feared he has over-taxed his strength. His physician describes his malady as a fever of a low, typhoid character, and it has now run for eighteen days without signs of abatement. The present condition of Mr. Curtis is serious, but hopes are entertained of a change for the better.

Miss Susan B. Anthony has been voting again. The Rochester Union is authority for the statement that she voted in that city on Tuesday, and that two other "strong-minded women" also cast ballots. Nobody was bold enough to challenge them.

A special despatch from Washington says that ex-Senator Patterson's friends are charging the majority of Republican Senators with a gross violation of their pledges because they decided in caucus not to take up and consider his case. On the other hand, these Senators excuse themselves by hinting that it would not be for Patterson's interest to have his case re-opened.

The Ohio friends of Judge Bingham say that they have good reason to believe he will be appointed minister to Japan.

An Indiana paper has already hoisted its ticket for 1876. It is: Oliver P. Morton for President, and Benjamin F. Butler for Vice-President.

A Danbury boy having heard that a cat will invariably strike on her feet from whatever distance dropped, borrowed a cat and made the experiment from a bed room window. Unfortunately the cat dropped before he was ready, and in a spasmodic effort to recover her, he lost his balance and rolled out of the window after her. How she struck nobody knows, but how he struck was quite evident to the entire neighborhood an instant after.

The English ministry have been defeated on the Irish University bill. Gladstone has resigned.

At Charlotte, Iowa, Tuesday, a man attempted to cross a creek with a wagon containing five persons. They were swept away by the current and all but one man was drowned.

Katy, aged three years, was trying to think of a pleasant surprise for her father on his birthday. At last she cried, "I know, mamma. I know. What, my dear?" "Get me a little sister without saying anything to papa."

Senator Boutwell was congratulated by Senator Sumner as follows.—

"I congratulate the country, I congratulate the State and I congratulate myself in having you as my colleague."

The decrease of the city debt last year was $43,070,14. Liabilities, $217,845,15.

A four-year-old recently complained that his teeth had stepped on his tongue.

PETROLEUM INEXHAUSTIBLE.—According to the statement of the production of petroleum for 1872, as published in the Titusville Herald, the business appears to be increasing in all the oil regions, and the opening of new wells gives promise that it will not decline, but may be considered practically inexhaustible. The production of the Canadas and the United States reached the enormous figures of 7,594,090 barrels, or 20,271 barrels daily. Production has nearly doubled in five years. The shipments from the Pennsylvania region were 5,712,365 barrels, an increase of between two and three hundred thousand barrels. The total export was 3,497,344 barrels, a decrease of 251,098 barrels. For the first time in the history of the trade there was a falling off in the export. This decline was used by the attempts of the producers and refiners to force prices up early in the year. As a result, January 1, 1873, there was a heavy stock on hand, estimated at more than a million barrels.

THE NEW SENATORS.—The Boston Globe's Washington correspondent says:—

Young men predominate among the new Senators. There is an air of "newness," too, with most of them. Dorsey of Ark., Conover of Fla., Patterson of S. C., Mitchell of Oregon, Gordon of Georgia, are under forty years of age, while Ingalls of Kan., Wadleigh of N. H., and Merrimon of N. C., are but little over that age. There are three vacant seats in the Chamber, one to be worthily filled by Boutwell. The others are the contested places from Louisiana, and that of Gen. Gordon, of Georgia.

Messrs. Merrimon and Gordon are both regarded by their party as able—the former especially so, while McCreery, of Kentucky, who is the jollest and laziest man in the Senate, is also an able one, but wears a funeral aspect.

On the Republican side Messrs. Wadleigh, Mitchell and Ingalls may be set down as the most promising, intellectually considered. Mr. Wadleigh looks like a ready, self-possessed man, trained in court and likely to make a decent position here.

STAIRCASE FLIRTATIONS.—Amid the flash of jewels, the rustle of silks and the reflection of gas-light upon mirrors and glass, in the picture which our correspondent, the Countess Dash, draws of Washington in the carnival season, there is mention of the growth of a most reprehensible custom among the youthful fashion of the Capital. The "staircase nuisance" has perhaps been elsewhere observed, but its development in Washington gives it a cosmopolitan stamp and a distinguished authority. What has formerly been confined to a stroll in the conservatory, to the secrecy of a deep window seat behind the heavy damask curtains, or to a cosy corner of the supper-room, is now perched upon the elevation of the staircase and flaunted into the eyes of the multitude. This innovation upon the established usages of flirtation is alarming in its tendency, as showing the possibility of the establishment of that amusement as a serious part of Washington social customs, and at the same time exhibiting a proficiency in the art, on the part of the youth of the Capital, that permits such an open exhibition of artless art. The staircase flirtation is probably imported from England along with the "kettle drum" and other exotics that find growth in Washington society; but it is none the less dangerous for that, as may be understood by any well brought up young woman who knows the advantage of having her natural enemy, man, in such a corner as that afforded by the construction of a staircase.—Post.

NEW YORK "JUSTICE."—The course of what is facetiously termed "justice" in New York is inscrutable and past finding out. The court of common pleas, a few days since, rendered a decision, the effect of which is, that if you lose your leg by the willful brutality of an employe of a railroad, you have no redress against the company, but may sue the employe, which would probably afford a small chance of satisfaction. The facts in the case were these:

About two years ago, a Mr. Reinmann entered one of the Third Avenue passenger cars, for the purpose of going to the German hospital. The car was crowded and he was obliged to stand on the front platform. He told the driver that he wished to get off at Seventy-seventh street, and asked him to stop the car. He took a position on the lower step, in order to be ready to jump off when the car should stop. The driver refused to check up his horses, and, seizing Reinmann by the collar, pushed him off. One of his feet was thrown under the car and the wheel passed over it, mangling it in such a manner as to necessitate amputation. He brought suit against the company, claiming $20,000 damages. After his evidence had been submitted, the counsel for the company moved for the dismissal of the suit, for the reason that in a former case, in which the facts were precisely similar, the New York court of appeals held that a railroad company is not responsible for the wilful or malicious acts of its employes. The court very reluctantly informed Mr. Reinmann that under this ruling of the appellate court he had no cause or action against the company, and he was remitted to his remedy against the driver, a brutal and irresponsible ruffian, who would laugh at a suit for damages.

The Dover City bonds in aid of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, have all been purchased by the Portsmouth Trust Company at par, who also agree to pay the interest on them till the completion of the road.

The Dover Enquirer says the dramatic entertainment by the Pythian Club of Portsmouth, was largely attended and highly creditable to the performers. Many of the parts were rendered very finely.

—Where is that elderly scamp who has howled for sixty-three years for an old-fashioned winter. Where is the old reptile, that we can get at him. How we would like to run him through a planing mill run by ice water, and cut him open with a snow plow, and fill him full of snow balls, and sow him up with an icicle, and strap him to the north pole until the spring rains released him. The awful wretch.

—The Chicago Post has this interesting announcement: "Queen Victoria will appear in public, next season, more than she has during any year since the death of Prince Albert." The queen remarked to us, the last time we saw her, says the Courier-Journal, that whenever she determined to go into society more than usual, she would let us know through the Chicago Post.

—Jones had worried Smith with conundrums very often; and now it was Smith's turn. "Guess what I did last night?" said Smith. Jones thought of various and sundry improbable things, and suggested the making of a speech, the doing of a kindness, the getting into the lock-up, and finally gave up the conundrum in despair. "Well," said Smith in a triumphant tone, "I slept."

—One of our best students of physiology writes against the practice of doing night work, and claims that the man who works in the morning and devotes the balance of the day to recreation will accomplish more than he who works later in the night, and will do it better. People who have been in the habit of getting in their kindlings after dark, with a lesky lantern and a borrowed axe, will find the experiment worth making.

—At a party, Smith, the funny man, picked from the floor some false hair, and, holding it aloft, wickedly asked who had lost it. Impulsively the hand of every lady within earshot went to her back hair. It was cruel to throw them off their guard and expose them so, but Smith says it wasn't his fault.

HEALTH is often impaired by the excessive use of tea or coffee. The delicious fragrance and strengthening qualities of a nice cup of Broma or Cocoa, are known to the student, the invalid, and to the hard worker, the world over. To secure such in its greatest purity, or any of the finest preparations of Chocolate, our readers have only to ask their grocer for goods bearing the stamp of Walter Baker & Co., Boston. This old house has the highest reputation for its goods, and dates so far back as 1851.

AVERT THE DANGER.—The "ethereal mildness" with which poets credit the vernal season is more an illusion of the fancy than a meteorological fact. Early Spring in temperate climates is a tearful time, and the tears are usually too cool for health or comfort. To avert the complaints to which the fogs and winds of the season are apt to give rise, prudent people who believe in the proverb that "prevention is better than cure" fortify their stomachs and brace up their nerves and muscles with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Those who do this are wise, and are rewarded for their wisdom by escaping visitations of chills and fever, rheumatism, biliousness, flatulency, constipation, stomach complaint, &c., so common in damp, inhospitable weather. To the less prudent, who neglect this precaution, and suffer for it, we would say, these disorders which this potent vegetable tonic prevents it also cures.

CASTORIA is more than a substitute for Castor Oil. It is the only safe article in existence which is certain to assimilate the food, regulate the bowels, cure wind-colic and produce natural sleep. I contains neither minerals, morphine or alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and moth may rest.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

Mr. Small Elected.

The Dover Enquirer says:—

Although the Boston papers and dispatches from Concord concede the election of Hibbard, we think there is little doubt of the success of Mr. Small. Twenty-five towns give him a net gain of 485 over the vote of 1871, where Hibbard had 359 plurality. Twenty-five more towns on the Governor vote show 300 more gain over Hibbard's vote in 1871.

The Manchester Mirror of Thursday says 190 towns give Straw 31,138, Weston 28,698, scattering 1452. Straw's majority 1168. The remaining towns gave Weston 842 majority last year. Gov. Straw is doubtless re-elected. The first and second Congressional districts are in doubt. Hon. Frank A. McKean, democrat, has 147 plurality for Mayor of Nashua.

A gentleman from Concord informs us that the republican State committee announced on Thursday afternoon the election of Hon. William B. Small to Congress from this district by 200 plurality. The democrats concede his election.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers: if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

The Board of Mayor and Aldermen and the Common Council met in joint convention at the Council Rooms on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, in accordance with the city ordinance. The returns of votes from the several wards were read, and gave Thomas E. O. Marvin 997 and Frank W. Miller 996 votes for Mayor; and a resolution offered by Alderman Wilson, that Thomas E. O. Marvin having received the largest number of votes be declared Mayor of the city of Portsmouth, was adopted. The convention then rose.

Wagner's Examination

On the charge of murdering Anethe M. Christensen and her half-sister, Karen Christenson, took place at South Berwick, Me., on the 12th, before trial justice Alexander Dennett, Esq., of York, Wagner pleading "not guilty." An immense crowd was present, and there was considerable excitement. District Attorney Yeaton conducted the case for the government, but intimated that he should not present the whole case, as many murderers escaped justice through the government showing its whole hand before compelled to.

There were present as witnesses several police officers from Boston, City Marshal Johnson and Asst. Marshal Entwistle of this city, Mrs. Johnson (at whose house Wagner boarded) and her daughter, John T. Hontvet, Dr. Jones and Mr. C. L. Hayes of Kittery, and others. The evidence was mainly such as has already been given, the following being the principal addition:

Mr. Freizell sworn: Reside in Portsmouth: have shop on Bow street: on the morning of March 6th was at Newcastle waiting for a dory to cross the river; there are two rivers and a small creek there; did not cross the bridge, as a dart of it had been carried away by the ice; was there about fifteen minutes before 7: [white hat produced]; saw that hat worn by the prisoner; I recognize Mr. Wagner; have seen him before, at work on the street; he appeared to be in a hurry and seemed exhausted; he crossed the bridge on a stringer by our help; he straddled it and worked his way with his hands; wore a loose blouse; he spoke but once, and then in answer to my remark, "you'll weather it," he said "I guess so," did not ask us to assist him, did it of our own accord; he appeared to be in a hurry to get across and seemed exhausted.

When the prosecution rested their case Attorney Yeaton asked the court to instruct the prisoner fully as to his rights. At this junction a Mr. Collins, of Boston, made himself conspicuous by insisting on managing things for the prisoner, and only subsided when threatened with arrest by Mr. Yeaton.

Wagner then made a statement in his own behalf, stoutly denying any knowledge of the murders and contradicting the government witnesses, and saying; "as sure as there is a God in heaven I can only say I did not do it, and know nothing about it. Those people were my best friends; they kept me when I was a cripple; if I wanted money I know every trunk in the house; know Hontvet was in Portsmouth; could have gone there and taken the money if they were asleep without murdering them?" He closed with a bitter complaint against Mrs. Hontvet for accusing him of the murder.

He was committed to Portland jail to await trial at the Supreme Judicial Court, which sits at Alfred on the third Tuesday of May next.

FLORAL.—We are in receipt of the annual Catalogue of John Rogers, Nursery, Seedsman and Florist, of the well-known Cottage Gardens in Kittery, for a copy of his Catalogue for his twenty-seventh year. Mr. Rogers is a direct lineal descendant of the original John, or the one who stands first in the public historic eye for all time, although he does not claim that the family have occupied this location all the while—for Kittery and Maine have always been rather tolerant of opinions, so that actions were not censurable, and there is but little of persecution chargeable to them, and no witchcraft. Still our John is no new man in his place, occupying there since 1846,—but better than any new one; and the farm is an heir-loom in the family; and there does seem some witchery or alchemy in the way he makes things grow.

Ladies from this city, competent judges and recent visitors of Mr. Rogers, report his greenhouses looking beautifully, especially in the line of lilies and foliage plants, &c., and a call there at any time is always repaid by the display. His specialties are Flower Seeds, Hardy Roots, Shrubs, Bulbs, &c., but he furnishes anything in his line to order. It is very easy and common for purchasers to go much further from home for such things, and fare much worse.

The new greenhouses of Mrs. Amos Pearson, on Broad Street, near Richards Avenue, and of Mrs. Haley, on the Avenue; as also the older ones of Mr. Goodall, on State Street, in this city, are also worthy of patronage by citizens desiring bouquets and cut flowers, and are receiving it. A thing of beauty must be more than ever a joy forever, when it sells well.

—The ingenuity of a woman is beyond all earthly comprehension. A Danbury lady becoming tired of bothering with wood, besought her husband to get a coal stove, and devote the rest of their life to that fuel, but he wouldn't do it. He said wood was cheaper, and he might as well be chopping it and saving the money. Having exhausted her eloquence without any effect, she hit upon a very simple device. She extended her clothes line over his chopping block. After supper he adorned himself with his ax and went out for fuel, and five minutes later came tearing into the house without his hat, and with his mouth half full of blood, lacerated gums and broken teeth. A bright and cheerful coal fire now illuminates that home.

—The papers are making quite an ado about the falling of a tree which killed an old servant of General Washington. We don't very well see how a tree could fall without killing one of them.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at a times prevalent, it is the cause of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with P[illegible] friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that prescribed by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Morning Chronicle.

—A Tennessee paper favors the formation of a new State out of southwestern Kentucky, western Tennessee and north Mississippi, and that it be called Jackson. The paper says that the counties thus included have a population of about 700,000, and "constitute the centre of industrial and intellectual life, from which the great outgrowth of civilization must expand." Evidently a new Hub.

—The Danbury News bites at human nature thus:—"There was a fight between Danbury and Norwalk roosters in this place, Friday. The pain every good citizen must feel over such brutal display is somewhat modified by the fact that our rooster licked."

—A fussy old man having cut his finger, sent for a physician, who, after examining the wound, requested his servant to run as quick as possible for a certain plaster. "Oh, my!" cries the patient, "Is the danger so great?" "Yes," was the reply, "If the fellow don't run fast, I'm afraid the cut will be well before he gets back."

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, RHEUMATISM

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the advantage of all the elements, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures a thousand ills simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for Disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energetic effects are not followed by corresponding reaction. Its cures are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an iron constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to active, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

Not that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,869.25. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulin, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Palpitation of the Nerves, and all Nervous Disorders. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c. It equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and colds, and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so universally successful, or established such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Inverting Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the foot, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frozen Feet. The Alleviator for collateral corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unremitting study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TEMPLETON, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two things the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, MARCH 15, 1873.

Rendables.

Another ocean cable is to be laid between England and the United States. All the money nessary for carrying out the project has been subscribed, and contracts for constructing the cables have been completed. By the articles of association the company is forbidden from cooperating with any other company. This will be a step toward breaking up the monopoly of ocean telegraphy between this country and Europe. The termini of the cable will be Plymouth, England, and Rye Beach.

It is said, ex-Senator Patterson will continue to reside in Washington, where he owns a residence, and will supervise the large real estate interests, which he has acquired by his connection with Credit Mobilier and the District ring. He is not anxious to come back to New Hampshire at present, and he has no other place to go to.

Oakes Ames had a great reception at his home in North Easton, Mass., Thursday evening, in which prominent clergymen and politicians joined.

In Randolph, Mass., a bed was set on fire by the breaking of a kerosene lamp. The occupant of the bed, Mrs. Wm. Berry, an old lady, was shockingly injured and lived only a few hours.

The Massachusetts legislators are considering a bill relating to elections in Boston, which puts the whole voting machinery into the hands of three supervisors, who will appoint the registers and inspectors of the different precincts. No counting of ballots is permitted until the closing of the polls and no votes ought to be received after this, and we presume are not. Illegal voting is punished by imprisonment.

A domestic tragedy occurred at Vallejo, California, Wednesday, a man named James D. Page shooting his wife with a pistol, and then killing himself with the same weapon.

Hon. Henry Howard is the republican nominee for Governor of Rhode Island.

Advices from Mexico show a rather stormy condition of affairs. Religious fanaticism is rife, and a serious collision has occurred between the Protestants and Catholics.

The San Francisco papers intimate that Lizzie Gannon, who endeavored to shoot Charles F. MacDermot, is insane. The latter says he was slightly acquainted with her eight years ago and cannot account for the assault upon him. Miss G. is intelligent and of gentle deportment. She has been released on $5000 bail.

The jury in the Hanover-street fire inquest has returned a verdict condemning the carelessness in the construction of the upper stories and in not properly securing the fireplace, and the inadequate passage for ingress and egress. The jury recommends a thorough inspection of all buildings in the city used for similar purposes.

Hiram Allen, a blind man, seventy-six years old, residing in Portland, fell down stairs, Wednesday morning, fracturing his skull and killing him.

James Flanigan, aged 19 years, was run over and so severely injured near the freight depot in Lowell, Wednesday afternoon, that death ensued in a short time. He took passage at North Chelmsford. The train stopped for a signal on its approach to the depot, when he stepped off, and when attempting to get off was cut between the hips and through the abdomen.

"Buffalo Bill" and "Texas Jack" received $1000 each as their share of the net profits of the presentation of the "Scouts of the Prairie" at the Boston Theatre last week.

The Omaha (Neb.) Republican begins an article in this way: "On the west bank of the Missouri, like a boy dangling his feet in a mud-puddle, sits the city of Omaha. She holds the gate way to the Pacific coast, and the agricultural lands this side the slope that are tributary for supplies. There are nearly 20,000 people chasing the dollars in the corporation, and yet everybody has a chance to turn an honest penny." And then it goes on to show the necessity for sidewalks.

The President has nominated Judge Richardson to be Secretary of the Treasury.

The President has renominated Gen. Harriman to be Naval Officer at Boston. Good!

The State Election.

The tenth Senatorial district, reported in doubt, elects Senator Hitchcock, republican. This makes seven out of twelve Senators republican. In the 6th district Sanborn, democrat, was reported elected, but it is incorrect. If there is any choice, Patch, republican is chosen. The democrats will have three Senators.

Mr. Parker, democrat, in the Third Congressional district, is elected by 500 plurality. The republicans have elected councillors in districts, Nos. 1, 2 and 4. In the second district there is no choice. John J. Morrill, republican, will be elected by the Legislature. The fifth district is democratic.

The House will probably have fifty majority. James W. Emery of Portsmouth will probably be the most prominent candidate for Speaker of the House.

Now for the first time in its history comes a Republican Representative.

Canterbury is redeemed. A clean republican board of Town Officers and a republican representative, with a majority for Straw and Pike.

Nottingham has covered itself with glory, giving the republican candidates from 4 to 31 majority.

In the second Congressional District complete returns give Pike 10,819, Bell, 10,798, scattering 173; Pike's plurality 21.

Complete returns from Senatorial District No. 2, give Ayer, Dem., 2,582; Sanborn, Rep., 2,476; scattering, 426, and there is no election. Sanborn will be elected by the Legislature.

Returns from all but nineteen towns give Gov. Straw 639 majority.

The Portsmouth Vote.

The official returns of the vote of the city of Portsmouth for Mayor show a defeat of Miller by Marvin, by a single vote. The true story points a moral often expounded in these columns—the duty of every man to vote. How many friends of Mr. Miller staid at home, on Tuesday?—Worcester Gazette.

Many, who regret it. One democrat informs us that he had decided to vote for Mr. Miller, but that a "liberal" candidate for alderman in the first ward assured him that Mr. Miller had promised to close up the apothecary and liquor shops and the voter therefore did not vote for Mayor, which he greatly regrets now that he thinks his vote might have counted. We do not believe, however, that Mr. Miller would have been declared elected even had he received 100 majority in the first and second wards, instead of 88. He was to be counted out in the third ward at all hazards.

Kittery School Matters.

School matters in Kittery present a favorable aspect, most creditable to a country town. District No. 6 (Kittery Point) will immediately put up a fine new schoolhouse, two stories in height. The pupils in this district, on the occasion of their exhibition at the close of the winter term of their school, last week, presented the teacher, Miss Harriet M. Shapleigh, and the assistant teacher, Miss Mattie Hopkins, with gifts to the amount of $30.

The recently burned school house in District No. 3, (Spruce Creek,) is to be at once replaced by a larger and more convenient building.

The schoolhouse in District No. 9 has been provided with a fine Woods organ, valued at $150, the funds to purchase which were raised by subscription among the citizens, by school exhibitions, etc. The principal of the school, Mr. Dustin, is entitled to much credit for his successful exertions in furthering this object and every other one aiming at the welfare and advancement of the school under his charge.

—A rather curious incident occurred at a church in Hartford one evening last week. One of the prominent ministers of the city went there to preach. His sermon was written out, with the text preceding it, in the usual way. When he arose to preach he read the text, but when he attempted to locate it he was "stuck," for he had forgotten to note down chapter and verse. He finally asked his congregation to locate it. One of his hearers accommodated him, and the sermon proceeded without further interruption.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 71.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Sympathy in England for America in the Revolutionary Struggle.—It is probably well known that some in England opposed the arbitrary measures of the government that led to the war. The noble Pitt, at the head of the ministry of the king, declared that "representation and taxation were inseparable." Others said, they had no right to tax America. I find among Gov. Weare's papers in part of a newspaper, a poem on the subject from the London Magazine. It appeared there probably late in 1774 and was published here in 1775. The American publisher heads it "Parnassian Packet." Parnassus was a mountain in Greece, named in mythology to Apollo and the Muses. Apollo was the deity of music, &c. The Muses were nine fabled deities over music, &c. Pope in the "Essay on Man" asks relative to the place where happiness is found, if it is "tuned with the wreaths Parnassian laurels yield, or reaped in iron harvests of the field?"

On the Proceedings against America.

"Lost to our simplicity of times;
The world abounds with laws and terms with crimes;
From justice, fierce ambitious wrests the sword;
Kings would be Gods and Monarchs ev'ry Lord.
Law, place, order, subjection, pride confounds,
And lust of rule despotic, nothing bounds.
In vain between this iron seat of power
Where the State vultures everything devour,
And the new world where freedom's sons had fled
And heaved a desert with untasted bread,
The great Atlantic rolls its wat'ry bar,
Oppression's fatal dart can speed so far.
With vengeance pointed, see it mount the sky,
And law pretentions give it wings to fly.
O'er violated charters, freedom weeps
And keen suspicion constant vigils keeps.
Commerce from frequent marts no more her own,
Exiled to foreign coasts, compelled to flown.
Oppression heals with balsams neglected side
Britannia's bulwarks and Brittania's pride.
The hostile sword, dread thought! prepared we draw,
To rule by force, the tyrant's only law.
With eye uplifted and with suppliant hands,
Her empire shaken true religion stands,
With air astonish'd, trembling for her doom;
And hears, or seems to hear the chains of Rome.
See from the deck Brittania's genius rise
Ardent in prayer, and thus address the skies.
Their freedom Heaven defend!—avert the blow,
Crush the vile scheme and lay the miscreants low,
Who counsel, give, or lift the impious hand
To stab our country in a foreign land.
Inspire each patriot breast with ten-fold zeal
And for our refuge save our common weal!
And teach each little Monarch here below
What tyrants ought to feel and Princes know.

A SHOWER OF QUICKSILVER.—A remarkable phenomenon was witnessed recently in the town of San Ignacia, Sinaloa. There was quite a shower of quicksilver, fine drops of mercury falling everywhere and covering the plants. The inhabitants collected many drops to preserve as mementoes of this singular shower, and samples have been secured for scientific analysis.

—The Indiana Legislature has passed a bill to prevent minors from playing billiards, whereupon the Courier-Journal spitefully remarks: "We never blamed Indiana much for permitting a boy of eighteen or twenty years of age to buy a divorce for ten dollars, but we always did think she was very wrong in suffering him to punch billiards."

—A small boy was received at Harrisburg, Pa., the other night, who had been ticketed through from Texas, the ticket being pinned to his coat. The various conductors took much interest in him and he had a jolly time.

—A Tennessee tame crow, which could say "Andrew Jackson," sold for thirty dollars. The man tried for a year to make it say "By the eternal," but the crow couldn't fetch it.

A QUESTION OF TIME.—The recent cough or cold, that without proper treatment may become chronic and last for months, can be radically cured by a few doses of that invaluable pectoral elixir, Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Crittenton's, 7 6th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The greatest novelty of modern medical and chemical science is found in Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules—scarcely larger than mustard seed, yet possessing as much cathartic power as the old style of large, squalsive pills, while they are more easily taken and are promised to close up apothecary and pleasant in effect. 25 cents a vial, for sale by Druggists. 670

☞ Persons suffering with Liver Complaint in any of its various forms will do well to call at Gilbert's Root and Herb Store, and try some of his Liver Lozenges. Many have tried them and are rejoicing to-day.

☞ The improvements in Hanover street, Boston, render the American House one of the most desirable, as it has long been one of the best stopping places in Boston, either for business men or pleasure seekers.

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Bochman's Pulmocine, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

BOCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

The Election.

The latest footing up of the congressional vote in district No. 1 gives Small (rep.) between 200 and 300 plurality. Straw's majority for governor will be between 300 and 400. The latest footing of the returns of the second congressional district, which embrace all the towns but one, elect Austin F. Pike of Franklin, the republican candidate, by 17 plurality. The vote stands; Pike, 10,794; Bell, 10,777; scattering, 173. Thus it will be seen that the democrats have carried but one, instead of the three congressional districts as first reported.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers; if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

JAMES C. BROWN, DEPUTY SHERIFF. Office No. 35 Market Street.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The "Reform" Victory.

The question, "Who shall be Mayor," has been decided by the City Councils in convention, and Hon. Thomas E. O. Marvin is to fill the chair he worked so hard and sacrificed so much to win, for a year to come. This result of the municipal contest is a disappointment to many who were anxious to have Mr. Miller in the mayor's chair on account of the Fourth of July celebration; to others, who thought the cry of "reform" came with a bad grace from a man who abandoned his party solely from an overweening thirst for office; and to the republican party of the city, in general, who are confident that they elected Mr. Frank W. Miller, and were cheated of the result of an honest victory through the unscrupulous trickery of the democratic managers.

Many republicans hoped the City Councils would order a recount of the vote; but such action would have been entirely useless, for the reason that if fraud was committed in declaring the vote, the men who committed that fraud would not scruple to fix the ballots all right to correspond with their declarations. An error, made by honest men, would be discovered; a fraud would not be, as our imperfect election laws leave the ballots in the sole custody of the ward officers, depending entirely on their honesty to prevent the ballots being tampered with.

Probably the least mournful republican in the city is the defeated candidate, Mr. Miller. His nomination in the caucus by the unsolicited votes of his friends, over a candidate who worked strenuously for himself and whose supporters brought to bear every possible inducement to secure his nomination, was a flattering evidence of the estimation in which Mr. Miller is held; and the fact that the breweries, the Eastern Railroad, the Kearsarge Mills, free beer, the liberal use of money and the most eager ditch-scraping for votes by the successful candidate and the men who tendered him a nomination, managed to elect Mr. Marvin by but one plurality, (assuming that the vote in ward three was honestly declared,) leaves little room for crowing on the part of the coalition. P.

Laconics.

Portsmouth is happy over a letter from Senator Cragin that two of the new steam sloops of war are to be built at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. This insures the discharged workmen "a job on the yard" the coming season.

Mr. Henry S. Vanderbilt, formerly of this city, has resigned the position of appointment clerk in the Treasury department at Washington.

The Boston Globe has the following:

In Portsmouth a few nights since, General Patterson's horse Buckskin undertook to indulge in the feat of rearing and standing on his hind legs. He did this successfully, but unfortunately for himself, placed his hind feet on the cover of a scuttle hole, which broke under the weight, and let him through the hole, which measured only 17 1-2 by 37 inches, into the cellar below, occupied by a pig. It required the ice and snow so as to extricate him. He came out all right, apparently not having suffered the loss of a hair.

The crew of the fishing steamer G. W. Hunt have averaged about $75 per month for each man, clear of all expenses, during the winter. The season is now about over, several vessels having hauled off to prepare for the Spring fishing, and others will follow in a few days.

On Friday, City Marshal Johnson recovered a team at Milton Three Ponds, which had been stolen from Mr. Henry R. Stoddard in this city the Tuesday previous.

It is said that Col. George Marston of Sandown is an applicant for the Pension Agency now filled by Major Daniel J. Vaughan. We hope Mr. Vaughan will be reappointed, and we think republicans as well as democrats in this vicinity are unanimously in favor of it.

The President has honored Col. William H. Hackett of this city by appointing him as one of the visitors to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Rev. Carlos Martyn gives the second lecture in behalf of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals sometime next week. Subject: "A Speech for the Speechless." Due notice of the evening and place will be given in Monday's issue. The lecture will be free.

A correspondent writes us that "at Newcastle, recently, a six-year-old cow that gives a good quantity and fine quality of milk for eleven months in the year, and was raised from a cow lately owned by Mr. Richard D. Smart of this city, gave birth to twin calves, (of the imported Dutch breed on the Davis farm at Sagamore Creek,) of opposite sexes, jet black, and in good condition. A like circumstance has not taken place in this town for forty-five years."

The Lyre's Liar.

Willie, of the Lyre, charges Mr. Frank W. Miller with "an impudent attempt to get up a fraudulent recount of the votes, and to have himself declared elected by a partisan vote in the City Councils. It failed, because he could find no man so base as to join him in the perpetration of the fraud." The Lyre's editor was well aware at the time he wrote that statement that it was a falsehood, entirely without foundation, the fact being that the election was not contested solely because Mr. Miller positively refused to take any action at all in the matter. Willie is evidently just as fond of throwing slurs at his political antagonists now, and as indifferent as to the truth or falsity of his statements, as he formerly was when denouncing Alderman T. E. O. Marvin as "the tool and creature of the ring" in the Board of Aldermen; but no one can say that Mr. Frank W. Miller has ever done anything which deserves the support and commendation of the Lyre and its editor.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—The entire Republican ticket for County officers in Rockingham is no doubt elected—Treasurer, Register of Deeds, and County Commissioner. The first two are the present able, faithful and popular incumbents. The new Commissioner is Woodbury M. Durgin, of Northwood, a young farmer, who is also engaged in the shoe and leather freighting business between Northwood and Hampton—an estimable gentleman, staunch Republican and capable business man.

—Barnum's Travelling Museum, Menagerie, Hippodrome and World's Fair, which is to exhibit here the coming season, will comprise about everything that is curious, including a talking machine. It will travel by Railroad, requiring nearly a hundred cars and four or five locomotives. A steam-engine is carried along, and made to propel the machinery and automatic scenes in the Museum Department.

—Rev. Daniel Austin has presented to the high schools, a rare and valuable book, one hundred and forty years old, called "Bickham's Universal Penman," containing specimens of penmanship—a study to those who would enjoy and profit by the lessons of other days. It is neatly bound in two volumes to accommodate each of the two schools.

—The Marine Band go to Dover next Tuesday, St. Patrick's day, to play for the procession of the H. U. B. Society of that city, who are making extensive preparations for a good time. The ceremonies close with a ball in the City Hall, Harlow's string band furnishing the music.

—The Barnabee concert troup are to appear at the Temple, Tuesday evening, April 15th. The inimitable Barnabee, with Mrs. Smith, soprano, Miss Clark, contralto and pianist, Fessenden, tenor, and Arbuckle, cornetist, will present a first class entertainment such as needs no commendation from us, for the above artistes are widely known, and among the most prominent who appear on the musical stage.

—Mrs. M. Carlisle of Boston will hold a public circle at Republican Headquarters on Congress Street, on Sunday afternoon and evening. An admittance fee of 25 cents will be charged at the door. To avoid disturbance the door will be closed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and 7½ in the evening, after which no one will be admitted.

—The appearance at the Temple next Monday evening of those famous Western scouts, hunters and heroes Ned Buntline & Buffalo Bill, will doubtless draw a large house to witness their performances on the mimic stage.

—The ladies of the Middle-street Baptist Society hold a sale of fancy articles and other tasty products of feminine skill, next Tuesday evening, at their chapel. They will be pleased to receive their friends from other societies.

—Thursday next, the 20th, the declination of the centre of the sun will cross the line—the beginning of spring in the northern hemisphere. Look out for the equinoxial storm.

—Enquirers are informed that the anxiously looked for new postal cards will be ready for general issue about the first of May.

—Rev. Mr. Dinsmore delivers his lecture on the "Old Philosophers," next Monday evening, at the Methodist Church, free.

—Sounds of distant thunder were plainly heard during the snow and rain storm of Tuesday afternoon.

—Came within one of it—Mr. Miller. Won it—Mayor Marvin. Counted out, and counted in.—Journal.

—There is a great scarcity of onions in this market, and they rule at a high price.

—The Danbury News again:—A parent writes to us that he is annoyed and pained by his son staying out nights, and asks us if we can present a remedy for this rapidly growing evil. There are several remedies. The boy's spine can be broken with an axe, or he can be nailed to the floor with a red-hot railroad spike, driven through his abdomen, but the most effectual way is to compel him to wear patched clothing."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES so all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable Pulmonic Remedy ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest, or Side, Pleuritic Stitch, Spitting of Blood, Difficulty at the Lungs, Liver Complaints, &c. &c.

CONSUMPTION

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTIN," and the private mark of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

To provide means for this magnificent Concert, One Hundred Thousand Whole Tickets only will be issued.

Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 at one time.

The object of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the enlargement and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most prominent citizens of the United States. The sale of tickets has already progressed so far that complete success is assured, and buyers are therefore notified that they must order at once if they desire to participate in the drawing.

The management of this undertaking has been transferred by the trustees to Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom communications pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of the country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid. By its mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The Company has nearly two dollars of assets in every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,909.25. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by G. H. THAYER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

The Chronicle.

"WHISKEY DRINK." — Now firmly seated in power, he gathered about him men supposed to be of his own stripe. He had heard of the Whiskey ring at Johnsonville, and thought the machinery too complicated, too many committees, too many persons to "divvy" with; nothing like a man tossing his job. The Collector held the key to the position, thought he, and should dictate terms. He would allow no Joe Leck near him. Did any distiller at Johnsonville or elsewhere desire to ship whiskey to Parkinton, contraband or otherwise—and there was so little of the otherwise afloat it didn't pay to make distinctions — it could only be done safely by making terms with Bonus by the lot, or by the week. This method, he remarked, was necessary to "protect home industries."

His system of protection was singularly original. The Government provided, free of charge to the distiller, certain blanks and forms, for various purposes, such as "bonds," "entry for deposit" in, or withdrawal of, "spirit from bond," "returns," "reports," etc. These Mr. Bonus had printed, and placed in the hands of a confidential agent, with a schedule of prices, ranging from five hundred dollars for a "bond" to five dollars for an "entry of deposit." The profit can be estimated when it is known that either paper would cost Bonus two cents.

The first appearance of a Government blank from any distiller would be prima facie evidence of fraud; or, in other words, that they were beating Bonus by not buying his blanks; and the distillery would be seized and held until the intractable became docile. It not unfrequently happened that the intractability was occasioned by the greed of the agent advancing on Bonus' prices.

Another source of profit to the unconscionable Collector was the duplication, triplication, and quadruplication of tax receipts to accompany contraband spirits, such papers passing in those days as evidence of the duty being paid on packages of distilled spirits bearing certain numbers. Stamps had not then been introduced. The distillery and other inspectors in his district, holding positions by his influence, or with his consent, were legitimate subjects for skinning by the Bonus process; and he was a lucky fellow who left the presence of this Robert Macaire with seventy-five per cent. of his month's salary.

That night Smith had the last remnant of suspicion chased from his mind by the frank, rough, but manly utterance of Bonus, as in a confidential way he unfolded his plan for the breaking up of the fraudulent practices he was now sure had obtained in his district. Mike, his deputy (an old distiller), but "true as steel," would get the points inside, and furnish the Collector, who in turn would apprise Smith, so that it was dead "open and shut" on success.

Two days after the plan was agreed upon Mr. Smith received an intimation that Bill Gliddon, doing business in the cellar of his house as a distiller, would fill and deliver ten barrels of whiskey at 3 o'clock that afternoon. During, the temporary absence of the Inspector, Smith was on hand; and after waiting outside long past the hour named, he entered the dark den. The fumes of the whiskey, and inhalations of gas released by fermentation from the beer, almost overcame him. Gliddon came, lamp in hand, from the furthest recesses of the cellar, and casting a furtive glance at Smith as he passed, said not a word, but closed the cellar door and locked it. Putting the key in his pocket, and placing the lamp on the head of a barrel, he faced Smith and demanded.

"Who are you?"

"John Smith, Treasury Agent. Do you want to see my commission?"

"What's that—a paper?"

"Yes."

"Has it Boney's name on't?"

"No; but the President's name is on it," said Smith.

"Can't read, and don't believe a word on't. Boney said if a fellow came sneaking into my place, what hadn't a paper with his name on't I was to go for him."

"But if you cannot read, how can you know that any paper I may show you has or has not Mr. Bonus' name on it?" argued Smith.

"Oh, you can't fool me. Seen his straight strokes, curly ones, up and down, zis-zags, too often; an' if you can't show me one of those kind o' things now, I'm going to lick you," and without more ado, he struck Smith a heavy blow that sent him reeling against the slimy wall of the cellar.

Smith, quiet and kind as he was, had seen hard service as a cavalry man, and had been desperately wounded in an engagement, hence his lameness. A remembrance of the former assault, and feeling that perhaps it was necessary for his protection in the future that he should now show he was able to defend himself, quickly stimulated him, and he stood at guard with uplifted cane. This suited Gliddon; it looked like fighting, and that he loved better than eating—ay than distilling even. He shot his right fist for another lunge; but the cane descended almost like an electric bolt in sound and effect across the eyes of Gliddon, as though it would allow his nose no longer to be an appendage to his face. A shriek of rage and pain escaped him as he reeled against a barrel bewildered by the blow, the red current streaming from his nostrils, and his eyes rapidly closing. Only a moment's respite, and the half blinded man rushed again at the wary Smith, who rained blow after blow, hopping around with the utmost agility, and for every blow received, gave the madman interest many times compounded.

The fight continued much in favor of Smith, for Glidden was nearly blind, and raging furiously. The noise had been heard by his family in the room overhead, and they were kicking at the door for admittance. In his efforts to avoid Glidden, Smith overturned the barrel on which the lamp stood and its light went out. The iron grasp of Glidden enclosed the body of Smith; his mouth was feeling its way to his face; his teeth were already at the lips of his victim. Smith's arms were free and elevated above Glidden's head; his hands twelve inches apart still firmly grasped the axe, which at that juncture he brought down between their faces, and forcing it under Glidden's chin, pressed it violently against his windpipe. Spasmodic efforts to relieve the pressure followed; then a gurgling sound; then a relaxation of the iron grasp, and Glidden fell, carrying Smith with him. When the door was burst open, both men were found insensible, but after a while they recovered. Smith was badly bruised and cut in several places, but nowhere seriously. Glidden suffered severely, and only escaped further punishment by promising to go out of the business, which promise he faithfully kept.

The Result

Of the State election, so much better than was at first reported, is in our opinion better also than the republicans had any reasonable cause to hope for. In the first place, the election (unlike that of one year ago) had no important bearing on national affairs; a complete democratic victory would not have weakened the administration or the national republican party, and experience has repeatedly shown that a powerful incentive is needed to get out the full strength of the party in this State. The Credit Mobilier business also told against us, notwithstanding the facts that the leading democrat of the House was deeper in the mud than any one else, that the "whitewashing" (Poland) committee was appointed by a democrat (Cox) and was composed of three anti-administration men to two straight republicans, and that the leading democratic representatives in Congress nearly all spoke and voted in defence of the Credit Mobilier culprit, to shield their friend Brooks. The congressional record of the three democratic representatives from this State furnished but little political capital for the republican speakers and press to work on, the State canvass was extremely apathetic; and the magnificent steal by the 42d Congress in its last hours cost the republican party many hundreds of votes. That a majority of the members voting against the steal were republicans, and that the democrats who voted against it did not allow their consciences to fill their pockets to the exclusion of the back pay after it was stolen, did not help us any; and when we consider all the set-backs the republicans had to contend against and the consummate ability of the democrats to conduct a "still hunt," and that the intemperate temperance men lent the latter all the help they could, by running a separate ticket, we only marvel that the election has resulted so favorably,—that the democrats did not make a clean sweep of everything, Governor, Senate, House and Congressmen. To us, the result seems to be "one of those things no fellah can find out."

—Reminiscences of Mr. Lincoln are always interesting, especially those which are connected with his official career. The following is from the Cincinnati Gazette:—

When Abraham Lincoln visited New York, twelve years ago, Fernando Wood sought to catch him by asking: "Will you hold the States, or let them go, Mr. President?" Mr. Lincoln straightened himself up, looked benignantly at the smiling Mayor, and answered "calmly and without the slightest mark of trepidation," as the report says: "I understand a ship to be made for the carrying and preservation of the cargo," said the President elect. "If the ship can't be saved without the cargo, the cargo is sometimes sacrificed; but as long as the ship can be saved with the cargo it should never be abandoned." The Mayor sought no more information from President Lincoln.

—A young couple residing in Bangor, Me., who started out for a sleigh ride Sunday evening, were observed by the police pensively wending their way homeward, on foot, about one o'clock Monday morning, their arms full of sleigh robes, cushions, etc., and a sad and thoughtful look on their dejected countenances.

The Governor and Council have nominated Judge Sargent for Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court; and Hon. E. A. Hibbard for Judge in place of Sargent, promoted. Congressman Bell was offered the latter position, but declined.

The election returns received at Concord give a large increase in the scattering vote, not reported by telegraph, and leave Gov. Straw's election by the people a matter of uncertainty.

In the first congressional district, Mr. Small (rep.) is chosen by rising 500 majority. The temperance vote of nearly five hundred, was cast for a third candidate.

The washerwoman in Senator Patterson's family, at Hanover, carried home some clothes in a daily paper, in which she discovered an item saying that Patterson was dead as a duck. Supposing it to be literally true, she began to wail bitterly. About that time a neighbor came in to whom she told the cause of her bereavement, adding that it was too bad, "He was such a good man to pay his bills." To the enquiry as to the cause of his death she answered: "O Lor', I suppose it was the cholera morbus, but they have got a new fangled name for it and call it Credit Mobilier."

Among the last acts of the 42d Congress, was one authorizing the erection of an equestrian statue to the memory of Maj. Gen. Geo. H. Thomas. The statue is to be erected in Washington. The act appropriated $8 condemned cannon for the statue, which is to be erected under the direction of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland. The society will meet on the 10th of next September, in Pittsburg, Pa., when the proper steps will be taken to expedite the completion of the statue.

The St. Louis Democrat has its flag at the "bore" thus: The Massachusetts folks want some kind of a celebration when the Hoosac tunnel is completed. It is none of our business. But why not hold a convention of all the small bores—exchange clawers, patent-right agents, lightning-rod men, and others? Invite them to inspect the tunnel, and then, if Professor Mowbrey (the nitro-glycerine man) will do his duty, the day will be long remembered with pleasure by a grateful people.

Thomas T. Anderson, cashier of Lamberton's bank in Franklin, Pa., committed suicide after having filled the grate in his office with bank bills and notes to the value of about $38,000, and set them on fire. It is thought that he had been improperly speculating and feared exposure, as the bank was to change hands. He was the oldest and most trusted cashier in the oil regions.

FAILURE OF THE OLD CABLE.—The Atlantic cable of 1865, laid between Heart's Content and Valentia, Ireland, again failed to work on the 11th. This is the third time the old wire, on which there were so many assaults made when it was launched from the Great Eastern, has failed to convey currents between the new and the old world. It is still believed that in many places bolts of iron have been driven into the cable and have escaped detection, for now it is thought by the engineers who were engaged in making their tests in order to find out the exact locality where the injury is that the cable is not broken completely but that the wire in the centre is severed. The engineers employed in testing telegraph that the damage was on the other side, within 300 or 400 miles of the Irish shore. At present the sea around the Irish coast is calm and favorable for the undertaking, and it is expected the old wire will be in good order again immediately.

DROWNED.—About two o'clock on Thursday afternoon two little boys and a little girl, none of the children over seven years of age, were playing upon the ice at Basin Mills, eight miles above Bangor, Me., when by a terrible accident all three were drowned. One of the boys was drawing the little girl upon a sled, and getting upon a thin piece of ice he broke through. The girl ran to his rescue, but unfortunately the rotten ice again gave way and she also fell into the ice-cold water. The other boy, seeing the terrible predicament of his little comrades, hastened to help them, when he, too, broke through, and all three were drowned. The accident had been observed, and people hurrying to the scene of the sad event found that they were too late, and after ten minutes' hard work the bodies were recovered. One of the boys was a son of Mr. Charles Baker and the others were children of Henry Flute, a Frenchman, working in the mills.

DANGEROUS NAP.—In Virginia City, Nevada, a few days ago, a gentleman was taking his morning nap at the Colombo Lodging House, where he was awakened by a sensation as of burning in his face. He sprang from his couch and by instinct rushed to the washstand and commenced to wash his face vigorously. It was fortunate, perhaps, for him that he was so quick in his movements, for on dressing himself and repairing to a physician for an explanation of the mystery, he was informed that the mysterious cause of the hissing sensation was oil of vitroil. No clue to the identity of the audacious disturber of the gentleman's slumbers exists, but it was shrewdly surmised by the landlady of the place that the trouble was caused by a certain "very delicate little man," who had engaged the room adjoining that occupied by the victim a few days before, and who, the landlady further shrewdly surmises, was no other than a not very delicate young woman, disguised in male apparel, who had come to take revenge for some real or fancied injury, upon the sleeper.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen: and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers: if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

Fire.

On Sunday morning at about twenty minutes to four o'clock, the bank watch, Messrs. Anthony F. Nowell and George Raynes, discovered that the eating saloon of Timothy H. Chellis, on Congress street, was on fire. The alarm was promptly given and responded to by the Fire Department, but the building was consumed with its contents, including the photograph appliances of Mr. Clark, up-stairs. The building was connected with the Mechanics' reading room by a staircase; and was owned by the Mechanics' Association. The reading room building was badly damaged and everybody hoped it would burn. The stock of watches and jewelry of Francis W. Ham and the confectionery stock of Fred F. Moses were removed, the latter being sadly "pied." The rear of the carriage house occupied by Mr. R. H. Beacham was badly scorched. We hear that Mr. Chellis' lease would have expired on the first of April. A fireman informs us that the hose was cut in half a dozen or more places, the cuts being discovered as the steamers commenced to play; certainly we never saw so many fountains in an equal length of hose as we saw Sunday morning, it being quite a job to pick one's way across the street without getting drenched. Had the heavy gale of Sunday afternoon commenced to blow twelve hours earlier, the fire would possibly have reached the river before being checked.

The loss is estimated at about $6000, and we understand that all parties are fully insured, though we could learn nothing definite except that Mr. Moses' stock was insured for $1000, and the reading room building for $2800—the latter in A. F. Howard's agency.

Mr. George W. Pendexter, while assisting to remove Mr. Beacham's carriages to a place of safety, fell on the ice and was badly hurt, it being reported that his shoulder was dislocated.

Frye & Co's Express, which was located in the burned building, is now temporarily doing business in the store of Mr. S. S. Frye, in the Bell Tavern block.

Ward Two Vote.

A careful recount of the votes for Mayor in the second ward, made by Moderator A. F. Howard in the presence of Selectmen Lewis G. Davis, Daniel L. Randall, Waterman K. Pryor, and Ward Clerk E. Washington Brown, reveals the fact that the vote declared for Mayor Marvin was three too large. The ballots were counted three times. The vote as declared in town meeting was 422 for Frank W. Miller and 344 for Thomas E. O. Marvin. The vote as recounted shows that Mr. Miller had 422 votes, and Mr. Marvin 341. Assuming that the count in the other wards is correct, the actual total vote of the city last week for Mayor was—for Frank W. Miller 996, for Thomas E. O. Marvin 994; Miller's plurality two.

The Scouts of the Prairie,

With Ned Buntline, Texas Jack and Buffalo Bill in the leading characters, will doubtless be rendered in a highly sensational manner, this evening. Ned Buntline's last appearance here, in "knownothing" times, will be remembered. He was then "protected" by a squad of "fierce" attendants, and marched about the city like a lord with retainers. Ned was playing a huge farce in those political times, and let us hope he will be as successful in mimic tragedy. It's worth the price of tickets to see him, Buffalo Bill, (otherwise known as Hon. W. F. Cody, of the Kansas Legislature,) and Texas Jack, (whose veritable cognomen is J. B. Omohundro and whose "fighting" proclivities led him into the rebel army at the early age of thirteen,) with Morlacchi, the peerless danseuse, as Hazel Eye, in the remarkable drama of which Ned Buntline is the author. Of course, the Temple will be jammed full of humanity, to-night.

Laconics.

The ladies and gentlemen of the Fourth of July committee are requested to meet at the Common Council room, to-morrow evening at half past seven o'clock.

Mr. James N. Tarlton has opened a confectionery establishment in the store with H. H. Ham, formerly occupied by E. A. Joy, under the CHRONICLE office, and lovers of sweetmeats will find a neat assortment of candies and cakes and courteous attention at the hands of Mr. Tarlton.

The oppotunity for securing shares in Wells Grand Distribution has never been better than at present. A new and choice stock of chromos and engravings has been received, and parties wishing to decorate and render cheerful their homes at a trifling expense, will do well to make application immediately. Every dollar's worth bought entitles the purchaser to a free share in the Grand Distribution of nearly $375,000 worth of property, which takes place positively July 1st, 1873. No postponement will be made in the drawing, but it will continue uninterruptedly until the entire amount has been drawn. The list of numbers already drawn has been published. W. B. Lowd is the Portsmouth agent.

Wentworth Encampment, Post 14, G. A. R., of Kittery, has voted to present to the Town Library the likenesses of all the soldiers from Kittery who lost their lives in the war of the rebellion, so far as the Post has been able to secure them. The pictures of deceased soldiers in possession of the Post number about thirty.

THE NEWBURYPORT GHOST APPEARS AGAIN.—Since the new teacher, Mr. Moulton, has had charge of Newburyport's haunted school house, there has been silence so profound regarding any manifestations of the supernatural sort, that people out of town, and those in town who do not know what vigorous exertions have been made to quiet all discussion about the matter, and banish the name of the poor ghost from respectable society, have supposed that the manifestations had really ended and that the removal of Miss Perkins had accomplished the desired end. But this is not exactly the case.

One day since Mr. Moulton has been in charge, and during a period of quiet, raps were heard on the door. Assuming that it was a stranger knocking, a scholar was sent to the door by Mr. Moulton, but he returned, saying no one was there. Presently more raps came on the same door and this time a different boy was sent, but he too, returned to say no one was there. The teacher in accordance with instructions, doubtless, passed it off with the remark, that "well, it's the wind, I suppose," and cautioned the boys not to tell any one if they did hear anything, and people might whistle for all they got from him.

The boy on whose evidence the report of the committee some days ago was based, and to whom they ascribed the paternity of the ghostly demonstrations, has been sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment for stealing, a fact which still further invalidates the force of his testimony. The boys are said to be behaving well and the school prospering under its present administration.—Boston Herald.

MASSACHUSETTS POLITICS.—General Butler has carried out the first part of his programme, by the election of Secretary Boutwell to the Senate. Even the Springfield Republican is constrained to admit that it gives "a seeming victory, at least, and certainly great encouragement to General Butler's leadership in our home politics." And it was upon this question the whole matter apparently turned. The journals which opposed Mr. Boutwell were careful to state that they had the highest respect for him personally, but that his defeat would be a serious blow to Butler's aspirations.

Mr. Boutwell can now hardly help assisting the friend who has done so much for him, and, being comfortably provided for during the next four years, must at least be neutral in the fight for the governorship which Butler is determined to make. Dr. Loring turned his friends over to Boutwell, on the pledge, it is understood, that he is to have General Butler's seat in Congress. Up to the moment of Butler's appearance in Boston, matters were going on swimmingly for Dawes, but when the redoubtable General appeared on the field, he settled everything to suit himself. And, after all, why should he not be Governor of Massachusetts?—New Haven Palladium.

AGREEING TO DIFFER.—Rumors have been for some time current that the Marquis of Lorne, and his royal partner in life, the Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, have agreed to differ, and that their associations are little better than a virtual separation. Scandal is busy with their affairs; in fact it is a matter of common notoriety in the fashionable circles in London. The denouement, it seems, was not altogether unexpected; for notwithstanding all the gushing, sentimental nonsense about a love match, and the setting aside of courtly conventionality and etiquette in order that a Queen's daughter might marry a man of her choice, which formed so fertile a theme for certain writers at the time of the wedding, there were many who happened to know that the Princess Louise's affections had been for some time fixed upon an English gentleman (some say a clergyman of the Established Church) considerably inferior to Lord Lorne in social position, and that the Duke of Argyle's son was in reality merely accepted as the lesser of two great evils—as an aristocrat in preference to a plebeian. The marriage was, therefore, not one of the affections, but one which suited a mere convenience, and chilled two hearts through its pandering to a sentiment with which mutual love can have no association.

CLEAR YOUR THRO AT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the long-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs,
Croup, Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Morning Chronicle.

AN OLD HOUSE.—The loftiest house, and the most perfect in the matter of architecture I have ever seen, was that which a woodchopper occupied with his family one winter in the forest of Santa Cruz County, California. It was the cavity of a redwood tree, two hundred and forty feet in height. Fire had eaten away the trunk at the base, until a circular room had been formed, sixteen feet in diameter. At twenty feet or more from the ground was a knot hole, which afforded egress for the smoke. With hammocks hung from pegs, and a few cooking utensils hung upon other pegs, that house lacked no essential thing. This woodman was in possession of a house which had been a thousand years in process of building. Perhaps on the very day it was finished he came along and entered in. How did all jackdaw and bandsaw architecture sink into insignificance in contrast with this house in the solitudes of the great forest! Moreover, the tenant fared like a prince. Within thirty yards of his coniferous house a mountain stream went rushing past to the sea. In the swirls and eddies under the shelving rocks, if one could not land half a dozen trout within an hour, he deserved to go hungry as a penalty for his awkwardness. Now and then a deer came out into the openings, and, also great distance, quail, rabbits and pigeons could be found. What did this man want more than nature furnished him? He had a house with a "cupola" two hundred and forty feet high, and game at cost of taking it. This Arcadian simplicity would have made a lasting impression, but for a volunteer remark, that nothing could be added to give life a more perfect zest. "Well, yes," said he, "I reckon if you are going to town, you might tell Jim to send up a gallon of whiskey and some plug tobacco." It will not do to invest a hollow tree with too much of sentiment and poetry. If that message had not been suggested, we should have been under the delusion to this day that the lives of those people, dwelling in a house fashioned by a thousand years age, were rounded to a perfect fulness, without one artificial want. Overland Monthly.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Vitalizing Agent, found in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. A Medicine which combined blood nourishment every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders are insured the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,969.55. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and Much has been said written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary.

The Chronicle.

A Romantic History.

Noah Hobart, ye last husband of my Great Grand Mother, Priscilla Hobart, was a school teacher in Duxbury, Massts, having graduated at Harvard College in 1724, and become acquainted with Priscilla Thomas, a very interesting young girl, daughter of Caleb Thomas, a respectable citizen of that town. Their acquaintance ripened into an engagement, & mutual promise of marriage, whenever his circumstances w'd permit him to discharge ye debts he had contracted for his education. While this understanding subsisted between them, & they were enjoying ye happy relation of affianced lovers, & calmly waiting for such improvement in their affairs as m'd justify their marriage, John Watson Esqr, of Plymouth, my Great Grand-Father, being a Widower, having seen Priscilla, was much pleas'd with her, although ye serious difference of nearly thirty years existed in their ages, he being about 50, & she 22 years old. Being, however, thus charm'd with Priscilla, he proceeded to Duxbury & call'd on her parents, & made known to them his views & wishes in relation to Priscilla, & requested their consent to visit their daughter, with ye object of offering himself to her in marriage. They inform'd M'r Watson that Priscilla was engaged to Mr. Hobart, but they w'd call her & let her speak for herself; they seeming pleas'd with ye offer, as M'r Watson's circumstances were known to be very eligible.

Priscilla was call'd & appear'd gratified with an offer from so rich a suitor, & observed that she w'd see Noah, & talk with him about it. She convers'd with Noah, and he thought that, upon ye whole, it was not advisable for her to lose so good an opportunity; as he was still much in debt for his education, that it was quite uncertain when he w'd be able to relieve himself from his embarrassments, & be in a condition to marry her. She then concluded to accept M'r Watson's offer; and in a few weeks he married her, & carried her to his home in Plymouth. In due time she bore him two sons, ye eldest, my great uncle William Watson, & ye youngest, my grandfather Elkanah Watson; & soon after, in Septr 1731, her husband died of a fever, and left his wife a handsome young widow, of about 25 years of age.

About ye same time that M'r Watson's death occurr'd, the wife of Thomas Lothrop Esqr, one of their neighbours, died, leaving a young infant, w'h was frequently sent to M'r Watson to be nursed, she having also a nursing infant. In ye mean time, Noah Hobart, probably not having yet paid his college debts, did not now manifest any particular sentiments, or intentions in relation to her, perhaps also, being influenced by ye contrast in their condition, she being left a rich widow.

The intercourse created between M'r Lothrop & Mr's Watson by their mutual interest in his nursing infant, brought about a reciprocal interest in each other, & in due time he offer'd, & was accepted by her as her second husband. She lived with him happily for some years, & bore him three children, two sons & a daughter; viz. D'r Nathaniel Lothrop & Isaac Lothrop Esqe, of Plymouth, & Priscilla, married to Gershom Burr Esqe, of Connecticut; when M'r Lothrop died, & Priscilla became a widow for ye second time.

Noah Hobart, while ye incidents related in ye former chapter were occurring to Priscilla, having been settled in ye (Congregational) ministry at Fairfield, Connecticut, had married & his wife had died previously to the death of Mr. Lothrop. At a suitable interval, subsequent to these events, he concluded to make a visit to his first sweetheart, & went to Plymouth, & again proposed himself for her husband. She was very glad to see him, & receiv'd him very graciously; and much regretted that she could not accept his proposals, without breaking a promise that she had made to M'r Lothrop on his death-bed, not to marry while his mother lived. Noah, disappointed, set out for home with a heavy heart, & having reach'd Hingham, call'd on ye Revd M'r Shute, who invited him to stop & preach ye Thursday lecture for him; to w'h he assented. After ye lecture was over, as they were going home, they met a traveller on horseback, of whom M'r Shute enquired "where he was from?" He answered, "from Plymouth;" when they further enquired "if there was any news?" He answer'd "nothing particular, except that old Madam Lothrop died last night." Noah's face brighten'd up on this announcement, & he turned his face again towards Plymouth; and without being able to state any intervening particulars, we know that in three weeks from that time, Priscilla married her third husband in ye person of her first lover, & was settled at Fairfield as "ye minister's help-meet," & ye wife of ye Revd Noah Hobart.

The life of Priscilla at Fairfield was tranquil and happy; & it is said that she sometimes confess'd to her children, in her old age, they being also ye children of her other husbands, that ye period she lived with Noah was ye happiest portion of her life. She had no children by M'r Hobart. Her oldest son by M'r Lothrop, D'r Nathaniel Lothrop, married Ellen Hobart, ye daughter of Noah, and thus contributed further to cement this happy and long defer'd union. Priscilla, however, was destined to be a widow for ye third time, as ye Revd Noah Hobart died at Fairfield in ye year 1775, & left her in possession of his hospitable home.

Other ye death of Mr Hobart, Priscilla remained at Fairfield, occupying his pewse and receiving ye manifestations of ye affection and respect of his late Parish for a period of six years, until July 1779, when ye whole village of Fairfield was burn'd by ye English troops under ye command of Govr Tyron. Being now houseless she returned to Plymouth, & occupied ye house in w'h she had lived with her second husband, Mr Lothrop. Here she lived serenely and happily many years, in ye enjoyment of ye blessings resulting from a well-spent and virtuous life. She retained at 80 years of age, her mental & corporeal faculties in perfection. Her carriage was exceedingly upright. Her person was small and well formed, she not exceeding in height 5 feet, 1 or 2 inches. Her countenance was animated & expressive and gave decidedly ye impression of having been handsome. She lived until 1796 aged 90 years. — N. E. General. and Hist. Reg.

Readables.

Stamford, Conn., has an eye to business. Somebody in a neighboring town, who owns a fast team, is invited to show it, and then is arrested by the authorities for fast driving and fined $11. By careful management, a small town can clear some $30 a week in this way.

A terrible conflagration occurred at Elyria, Ohio, on Saturday night, by which the finest business portion of that city was destroyed. The wind was blowing a perfect gale at the time. The two engines in use were found inadequate to cope with the flames. It is probably safe to say that the total loss will reach $200,000. Insurance $138,000

Mr. Oakes Ames said to a reporter who attended the reception at North Easton: "Now, there is Sam Bowles, of the Springfield Republican; he has been abusing me for months; and Horace Clark told me yesterday in New York that Sam had the impudence to write and ask for a Union Pacific pass to California for his wife and family. He wrote to Horace Clark that he had not advocated a monument to me, but he had not abused me as much as some other people."

At Philadelphia, Saturday morning, Charles Cloak murdered his wife Catherine with an axe. He was arrested and committed for trial.

It has been discovered at St. Louis that the mails between that city and the east have been extensively robbed several times within two months, $30,000 in drafts having been taken at one time.

General P. H. Jones, postmaster of New York, has tendered his resignation, and it has been accepted.

The decision of the supreme court on the McElhaney case was given on Saturday. The motion for a new trial was overruled. Consequently, unless a further stay is granted by Governor Washburn, McElhaney must be hanged on Friday next.

Daniel Drew never gave a note in his life, and can't remember that he ever borrowed so much as a chew of tobacco.

In Gorham, Mrs. B. F. Osgood met with a severe accident on the 17th. She was clearing out an old chest, and, having gathered up a handful of papers, etc., proceeded to burn them. She had hardly thrown them into the stove, when an explosion followed, and she was badly burned on her arm and face, and her clothes set on fire. Fortunately her husband was near by, and, hearing the explosion, ran at once to her aid and put out the fire, which otherwise might have proved fatal.

Conductor Russell of Springfield, on his train from the east a few days ago, had a lively discussion with a stylish young lady who persisted in her intention of leaving the train while under full headway. He naturally supposed her to be insane until he laid his hand on her arm to detain her. She looked up wildly and inquired what he was doing. It appeared that she had been suffering from an attack of somnambulism, and had it not been for the timely interference of the conductor, she would probably have stepped from the train and been killed.

Cases of trichina spiralis are reported in Cleveland, O., in a German family accustomed to eating sausages made of raw pork. There are those who think that, whether cooked or uncooked, pork is not fit food for a human being; but why, after all the warnings of trichinæ, and all the developments of the culinary art, even stupid folk should go on eating meat raw, passes our comprehension. Cooked trichinæ, it has been proved, is harmless, that is, if it be cooked thoroughly; and the passion for this dangerous delicacy in its natural state is just as mysterious as possible.

Only four deaths from small-pox in Boston last week.

Assistant Paymaster Stephen Rand, Jr., has been detached from duty at New Orleans.

Brown's building on Commercial street, Portland, that formerly held the offices and warehouses of the old sugar house is to be turned into a knitting factory employing 3000 knitting machines.

White Mountain travellers will be glad to know that the Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad is pushing forward work on its branch through the Notch. Trains will run as far as Sawyer's Rock, twelve miles above North Conway, in time for summer travel, and ticket arrangements are made so that tourists can go by way of Lake Winnipesaukee and return by way of Portland to Boston, adding much to the attractions of the trip.

Most of the Democrats of Barnstead voted for A. L. Rollins, the Republican candidate for County Commissioner of Belknap county, and he is consequently elected. The county gave over 200 majority for Weston.

COLFAX.—A Washington letter-writer says: There was a world of pathos in Colfax's brief farewell. Those who read it cannot find in it that which most impressed all who heard him and saw him. It was in the manner of his speaking, and not in what he said, that he filled the soul of every listener with an infinite sympathy. The voice and the manner of Mr. Colfax were an unconscious appeal to his hearers for a charitable and kindly judgment upon the long public life to which he was adding the last finishing touch. But the words were the reverse. A challenge, meant for the world, an invitation to scrutinize his whole record, and with just enough tint of bitterness about them, to indicate that he believes himself to have been most foully misjudged in these late days. There is no doubt that Mr. Colfax feels conscious of an entire innocence in the occurrences which have beclouded his fair fame.

—Josh Billings says: "Yu kant find contentment laid down on the map; it iz an imaginary place not settled yet; and those reach it soonest who throw away their compass and go it blind."

Fort Constitution.

During the term of Hon. Gilman Marston in Congress it was decided that the old fortification situated in Newcastle was not suitable as a defence or protection to the Navy Yard or city and the surrounding towns, and through his exertions it was determined to remove the old and erect a new and more substantial work. Congress made an appropriation, work was commenced, the new structure rose beyond the old lines, foundations were laid on four sides, reservoirs of an enormous size were built back of the foundations, embrasures were made on two sides, in a wall eight feet thick, of Rockport granite, (a large portion of this wall, when completed, was to have been thirty-two feet thick,) and a part of the old fort was removed, when it was said to be the folly of the age to erect stone fortifications, and the work ceased progress in October, 1866, since which time nothing has been done towards fortifying Portsmouth harbor. It was said the work was not done according to the original plan, but that was not true; everything done was done as the plan specified. It was also said that stone forts were worthless; if that be so why does government continue work on other stone forts, expending hundreds of thousands of dollars east and west of our harbor, which gives discredit to the assertion that granite work as a defence is a failure? This brings us to the question: "Is Portsmouth harbor of sufficient importance to fortify? and if so, why not fortify it? if not, why not abandon the fort altogether and remove the objectionable mass from Fort Point? New Hampshire ceded to the U. S. Government the land on which the fort stands, for the purpose of fortifications, and if the government has no further use for it, it should be returned to the State. We think it could be occupied for a very useful purpose.

There are several inches of solid ice to melt away before we shall look upon the bare ground. Colds and coughs will be the rule for the coming six weeks.

Take extra precaution against fire during the windy month of March. It is a matter of especial congratulation that the morning was so still on which occurred the fire in the Mechanics' Reading Room building. Had it been otherwise we might have had to record a disastrous conflagration.

We received a call on Monday from Mr. E. Z. C. Judson, Mr. J. B. Omohundro and Hon. W. F. Cody, the three celebrities known as "Ned Buntline," "Texas Jack," and "Buffalo Bill," who are "starring" the country just now. "Ned" has a strong resemblance to Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, and Messrs. Cody and Omohundro are among the finest formed and handsomest men whom the Southern and Western country produce. Mr. Judson informs us that their tour has been an ovation, and the halls where they have appeared would not hold the crowd desirous of seeing them.

At a meeting of the members of the Independent Battalion, the following officers were elected for company A; Capt., Thomas Tredick Jr.; 1st Lieut., John Ritchie; 2nd Lieut. William A. Payson: Ord. Sergt., Albert H. Tucker; 2nd Sergt., Charles Oxford; 3d Sergt., William L. Terhune; 4th sergt., George Colley; 5th Sergt., Arthur Pfeiffer. A meeting will be held at the State street ward room this evening to organize Company B. All who wish to be connected with this organization are requested to be on hand.

The schooner Joe Garland, which has been fishing from this port during the past winter, has been missing for three weeks and is supposed to be lost with all on board. She was last seen on the afternoon of February 20th, running for this port from East Jaffrey's, in company with two other vessels, one of which arrived here at 9 o'clock and the other at 11, on the same evening. One of the crew, Mr. Robert Collins of Kittery, leaves a large family.

Steamer Grace Irving, from Boston for New Bedford, was blown out to sea by the gale on Sunday, and foundered off Duxbury. All on board were lost, including Hon. James Ritchie, who had his life insured for $6000 on Saturday.

Large numbers go to see Wagner at the Portland jail. He is thought to be the same man who in October, 1870, brought an action in the United States Circuit Court in Portland against Capt. Minot of the brig Kennebec for striking him while at the wheel.

Kittery.

At the town election, Monday, the republican candidates were unanimously elected, the democrats having no ticket in the field. Calvin C. Hayes was chosen Moderator, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

Town Clerk, William M. Sanborn; Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor, Joseph H. Seaward, Warrington Paul, Augustus H. Adams; Town Agent, John Rogers; Treasurer, Mark W. Paul; Collector of Taxes, Luther P. Call; Sup. Sch. Com., Thomas J. Pettigrew, Daniel W. Jones, Marcus W. Towne; Health Officer, Daniel W. Jones; Auditors, John Wentworth, Ephraim Otis; Constables, Richard D. Philbrick, Thomas J. Pettigrew, Thomas J. Billings, Daniel H. Nason.

The town meeting was largely attended and quite lively, and voted to appropriate for the support of the poor, $1500, for repairing roads, $1200, for contingent expenses, $1500; for schools (including State fund, etc.,) $4700; for town debt, $4200. The question of buying a town farm was indefinitely postponed; and a committee of five was appointed to inspect building sites and make estimates for a public library building, and report in writing to an adjourned meeting on the first Monday in June. The committee is composed of the following gentlemen: M. F. Wentworth, E. C. Spinney, M. A. Safford, Ephraim Otis and Warrington Paul.

On Saturday evening a very pleasant gathering took place at the residence of M. W. Paul, when Mr. and Mrs. Dustin, teachers of the high and grammar schools, were presented by their pupils with gifts to the value of $25. The examination of the schools, on Thursday and Friday, were most creditable to the teachers and cheering to the friends of education.

A PLEASANT LITTLE STORY is told of the discovery of a long-lost will by a furniture dealer named Rowell, in Detroit. In overhauling some old furniture, he came across a paper sealed and tied with red tape, and was amazed when he broke the seal and read, "Last will and testament of Israel Whitworth." Getting further down, he found that the paper was nine years old, and that the will gave to "Margaret Davis, my sister, or her children, the Gordon farm, situate two and one-half miles from St. Joseph, Mo., together with all live stock and farming utensils; further, the sum of $5,000 in bank in St. Joseph, (unless I shall have withdrawn it,) my gold watch, my household furniture, and the one-half of what my house in St. Joseph may bring at private sale." So read the will as far as the sister and her kin were concerned, and then Whitworth made bequests to several other relatives. The will was dated "Detroit, Aug. 10, 1863." It occurred to Mr. Rowell that the will might be of some account to some one, and he wrote to Mrs. Davis, directing the letter to St. Joseph, Mo. In about two weeks he received a reply from her, dated at Weston, same State, his letter having been forwarded to that point. She stated that her brother had been dead nearly eighty years, and that she had never known of a will. The property had been divided among four near relatives of the deceased, or should have been, but three of them had cheated her out of most of what fell to her in dividing up. She further stated that her brother had a cousin in Detroit years ago, and that he was in that city on a visit about the date of the will. The cousin's name was signed as one of the witnesses. Rowell sent on the will, and has since received a grateful letter from the woman, who said that the will had been admitted to probate there, the witnesses called on, and that she had been put in possession of nearly $20,000 through his finding the will.

—Mr. Dodds was elected to Congress from Cincinnati last fall to fill a vacancy. His services began the first Monday in December, 1872, and ended March 3, 1873. Mr. Dodds voted to increase the pay of members to $7,500 a year, which he pockets for four months' services—$1,875 per month. Dodds cannot complain of the ingratitude of Republics.—Memphis Avalanche.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human families at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER; gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Morning Chronicle.

HOOP DE DOODEX DOO!—Putting a hoop on the family flour barrel is an operation that will hardly bear an encore. The woman generally attempts it before the man comes home to dinner. She sets the hoop on the end of the staves, takes a deliberate aim with the rolling pin, and then shutting both eyes brings the pin down with all the force of one arm, while the other instinctively shields her face. Then she makes a dive for the camphor and unbleached muslin, and when the man comes home she is setting back of the stove, thinking et St. Stephen and the other martyrs, while a burnt dinner and the camphor are struggling heroically for the mastery. He says it she had kept her temper she wouldn't not have got hurt. And he visits the barrel himself, and puts the hoop on very carefully, and adjusts it so nicely to the top of every stave that only a few smart knocks apparently are needed to bring it down right; then he laughs to himself to think what a fuss his wife kicked up over a simple matter that only needed a little patience to adjust itself, and then he gets the hammer, and fetches the hoop a sharp rap on one side, and the other slides up, and catches him on the bridge of the nose, filling his soul with wrath and his eyes with tears, and the next instant the barrel is flying across the room, accompanied by the hammer, and another candidate for camphor and rag is enrolled in the great army that is unceasingly marching toward the grave.—Danbury News.

—The following from the Somerset Democrat, is a good specimen of personal journalism: "On Saturday evening last, as Billy Pickering, Jr., was being shaved by Billy Coffroth, Jr., in the Herald office, he by some means struck his hand into the open razor, cutting it quite severely. Dr. Good dressed the wound, and it is expected to get well long before the patient's beard ventures to the surface again."

—A Missouri woman said she gave a railroad conductor a ten dollar bill; he said it was a two; she insisted; he persisted; she took out a revolver and snapped it, and he gave her the eight dollars balance, not wishing to have any dispute with a lady.

—A Wisconsin justice of the peace divorced a couple recently, as follows: He stood them in the middle of the floor, backs together, and as they walked away from each other he repeated the marriage ceremony backwards.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION!

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the best Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season exhibits fails to effect a speedy cure of Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains of Pleurisy in the Chest or Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaints, &c. &c.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties. ☞

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. JUTTIN," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

The object of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the enlargement and enrichment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most prominent citizens of the United States. The sale of tickets has already progressed so far that complete success is assured, and buyers are therefore advised that they must order at once if they desire to participate in the drawing.

The management of this undertaking has been entrusted to the honorable Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom communications pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed.

E. T. DURREETT, Pres't.

W. N. HALLIDAY, Vice Pres't.

JOHN S. CAIN, Sec'y Public Library of Ky.

FARMERS' AND DRAYERS' BANK, Treas'r.

As the time for the Concert is close at hand (April 8th), parties wishing tickets should send in their orders immediately if they would avoid the rush and delay absolutely unavoidable in the few days preceding the drawing. All orders and applications for agencies, circulars and information will meet with prompt attention. THOS. E. BRAMLETTE, Agent Public Library, Kentucky, Louisville, Ky.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any home insurance company of the kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders are the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,569.55. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER

SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the variety of work known to the art.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from growing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Salve is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by H. H. THOMPSON, WM. R. PRESCOTT, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

A PAIR OF SLIPPERS. — Linkum Langcale is a subject in extenso. He is, to use the words of the poet, suggested by his name, and, in speaking of him, it is not easy to be brief. Linkum is entirely too long for his own comfort. He is one of these men who, like the gentle Marcia, "tower above their sex," and must always be called down to their dinner, as no information can be imparted to them unless it be hallooed up; and in conversing with whom, it is always necessary to begin by hailing the maintop. There is not, however, more material in Linkum than enough for a man of ordinary length. The fault is in his not being made up properly. He is abominably wire drawn—stretched out, as Shakspeare says, almost to the crack of doom. It is clear that there has been an attempt to make too much of him, but the frame of the idea has not been well filled out. The consequence is, that Linkum is a crank vessel. If he wore a feather in his cap, he would be capsized at every corner; and as it is, he finds it very difficult to get along on a windy day, without a paving stone in each coat pocket, to preserve the balance of power. He is, however, of a convivial nature, and will not refuge his glass, notwithstanding the aptitude of alcohol to ascend into the brain, and so to encumber it as to render a perpendicular position troublesome to men shorter than himself. When in this condition, his troubles are numberless, and among other matters, he finds it very difficult to get a clear fall, there being in compact cities very little room to spare for the accommodation of long men tumbling down in the world. One evening Linkum walked forth to a convivial meeting, and supped with a set of jolly companions. Late at night a rain came on, which froze as it fell, and soon made the city one universal slide, sufficiently "glib" for all purposes, without the aid of sawdust. Of Linkum's sayings and doings at the social board, no record is preserved, but it is inferred that his amusements were not of a nature to qualify him for the safe performance of a journey so slippery as that which it was necessary to perform to reach home. No lamps were lighted, they who were abroad being under the necessity of supposing the moonshine, and of seeing their way as they walked, or of gathering themselves up when they fell, by the lantern of imagination. "Good night, fellers," said Linkum, at the top of the steps, as the door shut upon him. He pulled his hat over his eyes, determinedly; buttoned his coat with resolution, and sucked at his cigar with that iron energy peculiar to men about to set out on their way home on a cold, stormy night. The fire of the cigar, reflected from his nose, was the only illumination to be seen, and Linkum, putting his hands deep into his pockets, kept his position on the first step of the six which were between him and the pavement. "I've no doubt," said he, as he puffed forth volumes of smoke, and seemed to cogitate deeply; "I've not the slightest doubt that this is as beautiful a night as ever was; only it's so dark you can't see the pattern of it. One night is pretty much like another night in the dark; but it's a great advantage to a good looking evening, if the lamps are lit, so you can twig the stars and the moonshine. The fact is, that in this 'ere city, we do grow the blackest moons, and the hardest moons to find, I ever did see. Sometimes I'm most disposed to send the bellman after them—or get a full blooded pinter to pint 'em out, while I hold a candle to see which way he pints. It wouldn't be a bad notion on sich occasions to ask the man in the steeple to ring which way the moon is.

——"A lout
Of linked sweetness long drawn out,"

Lamps is lamps, and moons is moons in a business pint of view, but practically, they a'n't much if the wicks isn't afire. When the luminaries are, as I may say, in the raw, it's bad for me. I can't see the ground as perforately as little fellers, and every dark night I' sure to get a hyst—either a ferrerd hyst or a backerd hyst, or some sort of a hyst,—but more backerds than forrerds, specially in winter. One of the most unfeelingest tricks as is, that I known on, is the way some folks have got of laughing out, yawhaw! when they see a gentleman ketching a riggler hyst—a long gentleman, for instance, with his legs in the air, and his noddle, splat down upon the cold bricks. A hyst of itself is bad enough, without being sniggered at—first, your calabash gets a crack—then, you see all sorts of stars, and have free admission to the fire-works; then you scramble up, feeling as if you had no head on your shoulders, and as if it wasn't you, but some confounded disagreeable feller in your clothes; yet the jackenips all grin, as if the misfortunes of human nature was only a peppet show. I wouldn't mind it, if you could get up, and look as if you don't care. But a man can't rise, after a royal hyst, without letting on he feels flat. In such cases, however, sympathy is all gammon, and as for sensibility of a winter's day, people keep it all for their own noses, and can't be coaxed to retail it by the small." Our hero held on firmly to the railing, and peered keenly into the Cartoon, without discovering any object on which his vision could rest. The gloom was substantial. In regained sharper eyes than his to bore a hole in it. The wind was up, and the storm continued to coat the steps and pavements with a sheet of ice. "It's raining fire potatoes;" observed Linkum; "I feel 'em, though I can't see 'em, bumping the end of my nose; so I must shove home as fast as I can."

Heedless and hapless youth! He made a vain attempt to descend, but, slipping, he came in a sitting position upon the top step, and, in that attitude, flew down like lightning—bump! bump! bump! The impetus he had acquired, prevented him from stopping on the door-sill, notwithstanding his desperate efforts to clutch the icy bricks, and he shooted into the gutter, tumbling over the curbstone, and splashing into the water, like a young Niagara. A deep silence ensued, broken solely by the pattering of the rain, and the howling of the wind. Linkum was an asker-but receiver; the first was perfect, the breath being completely knocked out of him. "Laws-a-massy!" at length he panted, catching breath at intervals and twisting about as if in pain; "my eyes! such a tight! Such a quantity of hysts all in one! The life's almost bumped out of me! I'm bursted up to right. I don't believe I'm so tall by six inches as I was before. I'm done up and clinched cold. I'll have to get tucks in my trowsers." Linkum sat still, ruminating on the curtailment of his fair proportions, and made no effort to rise. The door was opened again, and Mr. Broad Brevis came forth, at which a low, suppressed chuckle was uttered by Linkum, as he looked over his shoulder, anticipating "a quantity of hysts all in one" for the new-comer, whose figure, however,—short and stout,—was much better calculated for the operation than Linkum's. But Brevis seemed to suspect that the sliding was good, and the slipping magnificent. "No you don't," said he, as he tried the step with one foot, and recovered himself; "I haven't seen the Alleghany Portage and Inclined planes for nothing. It takes me to diminish the friction, and save the wear and tear." So saying, he quietly tucked up his coat tails, and sitting down upon the out, which he grasped with both hands, gave himself a gentle impulse, crying "all aboard!" and slid slowly, but majestically down. As he came to the plain sailing across the pavement, he twanged forth Ta-ra-ta-ra-ta-ra-ta-ra-a! in excellent imitation of the post horn, and brought up against Linkum. "Clear the course for the express mail, or I'll report you to the department!" ejaculated Brevis, trumpeting the "alarm," so well known to all who have seen a tragedy; "Tra—ra-ta—ta-ra—ta-a!" "Oh! bother to that say how;" said a Charley, turning the corner, with flambeaux in hand, and seen on foot, who, after a short parley, was induced to set the two gentlemen on their pins. First, planting Brevis against the pump, who sang, "Let me lean on thee" from the Somnambula in prime style, he undertook to lift up Linkum.

"He'd be pretty long drawing, anyhow," observed Charley. "If there was many more like him in the gutters, it would be better to get a windlass, and wind 'em up. I never see'd a man with so much slack. The corporation ought to buy him, starch him up stiff, cut a belt for a clock in his hat, and use him for a steeple; only Downing wouldn't like to trust himself on the top of such a rickety concern. Neighbor, shall I fetch the Humane Society's apparatus?" "No—I a'n't drowned; only bumped severe. The carbonates have touched my feelings. I'm all over like a map, red, blue and green." "Now," said the Charley, grinning at the joke, and at the recompense he had received for the job; "now you two hook on to one another like Siamese, and mosey. You've only got to tumble one a top of t'other, and it won't hurt. Tortle off—it's slick going—specially if you're going down. Push ahead!" continued he, as he hitched them together; and away they went, a pair of slippers, arm in arm. "I can't stand this," said Linkum to his companion, as they were slipping and falling; "but it's mostly owing to my being so tall. I wish I was razed'd, and then it wouldn't happen. The awning posts almost knock the head off of me; I'm always tumbling over wheel barrows, dogs and children, because if I look down, I'm certain to knock my nose against something above.

It's a complete nuisance to be so tall. Beds are too short; if you go to a teaight the people are always tumbling over your trotters, and breaking their noses, which is what young ladies isn't partial to; and if you tipple too much toddy of a slippery night—about as easy a thing to do as you'd wish to try—you're sure to get a hyst a square long—just such a one as I've had. If I'd know'd how, I would have said the multiplication table while I was going the figure. Stumpy chaps, such as you, a'n't got no troubles in this world." "That's all you know about it," puffed Brevis, as Linkum alternately jerked him from his feet, and then caused him to slide in the opposite direction, with his heels ploughing the ice, like a shaft horse, holding back: "Phew! That's all you know about it—stumpies has troubles." "I can't borrow coats," added Linkum, soliloquizing; "because I don't like cuffs at the elbows. I can't borrow pants, because it isn't the fashion to wear knee-breeches, and all my stockings is socks. I can't hide when anybody owes me a lambasting. You can see me a mile. When I sit by the fire, I can't get near enough to warm my body, without burning my knees; and in a stage coach, there's no room between the benches, and the way you get the cramp—don't mention it." "I don't know nothing about all these things; but to imagine I was a tall chap"—"Don't try; you'll hurt yourself, for it's a great stretch of imagination for a little feller to do that." After which amicable colloquy, nothing more was heard of them, except that, before retiring to rest, they chuckled over the idea that the coming spring would sweat the life to death for the sunnyance it had caused them. But ever while they live, will they remember, "the night of hysts."

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19, 1873.

Readables.

At Syracuse, N. Y., Monday, a man named Keeler, during the absence of the family, attempted to violate a four-teen-year-old daughter of Mr. Spencer, where the was temporarily stopping. Meeting successful resistance and afraid of exposure, he seized a poker and struck several fearful blows on her head, killing her almost instantly. Keeler then ran from the house to the New York Central railroad depot, and, attempting to get on a passing train, was thrown under the cars and instantly killed.

The President nominated Hon. William A. Richardson to be Secretary of the Treasury on Monday. All the other Cabinet officers were reappointed, Chief Engineer W. W. Wood has been appointed Chief of Bureau of Steam Engineering vice James W. King.

Northern Texas is now actively engaged in raising cattle, and men who a few years ago could scarcely earn a subsistence, are now the owners of large "stocks," notwithstanding great losses by cattle thieves and Indian depredators.

Owing to the difficulties between the Maine Central and the Boston and Maine railroads the freight business of the Eastern Railroad shows a great and sudden increase.

State News.

Moses P. Willard is appointed Postmaster at Concord in place of James E. Larkin.

Postmaster Richard Plummer of Newburyport is reappointed.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council, on Monday, Hon Jonathan E. Sargent, of Concord, was confirmed as Chief Justice, and Hon. Ellery A. Hibbard, of Laconia, Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court. Jeremiah W. Sanborn, of Gilmanton, was confirmed as a member of the State Board of Agriculture, in place of Thomas Cogswell, of the same town, resigned. William W. Johnson, of New Ipswich, was confirmed as Special Railroad Commissioner, in place of Hon. Hosea Eaton, of same town, resigned. His Excellency the Governor, with advice of the Council, appointed Thursday, April 10th, for a fast day.

The selectmen of Errol neglected to post the warrant for town meeting in season, so no vote for Governor could be cast or Representatives elected. A meeting to choose town officers was held on Monday.

On the 5th, a son of John G. Holmes, of Strafford, fell from the trunk of a tree, a distance of eight or ten feet, upon the edge of an axe, which cut through his vest and two watch cases, but he was unhurt.

The entire sophomore class were suspended from Dartmouth College Thursday, for disorderly conduct in the chapel, whereupon the members of the class hired a big team and took a sleigh-ride, evidently regarding the affair as a good joke.

Brother Boylston of the Amherst Calliad went out a few days since, saw in hand, to trim his apple trees, but the snow drifts were so deep that he couldn't find the trees without a spade.

Governor Straw, Col. B. F. Martin and Col. John B. Clarke of Manchester, and Gen. Natt Head of Hooksett, have gone to Chicago and St. Louis and will go as far south as New Orleans.

—The Danbury News quotes the statement that the frost has penetrated the ground deeper this winter than for thirty years, and says: For breadth, depth, and general massiveness of appearance that is the most successful lie we ever heard, and we have been in Washington twice.

—A North Carolina paper expresses satisfaction at the fact that the President, having frequent occasion to refer to the war in his inaugural, did not say rebel or rebellion once.

—An exhilarated Galvestonian put sugar on his oysters, and his boon companions are insisting that he ought to stand (if he can) as a candidate for Vice President on the liberal ticket.

—When the papers began to talk about Duluth for this winter it was only ten feet thick, but it has now grown to be eighty-one feet, and is so described in a Cincinnati journal.

Acrobatic Farming.—A Danbury young man, who was once a clerk, lately went on a farm to work. The first night in his new position he was detailed to remove a calf from the apartment in the parent to another shed, and while engaged, as thousands have been before him, in shoving the contrary beast along, the mother reached under the bars of his cost with her horns, and suddenly lifted him up against the roof of the building, with a force that threatened to shatter every bone in his body. The first thing he did on returning to earth was to rub himself, the next thing was to throw up his place. He said he didn't doubt that agriculture was a noble pursuit, and that the farmer needed an assistant in the discharge of the multifarious duties, but he didn't believe the Creator designed him for making skylights in cow sheds.—Danbury News.

Salt for Pear Trees.—Salting round pear trees, to prevent the blight, is becoming a general practice in Central New York. From 400 to 600 pounds to the acre are regularly applied each year, with satisfactory results. A correspondent of the Small Fruit Recorder writes as follows on this subject:—"Last spring I put a small shovelful of the refuse material from the salt works—which is composed, I believe, of salt, lime and ash—around a four-year-old pear tree. It has made a very thrifty growth, and the leaves are all free from blight or spot, and have a very glossy, healthy look; while others of the same lot, manured with barnyard manure, have grown but little, and the foliage is spotted and dull. Now, if no ill effect may be attributed to the barnyard manure, it would seem that the difference in these trees was owing to the salt.

Singular Divorce Suit.—The wife of Ossian E. Dodge sometime since entered a suit for divorce against him, which has recently come to a sudden end. Mr. Dodge commenced a cross action against her, and upon the trial recently, evidence was given very damaging to her character. But the remarkable thing is that Mrs. Dodge, upon being called to testify against her husband, confessed to a plot to entrap him, and withdrew all charges against him. She stated also that the counsel, one Finley, who represented her in the divorce suit, was the author of all her troubles, and the chief conspirator against her husband, and that she had been under the complete control of Finley until he proposed to her to poison her husband, when she lost all confidence in him and determined to repair the wrong she had done. This put an end to the proceedings so far as the husband and wife are concerned, and what will be done with Finley remains to be seen.

Over-issue of Railroad Stock.—Attorney Gen. Clark of this State, in accordance with a resolution passed by our last legislature, ordering him to enquire whether any railroad corporation has issued more stock than the law allows, has filed information against the Boston & Maine Railroad Co. for an over issue. The allegation is, that the Company issued $2,000,000 of stock more than the law allows. On Thursday the company responded to the charge by demanding a hearing at once. The Court then ordered replication to be filed by the Corporation in sixty days, and the case will be heard in full at the next September term. The railroad will reply that the alleged over issue was made by authority of the legislature of Maine, and all the proceeds were expended in Maine; consequently the entire transaction is beyond the jurisdiction of this State.

—The Boston Transcript gossips about cooks:

"The cook who strings beans with needle and thread is not looking for a situation. There is a stringency in cooks, let alone string beans. They neither look for a place or at a place. You may leave your name at intelligence offices until you begin to feel like the man in the story 'who shall be nameless,' but no Bridget seeks you out in the busy haunts of trade or the quiet seclusion of your study. No. On the contrary, she stands in an attitude which seems to say, with the ancient warrior and sundry modern plagiarists after him, 'If you want these arms, come and take them.' The idea that cooks are seeking places at this moment is a delusion and a snare. No well-regulated newspaper should countenance it. Meantime the hungry days are already three minutes longer. One would not live alway on celery and raw oysters."

—A Detroit jeweler is gratefully held in remembrance by some burglars of that city. He left his safe unlocked, so that they were not obliged to blow it open with gunpowder, and packed his goods in boxes, so that they did not have to hunt about for a valise or a grain bag in which to take them away. They reciprocated by closing the front door of the shop so quietly as not to disturb him or his family, who slept in rooms adjoining it.

—The happy result of keeping Mr. Froude away from fashionable entertainments and Congressional debates, is shown in the remark by that gentleman that he did not meet a single vulgar person while in America.

—A murderer has been discovered in New York who does not claim to be insane.

The First Thousand Dollars.—The first thousand dollars that a young man honestly earns and saves over and above his expenses while earning it, will ordinarily stamp upon his mind and character two of the most important conditions of success in after life, industry and economy. It is far better for him that he should earn the first thousand dollars than it should be given him. If he earns it he knows what it is worth, since it represents to him a very considerable amount of effort. If he saves it, while earning a much larger sum, he acquires thereby the habit of economy. Neither of these valuable lessons is taught by a gift. On the whole, it is no serious disadvantage to a young man to begin life poor. Most persons who become rich in this country were once poor; and in their poverty they gained habits from the stern necessity of their condition, which in the sequel resulted in riches. Those who are born with "silver spoons in their mouths," and spend their early years in idleness and prodigality, seldom amount to much as men in the practical business of life.

—Mr. Paul Morphy is not practising law in New Orleans, as reported. He is doing nothing, is poor and has become disgusted with chess.

Business Notices.

A Question of Time.—The recent cough or cold, that without proper treatment may become chronic and last for months, can be radically cured by a few doses of that invaluable pectoral elixir, Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Crittenton's, 7 6th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The greatest novelty of modern medical and chemical science is found in Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules—scarcely larger than mustard seed, yet possessing as much cathartic power as the old style of large, repulsive pills, while they are more easily taken and are promised to close up apothecary and pleasant in effect. 25 cents a vial, for sale by Druggists. 670

☞ Persons suffering with Liver Complaint in any of its various forms will do well to call at Gilbert's Root and Herb Store, and try some of his Liver Lozenges. Many have tried them and are rejoicing to-day.

Wells' Grand Distribution.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement W. B. Lowd, Agent.

Health is often impaired by the excessive use of tea or coffee. The delicious fragrance and strengthening qualities of a nice cup of Broma or Cocoa, are known to the student, the invalid, and to the hard worker, the world over. To secure such in its greatest purity, or any of the finest preparations of Chocolate, our readers have only to ask their grocer for goods bearing the stamp of Walter Baker & Co., Boston. This old house has the highest reputation for its goods, and dates so far back as 1851.

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Buchman's Pulmocine, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers; if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

"The Scouts of the Prairie,"

As performed by "Ned Buntline," "Buffalo Bill," "Texas Jack" and the "big Injuns," at the Temple on Monday evening, was one of the most enjoyable performances we ever witnessed, and seemed to fairly take the spectators by storm. The audience was a large one, there being very few good seats unoccupied on the lower floor, while the gallery was crowded—mainly with boys and girls of the dime-novel age and variety, whose bliss was perfect at the amount of yellow-covered business transacted on the stage. We were expressly delighted with the apostrophes to nature by "Hazel Eye" and "Carl Durg," delivered in the choicest language, after the manner of frontier men and maidens; and the trapper's temperance lecture to the drunken Irishman (there was a stage Irishman, who was always drunk, of course, and a stage Dutchman, who — equally of course—was a blundering blockhead,) touched the tenderest fibres of our heart. The generous applause with which those fellows in the audience who had "been out to see a man" between the acts responded to the high-toned temperance sentiments of the trapper, raised our estimate of the latent morality of the human race several degrees.

Then the killing was magnificent. Each act (we forget how many acts there were) closed with a grand scrimmage, in which pistols and tomahawks, scalping knives and blue fire, red-skins and white hunters flew around promiscuously; Buffalo Bill and Texas Jack, with revolvers in both hands, each blazed away like a whole platoon of light infantry, until they resembled gigantic Catherine wheels—a dark spot in the centre and a brilliant circle of fire outside; and when the smoke would clear away the spectators would discover that all the noble red men had been snuffed out, and only the good-looking white hunters remained.

As to the "Pawnee chiefs," they hardly came up to our ideal of the red man—but we acknowledge that we are acquainted with the noble savage principally through Cooper's novels and an occasional meeting with one of the strolling basket sellers of the Oldtown tribe. The Pawnees may be the genuine article, for aught we know; they looked homely enough, made hideous noises enough, and some of them spoke bad English enough; but they were as totally unlike our big Injun a la Cooper as the stage sailor is unlike the chap who really goes down to the sea in ships. Altogether, this "sensational drama" amused us more than any play we ever saw, and we dare not hope we shall ever look upon its like again.

New Explosive.

On Monday a stick of wood which a lady of this city had just placed in the fire exploded with a loud report, and one fragment struck her in the face with such force as to prostrate her, her lip being cut and two front teeth of a strong and handsome set broken short off. We have before had reports from various quarters of nearly all sorts of explosions, — doughnuts, mince pies, barrels of flour, eggs and potatoes "going off" unexpectedly and in some cases with fatal results; and now that firewood is added to the list of things which blow people up, nitro glycerine and non-explosive kerosene seem to be the only articles which we can depend upon—we know exactly what to expect, from them.

Laconics.

In an item of a day or two since relating to "Kittery school matters," a wrong figure made a sentence read "District No. 6," which should have read No 7.

Rev. Carlos Martyn will deliver the second lecture of the course inaugurated by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at the Temple, to-morrow evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock. Subject: "A Speech for the Speechless." The lecture will be free to all.

The subject is one that is fast attaining prominence, and we trust that the eloquent lecturer will have a full house. Our dumb animals are to have a new era dawn upon them in which care and protection will supplant abuse and neglect.

A lawyer of literary tastes in New York, a native of Portsmouth, has written a history of the Isles of Shoals, which is now going through the press.

A term of the U. S. District Court began in this city on Tuesday, Judge Clark presiding. The only important case to be tried is one against Col. Wm. R. Patten of Manchester, charged with forging the name of Mrs. Hannah W. Cochrane and obtaining $100 bounty due her.

Dover's city bonds in aid of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad have all been purchased by the Portsmouth Trust and Guarantee Company at par, who also agree to pay the interest on them till the completion of the road.

A man named Torpey, who murdered a Mrs. Nicholson, was taken from the jail in Monterey, Cal., where he was awaiting trial, and hung by a mob, Monday afternoon.

Three Irishmen in New York, Monday, stabbed, beat and bit a saloon keeper named Schmidt, fatally stabbed his wife and a Mr. Young, who went to Schmidt's assistance, and as they were running from the place stabbed another man whom they met. No arrests.

The British steamship Petersburg, from China for New York, with tea, has been wrecked at Bermuda. Ship and cargo valued at $750,000.

A party of roughs attacked a horse car in New York, on St. Patrick's Day. The passengers responded with revolvers, and a lively fight ensued, the roughs being repulsed.

Williams, the post office forger who walked out of the court house in Boston some weeks ago, was caught in that city on Monday.

Ex-Senator Sawyer of South Carolina has been nominated as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury by the President.

COUNSEL FOR WAGNER.—One of the counsel for the Smutty Nose Island murderer has already been retained in the person of Max Fischacher, the well known Attorney of Boston. The senior counsel will be one of the ablest lawyers at the Maine bar, though who, has not yet been decided. Mr. Fischacher has commenced his labors in behalf of the unfortunate man. Wagner will be arraigned at the opening of the Supreme Court of Maine at the May term, and probably be tried soon afterwards.

HOW A QUAKERESS STOPPED BORROWING.—An old Quaker lady, another neighbor, who had endured these invasions for a long time patiently, hit upon a very philosophical mode of eventually putting a stop to the nuisance. Keeping her own counsel, the next day her man went to town, he had a separate and express order to purchase a pound of the best tea and also a new canister to put it in; as he knew she already had plenty of tea and also a canister, he was puzzled to determine what the old lady wanted of more tea and a new canister, but his questioning and reasonings elicited nothing more than a repetition of the order.

"Jim, did I not tell thee to get me a pound of the best tea and a new canister? Now go along and do as I bid thee."

And go along he did, and when he came home at night the tea and new canister were his companions. The old lady took them from him with an amused expression on her usual placid features, and depositing the tea in the canister set it on the shelf for a special use. It had not long to wait, for the borrowing neighbor had frequent use for the aromatic herb. The good old lady loaned generously, emptying back in the canister any remittance of borrowed teas which the neighbor's conscience inclined her to make. Time went on and after something less than the hundredth time of borrowing, the neighbor again appeared for "just another drawing of tea," when the oft-visited tea-canister was brought out and found to be empty, and the good old lady and obliging neighbor was just one pound of tea poorer than when she bought the new canister which now only remained to tell the story. Then she made a little characteristic speech, perhaps the first in her life; she said: "Thou seest that empty canister; I filled it for thee with a pound of my best tea, and I have lent it all to thee in driblets, and put in to it all that thou hast sent me in return, and none but thyself hath taken therefrom or added unto it, and now thou seest it empty; therefore I will say to thee, thou hast borrowed thyself out, and I can lend thee no more!"

—The honest milk producer, whose profit is beautiful, but less than his brother, the "runner's" think the criminal code should be augmented to specially apply to the latter and provide for "infanticide by impure milk." The horrid creature was bold enough to say at the New England Milk Producers' Association meeting the other day that he believed the practice of taking off all the cream and then running the dregs with a solution of molasses, burnt sugar, salt skim milk, is fatal to infants. The milk will look well and keep, but the babe won't it fed on it.

—The lady members of his congregation are indignant at the impudence of Rev. Dr. Burlingame, of St. Louis. His last text was, "How old art thou?"

—A Bluebeard of Jonesborough, Tenn., has brought home three brides within a year, and furnished funerals for two of them, without arousing the curiosity of the coroner.

—Kerosene kills more than smallpox.

—Josh Billings has tried his hand at making poetry, and here is the result:

"Get out your sled and sheep-skin robe,
Hitch up old spinoot,
Fetch him a wipe along the spine,
And let the animal scoot."

Morning Chronicle.

A DULL CANVASS.—Referring to the New Hampshire election, the New Haven Palladium says:

Neither party resorted to the usual means of getting up an excitement among the voters. Both seemed apathetic, but the republicans were a little the more so. It was certainly difficult for people who had trusted Senator Patterson, and been so sadly deceived, to show much enthusiasm.

—The variation of the rise and fall of the tides at different places is singular and the cause rather difficult of explanation is full. In the Bay of Fundy the difference between the ordinary high and low tide is 70 feet; at the mouth of the Severn, England, and at St. Malo, France, it is 46 feet; at Guernsey and Jersey 36 feet; at the mouth of the Scheldt 20 feet; along the coast of Holland 10 to 19 feet; along the coasts of the United States the tides vary from 6 to 10 and 20; while in the Mediterranean they are scarcely perceptible.

—Stamford, Conn., has an eye to business. Somebody in a neighboring town, who owns a fast team, is invited to show it, and then is arrested by the authorities for fast driving and fined $11. By careful management, a small town can clear some $30 a week in this way.

—Darwin is unmarried, as witness by the following statement that infants do not know how to weep until they are several days old. We don't know whether they can prove the statement or not; but there are a good many happy fathers who will give him ☞ they possess in the world if he will prove that infants don't know how to howl.

—A terrible tale of youthful depravity comes from Philadelphia, where a hardened wretch, aged three years, forged his mother's name to a shingle with a piece of chalk, and bought five cents' worth of rock candy with the bogus order.

—A pleasant little reunion was quite upset, recently, by one of the children asking, in a painfully audible tone, "Mamma, why did you tell me not to say anything about Mr. Junkin's nose? He hasn't got any."

—A gully is the road, about midway between Springfield and Agawam, Mass., caused fifteen teams to capsize in a single day, recently.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an alkaline, and easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for Disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all Diseases requiring a healthy and vigorous blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

GRANDEST SCHEME OF THE AGE!

$500,000 CASH GIFTS.

$100,000 for only $10.

Under Authority of special legislative act of March 9, 1871, the trustees now announce the Third Grand Gift Concert for the benefit of the Public Library of Kentucky, to come off in Library Hall, at Louisville, Ky., on TUESDAY, APRIL 8, 1873.

At this Concert the best musical talent that can be procured from all parts of the country will add pleasure to the entertainment, and Ten Thousand Cash Gifts, aggregating a vast total of Half a Million Dollars, will be distributed by lot to the ticket-holders, as follows:

One Grand Cash Gift,	$1,000,000
One Grand Cash Gift,	50,000
One Grand Cash Gift,	25,000
One Grand Cash Gift,	20,000
One Grand Cash Gift,	10,000

9,000 Cash Gifts of 10 "	90,000
Total, 10 000 Gifts, all Cash,	$500 000

To provide means for this magnificent Concert, One Hundred Thousand Whole Tickets only will be issued.

Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven Whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 orders.

The object of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the enlargement and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most eminent citizens of the United States. The sale of tickets has already commenced, and a large patronage thereon is assured, and buyers are therefore notified that they must order at once if they desire to participate in the drawing.

The management of this undertaking has been committed by the trustees to Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, who will have entire control of the Gift Concert, and to whom all orders should be addressed.

W. T. BURRETT, Pres't.

W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice Pres't.

JOHN S. CAIN, Sec'y Public Library of Ky.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,305.55. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to the business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of this company is transacted.

CLEA R YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the $1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS. Much has been said and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so universally successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for Internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. PRESTON, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

The Chronicle.

The Child and the Violet.

The soft, warm snow had kept the delicate violet-roots very cosy and snug all the winter, and now the bright spring sunshine had melted the warm covering away, and shooting its golden rays down into the midst of the roots, roused them from their winter of slumbers. A new life stirred within them, and presently a tiny green thing pushed its way up through the ground, and encouraged by the soft south wind and golden sunshine, expanded into a delicate stem and leaf. Then a slender flower-stem lifted up its head, and the dainty bud burst into a beautiful flower.

The south-wind lingered over it, and bore away its fragrance to less favored spots. The birds sang of it when they uttered the glad tidings that spring had returned; and the modest blossom rejoiced that it should bring a little pleasure into the beautiful world.

One day a little boy spied the purple flower blooming under the hedge, and breathed the delicate perfume which it scattered upon the air.

To the city child, who had never beheld a wood-violet, the blossom was a wonder. He bent over it in rapture.

Then, suddenly he shouted gleefully to his mother and his sister to come and see the wonderful first spring flower.

But when they came and would have plucked it, he begged them to spare it; and when they would lead him from the spot, he left it reluctantly,—tearfully.

Every pleasant day saw the little child lingering beside his treasure, until the last blossom had scattered its petals on the earth. Then the child wept. But his mother comforted him with the promise that the next spring would bring more violets under the hedge.

Raising his soft blue eyes, and pointing with his dimpled hands toward heaven, he murmured, "shall I not see the dead violets there?"

The roses and lillies of June next burst upon his enraptured vision, but none were so dear to him as his first spring violet.

Then the child seemed to fade away, even as his beloved violet had faded; and his mother sighed when he asked her if his violets would not bloom again in heaven.

He lingered through the long, warm summer, and when the autumn days came, seemed to brighten and improve; but the winter found him weakened, and when again the soft south-west wind wandered over the land, and the first spring violet burst from its winter home, they laid the child's body under a bank of violets, "for he loved them," said his mother.

And who shall say that he does not gather violets far more beautiful than those of earth, in the heavenly gardens! E.

HOW THE PARISIANS TAKE A BATH.—The Paris correspondent of the London Times gives the following description of the Seine bathing:—"At first there is something odd in seeing so many half-naked men pulling themselves about (in the Seine), but there is an innocence and simplicity in the whole proceeding which divests it of any idea of impropriety. Here, for instance, are three men and two ladies, all in their bathing dresses, and all giving themselves the air bath, which their limited costumes render agreeable, before taking their swim together. The boat stops in mid stream a little ladder is hung over the side, the gentlemen all go in like frogs, one after another, head first, the ladies go in like ducks, with a sort of flutter and rush upon the surface, and so they swim merrily round the boat, laughing and chasing one another, and every now and then climbing up the ladder to rest. At Bas Meudon there are a number of covered boats which may be hired, and within the gipsy like tent at the stern the ladies make their toilets, while the gentlemen make theirs in the bow. But here are also islands, with convenient bushy shelters, and bathers of both sexes take advantage of them in the absence of bathing houses or better cover."

The Danbury News is just three years old.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1873.

Readables.

Senator Sumner is said to be improving in health, although he is very feeble, walking about his house with the aid of a cane.

A trio of school-girls, aged respectively 12, 14, and 15, of highly respectable families, left their homes at Dayton, Ohio, under pretense of going to school, since which nothing has been heard of their whereabouts. It was learned a few days since, from an intimate friend of one of the girls, that they intended going with a Black Creek company, which recently completed an engagement there. Every effort is being made to recover the young fools.

George Francis Train has been pronounced insane and Judge Daly will shortly decide about sending him to an insane asylum.

A MELANCHOLY JOKE was played upon the people of Lafayette, Sunday. Two weeks ago the City Council passed an ordinance called a Sunday law, which is nothing more nor less in its provisions than the embodiment in a city ordinance of the statute of the State on that subject. The agitation of the subject was fairly aroused last summer by the visit to that city on a Sunday of a picnic party from Indianapolis, which greatly disturbed a portion of the citizens, calling out sermons of denunciation from the pulpit, and delegations of the clergy and others with petitions to the council demanding a stringent Sunday law. Such a bill was prevented by the council and defeated, when on further and larger petitions the present ordinance was adopted by a majority of one vote. Among others, the mayor, who is a German, is intensely opposed to the ordinance and to interference with the beer saloons and cigar shops on Sunday. But the temperance law and the city Sunday ordinance both being now in force, the mayor determined to adopt General Grant's theory and execute the law to its fullest extent. This purpose being understood, last Sunday all the saloons and cigar shops were religiously closed, and the day is represented as one of unprecedented quiet. The fun came at night. As soon as the city editor of the morning Journal came on duty the policeman treated him to the joke which he had so many thousand times described, of a compulsory walk to the mayor's office. And, although the Journal printing house was locked up at all the usual places of access, a couple of enterprising stars found a way through the coal hole to the inside, and arrested all the compositors. The bakers who were setting their sponge for the morning rolls, went the same way, and as an unsuspecting milkman was put on a par with the vendors of beer and whiskey, and walked off to the mayor's office. The night telegraph operator being forewarned did not appear at his usual avocations in violation of Sunday, which further discommoded the press by depriving it of the customary despatches. The sextons of the churches and ministers were passed by for the first day, do doubt to avoid flushing the game which was to be hunted at night. But it is declared that the next Sunday all the workers of every character shall be brought to the suspension of their regular avocations. Of course, these unusual proceedings furnish abundant food for excitement and comment, and every one is now on the qui vive to see and hear what next.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

SCOLDING.—Scolding is mostly a habit. There is not much meaning in it. It is often the result of nervousness, and an irritable condition of both mind and body. A person is tried and annoyed at some trival cause, and forthwith commences finding fault with everything and everybody in reach. Scolding is a habit very easily formed. It is astonishing how soon one who indulges in it at all becomes addicted to it and confirmed in it. It is an unreasoning and unreasonable habit. Persons who once get in the way of scolding always finds something to scold about. If there were nothing else, they would fall a scolding at the mere absence of anything to scold at. It is an extremely disagreeable habit. The constant rumbling of distant thunder, caterwaulings, or a hand organ under one's window, would be less unpleasant.

The habit is contagious. Once introduced into a family, it is pretty certain in a short time to affect all the members. If one of them begins finding fault about something or nothing, the others are apt very soon to take it up, and a very unnecessary bedlam is created.

Women contract the habit more by frequent use than men. This may be because they live more in the house, in a confined and heated atmosphere very trying to the nervous system and the health ingeneral; and it may be partly that their natures are more susceptible, and the sensitiveness more easily wounded. Women are sometimes called divine; but a scolding woman never seems divine.

THAT BANISHED WINE.—The fact has been heralded everywhere, as it deserved to be, that on New Year's day the President of the United States banished wine from the list of refreshments at one of the most brilliant receptions which the White House ever witnessed. Foreign representatives were there in large numbers and splendid array—counts, lords, and distinguished men from nearly every first-class power on earth. Generals and admirals, glittering with gold lace, represented our own army and navy; senators and representatives added their presence to the imposing scene. What refreshments were offered to this distinguished company, we are not informed; but wine and all intoxicating liquors were banished. It was a brave act of our republican President, and he should be honored for it. There is not, probably, another ruler on earth who would have had either the moral conviction or the daring—call it what you please—to do such a thing. Wine and strong drink have had a place at the banquets of kings and rulers, ever since kings and rulers first gave banquets. Probably no titled foreigner at the White House on New Year's day, had ever been at a reception of that kind, or a court banquet of any sort, where there was not wine. The act was a tribute to the President's own temperance conviction, or else to the known convictions of very many in the nation upon that subject. In either case, it speaks well for him, and is a hopeful indication in our great temperance conflict. Temperance principles are securing recognition in places of fashion and power, and on days when many private citizens, and even ladies, imagine that to refuse wine to guests is almost ill-mannered.

—The office of first bridesmaid has become a sinecure. She used to take off the bride's gloves when the ring was put on, but fashion has introduced a simple process. —A bright little boy hearing his father say that a man ought to "stick to his business," emptied a bottle of mucilage in the old gentleman's office chair. The old man says he has not been stuck so badly since 1857, and rewarded his offspring by taking him on a whaling trip to the back cellar.

A QUIET EVENING.—Mr. Bodwell, of Nelson street, sat down for a quiet communion [with his family and the newspaper on Thursday evening. All the children but the eldest had eaten supper, and he was industriously engaged at that task. Mr. Bodwell drew up to the lamp, selected an interesting article that would undoubtedly engross his wife, and commenced to reproduce it, while she, patient woman, kept her eyes on the children, as the latter were very sensitive to foreign noises when engaged in reading. Bodwell had got down the column some twelve lines, and was just laying himself out on the big words, when one of the girls while taking unusual precautions to step around a scuttle of coal, actually stepped into it, and a bewildering crash followed. "Merciful heaven!" shouted Bodwell, "what was that?" Mrs. Bodwell explained, the other children tittered, and the girl being a wise child, knew her own father, and sagaciously left. Again Bodwell picked up the paper, and giving it a spiteful twist, resumed the article. It was a moment or two before he regained his composure; but the author was a man acquainted with the business, and the skill with which he handled the subject soon conquered Bodwell's mind. He became wholly absorbed in the matter, and at one point he involuntarily brought down his clenched hand with a force that amply expressed his own feelings, and very forcibly stirred up those of one of the children, whose head caught the full effort of the descending fist.

"Will somebody cut me open?" pleaded the despairing man, as he caught up the shrieking offspring, and fell to rubbing its back, while the mother dashed after the camphor, and the other children, awe struck by the affair, rushed into the hall to laugh. It was full five minutes before the injured one was quieted, and by that time Mrs. Bodwell expressed a desire to hear no more of the article; but Bodwell was determined then to finish it anyway, and he resumed the paper. During the progress of the next reading, a little girl came in to borrow a flat iron, and the mother got up to give it to her, moving about so quietly that Bodwell was not interrupted. The eldest boy was still at supper. He was a good boy. Whenever he wanted anything he stood up and reached for it himself, and did it very quietly. Just as the little girl departed with the flat-iron, the heir, who had his father's boots on, stood up to reach over the table for the sixth tart. The mother is returning detected the vacant chair, and fearing some one would fall over it and make another disturbance, she thoughtfully moved it back to the wall, and just got by as the heir settled back with the coveted tart, and finding nothing but thin air to receive him, made a desperate effort to save himself, but was too late, and came down on the floor with a crash that made every timber in the house speak, and the horrified parent, on looking up, was nearly petrified with amazement to see his own boots clawing madly among the dishes, while the distracted occupant was vainly endeavoring to extricate himself from under the table. That wound up the evening's entertainment. The disgusted Bodwell put on his coat and fled down street, leaving the very sore and mortified heir to suppress the mirth indiscreetly displayed by the other children as he best could with the agencies at hand.—Danbury News.

ASBURY'S CUP.—At Brighton, in Sussex, England, a beautiful gold cup is annually presented as a prize to the winner of a foot race, which is open to all the schools of that place. The race is over a course 100 yards in length, and creates great interest in the city, large crowds assembling every year to witness the contest. This year it was made more than usually interesting by the offer of a cup, valued at $250, to the winner of a course 250 yards long, by Mr. James Asbury, of yachting notoriety, who lives at Brighton. These two races came off last Fall, but, unfortunately for English pride, in two of the schools are two little boys born on this side of the Atlantic—Yankees, they call them, Willie and Harry Homans, grand-children of the late Hon. William Parmelee, of Albany, whose father is residing in England, for business purposes. Twenty schools were represented in the race, and twenty-seven boys started in the race, 100 yards, which was won by the "Yankee" Willie Homans; his brother Harry second, beating all the English competitors. This was a severe mortification to the papas and mammas of the other boys, but they consoled themselves with the reflection "that it was a short race, and no test of "endurance, hoping a different result in the long race of 250 yards which followed. In this race, forty-two English boys started against the two Yankee brothers, but again the Stars and Stripes were triumphant, only this time Harry led and Willie was second, with the forty-two English strung out in a long line behind them. Imagine Mr. Asbury's "phelinks" at the idea of his cup being won by an American boy.

—A London newsboy, having strayed into Surrey, was brought before a justice of the peace on some petty charge. "Where do you live?" asked the justice. "With mother," said the boy. "Where does she live?" "With father." "Where does he live?" "At home." "Where is their home?" "That's where I'm from, old man," said the boy, winking at the judge. The young rascal was told to "go back there," and he went.

—It is a question of veracity. Mr. Froude says he did not meet a single vulgar person while in this country, but several vulgar persons say they met Froude. When the authorities differ, who shall decide?

JUVENILE PRAYER.—"Kitty's going to join our Sabbath school; she's coming with me next Sunday, ain't you Kitty?"

"Oh, I don't know—I've never been to Sabbath school. What do you have to do?"

"Why! you get saved, of course; and books and albums and—"

"I mean, what do you have to do?—have to study anything?"

"Oh, it isn't like that. It's like church, you know. When you first go in you have to put your head down and pray."

"But I can't pray," says heathen Kitty. "I don't know how to pray."

"Oh, well, do as I do—shut your eyes and count fifty."

—A Vallejo, California, young lady, about to go off in the cars, stepped into the dark sitting room of the depot to kiss her friend Sarah good by. Owing to the darkness she didn't hit Sarah, but caromed on a Chinaman, and didn't find out the mistake until John began yelling, "Whatee for you so chokee me? Hi yah! No squeezee so muchee!" One yell, a flopping of feminine garments, a slammed door, and that girl was gone.

—A common epitaph in Arkansas cemeteries is: "We will meet in heaven, husband dear." According to a Western paper, this explains why the men of Arkansas are conducting themselves so as to go to the other place.

The greatest novelty of modern medical and chemical science is found in Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules—scarcely larger than mustard seed, yet possessing as much cathartic power as the old style of large, repulsive pills, while they are more easily taken and are pleasant in effect. 25 cents a vial, for sale by Druggists. 670

HEALTH is often impaired by the excessive use of tea or coffee. The delicious fragrance and strengthening qualities of a nice cup of Bromo Cocoa, are known to the student, the invalid, and to the hard worker, the world over. To secure such in its greatest purity, or any of the finest preparations of Chocolate, our readers have only to ask their grocer for goods bearing the stamp of Walter Baker & Co., Boston. This old house has the highest reputation for its goods, and dates so far back as 1851.

A PARAGRAPH FOR DYSPEPTICS. If you have a weak stomach, and wish to make it weaker, take violent purgatives. There is no surer way to render indigestion chronic. But if you are dyspeptic, and like a sensible person desire to strengthen your digestive organs and compel them to perform their essential duties thoroughly and regularly, take a dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters before every meal, until your delinquent stomach is restored to a healthy condition. It should be understood that dyspepsia is always complicated with disturbances of the liver and an unnatural state of the bowels, and that no medicine which does not reach and rectify these irregularities can possibly cure this agonizing disease. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an anti-bilious agent and a gradual cathartic, as well as a tonic and stomachic, and hence its unparalleled efficacy in the severest cases of chronic indigestion.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Portsmouth Mayoralty.

They have made another count of the vote for mayor in Portsmouth, and in Ward Two the coalition candidate has three votes less than had been credited to him on the previous count. The case now stands thusly: Yesterday Mr. Marvin, the citizens' candidate, had one majority; to-day Mr. Miller has two majority; but who will be elected to-morrow not all the lawyers on Strawberry Bank can tell. We hope, however, that it will continue to be our genial friend Miller.—Nashua Telegraph.

We have no doubt that Mr. Miller was legally elected Mayor, Bro. Moore; but Mr. Marvin has been declared elected by the City Councils, and wants the office badly. Mr. Miller refuses to contest—and his friends haven't forgotten that there are but twelve months in a year.

It seems that the election in this instance resolved itself into a mere contest as to whether those who controlled the ward which favored Marvin, could keep the polls open longer than those who controlled the wards in which Miller's friends had a majority. Other instances have not been wanting in this State, where certain polls have been kept open long after any reasonable hour, for the express purpose of voting in or counting in some candidate who on a square vote and in a fair contest was likely or liable to be beaten.

Indeed it has too often been the case that those in charge of the polls in certain wards and towns have been accustomed to keep the polls open until it could be ascertained how many votes were needed to elect or defeat somebody, and until those votes were obtained. We have no fixed time for opening or closing the polls in this State. In some towns the polls are kept open to receive the State ticket all day; in others the ticket is voted separately, generally after the election of moderator, and the polls are then closed, the vote counted and declared, and afterwards no man can vote; and any one unlucky enough to be fifteen minutes late is disfranchised. Of course this loose arrangement allows a moderator to signalize to his friends when it is advisable for them to have the polls closed and then for them, by a hundred ways that are dark, to close them and to perhaps elect or defeat a candidate, while only a portion of the voters who wish to vote are allowed to do so, and thus the will of the majority is defeated.

Now it must be very clear to everybody that there is no sense in compelling a community to all rush to the polls within a half hour; and, on the other hand, that there is no necessity for keeping the polls open and allowing people to vote all night. Neither is there any apparent justice in keeping the polls in a certain ward open long after all others have closed in order to have the result in that ward overcome that in the others.

What we want is a uniform law fixing the time for opening and closing the polls, which will allow a reasonable time for voters to present their ballots, which will do away with this closing polls especially to cut off voters, and with keeping them open especially to elect or defeat anybody. Give us such a law, let people understand that at a certain hour the polls will close, and that at a certain other hour the vote will be declared, and most of the charges of fraud and doctoring returns now made against moderators and clerks will disappear. Nearly every other State has some such law. We in New Hampshire can not enact a similar one too soon.—Manchester Mirror.

The polls in the two republican wards were closed as early as possible after the votes were counted, while the polls in the democratic ward were not closed for hours afterwards, notwithstanding the votes were counted and the meeting had voted to close the polls three hours before the vote was declared.

Humanity Finding Expression.

Mr. James M. Sheldon, one of our leading butchers, has placed upon the road a large sized and comfortable framed sheep and calf pen, to be used in transporting his collections of this trade from the country round about. It has been the common practice to tie up calves and sheep in the most cruel manner, bundling them together and upon each other for hours. Mr. Sheldon says he is done with the cruel practice forever, and hopes his example will be followed by other butchers. We learn from him that Portsmouth butchers have discontinued their former habit of bleeding calves before killing. Good for them! The world moves, and the Societies for Prevention of Cruelty will yet be a power in the land.

Dr. Strong, the dispenser of Sulphur Baths, is having a good patronage. His apartments are fitted up for ladies as well as gentlemen, and the former are already availing themselves of these healthful baths. Try one just for fun, and see if you like it.

Schooner Joseph Garland, reported lost, has been heard from, letters being received from some of the crew on Wednesday.

At a meeting of the general committee on Fourth of July held in the City Council Room on Tuesday evening, Messrs. Thomas S. Nowell, William R. Preston, and Gardner M. Goodrpich were appointed Committee on Music.

Additional circumstantial evidence of Wagner's guilt has been discovered.

Two men who booked themselves as Sawyer and McLeary, from Portland, stopped at the Franklin House on Tuesday night and intentionally made a bon-fire of the bedding in their room. The men left the house before the fact was discovered, but were shortly afterwards arrested at the Depot and taken to the Station House. Mine host Parker of the hotel offered to settle with them, which they refused to do. They will call on Judge Page this morning at nine.

STREET ATTIRE.—As this is the month when ladies begin to prepare their spring costumes, we desire to utter a word of warning in regard to the colors worn or purchased for the street. Every season the advance notes are the same; some decided and high collor is declared to have taken the place of the grave browns, and grays, and blacks of the previous season for street attire.

Now, this is all false in fact and pernicious in theory. The laws of good taste ordain grave collors for street attire, whatever may be the fashion for collors in the house; and the mistake that foreigners not unfrequently make in regard to the character of American ladies is not due to their deportment half so much as to the striking character of their street costumes.

It is an unfortunate fact that certain "ladies" of the "half-world"—as some one translates demi-monde, and the words have a quaint expressiveness—are so very grand in their style and dignified in their walk that one is staggered (unless a long time a denizen of this city) into uncertainty as to where to place them. Does not this prove that a wide line of distinction in street attire should be made, and that it cannot be done to soon?

A very lovely young girl of this city—to relate what Josh Billings calls a little "nanny goat"—one day appeared in a suit of scarlet cloth, trimmed with black, with a black hat and scarlet plume. Her style was brunette, and it must be confessed that in this very "gorgeous array" she looked like a beautiful picture. Before she left the house some members of the family, more sensible than herself, endeavored to induce her to change her dress. No; Beauty would not do it!

She sallied forth.

A few blocks from her house a certain dashing young foreign officer met her. It did not for one moment enter his thought or imagination that any respectable girl could, would, or should enter the public thoroughfare in such attire, and doffing his beaver, he accosted her.

The insulted beauty burst out crying; then, "like Niobe, all tears," she ran along the avenue, "home again! home again!" as fast as Atalanta of the winged feet.

Startled and amazed, and convinced that he had made one grand mistake, the young man retired in great confusion, and stayed in his hotel the rest of the day, heartily ashamed of himself. He did not commit suicide, but it is said that he "thought of it."

Beauty has packed away the scarlet cloth and black velvet dress, and will never, never, never do so again! She says "it will do for a fancy dress, a 'Fille du Regiment,' or something of that sort," and admits that she was wrong not to have so decided before.

A quiet style for the street is the first law of good breeding and of true fashion. Let modes vary as they may, that principle is as immutable as the law of the Medes and Persians.

Let the black be rich, the brown be dusky almost in its depths, the purple a veiled haze, and the blue scarce perceptible; but no "warm" or "flashy" wine-color, no cafe aulait, no light tea-color for the street. It is not a triumph when the boys turn and comment audibly. "My eye, Jim!" is not a compliment. Dinah and her friends may see it in that light, but the true lady never will.—Washington Society Journal.

Morning Chronicle.

—An Akron, Ohio, cat, crying upon his nine lives to save him, allowed his tail to swell, his spine to curve, and with the "banner cry of hell" emanating from his jaws, waded into a buzz saw in rapid motion. The cat was never seen again, but the born sawyer, who always stood with his mouth open while at work, remarked to his assistant that he could "taste fiddle strings and sausage meat in the air that morning."

—Grace Greenwood doesn't understand why handsome and giddy young ladies should be employed in the Washington Departments, to the exclusion of better qualified persons. Grace never will understand it, then, until she gets to be a handsome and giddy young lady herself.

—A Minnesota youth struck a horse with a gun to make him go. The horse, three fingers, and the gun went off so quickly that nobody feels quite competent to say which started first.

—"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast." A tribe in Wisconsin has actually organized a brass band. But on the whole the neighbors rather prefer the musical war-whoop.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

OF

CONSUMPTION!

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and has proved by its world wide fame its efficacy in every case.

Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest or Side, Bleeding or Weakness of the Lungs, Liver Complaints, &c. &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the OILY PREPARATION which will effectually and immediately relieve their difficulties. Sold by all druggists.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All other are base counterfeits. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

GRANDEST SCHEME OF THE AGE!

$100,000 for only $10.

Under authority of special legislative act of March 16, 1871, the trustees now announce the Third Grand Gift Concert, to be given for the benefit of the Public Library of Kentucky, in course of it Library Hall, at Louisville, Ky., on TUESDAY, APRIL 8, 1873.

At this Concert the best musical talent that can be procured from all parts of the country will add pleasure to the entertainment, and Ten Thousand Cash Gifts, aggregating the total of Half a Million Dollars currency will be distributed by lot to the ticket-holders, as follows:

One Grand Cash Gift,		$1,000,000

Total, 10,000 Gifts, all Cash,		$500,000

To provide money for the expenses of the Concert, the Trustees have decided that Whole Tickets only will be issued.

Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 orders.

The subject of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the enlargement and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most prominent citizens of the United States. The money received from the sale of tickets for that complete success is assured, and buyers are therefore notified that they must order at once if they desire to participate in the drawing.

The management of this undertaking has been committed by the trustees to Hon. John E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom communications pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading mutual life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is the preeminent to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,565,000. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &C. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
— OF —
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET.
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantage over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lopuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so universally successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. TRACHER, WM. R. PARSTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TEMPLETON, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

Teaching Public School.

Eighty little urchins
Coming through the door,
Pushing, crowding, making
A tremendous roar.
Why don't you keep quiet?
Can't you mind the rule?
Bless me! this is pleasant,
Keeping public school.

Eighty little pilgrims
On the road to fame!
If they fail to reach it,
Who will be to blame?
High and lowly stations,
Birds of every feather,
On a common level,
Here are brought together.

Dirty little faces;
Loving little hearts;
Eyes brimful of mischief,
Skilled in all the arts.
That's a precious darling!
What are you about?
"May I pass the water?"
"Pinkie may I go out?"

Boots and shoes are shuffling,
Slates and books are rattling;
And in the corner yonder
Two pugilists are battling!
Others cutting didos,
What a bothe ration!
No wonder we grow crusty
From such association.

Anxious parent drops in,
Merely to inquire
Why his olive branches
Do not shoot up higher?
Says he wants his children
To mind their p's and q's,
And hopes their brilliant talent
Will not be abused.

Institute attending;
Making out reports;
Giving object lessons;
Class drills of all sorts;
Reading dissertations,
Feeling like a fool—
Oh, the unto'd blessing
Of keeping public school!

—The Louisville Ledger tells the following story of of canine sagacity:

"A little black and tan terrier, belonging to Mr. Newcomb, had followed a member of the family to the drug store of Dr. J. B. Barnum, corner of Fifth and York sts., and while on the sidewalk, a great, over grown cur jumped upon it and broke one of its fore legs. The howls of agony emitted by the poor little fellow attracted the attention of Dr. Barnum, and at his suggestion was taken into the store, and the doctor proceeded to set the broken leg and splinter and bandage it. The dog resisted the operation with all his power, and snapped and howled the whole time. The dog was taken home, and after an absence of four days returned to the store of its own accord, walked up to Dr. Barnum, wagging his tail and whining, and held out the broken leg for the Doctor's inspection. An examination revealed the fact that the bandages and splinters had become disarranged, and were evidently causing great pain. The Doctor rearranged the dressings, and the dog hopped away. Every day since then the dog comes regularly to the store and holds out his leg to the Doctor, as much as to say, "Look at that, Doctor, and see how it's getting along." The examination over, the dog goes home. His leg is nearly well, and it remains to be seen whether, like many of the human race, as soon as he is well he will forget the physician who healed him.

WHERE THE SUN DOES NOT SET.—A scene witnessed by some travelers in the North of Norway, from a cliff one thousand feet above the sea, is thus described:

"The ocean stretched away in silent vastness at our feet; the sound of waves scarcely reached our airy lookout; away in the North the huge old sun swung low along the horizon, like the slow beat of the pendulum in the tall clock of our grandfather's parlor corner. We all stood silent, looking at our watches. When both hands came together at twelve, midnight, the full round orb hung triumphantly above the waves, a bridge of gold running due north, spanning the water between us and him. There he shone in silent majesty, which knew no setting. We involuntarily took off our hats; no word was said. Combine, if you can, the most brilliant sunrise and sunset you ever saw and the beauties will pale before the gorgeous coloring which now lit up ocean, heaven and mountain. In half an hour the sun had swung up perceptibly in his beat, the colors changed to those of morning, a fresh breeze rippled over the flood, one songster after another piped up in the grove behind us—we had slid into another day."

HOW A PAINTING WAS SOLD.—A German artist, who had recently arrived in this country, found himself financially in a very straitened condition. His cash had almost given out, and he had no resources beyond a landscape painting, which he considered one of his finest efforts. In this condition he was directed to apply to Mr. Corcoran, who was then collecting for the great art gallery, which has become known all over the land, and the artist made his way to Washington. His cash balance was just sufficient to take him there, and with trembling steps he made his appearance before the backer and asked him to examine the painting. Mr. Georgeus looked at it carefully through a gold eyeglass. "What do you want for it?" he asked. The artist reflected. It was his masterpiece; he was in a strange city, without friends or money, and finally answered "$300." "Three hundred dollars!" exclaimed the banker; "three hundred dollars! I won't give it." "Two hundred dollars then." "Two hundred dollars. I wouldn't take it at any price."

The artist made his way out of the house, and sorrowfully and with much difficulty returned to New York, where he had the result of his visit before his friends. The merits of the picture having reached the ears of some connoisseurs, they examined it, and pronounced upon it in the highest terms. "What shall I do?" asked the artist of them, one of whom gave him a piece of advice upon which he acted. The picture was placed in a large art-hall. Notice was given that the beautiful landscape, by the celebrated German artist ——, valued at $10,000, was on exhibition at the art-gallery. It was examined by connoisseurs and critics, and descriptions of its beauty appeared in the principal New York papers. Particular care was taken that the critiques should come under the eye of Mr. Corcoran, who immediately sent on his picture purveyor to New York, and the picture was purchased at its valuation. St. Louis Democrat.

Hon. James Brooks is dying of the Credit Mobilier malady.

Things in Utah look equally.

Three persons attempted suicide in New Jersey recently — Etta Lyon, a school teacher of betrayed love; John Newton, jilted by his betrothed; and William Green, unable to live pleasantly with his wife. The women will die and the men will recover.

Pullman, whom all easy-living men execrate, has concluded a contract for the introduction of his palace car on the longest and most important road in England—that connecting London and Liverpool.

Spring began last Thursday morning at 7.28. At that instant the centre of the sun was directly over the equator, or equinoctial line.

The New York "roughs" are having it all their own way. Tuesday morning a party of them, under the influence of bad liquor, of course, entered a street car and began their rowdy work, cutting and shooting generally. The conductor and one passenger were shot, but no arrests were made. Street car travel is getting to be one of the delectable pleasures of the great metropolis.

Mr. John Keane of Waterford, Ireland, some time ago buried the body of a woman that had been sent to him from a hospital as that of his wife. A St. Patrick burial society paid the bill. A few days ago the real Mrs. Keane turned up at the domicile. Keane was mad, Mrs. Keane was mad, and the agent of the burial society was mad.

The steamer Petersburg, from Amoy, China, with 42,000 chests of tea, valued at two and a half millions of dollars, grounded off St. Georges, Bermuda, on the 5th instant. Only one-half the tea was saved, but as otherwise valuable cargo was entirely lost. Teas have risen in consequence.

The "funny man" of the Lowell Courier, Marden, hits it off well when he says that the Sumner resolutions in the Massachusetts House are to be an "expression of what the last legislature thought of what Mr. Sumner thought of what the soldiers ought to think."

Another wife-murderer has just been convicted, at San Francisco, of murder in the first degree.

Two lives were lost by a fire in the St. James Hotel, Montreal, and several persons who were injured in escaping from the flames are in a precarious condition.

Senators Alcorn, Gordon and Ransom were generals in the Confederate army during the war.

A little son of John W. Hix, Jr., of Rockland, Me., while playing with some companions in a barn, on Wednesday, fell from a beam upon a pitchfork, which pierced his heart, killing him instantly.

San Bernardino, Cal., claims to raise the best, sweetest and largest oranges produced in the United States and to excel those of Cuba. The reason of this perfection is that there is never any frost in the country.

The appeal of seven jurors in the Foster case for a commutation of his sentence was submitted to the Governor Dix, who gave it a careful consideration. They swore that conviction could never have been obtained but for the opinion which prevailed among the jurors that their unanimous recommendation to mercy would insure a commutation, and appealed to the governor to prevent a man being put to death through an error of opinion on their part at the time of trial.

The real name of the marguaritte wife of King Victor Emmanuel, whom he now tries to put as his Queen upon the throne of Italy, was Rosina Vercellana. She was of very lowly descent, and when Victor Emmanuel first made her acquaintance in 1846, she was unable to read or write.

The claimant Tichborne has been offered $10,000 to come to this country and exhibit himself. The indictment for perjury against him hinders the acceptance of the offer.

State News.

The will of the late Lewis Downing, after making provision for the widow, divides the income equally among the five children or grandchildren, and the Unitarian Church in Concord. At present it gives the church one-sixth of the income. The value of the property left is over $100,000.

Londonderry has voted to exempt the shoe manufactory which has recently been established in the town by a Mr. Corning, from taxation for the period of five years.

The vote of the town of Clarksville having been received, we have now the full vote of the State for Governor, which foots up as follows: Straw 34,023; Weston 32,022; Blackmer 1059; Mason 698—leaving Governor Straw a clear majority ever all of 244.

There will be sixteen vacant seats in the House of Representatives next June, that number of election precincts having declined to elect.

Stark, in Coos County, last year gave Straw 35, Weston 85, Scattering 1. This year Straw has 48, Weston 58, and the republicans elect their Representative and town officers. Well done, Stark!

Mr. Small received 258 votes in Newmarket, which is 31 ahead of his ticket and 13 more than Mr. Hibbard. This is considered very good by the republicans, as the democrats have about 50 majority.

The prohibitionists at Great Falls ran a liquor seller for Representative to General Court. O, consistency, thou art a jewel!

DOG STORY.—That inveterate wag, Simpson, of the Belfast (Me.) Republican Journal, not to be outdone in anything, has tried his hand at a dog story. Here it is:

After one of the late heavy snow falls, a young girl was endeavoring to make her way along the street to a house at which she was employed, when a strange dog, a large Newfoundland, came to her aid. He kept ahead of her, breaking a path, until he saw her safely in at her destination, when with a satisfied wag of the tail, he trotted back.

WHAT AN OLD-FASHIONED WINTER MEANS.—Doctor; chilblains; red nose; cold in the head; frosted potatoes; aggravation of the misery of rising in the morning; slippery sidewalk; falls; fractures; coals up; horses down; melting snow; impassable streets; wet feet; pumps frozen; pipes burst; plumber; subscriptions; unfavorable returns by Registrar Generals.—Punch.

—That was a singular accident which happened to a mail agent in one of the Western States. Standing in the open door at the side of his car, as the train rushed past a small station, a rope dangling from a crane which stood by the track swung against him, whirled about his neck, and he was jerked out of the train in a twinkling, and landed on a neighboring coal heap. He was insured for $5000 in the "Travellers" of Hartford. Yet he was not killed—his injuries were not even serious, and he was all right again in a few days. But it was the most like being hanged, and having the rope break, that that man ever experienced.

—If we search into the history of those men who have made failures of their lives, we will find that in nine cases out of ten, where they were clerks in groceries, they closed the spouts of oil cans with potatoes. If there is anything that will make a man turn his back on all that is good and pure, and make him profane to a degree that is revolting, it is pouring kerosene in a dark room from a can whose spout has had a potato night-cap.

—The Chicago Post prints this: The boy who forged his mother's name to a shingle with a piece of chalk, and bought five cents' worth of candy with the bogus order, now languishes and slumbers on all fours at night. His mother got possession of the shingle.

—Ivory Whip has just been acquitted on a charge of manslaughter in a York County Court. The death of Resolute Soule was recently reported in the newspapers, and President Thiers recently pardoned an American named Consider Tinkler.

A FAST RAILROAD.—Mr. D —— writes as follows about the railroad between Richmond and Petersburg:

But about this railroad. Of course I wish it abolished—every one does. The reckless velocity with which the train runs between here and Petersburg is absolutely frightful. I was delighted years ago when this road was established, because I thought we had got rid of the filthy and dangerous stage coaches, but the speed they are beginning to run the trains on this road, is worse yet. Now, every one knows that Petersburg is twenty-two miles from Richmond, if it is an inch, and a day and half is plenty quick enough for the trip, but managers have already reduced the schedule to one day, and with making the engine fires too hot, and racing with cows along the road and all that, the conductors are even cutting that time down.

Yesterday, it was only the other day, on the same trip, we happened to spy old Jim's mule about two miles from Manchester. What should the reckless wretch of an engineer do but to clap on full steam and race every foot of the way into town. We didn't exactly pass the mule, but we caught up with him twice, and came to Manchester crossing neck and neck; and which was pulling most, the mule or the engine, you couldn't have told to save your life.

Now it was exciting and all that, I know, but I hadn't purchased an accident ticket, and I don't believe the other four passengers had either. This is all wrong, Mr. Editor, all wrong.

And then on another occasion, I remember, we came within a hair's breadth of having a very serious accident. The engineer had gotten off too snow ball a chipmunk, and the conductor was minding a young widow's baby for her—the result being that the train happened to get on a down grade, and was started off at a terrific rate—every bit of four miles an hour, I should think. We were just half a mile above Chester, and the first thing we knew, there being no one to whistle and wake up the switch tender, we turned off into the Coalfield road, and went down the track at full speed. Imagine our consternation when just at this moment we heard the whistle not half a mile ahead of us, of the up coal train.

We were paralyzed with terror—here were two trains on the same track, approaching each other at the dizzy speed just mentioned. Evidently our time had come! In a few short hours the engines would meet, and then—destruction!

With great presence of mind, a minister on board organized a prayer-meeting. Pale, but calm, the doomed band of passengers sat, and though with the very shadow of death upon them, raised their voices in a parting hymn.

"Send for the baggage-master," said a young man with a sad smile.

"Why," was asked.

"Because we are all about to pass in our checks."

Every body wept. From the rear platform we could see the miserable engineer, straining every nerve to catch up, but he had tight boots on, and didn't gain anything to speak of.

At this moment a ray of hope dawned upon us. I had just finished writing my will on the back of a visiting card, when I observed a young lady in the act of detaching her bustle. Placing the article—which was composed of eight hundred papers and a hair mattress — under her arm, the heroine marched through the car.

We followed her anxiously.

She climbed up on the tender, and then over the engine. It was very interesting and thrilling to see her climbing the pipes and brass things on her way to the cow-catcher. It reminded me of a country girl getting over a wire fence. But never mind about that, now. Let me see where I was. Oh, yes; on the cow-catcher. Holding on by the cross-bars with one hand, the noble maiden tied the bustle on the sharp prow with the other.

You can guess the result. In the course of the afternoon the collision came off. Protected by the bustle, the engine received a gentle bump, and we were saved. I took up a collection for the woman on the spot. I always take up a collection on such occasions—always. And what's more, I never forgot to give the object interested something nice out of it—never. There is nothing mean about me.—Richmond Guide.

PROFITABLE TALK.—Young Blockhead—"Can you play on the piano, Miss Brown?"

Miss B.—"No, I can't."

Y. B.—"Have you ever tried?"

M. B.—"No, I haven't."

Y. B.—"Then how do you know you can't?"

—Celia Burleigh says that one of the most singular things in a woman's nature is the naturalness with which they gravitate towards "cussedness" in men. The members of the Brooklyn Young Men's Christian Association complain of the same thing. They state that they have worked hard to introduce piety into ball-rooms and skating frolics, but have failed most miserably.

Two years ago there were no "Liberals" in New Hampshire, and the democrats carried the Governor and Legislature. Now the liberals were fully armed and equipped, and republicans carry both the Governor and Legislature. It is thus seen that while these malcontents are rich in bluster they are not rich in votes.—Albany Journal.

—The little postoffice at Rockland, Me., takes more foreign money orders than New York or any other office in the country. A large number of Scotch, English and Irish stone cutters are employed in the granite quarries there, and take this mode of sending money to their families in the old world.

A FOUR LEGGED DETECTIVE.—Some time since a little town in Ohio was infested by incendiaries, and all other means of detection having failed, two or three clubbed together and purchased a bloodhound, one of the kind used by the chivalry to hunt down runaway negroes in the pleasant days before the war. In some manner the news of this bit of enterprise became noised about and the fires suddenly ceased, not an opportunity having been offered since to put the animal on the trail of an incendiary. The day before Christmas, however, a citizen discovered that a beautiful evergreen tree in front of his residence had been cut down and carried off the night before, and the long looked for chance was afforded for testing the new purchase. To the astonishment of all, the four-legged detective took a straight line to the house of one of the wealthiest denizens of the town, nearly three-quarters of a mile distant and placing his fore-paws on the window, glared through and brayed savagely at the owner, who was engaged in decorating the tree for the festivities of the morrow. The scene that followed may, perhaps, be imagined, and a considerable sum of money was readily paid in order to hush the affair up.

A PARAGRAPH FOR DYSPEPTICS. If you have a weak stomach, and wish to make it weaker, take violent purgatives. There is no surer way to render indigestion chronic. But if you are dyspeptic, and like a sensible person desire to strengthen your digestive organs and compel them to perform their essential duties thoroughly and regularly, take a dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters before every meal, until your delinquent stomach is restored to a healthy condition. It should be understood that dyspepsia is always complicated with disturbances of the liver and an unnatural state of the bowels, and that no medicine which does not reach and rectify these irregularities can possibly cure this agonizing disease. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an anti-bilious agent and a gradual cathartic, as well as a tonic and stomachic, and hence its unparalleled efficacy in the severest cases of chronic indigestion.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Too Thin.

Louis Wagner's statement that if he wanted money he knew every trunk in Hontvet's house; knew Hontvet was in Portsmouth; and could have gone and taken the money if the women were asleep, without murdering them, is false. Two of the women slept in the bed room where the trunk was which contained the money, and the trunk was within three feet of the bed. Our theory is, that Wagner might not have committed murder if he could have driven the women out of the house without being discovered; but finding that Anetha recognized him, he resolved to kill them all. He must have dragged her into the house after she was dead, for a specific purpose, and that purpose we think was to burn the house and the bodies in it. Mrs. Hontvet's miraculous escape frustrated his plans. His fears that she might some way escape to Appledore island while he was wasting precious time hunting for her, and the knowledge that he must row nine miles to the nearest point of land before daybreak, doubtless saved her life and prevented incendiarism. Wagner's plea is too thin!

At a meeting of the Mechanics' Association, Wednesday evening, it was voted to open a reading room at the rooms on the corner of Daniel and Market streets, formerly occupied by Dr. Parsons. The board of officers were requested to consider the subject of selling a portion of their property on Congress and Fleet streets and rebuilding on the remaining portion, and report to the adjourned meeting.

Eds. Chronicle:—Your correspondent was in error in crediting Mr. Sheldon with a better provision for transporting small stock to market. Doubtless Mr. S. will not long be behind hand in this matter but the acknowledgement in this instance should have been made to Mr. James W. Nutter. x.

In a letter published before the election, Hon. Wm. B. Small, the Republican candidate for Congress in the First District of New Hampshire, expressed his opinion of the bill increasing the Congressmen's salaries in these blunt words: "I regard that act as simply an unmitigated swindle, disgraceful alike to those who received money under it. It can but meet the stern denunciation of every honest man. If elected, I shall do what I can for the repeal of that obnoxious measure."

Captain Donald McN. Fairfax, who entered the Navy in 1837, was recently ordered before a board of examination prior to his promotion to the rank of Commodore. This he did not fancy, and refused to appear, whereupon the Secretary nominated for promotion Captain John M. B. Clitz, the second on the list, and unless Captain Fairfax recedes from the defiant position which he has chosen to take he will be shelved on the retired list.

It is reported that Shute, the Exeter defaulter, has been arrested in Louisville, Ky.

The Washington Republican says Major Henry S. Vanderbilt recently tendered his resignation as chief of the appointment bureau of the Treasury Department, but it was returned to him by Judge Richardson with the request that it should be entirely withdrawn until the pending stress of business of the office attendant upon the reorganization of the Department has been disposed of. It is understood that when the Major finally does sever his official connection with the Government it will be to accept a lucrative and responsible position in connection with a prominent Washington business firm.

Fast Proclamation.

By and with the advice and consent of Executive Council, I do hereby appoint Thursday, the tenth day of April next, to be observed as a day of fasting, humiliation, and prayer.

Honoring this religious custom of our forefathers, I recommend to all the people of the State that they consecrate that day to the purpose for which it is set apart, and assemble in their places of public worship and family circles, to make united supplication and prayer to God, acknowledging our absolute and entire dependence upon His providence for every mercy and blessing. Let us with devout and contrite hearts humbly pray that all ingratitude and sin may be forgiven us; that His countless mercies and blessings may be continued to all the people; that He will protect and prosper our institutions of government, education and reform; that He will save us from pestilence and want, from all immoralities and intemperance. Let us beseech Him to generously reward the labor of the husbandmen and prosper our progress in all honest industries, and encourage their continuance in all good works, to the end that peace, health, and happiness may be the portion of the inhabitants of this State.

Given at the Council Chamber, in Concord, this seventeenth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, and of the independence of the United States, the ninety-seventh.

EZEKIEL A. STRAW.

By His Excellency, the Governor, with the advice of the Council.

The Concord Fight.

Concord politicians are in a muss over the removal of Postmaster Larkin and the appointment of Dr. Willard. Col. Larkin was appointed three years ago through the influence of Gen. Stevens. When the latter ran for Congress a third time, two years ago, Dr. Willard voted for Bell, democrat, who was elected. Dr. Willard held the office two years under President Johnson, and now gets the appointment through the influence of Hon. William E. Chandler. We think the appointment of a bolter to the position an unwise proceeding, calculated to demoralize the party. Political reward should only go to those who are politically faithful.

THE COUNTIES.—The plurality in each county as shown by the Governor vote is as follows:

Professor Furst, the greatest Hebrew scholar of the age, died recently at Leipsic, at the age of fifty-eight.

—A Kentucky couple, the husband eight feet four inches tall, and the wife an inch shorter, have found a house with suitable extensions, and were last week in Cleveland contracting for furniture of rather remarkable dimensions.

—The Danbury wit defines a true American as one too proud to beg, and too honest to steal: he gets trusted.

Morning Chronicle.

—The following anecdote is related in the Quarterly Review: The Russian cadets have a great weakness for smoking, and smoking was held in such abhorrence by Nicholas that any person, whatever his age and rank, was arrested by the police if found smoking in the streets. Alexander, who was exceedingly fond of cigarets, did himself from his father all his life long when he wanted a smoke. Disregarding all the penalties, however, the cadets managed to smoke in their schools, and is one of them Alexander arrived one day at a moment when the rooms were full of tobacco smoke. He did not seem to notice, however, when a couple of years before would have been regarded as a crime very nearly approaching high treason, and went quietly on with his inspection, when an alarm was suddenly raised that the Emperor had arrived in the school's courtyard. Alexander suddenly turned to the boys who followed him, and said: "It smells of tobacco here very strong; open quickly the windows: I will go down stairs and detain the Emperor for a while." And so he did; the Emperor noticed nothing, and the Grand Duke Alexander became more than ever the idol of the young men, who are old officers now, but from whose memory the story seems not to have departed; at all events, the writer has had it repeated to him several times.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS,

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide Iron, is combined so as to make the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Vitalizing agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. Its extreme and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damage and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for germs to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remarkable Strengthening Diagnostic Blood Purifier, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Appetite, Want of Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of vitality. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 186 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claimed any patent furnished, by sending one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

Inventors at a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy person capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such remarkable proof of practical and ability as his put beside me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him for obtaining their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their case, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By theoretical system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,137,205.25. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to active and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible disease engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert attention of the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure rosy eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, but knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and bunions, by their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; H. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

LIFE SANS WINTER.—Mrs. Beecher Stowe writes from her retreat in Florida:

We hear that the hotels and boarding-houses on the river are beginning to be thronged — and no wonder. What is the use of a glorious Union if one doesn't use its choice of climates? Shall people buy rocky bits of land on the Atlantic, and put up houses of the cost of many thousands for two months' summer bathing, and neglect the better chance of a winter at home for six of the seven months of the year? Every year as we come down we count new houses rising on the shores of the St. John's, attesting the progress of common sense in this direction. Many a delicate consumptive, many a dyspeptic and nervous invalid might be saved to a long life of enjoyment merely by dropping winter out of the category of things to be endured. As to expense, $2000 invested in an acre of land, a simple, inexpensive cottage, would be speedily made up in the cost of fuel for a northern winter. One lives here so simply—the requirements of dress and society are so few, that, even counting travelling expenses, it is saving to be here, if health and happiness are left out of the question.

The life of northern cities is over stimulated, and we really never know what rest is till we come here. Then the whole hot, busy, anxious, running, racing, breathless north fades away into the most graceful, pearly tints of blue distance. We feel almost as souls may that have passed the great river, and turn to look back on the shores of life. All is peace. A thousand anxieties drop like a mantle. Voices of hot haste and mad hurry die in the distance. Slanders, gossips, scandals, are things of the past. Do the red birds understand them? Not one whit. Will the mocking bird care for them? Not he. While we write, a great yellow butterfly, a living air blossom, is gossiping round the gilded wires of the bird cages. There Tulle, Opal and Rainbow are chippering to each other, and a bright yellow canary is giving lessons to the three in operatic singing. What can be more beautiful, more dream-like, than the life of a butterfly? Does it remember when it was a poor crawling worm? With such ecstacy, let us hope that some poor, faithful souls, who have crawled over one little, damp spot of earth, faithful over a few things, will burst forth when death breaks their prison! Fancy a poor soul who never did anything but make shirts as five cents apiece, released, and floating about in such ecstasy of life as this.

INTELLIGENT HENS.—A correspondent of the Brunswick (Me.) Telegraph relates the following:

A hen and a large flock of chickens were in the habit of coming round our north back door, and were rather troublesome. One day Miss C. put out a favorite cat, saying, "There Julia, if you can catch one of these chickens you shall have the whole of it." No sooner said than done—the chicken was caught and eaten. The hen came as usual next day with her chickens, but never after that day did she come without the company of another hen, who invariably took her position between the hen and chickens and the house door and marched like any faithful sentinel back and forward in the space. If the cat made her appearance, she would fly at her and drive her away with such vigor that the cat was glad to run. "Julia" never got another of those chickens. Now how did this mother hen communicate and make the other hen comprehend her loss and the service she required? This is a simple fact.

DISCOVERY OF A SPLENDID HARBOR. The captain of the British bark Cedric, of Liverpool, which has just arrived at Valparaiso, reports to the authorities that he found a splendid bay, with safe anchorage, in the Island of Wollaston, situated in lat. 55.52 S., and lon. 67.30 W., in the Hermit group of islands, south of Terra del Fuego, 20 miles distant from Cape Horn, and protected from all winds and storms. The vegetation is described as magnificent. The Indians were docile, and use canoes of bark, covered with the hide of the seal-lion. The harbor is superior even to that of the Falkland Islands.—London News.

—A wag says Colfax, Patterson and Brooks thought as Oakes Ames was a shovel man he could cover up things.

—A colored North Carolinian, aged 83, recently allied himself to a bride of 65 and a mother-in-law of 115.

AMES' LITTLE SPEECH.—At the reception given Hon. Oakes Ames on his return home, he responded to the welcome given him, as follows:—

I should be less than human not to be gratified and happy at this great gathering of my constituents to show their confidence and faith in my honor, truth, and integrity. I am not in the habit of speech-making, as you all well know. I have, as you are aware, been the principal subject of abuse for the last six months. The press of the country has been full of what has been called the "Credit Mobilier Scandal." The whole offense, if offense it can be called, is in selling $16,000 of stock to 11 members of Congress at the same price I paid for it, and at the same price I sold the same stock to others; and if the parties purchasing the stock had simply told the truth, and said they had a right to purchase it, that would have been the end of it; but, from the fact of their denial, the public suspected there must be something criminal in the transaction, and, to find out what the crime was, Congress appointed a committee to inquire if Oakes Ames had bribed any member of Congress. The result was the appointment of the notorious "Poland Committee." That committee was engaged nearly three months, and the result of all its labors was to badly damage the characters of some men high in office for truth and veracity; but the object of the Committee, to see if Oakes Ames bribed any member, was admitted not proven; but that committee made the wonderful discovery that I was guilty of selling stock for less than it was worth, but the parties taking the stock and keeping it were very innocent, and that I had the extraordinary ability to give men a bribe without their knowing it, and to do they did not know what.

SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 1873.

Foster's Jury.

"The appeal of seven jurors in the Foster case for a commutation of his sentence was submitted to the Governor Dix, who gave it a careful consideration. They swore that conviction could never have been obtained but for the opinion which prevailed among the jurors that their unanimous recommendation to mercy would insure a commutation, and appealed to the governor to prevent a man being put to death through an error of opinion on their part at the time of trial."

What a significant commentary the above statement is on the beauties and perfections of the jury system! These seven men, when they took upon themselves the duties of jurors, solemnly swore to render a verdict in accordance with the evidence presented to them; yet they now swear that they would not have rendered a verdict according to the evidence, had they not believed that their personal desires as to the ultimate result would have sufficed to override their decision as jurors! From all quarters come demands for a radical change in the jury system—a change which shall make the administration of the law result in the protection of honest men instead of the protection of criminals, as at present; and the more of such documents as this jurors' appeal for Foster that are made public, the sooner will the law regain its legitimate position as a protector of persons who obey the law. Gov. Dix should not have allowed, and did not allow the jurymens' petition to have a feather's weight of influence on Foster's fate.

THE MONTREAL FIRE.—The Montreal Witness contains a full account of the fire at the St. James Hotel in that city Tuesday morning, and the terrible scenes which attended it. It appears that the fire started about one o'clock, and the flames mounted rapidly to the roof. The firemen gathered quickly, but fought the fire at a great disadvantage, having at first an insufficient length of hose. The building was five stories high, and the fire department had no ladders long enough to reach the roof. The frightened inmates, roused from sleep by the smoke, sought escape as best they might. They crowded down the staircases and thronged the passage ways. The smoke was so thick that guests who were unfamiliar with the house lost their way, and ran from room to room. In the upper attic several servants slept. Two of the girls went from the attic window upon the roof of the ell, and were on the point of jumping upon the sidewalk when some of the spectators dissuaded them, and ladders were procured, by means of which they were rescued. The attention of the Fire Brigade was then called to the assistance of persons in the topmost story of the building. The Witness says:

"One of them, a woman, had got outside, and was holding on by her hands to the sash; her feet rested on the molding of the window below. The black smoke emanating from the windows beneath enveloped the helpless sufferer in its folds and paralyzed her energies. The woman could be seen moving her hands at intervals, but time flew, and still the ladders of the fire-department were not available. Bedding and all sorts of material were flung from the lower windows on to the pavement, and piled up by the spectators, so if the ladders did not come in time the woman would not have her brains dashed out by the fall. Mr. Bertram had, in the meantime, secured the ladders, but it took at least ten minutes to place them against the walls, when, to the horror of all, they were found to be thirty feet too short! Mr. Beckam, of Point St. Charles Station, assisted by John Nolan, grasped a thirty foot ladder, and, raising it aloft, Beckam, with his back to the hall, held it firmly in an upright position. Mr. Perry grasped the ball, and steadied it on the other ladder in the manner of a splice, while Nolan managed to bring it so that it would reach the woman's feet; he immediately ascended, and encouraged the woman to place her feet on the rounds and descend. While this scene was being enacted there was a breathless silence among the spectators. The moment it was seen that the woman was on the ladder the feelings of the populace found vent in loud cheers. She was saved! The moment she got to the bottom of the ladder she fainted, and was conveyed to the St. Lawrence Hall."

Readables.

Extraordinary that which happened in Farmington, Me., lately. As a funeral procession was on its way to the cemetery, a house by the roadside was seen to be on fire. Instantly all the mourners alighted and proceeded to extinguish the flames, and this accomplished, they passed again to the order of the day.

Naval Constructor Edward Hartt, who has recently been stationed at Pensacola, will probably be ordered to the Charlestown Yard on the first of April, in place of William L. Hanscom, who will be ordered to the Brooklyn Yard, in place of B. F. Delano, who has been placed on the retired list.

The Bull's Head bank of New York has suspended on account of the discovery of a heavy deficiency, and an investigation is in progress. No definite report is made of the amount of the deficit, but it set is as high as $500,000 and not lower than $200,000.

The Chicago Tribune says the Illinois law-makers have been in session eleven weeks and have passed only two bills, one of which was to enable the other to go into effect. If the standard of a good legislature is to pass the fewest bills, the Tribune thinks the present body, "with its solitary chicken is the best one we have ever had."

The glory of Connecticut has departed! Wooden nutmegs, heretofore deemed the ne plus ultra of human ingenuity, are just nowhere. A man in Maine now makes good merchantable oysters out of flour-paste, tapioca, salt, and water. These are placed in second-hand oyster shells, which are carefully glued around the edges. When a hungry, half-inebriated individual comes into the saloon and calls for a dozen raw on the half shell, he receives the above described delicacy.

The first mule taken down the west shaft of the Hoosac Tunnel was brought up after three years of residence in the bowels of the earth. His spirits were as gay as ever.

MINUS 3,750.—At the election one year ago, 76,273 votes were cast for Governor.

Of these Straw had	38,661
Scattering	1,953
	39,609
Weston had	36,564
Majority against Weston	3,105

But this year we are told they have "almost carried the State"—and even so candid an organ as the Patriot says the result "is all but a victory." But let us see: Of the entire vote this year,

Straw has	34,661
Scattering	1,753
	36,762
Weston has	32,503
Majority against Weston	4,259

In other words while the democrats failed by 3,105 votes of electing their Governor last year, this year they lack 3,751, a net loss to them of 646. If this be victory, will some one please tell us what will be defeat, or cipher out how long at this rate it will take our democratic friends to elect a Governor.—Manchester Mirror.

THE BANNER TOWN.—For the first time in thirteen years, the town of Nottingham has elected republican officers. Three years ago the democrats had a majority of 97, and the republicans cast only 80 votes; two years ago the democratic majority was reduced to 77; and this year the vote was 134 for Straw, 134 for Weston, and 1 each for Mason and Blackmar. The republican candidate for Representative was chosen by 51 majority, and the entire republican ticket for town officers was handsomely elected. This noble result was brought about mainly by the untiring efforts of the young men, who were tired of staying under democratic rule (and believed some things could be done as well) seathers. All honor to the young men of old Nottingham!—Exeter News-Letter.

—The Utica Herald has found out that it is now unlawful for tobacco-chewers to beg a chew. The United States internal revenue law allows no person to sell or dispose of tobacco in any form, no matter how small or great the bulk, without first paying a license of $5.

—Most of the shadows that cross our path through life are caused by standing in our own light.

State News.

A lively fight is now pending about the appointment of Collector of Internal Revenue for the first New Hampshire District, and several delegations have called on the President in relation to the matter. Andrew H. Young, the present Collector, is endeavoring to obtain a renomination, and Assessor Haley is striving for promotion.

Brentwood has been incorporated 101 years and has sent a democratic representative but once before this year, during the whole time.

A WEDDING BURST.—Somebody who unquestionably had a tolerable knowledge of female human nature, has written sagely thus:

"Ah, little knows the man of woman-kind,
Who, to this point truth can long be blind;
That, what the lovely creatures he would want do
Final very thing he'll tell them that they shan't do."

Now had the young man in the following narrative only paid heed to this theory, and insisted that his antipathy should have been just as it was, he might have been the possessor of a good wife—as wives go—at this day, instead of being what he now is, a bachelor half cooked. But this is giving the moral before the story, that is told as follows: A woman's determination to part her hair at the side broke up a wedding at Bangor, Me., last week. The company had all assembled, the clergyman was in his place, and the groom proceeded up stairs to escort his chosen one to the altar. The lady was splendidly dressed, but in arranging her hair had adopted the "new style." To this the young man objected in the most decided terms, saying that it looked too brazen and "fast;" that the hair of a bride should be parted modestly in the middle. A sharp war of words followed, which resulted in a declaration on the part of the angry youth that he had taken a firm stand; that the hair must be re-dressed or he would never look upon it again. To this the girl replied that he might leave as soon as he pleased, and leave he did, much to the disgust of the people who came to partake of the wedding supper and were turned out of the house without it.

WARNING TO UMBRELLA CARRIERS. The man who walks the streets of Philadelphia with an umbrella under his arm, stopped suddenly on a corner to speak with a friend, and a man behind him nearly broke the point of the umbrella off by running his eye against it. The man swore, and the umbrella chap wheeled suddenly, tearing off a young lady's back hair. He turned to apologize, and jabbed the end of his umbrella into a very tall policeman's stomach. Policeman administered a jerk and the umbrella point tore off a portion of a small boy's ear, and immediately after carried the starboard corner of a man's mouth up into his front hair. Stepping back in dismay at what he had done, he rammed the umbrella down a bystander's throat, and at the same time he fastened the hook handle (the probabilities are that the handle was not only hooked, but that he hooked the entire umbrella) into a colored citizen's wool. In his efforts to get his umbrella loose, the unfortunate owner of it upset a fruit and candy stand and plunged head foremost into a plate-glass window. In the excitment and confusion that ensued, the umbrella was put into a hack and driven to the hospital, and the man was taken to an umbrella store to undergo repairs.

—There was a high wind in Utica recently, and the Herald says a good many funny things about it, such as: A man on Corn hill filled his cistern with bricks yesterday, to keep it from blowing out of the ground. A dog which got caught in the wind yesterday was observed last evening carrying off an empty hair-restorative bottle. The wind carried away half a can of plums from a Rutger-street pantry, and made a little boy in the house very sick. Picked up on Fayette street, yesterday, between the Chenango-canal bridge and Genesee street, a set of auburn curls and two and a half yards of blue ribbon. A respectable citizen, a dog and two boys, were observed racing down Genesee street yesterday. A silk hat preceded them, and the citizen made reckless remarks to a friend, who told him it was Sunday, but refused to stop. A good little boy, who started for Sunday school yesterday with a very respectable umbrella, was seen by his agonized mother sliding by the window in a sitting posture. He hung to the umbrella; but he lost his testament, and he left samples of his pantaloons on every sharp piece of ice for about three hundred feet. A man on Broad street who found the sign of a clothing-store, a wooden Indian, two door-mats, a broom and three lengths of picket-fence in his back-yard, says that it is an "ill wind that blows nobody good."

—An old gentleman of eighty-four years having taken to the altar a young damsel of sixteen, the clergyman said to him: "You will find the font at the opposite end of the church." "What do I want with the font?" asked the old gentleman. "I beg your pardon," said the clerical wit, "I thought you had brought the child to be christened."

Rev. Mr. Weiss expresses the conviction that Hamlet was not mad. For our part we don't pretend to say he was mad. But the conduct of his mother and his uncle was certainly calculated to make him a little angry.—Louisville Courier Journal.

A PAIR OF FRISKY CAMELS.—Girard, Erie County, is not a very lively place ordinarily; but as there is one or two menageries wintering there, no occasional episode occurs which breaks in on the general monotony. Last Friday the keeper of the elephant "Empress" turned her into the yard, together with two camels, to take a little fresh air of recreation. It seems however that there is a spirit or family existing between the camels and the elephant, the latter being strangely in mortal fear of the bite of its bunchbacked enemies.

No sooner had the animals crossed the threshold of their pen and sniffed the fresh air than a mischievous disposition took possession of them. One took after the majestic "Empress," who ingloriously fled and tore up and broke several fruit trees, and gained an adjoining field by demolishing a rail fence as though it were a spider web. Her speed being equal to that of the fleetest horse, she was able to preserve a safe distance between herself and her pursuer. The other camel chose a boy named Ely, who happened to be on the grounds, as the object of its chase.

The boy is said to have made the liveliest time ever made by a boy of his age. Had he been overtaken by the animal, serious injury, if not worse, would have been his fate. Fortunately the keeper and assistants were near by, who promptly checked the wicked sports of the camels. Camels are accredited with a very mild and meek disposition, but this pair seem to be an exception to the general rule.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Coming Home.

A meeting of the 1853 executive committee of the Sons of Portsmouth resident in Boston, was held Thursday evening, at the Parker House, Hon. Francis E. Parker acting chairman, Theodore S. Harris, Esq., secretary. The Advertiser says a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested for the 'dear old town,' by those present, numbering about fifty. Mr. Parker in a few graceful remarks, referred to the warm welcome home which the sons received just twenty years ago, at a celebration similar in character to the one proposed for the coming Fourth of July. The chair then appointed a committee of eleven, to nominate the requisite committees for organizing the sons of Portsmouth of '73, the names nominated to be voted on at a meeting to be called by the committee of eleven, early in April. The chairman appointed Messrs. Frank E. Goodwin, John D. Parker, M. P. Kennard, Isaac W. Frye, Manning Emery, George S. Walker, George D. Wise, Charles L. Damrell, Thomas B. Wiggin, Rev. Edward D. Rand and Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury. The meeting adjourned till next month.

Uncrushed Truth.

The Portsmouth correspondent of the Boston Journal says:—

The recent fire here will doubtless prove to be a blessing in disguise, as the unsightly old structure, corner of Fleet and Congress streets, in the heart of the business portion of the city, is to give place to something more substantial and imposing. The building was the property of the Mechanics' Association, an organization of age and honor, yet possessing the old fogy element to a large extent, they have continued to own and occupy an old fire trap rather than take their accumulated funds and build a nice and commodious structure, which could be arranged for hall, reading room, stores, offices, &c. If the fire brings about the necessary improvement it will have accomplished a good work.

Laconics.

We are requested by Mr. John C. Hontvet to correct the statement going the rounds of the press that Wagner desired to marry the late Karen Christenson and was refused. Mr. Hontvet states that Wagner did not see her more than half a dozen times and then only when others were present. She had resided on Smuttynose island but a short time, having lived previously in the family of Mr. Joseph Pettigrew in this city, and at the Appledore House at the Shoals.

Since we commenced the publication of the names of the absent Sons, five who had sent word of their intention to join in the Reunion next Fourth of July, have died.

A correspondent suggests that it is about time for the committee on Fourth of July celebration to call for tenders from persons willing to contract for furnishing sleigh transportation for the returning sons on that day.

At the meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the sum of $200 was voted to Edward H. Balch for sprinkling the streets. The Mayor was authorized to take possession of the arsenal on South street, in the name of the city, and cause the property to be taken care of.

A young lady employed at Marvin Bros. & Bartlett's cod liver oil establishment in this city, who wrote her name on the label of one of a dozen bottles she was packing, was recently surprised at receiving a letter from a young man in Minnesota, who had purchased the bottle, found the contents the best in the market and solicited a correspondence with the fair damsel. To be continued.

There will be no service in the Universalist Church, Sunday.

Our "devil" has a girl whom he sees home from the Temple at the close of third class shows. The ex-devil is jealous of him, and says "she is the wickedest girl in town—because she loves the devil so!" The cruel blasts of winter had no warning of the coming blight which jealousy provoked when the hero of this narrative sat suddenly on the frosty bricks, in obedience to one of the unerring rules of the prize ring.

When a young man becomes of age in Portsmouth his first query is, "What will you give me for my vote?" Then he straightway invests his money in tobacco and newrum and lies all over the sidewalk, waiting for his residence to come around.

There are quite a number of young fellows about town looking for a job to loaf.

Our types yesterday gave Mr. Bradbury's rank as that of Mate, when it should have been Master. Mr. B. was promoted about a year since on account of his bravery in the rebellion.

EXECUTED. — William Foster, who murdered Avery D. Putnam two years ago with a car-hook, was hanged in New York city at 9:17 A. M., Friday. He died easily.

James McElhaney was executed the same day at 11:11 A. M., in Boston, for murdering his wife by shooting with a pistol, Aug. 13, 1872. His neck was dislocated and his death was instantaneous.

—The Lawrence American says there is a "boarding marm" in that city whose economical tendencies lead her to place her boarders upon an allowance of matches. Every evening at tea she goes around and places a single match at the plate of each boarder, and should that match fail, there is no appeal to the match safe.

—In a divorce case in St. Paul last week, the wife proved that her husband had been drunk seven-eighths of the time for the past two years; and he proved by the books of the railroad company, that during the same period, he had, by working extra hours, put in from thirty to thirty-two days each month.

—A gentleman recently arrived from London, in giving his experience of a New York boarding-house, said it was "most s'traordinary, hot, by Jove! It seemed to be hash Wednesday every day in the week."

—Hot Graham crackers are credited with having set a house on fire in this city, yesterday morning. They will probably next be used for exploding bomb-shells.—Boston Post

—They have a petrified woman in Gold Hill, Nevada. She was so astonished at her husband coming home sober that she has been petrified with astonishment ever since.

MARRIAGES.

Morning Chronicle.

NOT FEW IN A HILL.—A Berkshire county clergyman recently received a donation, to eke out his salary, and the parishioners not having compared notes, by a singular coincidence all decided upon potatoes; and in they came, of all kinds and colors, till the worthy parson's stock of tubers was increased about 300 bushels.

—A teacher in Haverhill having occasion to punish one of the larger boys of her school, and finding herself unequal to the task, called in the boy's father to assist in the chastisement. The boy broke away from both, however, but was prevailed upon to return and receive the balance of his punishment by the promise of his choice from a fine litter of pups in the neighborhood. The punishment was inflicted in due form, and the young man feels that the promised reward has been simply earned.

—A lady said that she had tried everything to make her baby sleep without success. A friend asked her if she had ever tried to wash its face. And she got her pauler up about a little thing like that.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION!

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, confidently by the experience of many years trials, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest or Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaints, &c. &c.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as it is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS, and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find the Wild Cherry Preparation which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the words "Wistar's Wild Cherry," on the glass, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

One Hundred Thousand Whole Tickets only $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than a whole ticket.

The object of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the improvement and enlargement of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the consent for its benefit, is to be forever free to the citizens of every State. The drawings will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most competent persons of the Concert, and the sale of tickets has already progressed so far that completing arrangements, and buyers are advised to remember that their chance of a share of the prizes depends on their promptness in securing tickets.

The management of this enterprise has been committed by the trustees to Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom correspondence pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed,

R. T. DURRETT, Pres't.

W. A. HALDEMAN, Vice Pres't.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, located in Chicago, is the leading stock life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any new insurance company of the kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary mutual rates during the last year and a half, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders share the profits. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,908.63. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the quintessence of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," no doubt the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SNAKE ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.,

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in the forests in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, sedulously pure and unadulterated.

COAL! COAL!
ROBERTS & CO. are prepared to sell COAL as Low as the Lowest, of Equal Quality, at PRAY'S WHARF, North End of Market Street, Portsmouth.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure rosy eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid it found different from representation.
COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciating public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Pedgrel Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The Chronicle.

TORTURE OF THE DEATH PENALTY.—The decision of Gov. Dix of New York, in the case of the murderer Foster, is a notification to all men of homicidal tendencies in the empire State, that the extreme penalty of the law will be enforced. From to-day until the terror of the law has made murder unfashionable, or a reaction against the death penalty has set in once more, the gallows is likely to be kept busily employed. Nor is it probable that the present tendency toward unreliming severity will be confined to the State of New York. The peculiar society of the Isle of Shoals murder affords an opportunity for the revival of the agitation of the capital punishment question which its advocates are not likely to neglect. Though the monstrous deed was committed by a foreigner, and the jurisdiction of this State is likely to be a matter of dispute, yet it will be argued that the wonderful recklessness of that murder was the direct result of the compromise policy, with respect to the punishment of murder which prevails at present in Maine. It would not be at all surprising, were the present executive of Maine a gentleman less distinguished for humanity, to see the gallows once more erected here. If the people of contiguous States conclude that their only safety is in a resort to the gibbet, it will go hard but some among us will insist on having a few, at least, of these great moral spectacles in Maine.

If capital punishment is to be restored here, as it may be without any further legislation, it is worth while to consider whether hanging by the neck until the criminal is thrice dead is not an unnecessarily barbarous method of making away with bad men. It is a matter of common knowledge that, in nine cases out of ten, where an attempt is made to break a man's neck by letting him fall with his weight on a rope attached to that part of the person, the merciful intent of the executioner is defeated by the slipping of the knot, and that there ensues a death by torture, to wit, by strangulation. Now while breaking the neck by a single jerk, as the law intends, is one of the least inhuman methods of taking life, strangulation is one of the most dreadful sources of Oriental cruelty and revenge. To stop the breath without at the same time depriving the victim of consciousness, is to inflict prostrated torment beyond the power of the imagination to realize. It may be doubted whether all of Torquemada's refined cruelties did, on the whole, succeed in inflicting more exquisite suffering than that which accompanies death by strangulation. Hanging, therefore, instead of being such a punishment as a civilized nation would naturally adopt for its worst criminals is really a more barbarous one than those in use among the most brutal savages.

It will, we think, be universally admitted that the laws of this State do not contemplate torture as any essential part of a capital sentence. Deprivation of life is regarded as an adequate penalty for any offense, and a man who is compelled, at the law's behest, to pass into another state of existence is presumed to have satisfied the last requirement of the outraged laws. All the circumstances of terror and pain attending an execution are merely incidental, and might, so far as possible, be removed without at all changing the essential character of the punishment. There are many of us who contend that death itself, without the added cruelty of torture, is a penalty society has no right, under ordinary circumstances, to enforce; and however much difference of opinion there may be on this point, there can be few to dispute the proposition that no suffering not necessarily attending the infliction of the extreme penalty of the law, should be inflicted. That there are a score of less cruel methods of taking life than strangulation will not be disputed. The guillotine, poisons and shooting each afford a less barbarous way of ridding society of its dangerous members. Even the terrible Spanish garrote, which also kills by strangulation, affords a quicker and hence more merciful release from torture than the gallows. Undoubtedly there was once a theory that the public exhibition of the writhings, muscular contractions and grimaces of a man undergoing strangulation was calculated to exert a salutary influence by striking terror to the hearts of the large number of interested spectators assembled to witness it. But the hardening and brutalizing effect of the scene was at length found to be so marked and unmistakable, that the false theory has long since been abandoned. By express command of the law only twelve persons are now admitted to witness an execution as spectators, and those must not be persons who are supposed to need the influence of such a scene to deter them from the commission of crime.—Portland Press.

RUM DID IT.—When George Driver was taken to the scaffold in Chicago and the preparations were completed for his execution, he addressed a few words to those present, which contain a fearful warning to the living:

I suppose you all understand and know the reason that caused me to come here, and that is liquor. Drinking whisky, that has brought me right here where I am standing now. Don't you see that rope, all of you? Remember that rope! If you go into a saloon and get tight, see what that liquor will bring you too! Just remember now to give up drinking whisky! Look at this! Be good to your wives, and take this warning by me. I had as good a wife as anybody of you around me. Liquor was the cause of my doing that. I didn't know what I was doing—not until I was told by the constable that took me away. He says, "George you have shot your wife." That's all I know of it. I had a pistol in my hand. I took it out of my right hand and put it in my left hand; and when I took it there, it went off; but whether it shot her or not I could not tell. When I ran away and got a good ways up the street, I thought to myself, "Perhaps I have shot the poor thing, and she will fall over on the stove or on a chair;" and I went where there was two or three women in a house, and one or two men. I staid there until the constable came and took me away. When he got me out into the street he says: "George you have shot your wife." When I came to my senses, I began to remember something about it. That was caused by liquor; that is the result of poisonous liquor. I hope you will all take advice from me and give up drinking liquor. You see where I am standing now; in a few moments I shall be where you now are; we know not yet; but I hope God is with me and will take my soul.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, MARCH 24, 1873.

ANOTHER MURDER.—Charles Goodrich, a wealthy lumber merchant, was found dead in his residence on Degraw street, Brooklyn, N. Y., Friday morning. He had resided there but three weeks, and not having a wife or family, and being a man of secluded habits, he lived alone, not even having a housekeeper to attend to his wants. Wednesday afternoon his brother, Hon. W. W. Goodrich, saw him alive for the last time, on which occasion he delivered him some papers connected with his property. Thursday morning, Mr. Goodrich drove round to his brother's residence for the purpose of consulting him on some business matter. He knocked loudly at the hall basement doors, but receiving no response went away, supposing that his brother had left at an earlier hour or had not returned home on the preceding night.

Friday morning he drove round to the house, and once more failing to gain admission in the usual way became alarmed and determined to effect an entrance. He passed through the adjoining house to the roof and breaking in a door succeeded in entering his brother's residence. He proceeded at once down stairs, examining the rooms on each floor. On reaching the front room on the second floor, where his brother was in the habit of sleeping, he found everything in perfect order, the bed not having been disturbed and his brother's books and papers in their usual places. Strengthened by this in his supposition that his brother was not at home, but still oppressed with anxiety he descended to the lower part of the house. He then descended to the basement, the only part of the house remaining unexamined. On attempting to open the door leading from the hallway to the front basement room he found that it was locked from the inside. He therefore passed through the back kitchen, the door leading from which into the front basement was also closed. It was not locked.

On opening the door, a spectacle sufficient to freeze the blood with horror presented itself! The lifeless body of his brother lay on the floor, the back of his head resting on the legs of his boots, his arms stretched by his side in an easy manner, and beside his right hand an Ethan Allen seven-shooter with three of the chambers empty. The body lay flat upon the back, the legs stretched at full length, and slippers still on the feet. Mr. Goodrich found a wound, as if inflicted by a sharp instrument, over the right eye and a pistol-shot wound over the ear. He then locked the door and hastened from the house, proceeding at once to the coroner's office and police headquarters, where he reported the discovery.

Everything in the house was in the most perfect order. It was discovered by Mr. Goodrich that his brother's gold watch which was very valuable, and his pocket-book, were missing. A most mysterious circumstance in connection with the affair is the fact that there was no blood on the face, which seems to have been carefully washed and dried after death. Even the hair was wet as if recently washed with a wet cloth. The police found that one of the panes of glass in the kitchen window had been broken, evidently with the intention of reaching the latch from the outside and thus effecting an entrance to the house. A portion of the wood-work around the latch had been cut, and a jagged jack-knife, which most probably had been used for that purpose, lay on the floor inside. A coarse wet cloth, with unmistakeable traces of blood on it, was also found hanging to a nail over the sink. It is thought the murder was committed out of the house and the body carried in afterwards.

State News.

The towns of Carroll and Hart's Location share together the responsibility of electing a Representative, the election being held at each place alternately. This year the polls were to be opened at the Location, which the voters of Carroll could only reach by going through the White Mountain Notch almost impassable on account of the immense quantity of snow. Taking advantage of this circumstance, the Republican candidate, Oscar Baron, secretly sent a detachment of voters to the polls via Littleton, Meredith Village and Conway, a distance of about one hundred and twenty-five miles. He also bought or borrowed all the snow-shoes he could get in the vicinity, and when election day dawned he worked his main force on snow-shoes through the Notch and attacked his enemy's works "with spirit." But the "best laid schemes o' mice" and legislative candidates "gang aft agley." The secret movement had become known to the enemy, who met it by an overwhelming force at the polls; and now "Os" is going around peddling second-hand snow-shoes and "con-demn-ing" his democrat conquerors.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed, on Thursday, in the United States District Court, at Manchester, against the Belknap Mills Company of Laconia by Franklin M. Rollins and William E. Paddon of Boston. An injunction was issued and an order of notice returnable on the 27th of March, when a hearing will be had.

Keene is out of debt, except the water bonds, and has thirty-five hundred dollars in its treasury.

Eighty dollars will repair all damages caused by accidental fires the past year in Keene. One incendiary fire destroyed fifteen hundred dollars' worth of property.

Scarcity of wood is now experienced in Hill, such as has not been known for a long time. People are borrowing of neighbors, hoping that warmer weather may lessen their needs and render it possible to get about with teams.

There was a snowfall of twelve feet deep in the town of Warren this winter season, and lumbering operations have been seriously impeded by the snow. Trees which are felled in the woods nearly bury themselves out of sight. There is much more snow at that point than further north in the Connecticut valley.

Orlando J. Raymond, first selectman and treasurer of the town of Rindge, was brought before justice Farrar, at Keene, on Thursday, on the charge of embezzling $3000 from the town, and was bound over for future trial in the sum of $2000.

Readables.

State official life in Nebraska is stirred to its very depths by the astounding revelations of State Auditor Gillespie, called forth by the prying of the Legislature into certain mysterious appropriations by him of $2,600, known as "the fugitive-from-justice fund." Mr. Gillespie testifies that the money was used to investigate the burning of the State Insane Asylum at Lincoln, two years since; and that the result conclusively arrived at is, that the structure was burned through the instigation of its builders to conceal the shams of its construction, and to prevent the chances of its momentarily tumbling to pieces of its own accord. Three of the insane inmates were burned to death by this iniquitous fire, and the Auditor professes to be able, shortly, to have the guilty parties arrested. Meantime, the State is awaiting with horrified indignation for the forthcoming disclosure.

Two boys, one seventeen years old and the other younger, were recently sentenced in New York to fifteen years hard labor at Sing Sing, for drawing knives on a passenger on a Third-avenue car on Sunday evening. They plead guilty; and the judge told them that had they gone to trial he would have sentenced them to twenty years.

The New York Times publishes a statement to the effect that Foster's sickness just before the execution was due to poison; that he told Miss Foster, the matron, that he had taken it during the night; that Scannell, Sharkey and King in the adjoining cells knew of the fact; that Scalls, the prison physician, thinks he would have died of the poison if the execution had been delayed till 10 o'clock, and that his weakness on the scaffold was due to its effects.

A fire in the Erie ferry-house at the foot of Payonia avenue, Jersey City Friday, destroyed one passenger and two freight stations of the road, Taylor's saloon was also damaged considerably, and the total loss is estimated at half a million dollars.

News is received of the wreck of the ship Seneca, engaged in the tea trade, with the loss of her crew of twenty-nine men, excepting one.

Ex-Judge Tapley, of Saco, has been appointed senior counsel for Wagner.

Business Notices.

HEALTH is often impaired by the excessive use of tea or coffee. The delicious fragrance and strengthening qualities of a nice cup of Bensons or Cocoa, are known to the student, the invalid, and to the hard worker, the world over. To secure each in its greatest purity, or any of the finest preparations of Chocolate, our readers have only to ask their grocer for goods bearing the stamp of Walter Baker & Co., Boston. This old house has the highest reputation for its goods, and dates so far back as 1831.

A PARAGRAPH FOR DYSPEPTICS. If you have a weak stomach, and wish to make it weaker, take violent purgations. There is no surer way to render indigestion chronic, for if you are dyspeptic, and like a sensible person desire to strengthen your digestive organs and compel them to perform their essential duties thoroughly and regularly, take a dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters before every meal, until your delinquent stomach is restored to a healthy condition. It should be understood that dyspepsia is always complicated with disturbances of the liver and an unnatural state of the bowels, and that no medicine which does not reach and rectify these irregularities can possibly cure this agonizing disease. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an anti-bilious agent and a gradual cathartic, as well as a tonic and stomachic, and hence its unparalleled efficacy in the severest cases of chronic indigestion.

MARVELOUS BEYOND PRECEDENT is the effect of Sozodont upon the whole economy of the mouth, keeping the gums rosy and healthy, the teeth in perfect order, giving to the breath a balmy fragrance.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Death of John Trundy.

Again we are called upon to chronicle the death of one of Portsmouth's most respected citizens, who has been identified with the business interests of the city for many years. Mr. Trundy died on Sunday, having been born in June, 1800. He was one of the most conscientious of men, faithful to every trust, esteemed by all and possessed of an integrity of purpose that made his declining days full of peace. Ripeness of years and the remembrance of just dealings with all men smoothed his passage to the unknown beyond, leaving the memory of his life a bright example for others to imitate. Mr. Trundy leaves his family in comfortable circumstances, having accumulated in later years a handsome property, while never neglecting to remember those in circumstances needing charity. He was unobtrusive in manner, and though intimately connected in business with the active merchants of the past half century, held but one public office, we believe, that of Representative in the legislature. Mr. Trundy was one of the original "Free Soilers," who so sturdily maintained an organization here, though few in numbers, before the Republican party came into existence.

An Old Political Fight.

The last Town Election in Portsmouth, was held in 1849, "when the Whigs (as we quote from the Journal of that date,) desirous to go at once into the main balloting, brought forward no Moderator in opposition to Albert R. Hatch, democratic candidate, who was declared elected after 12 votes only were cast"—a courtesy which was repaid by his utmost exertions to prevent his political opponents securing a victory. The Free Soil element stirred up matters that year, and there was no choice for Representatives, &c., for a long time, and the polls were kept open all night. The Journal says: "The Whigs in vain endeavored to secure time for doing the business in the daytime; but when it was found that their democratic opponents, who relied on the former success of their night sessions, would not yield to an adjournment, they (the Whigs) remained at their post all night; and as the morning dawned, they enjoyed the satisfaction of seeing their opponents prostrate."

The events of "that night" determined the lovers of law and order to procure a City charter for Portsmouth, chiefly to prevent the rowdyism common at elections. It is surprising, after this experience, that the time of closing the polls was not fixed, to prevent such midnight scenes.

That Night! No one who has spent the last week in this town will for many years mistake the meaning of the term "That Night," when spoken in connection with the politics of Portsmouth! Jefferson Hall, since its erection nearly half a century ago, has not before been the scene of a political contest, of so many successive hours. Never before has a party which had so great odds to contend with, succeeded so effectually in routing a corrupt opponent which relied on and determined by deeds of darkness to perpetuate its power.

Our opponents had the advantage of a Board of Selectmen of their own party; of a Moderator of their own party who had been conceded to them to prevent business extending into the night; the advantage of the funds and the influence of the Custom House, the Post Office, and, no doubt, of a share too of the thousands which one of their candidates is said to have expended to promote his election. In Jefferson Hall, the night before the election, a collation was provided to dispense among the rank and file some sweetmeats from the tables of those who daily feast on the loaves and fishes.

These facilities the Whigs either did not enjoy or did not see fit to avail themselves of. There was no call by the Whigs upon their fellow citizens to pay other preparatory feast than some sound addresses at the Court House on the evening before the election. These were palatable, easily digested, and imparted vigor for a contest with wily opponents.

The first balloting went off quietly—so much so, that some of the democrats began to suspect that the Whigs had quenched all the loco matches, and that none of the patriotism of democracy would be kindled up. But as night shades advanced, when the loco foco matches are generally brought into free use, the spirit was raised which so commonly has marked our town meetings.

After the declaration of the vote of the first balloting at half-past 5 in the afternoon, the Whigs moved for an adjournment to 8 o'clock the next morning. This was moved to be amended by inserting 7 in the evening in place of 9 the next morning. In much confusion raised by those who became clamorous at the prospect of losing their night sport, a poll of the house was demanded; 408 passed round in favor of adjourning, and 413 against it. The meeting at half-past 6 was adjourned to 7 o'clock.

It was well understood by the democrats soon after 3 o'clock in the morning, that a majority of the votes cast were for the Whig candidates—that they could not muster voters enough at that hour to prevent their election—and every expedient was used to delay the declaration of the vote till they could muster their forces in the morning. So a motion was made to keep the polls open till 7 in the morning. The Moderator declared this vote as having passed.

On a motion to reconsider, a poll of the house was demanded; 350 voted in favor of the reconsideration, and 297 against it.

The poll of the house was again demanded on the original vote to close the polls at 7, and decided in the negative. After 305 passed round in favor of 7 o'clock, 310 Whigs passed round in opposition.

This consumed the time till 4 o'clock. Motion was then made that the polls be closed immediately. On this motion, those who wished to keep the polls open till daylight, called for a poll of the house, which decided the question, in the affirmative 368, against 272. And at 1-2 past 4, every expedient which could be devised for delay having been brought into requisition, the Moderator evidently being in no very particular haste to perform his duty, proceeded to declare the vote.

When at midnight the democratic party determined that the balloting should continue through the night, for that was in effect the question, they awakened an enthusiasm in the Whigs which we never saw before. The unbecoming purposes of the democracy were exposed in almost every sleeping chamber in Portsmouth, and the old and the young, the infirm and the vigorous, were in a few moments in the Hall and were determined that democracy should fall in the very dark entrenchment which it had chosen, as the last and hitherto unfailing means of victory—and most nobly did the Whigs carry out this determination. A small portion of the democracy were too spirited to be able to get into the "last ditch" in which they promised on the ballot "to perish," and a portion of it was too sober to be willing to go into it. Here and there was a respectable democrat, who, failing in his best efforts to keep his party out of the "last ditch," determined not to go into it with them, went home and to bed, and he was as deaf to the calls of the leaders in distress as those leaders had been to his good advice in the hour of prosperity. But every Whig needed only a hint of what was going on, and he was at the post of duty, determined to "carry the night," and it was nobly accomplished. The Portsmouth democracy, which for years has been going tail-foremost, and driving decent men out of its ranks, has at length appropriately died, at the darkest moment, just before daylight, and the dawning of a most beautiful morning revealed the haggard and broken forces of the democracy hurrying to their hiding places.

There were other circumstances to mark "That Night" in the recollection of many who were not present at the Hall. Before the declaration of the vote cast in the evening many of the Whigs who supposed that that balloting would decide the Representative election either one way or the other, retired to their homes. As soon as it was known that no choice had been made, deputations were sent to every part of the town to summon the Whigs to their posts; and that duty was done in the course of two hours most effectually. In almost every street, the door knockers were put in motion, and the door bells effectually pulled. In many instances, the party messengers not having a full understanding of the tracks of their associates, came three or four in succession to the same house—and some whose patriotism was almost outweighed by love of rest, felt compelled to appear in self defence.

That patriotic lady who said to her husband "you must go, for your country calls loudly for your services, and be sure to remove the knocker from the door before you depart," duly appreciated the vigilance of the Whigs on that night.—Portsmouth Journal, March 17, 1849.

A Sinful Joke.

A young lady chose to make a trip to Massachusetts last week and on the following day a young gentleman living in the vicinity chose to go to Boston. Both returned home on Thursday and it was noised about among a few but faithful friends that the lady and gentleman had been united in the bonds of matrimony. On Friday, extraordinary excitement seemed prevailing among the employees of a staid corporation. Ominous signs and whispered signals foreshadowed a coming event. Some predicted the demolition of the "Newcastle branch railroad," while others looked into the far distance, anticipating another torpedo aiming towards the Boston & Maine track. These were surmises. During the twilight hour, mystery gave place to revelation. There were gathered together men of iron muscle and mild of heart; men who knew no fear; men who willed and it became. A vow was taken and it was

Resolved, that it having come to our knowledge that one of our comrades has found hidden among earth's fairest flowers, a treasure which he has secured to enliven and cheer his path through life and assist in warding off the freshet of ills which sometimes overwhelm us, we offer to him our hearty congratulations and demonstrate them by proceeding in a body with trumpet and cymbal, with the lute and the harpsichord, and other instruments of melodious sound, to their place of abode.

Passed unanimously—all souls had but one thought, all hearts palpitated as one. The neighborhood was rifled of its double-barrels; large horns and small horns, big trumpets and little trumpets, assimilated together in sweet concord, and while "the shades of night were falling fast," ignoring the common path, they took the "straight and narrow" road over which the iron horse is wont to fearlessly dash, and verged from that across the big waters of the North mill-pond. Forward they go, splash! over their feet, splash! over their knees; splash! splash! splash! Washington and his army crossing the Delaware was not a circumstance to it. On arriving at the opposite banks new dangers awaited. Before them stretched a boundless track over which the foot of man had not trod since Winter first set its seal upon it. Alps of drifted snow towered like monuments of death before them, yet undaunted they "surged" through and over these frozen billows. The forced march brought them to the suburban cottage where dwelt in supposed fulfillment of "love's young dream," the happy pair.

The assembled host bore fire-arms and cymbals of sheet-iron, old cracked bells and horns that rivalled those of Jericho—and the bipeds, wet to the knees, with undelivered wickedness within their hearts because of their inability to break the stillness of the hour by indulgence in profanity, awaited the signal of their chosen leader for hostilities to commence.

Meanwhile, in ambush lay the projector of the expedition, who from afar had discerned their approach and hesitating to "jine the band," was hidden from their ken by a broad fence, from behind which chuckles of mirth might have been heard were they not suppressed in a convenient bank of snow. Within the house, the family so soon to be distressed were quietly engaged in reading, with no thought of the waiting foe. Suddenly, as if the fiends incarnate had broken loose, came a blast that sent the air quivering into atoms, and there rose upon the night a pandemonium of sounds hideous and incomprehensible. Houses that shew lights, show them no longer; infants awoke from sweet repose and clung with fear and trembling to their mothers' breasts; husbands embraced wives and wives embraced husbands in terror and anguish; believers in the second Advent ascended to the roofs of houses in robes de nuit anticipating the coming Gabriel.

Up went a window in the cottage, and a chorus of yells rent the air, which would have frightened Ned Buntline, Buffalo Bill, Texas Jack and the Pawnee chiefs from the war path; shrieks that a dozen locomotives in vain might have endeavored to outdo; whanging of sheet-iron; banging of drum and squeaking of wind instrument; the discharge of rifle, pistol and carbine—and sudden silence. At the appearance of pater familias, the troupe, as if needing noise to stimulate their courage, began an encore! And such an encore! Shades of Jubilees, reminiscenses of ram's horns, remembrance of "raw recruits," what a noise! Pater's clenched fists beat the air, and his excited utterances failed of their intended effect, as the wail of the fife, the clang of the sheet-iron and sixteen volleys from the fire-arms drowned expostulation and threat!

Then there was a great calm! Then a call for the happy couple—and a glimpse of the truth came across "the old man's mind." He denied that his daughter was married, and there burst forth from the serenaders a groan of dismay as they in turn grew indignant and demanded the scalp of the chap who lay hidden behind the fence, undiscovered. With bowed heads and frozen feet, they took the better path to their homes. Anger parched their tongues and dried their throats. Little heeded they the chaff that was hurled after them by the spectators their unwented music had attracted to the scene of disturbance. 'Twas the greatest sell since the election of Marvin—and of that "noble band" no one is left to tell the tale of woe—it's too expensive! Report has it that they proceeded to one of the "banks" and deposited ten cents, some of them ten times ten—and were seen going home at the hour when the morning stars are said to sing together!

Laconics.

Foster's (Dover) Democrat says complimentary things of Mayor Marvin, who is "of democratic antecedents."

Capt. Breese is detached from the receiving ship Sabine, at the navy yard, and ordered to Philadelphia.

U. S. S. Tallapoosa arrived at this navy yard on Saturday, from Washington navy yard with stores.

Frank Miller is not elected Mayor of Portsmouth, but T. E. O. Marvin, the present Mayor is re-elected, by one plurality. He went for the republican nomination, and failing to get that, accepted the democratic. Shame on him.—Lebanon Free Press.

The contest over the Internal Revenue collectorship of this district has ended in the retention of Col. Andrew H. Young. Assessor Haley, of Newmarket, was the other applicant, being endorsed by Congressman Small.

The past winter (if it is past) has been remarkable for the amount of good sleighing in this vicinity,—some ninety days. Runners were in general use on the 18th of December, and wheels were known only by tradition from that date until about the 17th of March; and even up to the present sleighs are as numerous on our streets as wheeled vehicles. The livery stables have not done the thriving business which might be supposed, the past season, the intense cold having been more than enough to overcome the temptations which the fine slipping put into the path of youth.

Col. Hackett sold by auction on Saturday fifteen shares of National Mechanics and Traders Bank at $133, and seven shares of Rockingham National Bank (par value $50) at $68.

Look in a mirror, sweet-William!

Five chemists have analyzed the blood found on Wagner's clothing, which he said was fish-gurry, and all pronounce it human blood.

—A prominent Railroad Democrat in this city is claiming some instrumentality in electing Senator Brown of this district. But Mr. Brown never "took any stock" in that pretence—and it is always safe to count your political opponents against you, especially such bitter partisans as the one alluded to.

—Mr. John P. Grant has been awarded the contract for four years, for carrying the mails between Portsmouth, York, Cape Neddick and Ogunquit.

Morning Chronicle.

—Some young ladies in Troy, N. Y., have had their feelings hurt. They engaged a big sleigh to take them sleighriding one afternoon recently, and the sleigh came; but as it had just been used to transport a minstrel band through the streets, the horses were decorated with, blankets bearing such strange device as "He's got to come," "There's trouble ahead," &c. The unthinking laughed, and the young ladies contend that spectators and stable-men should be more considerate.

—Parents cannot be too particular about the fit of their little girls' clothes. A Danbury lady believes that she would have been converted years ago had her clothes fit any how.

—The New York Commercial remarks of Rev. Mr. Talmage that, as a pulpit peddler of sensations and boss constructor of flapdoodle, he has no equal.

—When Brigham Young's children sing "Father, dear father, come home," the effect is said to be wonderful. The old man comes home without delay.

—The following is extracted from a smart boy's composition on "Babies:" —"The mother's heart gives 4th joy at the baby's 1st 2th."

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the chemicalness of an element, so easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron, in the blood, and, as "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, nourishing the mental sensations, and leaving nothing for disease to prey upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been charged by the use of this remedy, from pale, weak, languishing invalids to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 18 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed in a reasonable time; with CHARLES MASON, made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Invention, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All correspondence with Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of procuring their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in every instance. He is remarkable for proof of great talent and ability on his part; leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him for procuring their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and is the largest by half, of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was called for. By the mutual system the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two millions of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,269.35. It wants an agent to represent it in every place where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cured for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequaled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. sp9

The Chronicle.

Book Notices.

The Galaxy for April opens with four chapters of the story of "The Wetherel affair," by J. W. DeForest. The third part of "The Anthor,", by Turgeniff, is given. The article of Justin McCarthy for the present month is upon "Joseph Arch and the New Emancipation in England," a description of a recent effort to improve the condition of the workingmen in the rural districts. Richard B. Kimball writes upon 'France and Louis Napoleon," a bright but not very profound paper. "A Contribution to Shakesperian Study" is a consideration of some views which have been current in reference to the play of Hamlet. The third article on "Life Assurance" is filled with valuable facts. "The Lost Wager" and "A Snow Storm and a Baby" are the subjects of two short stories, the first by Rupert Grahame and the last by Francis E. Loop. The third paper in the series entitled "Wanderings" introduces the reader to Roman festivals. The miscellaneous matter at the close of the number treats of a variety of subjects in the social, the political and the scientific. (Sheldon & Co.)

We have received the March number of Smith's Magazine, a neat little monthly of 56 pages with double columns to the page and filled with the choicest reading matter. Subscription price but one dollar per year. Published by Pliny F. Smith, No. 56 Liberty street, New York.

Oliver Optic's Magazine for April is fresh, bright, and attractive as usual. Contains four chapters of Oliver Optic's serial, "The Yacht Club;" two chap a of "Lottie Esmee, or Do your Best, and Leave the Rest;" four chapters of Elijah Kellogg's story, "The Turning of the Tide;" all handsomely illustrated. Mary Granger Chase has an article on "Chiselhurst: The French Exiles," with several illustrations by Miss L. B. Humphrey. Among the poems are "The Life-Boat" and "Livingstone," with full-page illustrations. B. P. Shillaber continues his "Then and Now" tale, which has a full-page illustration. Thomas Powell has an attractive article on "Poets' Homes." "The Slave of Auvergne," "The Flying Frog," and "The Buffalo Hunt" are among the shorter but equally interesting articles. The March of the Boston School Regiment" brings up the rear of a capital number. Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston, at $2.50 per annum.

The record of "An Hour among the Greenbacks," in Scribner's for April, is as entertaining as a story. Mrs. Procter's profusely illustrated description of "Moscow and Southern Russia" will be read with peculiar interest at this time, as well as the sketch of "An Emperor's Vacation at Vichy." Among the illustrated papers are an article on America's prima donna, Clara Louise Kellogg, with portrait, and "An Ancient American Civilization," with pictures of Peruvian antiquies. Besides Dr. Holland's serial, "Arthur Bonnicastle," there is, by way of fiction, the beginning of a very powerful story by Saxe Holm, "The Elder's Wife," a sequel to Draxy Miller's Dowry; "Martin Lee's story," by Norman Holm; "The Automaton-Ear," a strange romance; and "The Flea and the Professor," by Hans Christian-Anderson. Prof. Atwater discusses "Needed Modifications of our Currency and Banking System," and among the poems we find some striking verses by Mr. Stedman, entitled "Hypatia." From Geo. McDonald there is another beautiful translation from Novalis. In "Topics of the Times," Dr. Holland writes of "The Latin Nations," "Clean Hands," "Lord Lytton," and "Fairy Virtue." The May number of Scribner's opens the sixth volume, and, as the publishers say, "This is the time to subscribe."

Wood's Household Magazine for April invites us to the following "feast of reason;" The Good Goddess; Mid-Summer Dream; The Slow Poisoning; Whims, Miss "Pep-Ia;" Make Your Opportunities; A Prize Story; An Honest Remeller's Advertisement; Unreasonable Devotion, by Gail Hamilton; Simplicity in Prayer; My Little Gentlemen, by L. M. Alcott; Cradle Song, by J. G. Holland; Rikke-Tikke-Tak; Good Advice by Harriet Beecher Stowe. Four thousand professional men and women, farmers, etc., who want "something to do," may be accommodated by addressing the Editor. For specimen copy, enclose two stamps and address Wood's Household Magazine (Times Building), New York City, or 81 and 83 Front-st., N. Y.

Harper's Magazine for April, with eighty-five illustrations, and covering, in its table of contents, every variety of the most excellent and timely reading-matter—stories, poems, instructive articles of science and travel, and humorous sketches—can not fail to satisfy the most exacting and fastidious reader. The unprecedented combination of three such writers of fiction as Charles Reade, Wilkie Collins, and Miss Thackeray in one Magazine, is in itself a memorable event in the history of periodical literature. But the space occupied by these writers does not prevent a magazine of the size of Harper's from giving such an extended variety as we find in this Number. The contents include The Cradle of the New World, with twenty-two illustrations; Doubt; Pigeon-Voyages, with thirteen illustrations; Till Death; The Mountains (VII.)—Pente Crayon, with ten illustrations; Gog, Magog, & Co., with eleven illustrations; Agricultural Laboratories England; Told in the Drawing Room, Recollections of an Old Stager; Sea and Shore, (Chas. Nordhoff,) with twenty-one illustrations; Old Kensington; Horace Greeley; Junius Henri Browne, with an illustration of Horace Greeley's Sanctum; A Simpleton: A Story of To-day, Charles Reade; Baby and Mustard Playing Ball; The New Magdalen—Wilkie Collins; Video and Face—Rhis Gray; Editor's Easy Chair; Editor's Literary Record, etc.

The Science of Health has discussions on the Natural Food for Children, Disease and Its Treatment, Health v. Fashion and other timely topics. S. R. Wells is the publisher.

The Nursery for April, the best little folk's magazine in this country, is brim full of good things.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, MARCH 25, 1873.

Readables.

Gen. Grant has stooped from his high office to snatch from the jaws of the law a murderer — a man who was guilty of the foulest murder. O'Brien, a policeman, had attempted to seduce a Mrs. Cunningham, and her husband reported the villain' at headquarters, whereupon he was fearfully beaten and afterwards murdered by O'Brien. Gen. Butler and Mrs. Sherman haggled the President until that functionary set aside the verdict of the jury, which condemned him to be hung, and the sentence is commuted to imprisonment for life.

Senator Caldwell of Kansas has resigned, to avoid expulsion.

Edward Donnelly, who murdered Dennis Gallagher on the 27th of September, 1870, was sentenced at New Orleans, Thursday, to be hanged.

The charges made by the New York Sun against John W. Douglass, commissioner of internal revenue, have been decided to be entirely false, the fact that they were made by the Sun being presumptive evidence of their falsity.

The City physician of Springfield, Mass., is a woman—elected by way of an experiment. She is said to have been exceedingly successful, not having made even one medical blunder since she began her work. One reason for this she gives when she says that she was "very careful about making mistakes, because she knew that any error would be more severely visited upon her than it would be upon a man." She has been an economical official, for she has attended one hundred more patients than any of her predecessors in the same number of weeks, and for $100 less expense to the city. She often acts as nurse as well as doctor, and her practice among the poor has been in every way excellent.

Alex. H. Stephens has sold out the Atlanta Sun. After serving actively in politics since 1843, Mr. Stephens finds himself only sixty-one.

Blanton Duncan, the immortal straight-out, has settled in Texas.

A man and two children living on an Iowa prairie were burned to death on Saturday, the thatch of their cabin catching fire and falling upon them as they slept.

The Boston Globe complains that strawberries are still very sour! The Traveller says they are only 25 cents each!

Godfrey's English band is coming to America in July.

The Spanish assembly has passed a law emancipating the slaves in Porto Rico. "His soul's marching on."

MRS. FOSTER, wife of the executed murderer, is lying in a stupor of grief at her residence. Her minister, Rev. Dr. Walker, is in constant attendance on her. She has been confined to her bed the greater part of the time for a week past, and only aroused herself by energetic efforts to visit her husband, before whom, however, she exerted herself to the utmost to appear calm, in order not to increase his sufferings. The strain upon her nervous system seemed at last to have been too great for one of her delicate organization. The outside of her residence is dreary in the extreme, and awe and reverence seem to have taken possession of all the residents in the brick block where she resides. Blinds on the second floor of the house where Foster's widow and orphans now remain secluded, are securely fastened, and no one is admitted except members of the family.

Washington Correspondence.

The 42nd Congress—Census Post-Office—First District Collectorship—Attempt to Remove Major Vaughan—The Portsmouth Custom House—A Broken Seat—Caldwell's Case.

WASHINGTON, March 22.

The last Congress will long be noted for the astounding revelations of character as well as the extravagance of its closing acts. The large increase made in salaries could not have been passed had not provisions been made for the increased pay of Congressmen to go back over two years. Sixty-four members, I think it was, who were not re-elected voted for this increase, which put on an average from $4000 to $4500 in their pockets by the vote they gave. The increase of salaries, was therefore procured by taking Uncle Sam's money, and bribing these salaries with it. It is called by a different name, but the act bears a close resemblance to that of the merchant's clerk, who is working upon a stated salary, but which he says is not sufficient to support him in his style of living, so he takes from the drawer fifty per cent. additional and says his services are cheap at that sum. And when his brother clerks remonstrate he coolly tells them if they don't think their services worth that much more than the bargain stated, they are not obliged to take it! It is a marvel how the republicans of New Hampshire stood so well in the late election. It could only have been done in a general reading community, where every voter knew how the members voted and that a majority of the republicans voted against the increase of salaries, while a large majority of the democratic members voted for it. The increased vote gives to your democratic Congressmen above the Governor must have been given for the purpose of commending them for voting against a majority of their party, and against this increased salary bill, and not because the republican candidates were unpopular.

There has been quite a commotion here the past week on New Hampshire matters. The Nashua Post office location brought out a large delegation. They had a hearing before the Postmaster General who has not yet made a decision in their case. The Concord Postmaster has been superceded by his predecessor, which caused quite a stir. Collector Bailey of your city has been reappointed, while surveyor Martin is made to give place to Mr. Pillow. Your New Hampshire people here say this change will make some hard swearing among your church people, who won't like to see a good fellow like Martin shoved out to make a half way place for a veteran like Pillow. The plate proposes to put Sides from the Boston Custom House in Mr. Pillow's place, and if it don't get broken into smash will bring another from the Navy Yard for his colleague in the Custom House. The ex-accountant of the Navy Yard is also reported to be booked on the slate for Vaughan's place in the Pension Agency. It is further said that the slate was broken in attempting to put Assessor Haley of Newmarket in the place of Collector Young of Dover. Whether the Pension Agent can do it again remains a question. As old veteran in making slates, which have been badly broken of late, was overheard talking to himself on the Avenue, when he declared "If all the officers were to be super-phosphated, to grow big commissions,——would be to pay when it came to Navy Yard bosses What upon earth did the old fellow mean by super-phosphating an office holder? That is a term you sometimes hear at the meetings of the Board of Agriculture, but what has it to do with politics, or the Navy Yard, where they sell manure, and don't seem to need the commercial fertilizers?

The Caldwell case runs on in the Senate. It is rocking with corruption, and at this time it is a matter of some doubt whether the odor of it will drive decent men out of the Senate, or whether the Senate will drive out the odor.

CRESOR.

THE SNOW BLOCKADE IN THE EAST. A despatch of Saturday from Bangor says that the snow blockade of the railways in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and eastern Maine is one of the worst of the season. Since Thursday the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad has been closed. In Nova Scotia so bad is the condition of the Intercolonial Railway that no trains from Halifax has arrived at St. John since Thursday. On the long line of New Brunswick and Canada Railway no trains are running. The train on the European and North American Railway, due in Bangor on Friday night, arrived at 6 o'clock the next morning. The Pullman train from Boston came in without the sleeping car. The country roads are badly blocked, and several stages have not been heard from since Thursday.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Mayors of Portsmouth:

FROM 1850 TO 1873.

Portsmouth was incorporated a City in 1849—the vote of the town meeting called to decide as to the acceptance of the City charter, being 455 against, and 459 in favor—only four majority for the City. The polls were, by provision of the act of incorporation, kept open just five hours, from ten to three o'clock—and this was the last legal town meeting ever held in Portsmouth. The desire and determination for a city form of government was largely influenced and decided, by the rough and rowdy conduct often exhibited at the town elections, by the democrats; especially at the March election of 1849, when the polls were kept open all night. "That night" was a watchword and rallying cry with the whigs for years after. On the 12th of May following, a town meeting was called, to ascertain whether a city charter would be applied for, which was decided by the small vote of 124 in favor, to 49 opposed to the proposition. A charter was granted by the legislature in June, and accepted by the citizens as above stated; and the city machinery which was soon set in motion, has run with a tolerable degree of smoothness ever since, with some tinkering. But that Portsmouth, like the State, is very evenly divided in politics, is shown by the record of its vote for Mayor during the twenty-three years it has been a city.

The Ward officers and the City Councils having been previously elected, the first election for Mayor was held on the second Tuesday of March, 1850, with the State election: The candidates were Abner Greenleaf, democrat; Horton D. Walker, whig; and Elder Obadiah E. Morrill, independent. A majority was then required to elect; and this was the law until the General Statutes went into effect in 1868, since which a plurality elects all the city officers in the State.

The result of this first city election was, Walker received 463 votes, Greenleaf 596, Morrill 143, Samuel A. Coburn 27, scattering (that often troublesome candidate) 28; and 630 being required for a majority, there was no choice. Another vote by the citizens was taken, on the Friday following, and Mr. Walker declining to run again, the candidates were Abner Greenleaf, democrat, and James W. Emery, whig. Greenleaf received 649 votes, Emery 562, scattering 1, and Greenleaf having 86 majority, was declared elected the first Mayor of Portsmouth. He served but one year. The ward votes were not all declared until after 9 o'clock in the evening.

In 1851, the candidates were, John Laighton, democrat; Christopher S. Toppan, whig; John L. Elwyn, independent. The result was, again no choice. Toppan had 532, Laighton 560, Elwyn 60, scattering 28. The City Councils in convention elected Mr. Laighton, by 15 votes, to 13 for Toppan. Mr. Laighton was not re-elected.

In 1852, Nehemiah Moses, democrat, received 491 votes, C. S. Toppan, whig, 660, Brackett Hutchings, free soil, 89 scattering 23, and Mr. Toppan was elected by 29 majority. He served but one year.

In 1853, Horton D. Walker, whig, received 493 votes, Richard Jenness, democrat, 572, B. Hutchings, free soil, 80, scattering 13—no choice. The City Councils being tied on the question, 14 to 14, Mayor Toppan decided the matter by throwing his casting vote for Mr. Walker, who was declared fourth Mayor of Portsmouth—two of the four having failed of an election by the people. The City Councils consisted of 32 members until 1868, when the number of the Common Council was reduced to 11, as at present, which with the eight Aldermen, gives 19 votes in convention.

In 1854, Mr. Walker, whig, was re-elected by 111 majority, receiving 626 votes to 456 for Jeremiah D. Goodrich, democrat, and 59 for B. Hutchings, free soil.

In 1855, H. D. Walker was run as the American (Know Nothing) candidate, and triumphantly elected for the third year, by 324 majority, receiving 883 votes, to 556 for J. D. Goodrich, democrat, and 3 scattering. A large vote for those days. Mr. Walker was the only man who has ever been elected three consecutive years for Mayor; and he was again chosen for his fourth year in 1872, and died early in that year. Jonathan Dearborn has also served three years, but not consecutively; and Frank Jones was nominated a third time, but failed of an election.

In 1856, C. S. Toppan, the American candidate, received 732 votes, Richard Jenness, democrat, 756, scattering 7; and Mr. Jenness was elected by 17 majority. He served but one year.

In 1857, John Chase, republican, had 710 votes, Robert Morrison, democrat, 794, scattering 1; and Mr. Morrison was elected by 83 majority.

In 1858, Mr. Morrison was re-elected by 72 majority, receiving 824 votes, to 750 for Lyman D. Spalding, republican, and 2 scattering.

The city election during all these years, had been held with the State election; in 1858, it was changed to the fourth Tuesday of November, and so continued until the present year, 1873.

In 1859, the candidates were John R. Reding, democrat, who received 634 votes; Robert Lefavour, republican, 597, scattering 5; Reding being elected by 32 majority. He served but one year.

In 1860, William Simes, republican, was elected by 134 majority, receiving 642 votes, to 508 for Peter Jenness, democrat.

Mr. Simes was re-elected the next year, 1861, by 176 majority, having 591 votes to 381 for J. R. Reding, dem., and 34 for Jeremiah Johnson, free soil or independent.

In 1862, Jonathan Dearborn, republican, was elected by 222 majority, receiving 705 votes, to 479 for J. R. Reding, and 4 scattering.

In 1863, Mr. Dearborn was re-elected by the handsome majority of 419, having 854 votes, to 435 for Albert R. Hatch, dem. Mr. Hatch didn't run again.

In 1864, John H. Bailey, republican, was elected by the very large majority of 661 votes, having 999, and Charles H. Peaslee, democrat, 335, scattering 3. This, we think, is the largest majority ever given any candidate for any office whatever in this city or town. And that of the next year, for the same republican candidate, was but little less, 639 majority. Of course, this is easily explainable by the fact, that during all these years, since 1861, the influence of the war was greatly felt, and party lines were nearly obliterated, which accounts for the falling off in the democratic (or copperhead, or anti-war) vote. Mr. Bailey's votes in these two years which resulted in such overwhelming majorities, were not so large as that of Mr. Stevens, but a trifle larger than Mr. Thacher's, and just about the same as that of Mr. Miller—all of whom were defeated—as in these other and later instances, the democrats did put in an appearance, most decidedly, though even then republicans had to assist, to secure their own defeat.

In 1865, Mr. Bailey was re-elected, by 901 votes, to 262 for Horace Webster, democrat; 639 majority, as above stated.

In 1866, Jonathan Dearborn, republican, received 825 votes, Frank Jones, democrat, 841, scattering 18. No choice, Mr. Jones lacking two of an election. Several votes for F. Jones were counted against him, as of course they should be, according to law. Had they been counted for him, (as doubtless those for T. E. O. Marvin were counted this year, (1873) in Ward Three,) Mr. Jones would have been elected. As it was, the case went to the City Councils, who in convention elected Mr. Dearborn for a third year. The total vote that year was 1684, the largest ever thrown for city officers up to that time, though it has since been exceeded. And many citizens, in view of the fact of the great increase in the vote of the city, as in the State, do not accept as correct, the census that reports our population as having decreased. As usual in such close contests, there was much excitement over the result, and charges of fraud, false counting, &c. in Ward One; Mr. Jones and his friends claiming that he was elected by the people, and the vote incorrectly declared. Mayor Dearborn being sick several months this year, Alderman J. B. Adams was chosen acting Mayor by the Board.

The vote in 1867 was the largest ever thrown at a city election, amounting to 2052, and the only occasion when both candidates got 1,000 or more votes each. Ezra A. Stevens, republican, received 1001, Frank Jones, democrat, 1050, scattering 1; and Mr. Jones was elected by 48 majority—several so-called republicans voting for him, and against their own unexceptionable candidate.

In 1868 the same farce of republicans defeating themselves, was repeated—Joseph H. Thacher, republican, receiving 892 votes, Frank Jones, democrat, 959, scattering 4. Jones' majority 63. The plurality law went into effect that year.

In 1869, Joseph B. Adams, republican, had 965 votes, Frank Jones, dem., 596, scattering 1; Adams' majority, 368.

Mr. Adams was re-elected in 1870, by 279 majority, having 925 votes, to 645 for Josiah G. Hadley, and the inevitable 1 scattering. On account of the sickness of Mayor Adams, Alderman A. A. Fernald was acting mayor for a great part of this year.

In 1871, Horton D. Walker was nominated and elected by the republicans for his fourth year, and received 1031 votes, to 696 for Jerome C. Butler, democrat, and 7 scattering. Walker's majority, 328. To this day no candidate for mayor except Messrs. Walker, Stevens, and F. Jones, has ever received 1000 votes, though Mr. Bailey in 1864, and both the democratic and republican candidates this year (1873), fell short of it only from one to four votes. Mayor Walker dying in 1872, Alderman Thomas E. O. Marvin was elected to the position by the City Councils, first as acting mayor, and afterwards as full mayor; and by a change in the City Charter, the municipal election was fixed again at the same time as that for State officers.

The candidates this year, 1873, were Frank W. Miller, republican, who received 996 votes; and Thomas E. O. Marvin, democratic, (alias "Citizens," alias "Liberal Republican") candidate, who was declared to have 997 votes, and so 1 plurality. There were 11 scattering votes declared in the first and second wards, 9 of which were thrown for T. E. O. Marvin. In the third ward, where the polls were kept open until nearly midnight, to outvote or outcount the republican majorities early declared in the other wards, there was no declaration of any scattering votes in the result, though republicans claim that several ballots were thrown for T. E. O. Marvin, and the republicans entertain no doubt but that their candidate, Mr. Miller, was fairly elected, though Mr. Marvin will doubtless have the honor (?) of holding the office.

Thus, of thirteen different persons who have held the office of Mayor of Portsmouth, as the result of twenty-three annual elections; four, Messrs. Laighton, (in 1851), Walker, (in 1853) Dearborn, (in 1866), and Marvin, (in 1872) were elected once each by the City Councils; and the first Mayor, Mr. Greenleaf, was only chosen by the people, on a second trial. During eight years the Mayors have been democrats; and during fourteen years and a fraction, republicans—though we are rather undecided in which column to place Mayor Marvin, who was assisted to the position by democratic votes, and has done vastly more for that party than for the republicans. Five of the thirteen failed of a re-election—Messrs. Greenleaf, Laighton, Toppan, Jenness and Reding,—and virtually, Mr. Marvin also.

Of the thirteen, seven were born in Portsmouth — Messrs. Laighton, Toppan, Reding, Simes, Bailey, Adams and Marvin; and all the other six, except Mr. Greenleaf, were natives of the State—Mr. Walker being born in Chesterfield, Mr. Morrison in Northwood, Mr. Dearborn in North Hampton, Mr. Jenness in Deerfield, and Mr. Jones in Barrington. Mr. Greenleaf was a native of Newburyport. Of the thirteen, eight are living. Two were printers, Messrs. Greenleaf and Reding; one tallow-chandler, Walker; one spar-maker, Laighton; one hatter, Dearborn; one school-teacher, Morrison; one brewer, Jones; one cod liver oil manufacturer, Marvin; and the other five tradesmen or merchants.

Defeated candidates for Mayor have been beaten by the following pluralities:

Charles H. Peaslee	664
Horace Webster	639
Albert R. Hatch	419
Frank Jones	369
Jerome C. Butler	335

The Reason Why!

The chairman of the High School Committee in his report just issued says "the disposition of parents to take their children from school to engage in other pursuits at an early age and before they have completed the full course of instruction offered to them, is a great drawback upon our system of education and occasions irreparable loss to the children and to the community."

This is all very well; as a worthy farmer in Epping who was a good debater, used to say, "the reasoning is correct if the premises were right." But when the High School teachers cease to compliment the committee and the committee instead of informing the teachers that everything is lovely, see the thing as others see it, they will learn that parents are dissatisfied with the progress made; in the boys' school, for example. It is a fact patent to every one who has seen these boys in places of business, or in other schools, that the boys from our high school do not leave it in the same condition that boys graduated when such men as Haven, Treadwell, DeNormandie and others gave their time and attention to this important branch of education. Boys who have been sent to other schools to repair the defects in their education here, have shown a want of training and a lack of the habit of study requisite to make proficient scholars'. The best proof of the estimate of the efficiency of the Boys' High School is in the fact that the first class has but thirteen members, and if parents continue to remove their boys from the school, because they show poor results in their education, the class of '76 will be ridiculously small.

Parents are willing to leave their boys to be educated, but time is too precious to expend it in show exhibitions, with so few substantial results as very many of the graduates show. The schools need improvement and they are behind those of other cities of our State, and the sooner those having the subject in charge become candid enough to admit the fact, and make an effort for its improvement, the sooner will the school fill with boys, whose parents will delight to have them remain, and profit by that instruction for which the Portsmouth High Schools, in days gone by, were justly celebrated. GRADUATE.

Daniel Fowle's Printing Office.

In the CHRONICLE of October last, allusion was made to a copy of a deed of Fowle's of the lot of land, corner of Pleasant and Richmond streets, in possession of Mr. Isaiah Wilson, and a presumption that the GAZETTE printing office was at the date of the deed, Oct. 19, 1772, on that lot. I have had an opportunity of examining that deed. It was a mortgage, transferring as security for one hundred pounds, the lot above mentioned, and also "one shop occupied by Mr. Fowle as a printing office and one shop or store adjoining occupied by Joseph Boss, on Paved Street opposite the new dwelling house of John Pickering, Esquire." By reference to the "Rambles" I find that John Pickering's dwelling house was on the northerly corner, of Commercial Alley on Market Street; and that about 1780, or eight years after the mortgage of Mr. Fowle's, there were on the westerly side of Market Street a range of old wooden buildings "near the State House, in street leading to the Ferry," where the GAZETTE was printed and published from June 12, 1767, to Oct. 19, 1772, and how much longer no one knows. It is a curious circumstance, that the land mortgaged by Mr. F. in the deed alluded to, was never redeemed. The land was sold by the executor of the mortgage twenty-five years afterwards, and has passed down regularly under that deed to the present owner. M. B.

Laconics.

The great picture sale of Burleigh & Co. of this city, closes this week; and the distribution will be made at the Franklin House on Monday evening, March 31st. Every ticket gets a good picture; (there are no cheap paints or engravings,) while the most fortunate will secure elegant oil paintings and chromos, worth from $10 to $125. See the advertisement.

John H. Flagg, Esq., quarterman machinist at the Navy Yard, has been appointed Inspector in the custom house.

A covered bridge a half mile east of Raymond caught fire from the down freight engine on Monday forenoon and was consumed. There is no interruption in travel. The bridge was 80 feet long.

The Boston & Maine Railroad has reduced the fare from Boston to Portland 25 per cent. and the Eastern will doubtless do the same.

The Eastern Railroad has just received four more new cars from the Atlantic Works, Salem.

Morning Chronicle.

—The new city of Duluth, which four years ago had no existence, even in name, is one of the marvels of this country. It has now two important railroads, is the present terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, is at the head of western lake navigation, and has grown from a population of fifty in 1870 to 5000. In has two newspapers, while the trade of last year is said to have amounted to $1,205,722, and the duties to $649,497. Of shipping, the arrivals were 369 vessels, mostly steamers, with a tonnage of 204,159 tons, while the departures were a little larger in number, but about the same in tonnage. Since August, 1870, when the railroad to St. Paul was opened, there have passed through Duluth, to an eastern market, between two and three million bushels of wheat and nearly four hundred thousand barrels of flour; while among the imports were over seventy thousand tons of railroad iron, ninety thousand barrels of salt and forty thousand tons of coal. Chicago, enterprising as she is, was a tolerably old town before it presented such a showing as the above.

OF

CONSUMPTION!

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the best Medicine Presented ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest or Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaints, &c. &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signatures of "I. BUTTS," and the usual name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any stock life insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of cash to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $157,303.26. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to a reliable and reliable man who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain and misery produced by Corns, the incessant twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or tops of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

LETTER-WRITING.—Of all things on earth to make trouble, commend me to a letter! You write as you would say it,—but it goes to your friend without the grace of a voice,—the inflection, the gesture, the laugh that would make a joke of it. There are just the hard, cold words,—he can only see what is said, and he is deeply grieved, or angered,—lost to you perhaps, forever. The thing you write in one mood finds your friend in another—may be in the very one which of all others is least hospitable to your message. I have seen a whole family cast down by some piece of written pleasantry on the part of an absent member of it. And if there is danger when you know the writer's ways and phrases so well, how much greater the peril in the case of mere acquaintances. I think correspondence should be conducted mainly by means of printed forms. Theodosia suggests that no one should write without these forms who had not been examined by a committee of experts and pronounced competent. Then another committee should pronounce upon the competency of persons to whom letters are addressed.—Scribner's for April.

FALL ELECTION.—A writer in the Mirror favors the holding of our annual election in the Fall instead of the present time. So do we most emphatically. If there is any good reason for holding our election at the time when snow drifts are deepest, and the roads most impassable, we are ready to be informed what it is. It would be far more agreeable and convenient to hold the election, say in October, when the labors of the farm are completed, the weather not boisterous, and the roads passable. Caucuses and primary meetings would also be more generally attended, and the selection of candidates nearer an expression of the people. We see no reason why the change could not be made.—Canaan Reporter.

HELLISH WORK.—A woman from Boston was in town, Saturday morning, making efforts to induce young girls to accompany her to Boston to enter a house of ill-fame. She succeeded in getting four girls and was about to embark on the train with them when officer Quimby arrested the party. Two of the girls were complained of for street walking, and were fined; and the other two were permitted to go free after being given some good advice. The woman was allowed to go free, for there is no law that would detain her. Great Falls Journal.

A HANGING GARDEN.—A hanging garden of sponge is one of the latest novelties in gardening. Take a white sponge of large size, and sow it full of rice, oats or wheat. Then place it for a week or ten days in a shallow dish, and as the sponge will absorb the moisture, the seeds will begin to sprout before many days. When this has fairly taken place, the sponge may be suspended by means of cords from a hook in the top of the window, where a little sun will enter. It will thus become a living mass of green, requiring a little occasional moisture.

THE SUNNY HOME.—"Shirley Dare," in the Golden Age, writes: "I know a room where sunshine always lingers, and there is a breath of summer and mignonette in the air whenever I think of it. There a tired man comes home, and throws off overcoat and hat without looking to see what becomes of them. There is a broad table in the light, strewn with papers and magazines, and women's work, with a litter of rose-leaves dropping over them from a central vase. There is a wide sofa of the days of the Georges, fresh covered in chintz, with ferns and barbella for pattern, and the tired man goes down there with a great ruffled pillow under his shoulders, and opens parcels and letters, dropping them, as he gets through, on the floor, the most natural place for them. A girl has been painting, and her water-colors and paper lie on a side-table, just as she left them to rush away for an impromptu ride. I have been able to discover no disarrangement of the household economy by this flight. Somebody left a shawl on a chair. There will be nothing said about it at breakfast next morning. There are no laws here against playing with the curtain-tassell, no regulations as to how often the snowy muslin curtains may be put up or let down. They do not last the season out, crisp and speckless as our neighbors do across the way, but the only consequence is they are oftener new and clean. There is nothing very fine about this house, but things are renewed oftener, and look brighter than they do in stateliier houses.

The chairs have no particular places and anybody feels at liberty to draw the sofa out when it pleases him. There is no primness about the place. If there is grass on the lawn, it is meant to be walked on, and the geraniums are fondled, and petted, and caressed as if they were children. Do you know there is a magnetism in green leaves and growing flowers, derived from the earth's heart, that makes it good to handle and feel them? This house is known as the place where one dares to be late at breakfast. There is no ceremony of waiting. Coffee and cakes are put where they will be hot; the table is cleared to suit the housekeeper's convenience, and a small one set for the late comer. Nobody lies awake at sight till the light ceases to shine under your chamber door, if you want to sit up and read your novel through. There is an unwritten law for convenience of the household, which regulates everything better than any code Napoleonic. And the benefit of allowing people to be a law unto themselves is, that they are much better natured about it when they do obey. There is indulgence and repose in this lovely home, and a great deal of time for things which most people not short, an hour's play with the children, a "light down good" chat with a neighbor, a day of letter writing once a fortnight. And the worth of these merry, comforting letters quite outweighs the fact that there are cigar ashes on the mantel, and a pile of work on the sofa. Disorder does not imply shabbiness, or mean choos. It means "leave to be." It is the flowering, branching melody of one theme—and that theme, individuality."

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 1873.

Cheap Charity.

That down-east editor, who after serving four days on a jury announced in his paper that he "was so chock full of law that it was hard work to keep from cheating somebody," would have found plenty of men who could understand his case exactly, in the 42d Congress. That august body was so long engaged in investigating the frauds of others on the treasury, that at the last moment its members were unable to resist the temptation to do a little stealing on their own account, to pay themselves for the Spartan fidelity with which they had exposed the stealings of others. So they proceeded to steal several thousands apiece, but called what they stole "back pay," it being a less obnoxious term than "plunder."

Neither of the two great political parties—the living or the dead—can justly be blamed for the grand salary-swindle, as the record shows that the republican vote on it in the House was sixty against and fifty-one for the measure, while the democratic vote was thirty-seven against and forty-eight for it; and in the Senate twenty-two republicans voted for the back pay and twenty-two against it, while fourteen democrats voted yea and but five nay. In other words, a majority of the democrats voting on the question, in both houses of Congress, voted for the steal; while the republican majority in the House was against it, and in the Senate the republican vote was a tie. Still, whatever political capital could be made out of the affair favored the democratic party, the republicans having a clear majority in both branches of Congress.

It is not very uncharitable to suppose that many of the "nays" would have been "yeas," had more yeas been needed to carry the swindle through, and that many who voted nay did so simply to put themselves right on the record, while at the same time they hoped the measure would pass. Most of the "nay" men went for their stamps with commendable promptness; a few—a very few indeed—have declined to touch the extra compensation; and others have drawn the money allotted them as their share in the steal, and immediately handed it over to some charitable or educational institution.

This last method of disposing of the plunder seems to us as mean a way as has been discovered; it is mighty cheap charity, about on a par with Boss Tweeds' when he gave to suffering Chicago $50,000 from the millions he had stolen and intended to steal. If honorable members consider it dishonest to accept the back pay to purchase houses or umbrellas with, how can they honestly accept it to purchase for themselves a reputation for liberality? We have little admiration for the man who is generous with other men's money, or for he who opposes a swindling scheme until the plunder is being divided, and then scrambles for his share; such generosity is too cheap, and such honesty is too thin to be of any practical use in this world or any other.

Ned Buntline and his tribe were in Providence last Friday evening. When the play closed with a striking tableau, a portion of the audience showed an indisposition to accept this grand finale as the conclusion of the drama, but a boy in the gallery, remembering that one character, at least, in the play survived, took advantage of the awkward situation by exclaiming: "Hold on; wait till the show is through—Dutchy ain't dead yet!"

State News.

Lebanon has had no open selling of liquor for ten or fifteen years, until recently parties have determined to engage in the traffic. The citizens are just as determined the other way, and have raised a prosecution fund of $4000, with the laudable purpose of making the town too warm for the traffic.

There were sixteen arrests for drunkenness in Dover last Monday.

It cost the town of Guilford about $4000 to break out roads the past winter, over and above the usual tax.

The widow of Charles W. Warren of Dover, whose husband was buried on Sunday, has received $500 from the Masonic Strafford County Mutual Relief Association, which was formed six weeks ago. Mr. W.'s was the first death in the association.

One of the most terrific storms of wind and snow ever experienced burst upon Francestown quite unexpectedly soon after the polls were open on election day. Fear for the safety of their families seized upon many, who rushed home to their protection.

Mr. A. F. Fox of Auburn lost a valuable horse last week, from the effects of a kick by another horse. The horses were in the barn at the time. The calk of the shoe of the kicker penetrated one of the joints of the hind leg, and from the effects of the wound, the horse died.

The venerable John Prentiss, of Keene, deposited his 74th annual vote for State and county officers on the 11th inst.

Rev. Enoch Reddall, of Colchester, England, got drunk and incapable, was arrested and fined. In revenge he armed himself with two knives and knocked the constable down with a bludgeon. On being remanded he said he would plead not guilty, as he was insane. It is hoped he will not emigrate hither. We have too much insanity without Enoch.

THE BELLE OF ROME at the present time is the Austrian Princess Furstemberg—a great, dark woman, with raven-like black hair, huge coiffure, great black eyes, rich skin, heroic features, and a Venus of Milo form. A correspondent of the Philadelphia Bulletin writes that this Princess went to Rome sniffing at the Quirinal, the palace occupied by King Victor Emmanuel, for her politics are decidedly in keeping with those of the Pope. In fact her uncle is a distinguished prelate at the Vatican. For a long time she did not ask to be presented at the Quirinal. At last, however, a circumstance occurred which left her the only alternative, either to ask for a presentation at Court or to give the royal family at the Quirinal the cut direct. At the Duchess St. Arpino's last ball, this Austrian Nera came in the presence of the Princess Marguerite, the wife of Prince Humbert, the heir-apparent to the Italian throne. This was embarrassing, but the clever woman of the society world thought she could seize the chance to be presented formally, and save herself the notoriety of a regular court presentation. So she sent some one to ask the Princess Marguerite to allow her to be presented then and there.

Now the gentlest and sweetest of women is this same Princess Marguerite of Savoy; but there are times when she stands most prettily on her dignity, and this was one. "The Princess of Furstembourg has been in Rome two weeks," said the Princess Marguerite, seriously. "She has never paid me the compliment of a call at the Quirinal, where I shall be most happy to receive her; therefore I do not think I ought to make an exception in her favor." The next day the Princess Furstembourg sent in a request for an audience through the proper channel, was presented on Wednesday morning, and danced with Prince Humbert at the Quirinal ball in the evening. It is said that she has so far overcome her prejudices against the Royal Family at the Quirinal as to enjoy frequent flirtations with Prince Humbert, who manifests great admiration for her.

—The statistics of the mortality from the great storms in Minnesota the past winter have been gathered by authority of the Governor. Seventy persons are known to have perished, and eighty-one more to have been incapacitated by their injuries. The mortality was the severest in the great storm of the 7th, 8th and 9th of January, and the persons lost in that protracted storm probably died from the combined effects of cold and hunger. It is ascertained from persons who made careful observations in those sections of the State where the storm was most severe, that the degree of cold was not intense, but that the losses resulting were the consequence of the great force of wind and the long duration of the storm. Of live stock killed by exposure, there were 250 horned cattle, 25 horses, 3 mules and 10 sheep and hogs, so far as returned, and doubtless the entire loss of stock, could it be known, would at least be half as much again as these figures.

—The Police Superintendent in New York, Mr. Kelso, had a favorite cat, which he lost. The fact of this loss got into the papers, with an intimation that the returner of the favorite cat would be liberally rewarded. Immediately a line of men, women and children, with baskets, boxes and parcels containing all manner of cats, took up its march for the Superintendent's quarters, and the siege was kept up until a formal order from police headquarters forbade under severe penalties the admission to the Superintendent's presence of any person suspected of having a cat concealed upon his or her person. The Superintendent, in his agony, denies that he ever owned a cat, and asserts that he never wants to see another cat. The loss of his favorite was a catastrophe, but not of half the magnitude of the subsequent visitation of the cat-finding brigade.

—The Troy Times gives an account of two very narrow escapes from death by the cars, which a stranger had in that city. The train had moved out of the depot when he attempted to get on board, and in the effort he fell to the ground, hanging on to the platform, however, by his hands. His body dragged along over the ground by the side of the track, and the spectators expected to see him every moment crushed to death. He finally let go his hold, and the cars passed on without injuring him. Walking back to pick up his hat, an engine backing up just grazed his person—the man being so excited he did not see it.

—Suicides are epidemic again.

—"Euthanasia" is the specious title under which English writers are advocating the mercy and morality of suicide when a lingering and painful death is inevitable. Possessed with this belief, a prominent citizen of Taunton, Mass., some days since cut a hole in the ice, tied a fifty-pound anvil to his feet, and went on an exploring expedition to the bottom, some fifty feet below. Conceive the feelings of that man if he should happen to remember, upon reaching the bottom, that he had forgotten something.—Cincinnati Chron.

Business Notices.

ARE YOU OPEN TO CONVICTION? If so, you cannot doubt, from the testimony laid before the public, that Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar will cure coughs, colds, and all controllable diseases of the lungs and throat, when all other pulmonics have failed. Crittenton's, 8 6th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION. — The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement W. B. Lowd, Agent.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

A PARAGRAPH FOR DYSPEPTICS. If you have a weak stomach, and wish to make it weaker, take violent purgatives. There is no surer way to render indigestion chronic. But if you are dyspeptic, and like a sensible person desire to strengthen your digestive organs and compel them to perform their essential duties thoroughly and regularly, take a dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters before every meal, until your delinquent stomach is restored to a healthy condition. It should be understood that dyspepsia is always complicated with disturbances of the liver and an unnatural state of the bowels, and that no medicine which does not reach and rectify these irregularities can possibly cure this agonizing disease. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an anti-bilious agent and a gradual cathartic, as well as a tonic and stomachic, and hence its unparalleled efficacy in the severest cases of chronic indigestion.

MARVELOUS BEYOND PRECEDENT is the effect of Sozodont upon the whole economy of the mouth, keeping the gums rosy and healthy, the teeth in perfect order, giving to the breath a balmy fragrance.

☞ Persons suffering with Liver Complaint in any of its various forms will do well to call at Gilbert's Root and Herb Store, and try some of his Liver Lozenges. Many have tried them and are rejoicing to-day.

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Buchman's Pulmocine, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

An Accident.

A sad and perhaps fatal accident occurred at the Kearsarge Mills on Monday evening, just as the operatives were preparing to leave their work. Miss Phebe Faulkner, aged about 16, daughter of Mr. Samuel Faulkner, residing on McDonough Street, while arranging a cloud which she wore upon her head, by some carelessness it became entangled with an upright shaft that was revolving near by, and ere she was aware of it she was firmly bound, and slowly but surely being drawn towards a horrible death. Her shrieks brought her fellow workmen to witness her situation, one of whom drawing his knife from his pocket severed the scarf from her neck and released her. She was nearly choked to death, however, besides being severely bruised about the head, face, and breast. It is feared that she is severely injured internally, altho' to what extent has not and cannot be ascertained. Her attending physician on Thursday had some hopes of her recovery.

The Mayors of Portsmouth.

[The article published on Tuesday needs a few corrections, for which we are indebted to our old and valued correspondent "M. B." The double election of 1858 was omitted in the haste of preparation. We were well aware that Mr. Greenleaf learned the trade of a coppersmith; but as he was chiefly known to the public as a newspaper man, and doubtless owed all his official position to this fact, we thought best to set him down (or up) as a printer. The statement as to Mr. Dearborn's sickness, and many others were made from memory only.—Eds.

1st. Though "Mr. Walker was the only person who was ever elected three consecutive years for Mayor," yet Mr. Robert Morrison was elected by the people at three consecutive elections and served as such three consecutive terms: he was elected in March 1857, in March 1858, and in November 1858, and was Mayor from March 1857 to January 1860, something over two years and nine months, the term for 1858 having been shortened by the legislature of that year.

2d. The vote of November 1858 is omitted. It was as follows: Robert Morrison 755, Lyman D. Spalding 616, scattering 4, and Mr. Morrison was elected Mayor for a third time by a majority of 135 votes.

3d. The City Council consisted of 28 members—21 Councilmen and 7 Aldermen until 1858, when Ward One having been enlarged, the number was increased to 32, and remained so till 1868. Thus in 1853, when 28 votes were cast for Mayor, every member of the two Boards voted.

4th. Mayor Dearborn was not sick several months in 1866, neither was Mr. J. B. Adams an alderman in that year. Mayor Dearborn's sickness occurred in 1863 and 1864, and Mr. Adams was chosen chairman in both of these years. In 1864 the oath of office was administered to Mayor Dearborn at his residence.

5th. Mayor Greenleaf was not a printer, though for some years connected with a newspaper. He was a worker in copper, either as a coppersmith or founder, carrying on business for several years in this town.

These are small matters; but it is better to have history accurate. There may be others that need correction.

High School Matters.

Messrs. Editors:—I am glad to see that "Graduate" has espoused the High School question, and I hope the subject may be agitated until either the committee, the teachers, or the parents are aroused to such an interest in the matter as to bring about a radical change. What was the reason that the Boys' session did not commence at the proper time on Tuesday morning? "No fire," we suppose, which has been rung in our ears too often this winter as well as last. It is a current remark now-a-days among those who have an interest in the status of this school, that the graduating class know less of general matters pertaining to practical education than the class that just emerges from the Grammar School. Why is it so? Whence comes it that there is so much of the hot-house growth of mind in this school to come forth on exhibition day with the luxuriance of a gorgeous flower, only to fade and wilt like a transplanted cabbage in a hot July sun? There's a screw loose somewhere.

DOS.

Laconics.

On Monday afternoon a man in this city whose capacity for storing away the good things in life is somewhat elastic, ate on a wager, thirty fried eggs and five slices of flour bread. He said he was not eggs-actly satisfied but was too well bred to make a gormandizer of himself. It may interest him to know that Dr. Whittier has been appointed coroner for this county.

A nice question has already arisen concerning the appointment of Mr Hibbard as judge. Suppose one of the people of New Hampshire should bring an action to recover the amount of "illegal" back pay taken by Congressmen Bell and Parker, could Hibbard as Judge sit in the case? The question, however, has not come as yet before the court.

Lieut. Commander David E. Woodrow, U. S. N., has been ordered to the U. S. Receiving Ship Sabine as Executive officer.

Mr. Samuel Fabyan, a native of Newington, is to be the editor of a new daily paper to be started in Worcester, Mass., to be called the Press. Mr. Fabyan has been for years an honorable member of the editorial fraternity, and lately filled an important position on the editorial staff of the Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Dr. Strong is having quite a good run of bathers. Each one testifies that he or she is a "new creature," after the bath. If he should call it the "grand oriental Turkish Bath" and improvise a sort of a little harem, charging $5 admission, we would guarantee him a good business; and yet this Sulphur Bath which he administers is much better.

Applications from the country round about for positions in the custom house are becoming numerous. "The woods are full of 'em."

Hon. Isaiah Hanscom, Chief of Bureau of Construction and Repair, is at the Rockingham House.

The Mechanics' Association,

At their adjourned meeting, Monday evening, earnestly discussed the question of rebuilding, or selling part or all their valuable real estate on Congress and Fleet Streets. A majority seem to desire to build a handsome block of brick if possible, to extend from Mr. Frye's store to Fleet Street, and back about 80 feet deep—thus filling up the passage from Congress Street into the stable, and to open a new entrance from Fleet Street. But the Association have but about $8000 funds, which is of course insufficient to erect other than a wooden structure—which the Board of officers recommend, to be of two stories, and to leave open the Congress Street passage way as at present.

It was stated that an offer of $4000 was made for the brick stable and rear land, with entrance on Fleet Street, only; and the meeting voted that the Board be requested to advertise this portion of the estate for sale and to sell the same for not less than $4000; and adjourned to the call of the Board. It is reported that private parties in the city are ready to purchase the whole estate at its cost of the Association, and would erect a block suitable to the location.

The Mechanic Association are to occupy the rooms in Gray's Block, (late Greeley & Brown headquarters) for their reading-room, &c.

The Mercantile Library Association are to remove to the hall lately occupied as the republican headquarters, next door to the above.

—A lion tamer at Turin has been in the habit of entering a den populated with lions, bears, tigers and other gentle playmates, taking with him a lamb, which he not only made to lie down with the lion, but actually put the little innocent's head in the monster's mouth, but the lion on thinking it over, concluded it was only a sham millennium, after all—real one wasn't due—and so the other day there was a suppressed bleat, a crunching sound, and the royal quadruped was enjoying a lunch of young mutton, rare, without gravy,—and nothing but a masterly retreat saved the tamer from furnishing the next mouthful.

—Honesty, apparently, permeates the Athol railroad, from the greatest even unto the least. Several months ago, during a nocturnal snow storm, a brakeman on the Boston & Albany road dropped his pocket book, containing $20, on the top of a freight car; looking, and failing to find it, the "twister" concluded to wear his overcoat another winter. The car went to Athol and stood upon a side-track, until lately the snow thawed off and revealed the pocket-book, which bore its owner's name, and was, with the money, returned to him.

—"Sit still; that is the devil?" remarked Rev. Mr. Hammond, at a Council Bluffs meeting the other night, as some one cried "fire" outside. "No, it aint; it's Jim Chase," cried a little boy near the window who saw the "fire-alarm" running along the street.

SMALL - POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers; if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

Morning Chronicle.

—The Lewiston Journal says that a professional man, who had long been pestered with candy boys, introduced one to an inner room where there was a mounted skeleton, saying that a fellow with a sweet tooth was in the next room. The young peddler entering, his eyes caught the tall skeleton and the grinning skull, and with terror-stricken countenance he dropped his candy, dish and stock in trade, entire, and ran out of doors as fast as pallid fear and legs would carry him. The professional gentleman fearing he had carried the joke too far, with pity in his heart, picked up the poor lad's candy, and—himself a tall lank person—ran to the sidewalk with it, crying out, "Come back, boy, there's nothing here to hurt you." "No," replied the boy, "Ye don't come that on me; I know ye, of ye have got clothes on."

—A Sacramento lawyer remarked to the court: "It is my candid opinion, Judge, you are an old fool." The Judge allowed his mildly beaming eye to fall upon the lawyer a brief moment, then in a voice husky with suppressed tobacco juice—and emotion, said: "It is my candid opinion that you are fined $100."

—The gentleman who led one of the Misses Rothschild to the altar lately, is a victim of disappointed hope. She is worth only ten millions, and he was led to believe her wealthy.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an element, as easily digested, and as much a part of the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills that flesh is heir to" simply by Toning, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the human frame, carrying Health and Strength to the remotest secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints and all disorders arising from a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects can be relied upon by enfeebled persons, and are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an iron constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, active men and women, and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirteen years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Reissues, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of invention, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one Dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners in this city. I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him for procuring their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 orders.

The proceeds of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is for the enlarged use and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most eminent citizens of the United States. The same high character already pledged so far that complete success is assured, and buyers are therefore notified that they must order at once if they desire to participate in the distribution.

The management of this undertaking has been committed by the trustees to Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom communications pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to render its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,127,868.61. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is conducted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE COMMIL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the compounds specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tinctures of Lobelina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Palpitating of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Hoarseness, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung disease, but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are so sold or potash compounding, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the secret instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

The Newburyport Ghost.

The Springfield (Mass.) Union publishes the following letter from Newburyport, dated March 17:

Returning to the city of my nativity and home after a few months' sojourn in the vicinity of Springfield, I found the whole city excited and moved by the wonderful ghost stories which have been making so much of a stir recently. When away from here the first question asked me, when my residence became known, was "do you know about the haunted school house?" and I naturally made an examination into the matter one of my first duties upon my return.

Despite all that has been written upon this subject, there is one thing connected with the Newburyport ghost story that has never got into print, and that is a fact that many years ago a stern teacher punished a little boy by putting him into the small cellar under the entry, referred to in the accounts of the manifestations, and went home, forgetting to release him. His cries at last attracted the attention of a neighbor, who found the boy much exhausted and in a cold perspiration from his fright. He cared for him kindly, but the child never recovered from the fright and died soon afterwards. Here was a charming basis for a "blue-eyed ghost," and I could wish that all the victims of torture, whether in district school houses or elsewhere, might have the power to return and frighten their tormentors.

But the more I have looked into the matter, the better satisfied I am that the disturber of the peace of the teacher and scholars of the Charles street school came not from the spirit-world. The present teacher is a well-educated and energetic young lady, beloved by both parents and pupils, and only one of the sixty-three scholars permanently left the school, although the manifestations have been increasing since the autumn term. Once, only, the teacher was thrown off her guard, and lost her presence of mind for a moment.

The school house was daily thronged with curious visitors and the excitement constantly grew and widened until the school board thought best to appoint a committee of investigation. Two members of this committee were ministers, and as their action and report have been pretty sharply criticised in some quarters, I will sketch the men as they appear to me after a long personal acquaintance. Rev. Dr. Spaulding, the pastor of the Whitefield church, has resided here twenty-six years, is not a grave, sour preacher, but a man full of energy and public spirit, a jolly man, fond of a joke, never cut out for a preacher, though he has been very successful in building up his church, but more through his administrative talent and love of business. He is a man to whom sedentary, studious life is abhorrent; he can accomplish a great amount of work, and should have been a business man. He has a clear head, little bigotry and quick sympathies.

His friend, Rev. Mr. Johnson, the rector of the Episcopal church, was born to the surplice, a handsome man, regular profile, of a poetic temperament, quiet, gentlemanly manners and with a calm, firm faith in all the thirty-nine articles. They were associated in their investigation by Richard Plummer, a man wholly unlike the other two, quick, impulsive, somewhat free thinking now, but formerly a zealous calvinist, and very active in revivals. Afterwards he was so firm a believer in Millerism that he made all his preparations to ascend on a certain day. The report of this committee and a personal interview with the gentlemen themselves, have prepared me to give your readers what may be relied upon as the authentic history of the haunted school house.

The first thing which the committee did was to make a thorough examination of the premises, and they found the building in great need of repairs, a notable characteristic of "haunted" houses everywhere. Patches of plastering had fallen from the ceiling, the cellar was easily accessible from the outside, the front door was usually left unlocked, and from the front entry the attic was reached without the slightest obstacle of lock or bolt. The cellar is small, extending only under the entry. The attic is not floored. A ledge extends under the building, so that the chopping of wood in a neighboring house, can be distinctly heard in the school room. The committee caused suitable repairs to be made, so that now the cellar cannot be entered except by unfastening the bolts on the inside. A trap door has been placed at the head of the attic stairs, secured by a padlock, and the front door is kept locked.

After the repairs many of the disturbances ceased, though it is well known that ghosts, like Cupid, laugh at bolts and locks. The principal manifestations have been: A boy neatly dressed in a suit of brown, trimmed with braid and buttons of the same color, who, when the teacher tried to grasp him, suddenly disappeared; five minutes after the return of a boy sent to hang up the brushes in the attic stairway, three rape came upon the stairway door, and on opening it the brushes, long and short, came falling off the nails, and the dust pan came tumbling down into the school room; a ball rolled around the attic, making such a noise that it was necessary to close the ventilator; the appearance of hands and faces at the window looking into the entry; laughter and voices sounding as if in the school room yet not proceeding from the pupils; rappings at the ventilator and cellar stairs.

If any readers will note these statements carefully, and compare them with the following confessions of the boys, they will perhaps be able to solve some of the mysterious appearances. A, confessed that he repeatedly went into the entry and put up his hands before the window, passing it back and forth; B, that he played ghost, covering his face with a white cloth; C, that he was kept from school by his mother on account of a sore foot, but went to the entry, that the teacher came out of the school room at the door farthest from the attic stairs, and finding he could not escape by the front door, retreated up the attic stairs, followed by the teacher, that he slipped by her, ran down the stairs and escaped; the teacher, he said, was much frightened; C and D said they both played ghost to frighten the girls in a neighboring school, and two or three others stated that they had often climbed the trees and tied to throw shadows and bright lights into the room, and that they have often rapped on the cellar door from the inside.

Balls of shavin and wax found, and also a spike suspended in the cellar way, so arranged that it could give unfortunate rappings, and a joke, formerly used by Foster, they claim, failed on me to make the floor shake. Nobody disputes the "rareness" of Yankee boys, and boys in a New England seaport have an so much like fish that it takes an old hand to catch 'em. The newspaper reporters who come from Boston to this place did not know where to cast their bait, and failed. Had they employed an old salt, they might have found the trash nonsense, had they desired it. There are still some of our citizens who are reluctant to part with the blue-eyed ghost chel in brown, but in the light of what the investigations have revealed, it requires a deal of credulity to believe that the manifestations had any more ghostly origin than any wide awake and roguish boys.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1873.

NICE BOY.—The Lawrence (Mass.) Eagle says a boy named James O'Brien, ten years of age, undertook to commit suicide in that city on the morning of March 20th, "because his mother undertook to thrash him with a pair of suspenders. Mrs. O'Brien, the mother of the boy, keeps a liquor den at 160 Common street. Her story is that the family had boiled eggs for breakfast, and because the boy was passed a smaller one than he wanted, he threw it upon the floor, whereupon she undertook to chastise him with a pair of suspenders. She says she didn't hurt him much and probably she didn't, as the boy in his mad fit ran into the next room and taking a knife cut a severe gash in his throat, though not touching the main artery. The blood flowed profusely, but not in such quantity as to endanger his life." Pity the knives in that house were not sharper, for a boy of such temper, brought up in "a liquor den," won't make a very desirable citizen when he becomes a man.

"A NARROW ESCAPE."—The New York Journal of Commerce says:

We shudder to think what an escape we have had! If the Governor had weakly succumbed to the clamor of a few people, and commuted Foster from the gallows, we should have abandoned all hope of any further attempts to punish murder. Encouraged by their success in saving him, the whole tribe of sentimentalists would have been led to make still more desperate exertions in behalf of every cut-throat sentenced to death—the more horrible his crime, the more intense their sympathy for him. With such a fatal precedent of misplaced clemency before him, the Governor could not consistently refuse to commute the sentence of every convicted murderer now in the Tombs, and of every assassin now awaiting trial, if found guilty. Murder would have stalked through the streets in something more than metaphor. * * * The action of the Governor will meet the cordial approval of all right-minded men; and we would not, if we could, soften in the least the public expression of the severest rebuke to those who have sought to turn him aside from the plain duty of the hour.

RATHER WINDY.—On one occasion Crawford, the guide, was ascending the White Mountains with a party from Philadelphia. The day was very windy, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the gentlemen could keep their hats upon their heads after they had emerged from the forest to the bare rocks. One of the party asked Crawford if he had ever experienced a more windy day. "Yes," was the reply. "And did you go on to the summit?" "Yes; and it blew so hard that the first one that stepped there had to get the one behind him to hold his hair on for him." "And what did he do?" "Why he got the one that came next to do the same for him." "But what did the last one do when he came beside them?" "Why, gentlemen, he was bald-headed." The gentlemen from Philadelphia had no more questions to ask.

CONGRESSIONAL.—A despatch from this city to the Associated Press informed us that the democrats of this district were jubilant over the re-election to Congress of Mr. Bell by four majority. It is only necessary to say now that official returns have been received at Concord from nearly all the towns in the district, and that they give no reason to suppose that Mr. Bell is re-elected; that "the corrected returns," of which so much has been said, are much more likely to increase than diminish Mr. Pike's plurality; and finally, that there is as little doubt of the election of A. F. Pike as there is of E. A. Straw's. As to the jubilation part part of the despatch, the disease may be that, but the symptoms point rather to profane and explosive wrath.—Manchester Mirror.

—Grace Greenwood is a lovely woman of thirty; her eyes piercing and brilliant, her hair flowing like her style, and her subscribed hand-writing buried and wayward—as if in haste to get off her Washington letter to the Times in season for the mail. Such a face would look fine in marble. Its features are regular, its expression almost classic. Grace was the one American female writer who, of all others, was most admired by Charles Dickens.

—They now speak of him as the "weak-eyed, red-whiskered child of corruption, from Kansas." Which the same it is Caldwell.

Readables.

The Senate on Tuesday voted to discharge the committee on the Clayton case, 33 to 6, the charges not being sustained. A debate arose on a motion to allow ex-Senator Patterson's defence to be published in the Congressional Globe, Senator Stevenson stating that Mr. Patterson's statements were false in many respects.

Will S. Hays is accounted the most popular ballad writer among Americans, 2,686,000 of his '71 ballads having been sold.

One of the heaviest snow-storms of the season is reported at Chicago and St. Louis.

An aged widow living near Nashville, Tenn., was taken from bed and hanged Monday evening by some persons unknown.

The governor of Maine has appointed Thursday, April 17, as Fast day in that State.

Barque Abd-el-Kadir, recently arrived at Boston from Messina, reports having boarded on the passage ship Robert C. Winthrop and schooner Kate Brigham, both sailing from New York, and both abandoned by their crews. Both were old vessels, had valuable cargoes on board and were heavily insured. One had four and the other five feet of water in the hold when boarded by the captain of the barque. The crews are probably safe.

The death at Glasgow is announced of Miss Ann Wallace, a lineal descendant of William Wallace, at the age of one hundred and three.

Foster's wife is reported much better. Her physician thinks she will be fully restored to health in a week. Shelves in the upper story of a tenement house.

A MYSTERY OF THE SEA.—There is a little vessel in Gibraltar whose recent history is even still more mysterious than that of the Marilla, and perhaps similarly tragical to that of the Northfleet. The Mary Celeste, an American brigantine, was fallen in with by a British vessel some four hundred miles east of the Azores, and brought by her to Gibraltar on December 13. When discovered she was under foremast staysail and jib, and under this light canvas she had been pursuing her way for ten days, without a soul on board, the last entry on the ship's log being on November 24th. No other papers were found on board; manifest, bills of lading, every document which could have thrown any light upon the history of the derelict, had been removed; and up to the present time, though the inquiry is still going on, not the slightest clew has been traced to account for the desertion of the vessel, and even conjecture is at fault. The cargo, consisting of barrels, is untouched, with the exception of one cask which has started. There are no signs of the vessel having suffered from bad weather in a single respect, the most minute examination having failed to detect any injury above water or below it. A harmonium in the captain's cabin and the music books are all in their places, untouched by salt water. A little vial of oil was still standing by a sewing machine, and a reel of cotton and thimble had not yet rolled off the table. Nor had the cabin been plundered, for its contents, belong to a lady and child, were of considerable value. A sword was in its scabbard, rusty, and with marks of blood having been wiped off. There are marks like sharp cuts on the topgallant rail, and on both sides of the vessel's bows, which appear to have been done on purpose; whether this points to any act of violence, and with what motive committed—why the vessel was left under sail, or, in the apparent absence either of plunder or peril, why she was ever deserted at all—is still an absolute mystery; for up to the present moment no trace has been found of the lady or child, or the captain, or any one of the crew.—London Globe.

—Two drunken fellows in Morgansfield stumbled into a dentist's office the other day, and found lying upon the table a pair of forceps. One of them thereupon proposed to the other that he should play dentist, and lounging back into the dentist's chair opened wide his mouth. His companion inserted the forceps, and one by one extracted three sound, strong molars. The patient never uttered a murmur, and then have been discovered the virtues of Union-county whiskey as an anæsthetic.

—Kate Field "looks arch and mischievous." She is "versatile, accomplished, growing handsomer every day, proud of a touch of mercury in her Irish blood, born of an actor and actress, ought to be herself on the stage, and would make a 'schoolmarm' that no prudent and skin valuing urchin would ever think of playing truant from."

—The Cincinnati Commercial has come to the conclusion that "the chances for heaven of men who have been hanged for malicious murder, notwithstanding the profession of their professions, and the testimony of their pastors, are not greater than those of the masses of men who die decently in their beds."

—The managers of the Vienna Exposition, whose notions are rather feudal, innocently sent to Chicago for a copy of its municipal coat of arms. The matter was not to be bluffed, however. He sent for a sign-painter, consulted with him, set him to work, and shipped the result, whatever it may be.

State News.

Ex-Senator Patterson of New Hampshire, with his family, is to spend a year in Europe. Owing to a recent decline of his health he fears that the New Hampshire air will not agree with him for some time to come.

The Third Democratic Congressman from New Hampshire received much praise for their votes against the back pay swindle, but a Washington special states that though they made considerable capital in the canvass by proclaiming that they had not touched the unclean thing, as soon as the election was over, Parker, who was elected, and Hibbard, who was not, immediately sent for and received their $5000 each. Bell, whose election is in doubt, has not yet drawn his money. As to the Connecticut Congressmen, Gen. Hawley manfully turned his share into the Treasury; the others have "not yet" drawn it.

The shoe factory of Thomas A. Chadbourne, at Dover, was burned on Monday night. Loss $1700; insurance $1250.

The Exeter Bank officers discredit the report of the arrest of Shute at Louisville, Ky., under the name of Van Name. This Van Name has been trying the confidence game on the directors of the bank, one of whom personally went West to look after the rogue, whence his arrest and the probable foundation of the report that the arrested man was Shute.

The town of Wakefield unanimously voted to exempt for a term of ten years all capital invested in the town, for the manufacturing of wool, cotton, leather, iron, paper and carriages.

Mr. A. J. Hoyt, editor of the Haverhill Bulletin, has been appointed to a clerkship in the Boston custom-house at $1100 salary. Mr. Hoyt's services to the republican party should have been more liberally rewarded.

—A State landmark in Mississippi has been destroyed by a storm. It was an old building at Washington, in that State, wherein, in 1814, was adopted and signed the constitution that gave Mississippi a place among the States of the Union, and it was occasionally used as the meeting place of the Territorial and State Legislature. All who participated in framing the first State constitution have passed away. The town of Washington, then a thriving village, was the capital of the Territory, and there Aaron Burr was taken for examination after his arrest, at the mouth of Cole's Creek, by Acting Governor Cowles Mead. This old building was erected for a church by the Methodists, the lot being donated by that strange and eccentric enthusiast, Lorenzo Dow. It was probably the first Protestant church edifice erected in Mississippi, if not in the whole Southwest.

—"Is Mike McCloskey in the ranks?" asked the commander-in-chief, as the army stood in line of battle. "Here General," said Mike, stepping forward. "Then let the engagement begin," said the General. That is the way Mike tells the story.

—Wills should be left in some place where the heirs will be sure to find them. Persons seem to forget that they won't be round after they are dead to tell where their papers or wills may be.—Haverhill Gazette.

ARE YOU OPEN TO CONVICTION? If so, you cannot doubt, from the testimony laid before the public, that Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar will cure coughs, colds, and all controllable diseases of the lungs and throat, when all other pulmonics have failed. Crittenton's, 548 Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement W. B. Lord, Agent.

BUCHMAN'S PULMONIC CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

A TRIUMPHANT RECORD.—In glancing back at the history of proprietary medicines in this country, it becomes at once evident that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been the most successful of them all. The records of its triumphs cover a period of about twenty years, and during that time it has probably restored to health and vigor a greater number of debilitated invalids than all other tonics and alteratives combined. The amount of disease and suffering that has been prevented by its extensive use as a preventive medicine is, of course, unascertainable, but it is a well known and undisputed fact that the malaria which generates periodic fevers and many other distressing and dangerous disorders, seldom, if ever, produced any injurious effect upon systems that have been fortified in advance by a course of this invaluable vegetable tonic.

MECHANICAL TINKERING cannot arrest the decomposition of the teeth. Nothing will do this but that pure disinfectant and preservative which, under the name of Sozodont, has become a staple of the toilet throughout the world.

THE WORLD AND HIS WIFE have made up their minds that there is nothing under heaven so certain as a cure for a cough, cold, or difficulty of breathing, as Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The sale is over three thousand bottles per day. Crittenton's 7 6th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

☞ Persons suffering with Liver Complaint in any of its various forms will do well to call at Gilbert's Root and Herb Store, and try some of his Liver Lozenges. Many have tried them and are rejoicing to-day.

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Buchman's Pulmonic, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

*Elected. †Chosen by City Councils.

We are requested to state that Hon. John Laighton would not allow his name used for a second term for Mayor, though urged to do so, after serving one term.

The High School.

Messrs. Editors; "Dos" wants to know how it is that so much display is made on exhibition day, and afterward the scholars know so little about their exercises. It is because for at least six weeks before the exhibition, little or nothing is done but to prepare for the gorgeous display; said preparation consisting in learning pieces for declamation, or as it was last year with the lowest class in school, each one learning his allotted part of the Latin exercise. If either of the scholars in that class had been asked to translate any part of the exercise other than that allotted to him, he would have made a

The members of the serenading party who recently called on a supposed newly married couple at Christian Shore, are very indignant that the projectors of the joke did not stop it when it had gone far enough, before the serenade commenced, and promise to get even with the jokers "if it takes all summer."

most miserable failure, of it. The class in Chemistry was beautifully drilled in the same manner, each one having learned his particular half page or so; for want of time they were not allowed to display their forced proficiency. Thus it was with the whole order of the exercises; each had his particular part to learn and he did it. The whole thing passed off well. If "Dos" wishes to know anything more about it I am willing to inform him.

DIPLOMA.

Laconics.

Prof. W. H. Jaques, of Haverhill, Mass., will close his singing school at the Pearl Street church, Wednesday evening, April 2d, with a grand concert. He will bring with him some of the best musical talent in Massachusetts.

The "Sons of Portsmouth" in Boston are laying up their money preparatory to the grand reunion at Rivermouth next Fourth of July.—Boston Journal.

The town of Kittery, having just discovered that the Isle of Shoals belongs to Maine, and is hence a part of its own township, has, in accordance with the advance light of the nineteenth century, taken the first step in civilized government by taxing its new possession. The next step will be to appoint a tax collector, and his next step will be to step out with the proceeds and "default." Such is progress.—Boston News.

The News neglects to state that there more than one "Isle of Shoals." Star Island and a portion of Smutty-nose belong in New Hampshire.

The usual salute was fired from the Navy Yard battery on Wednesday, the occasion being the annual inspection call of Hon. Isaiah Hanscom, the able chief of Bureau of Construction and Repair.

A meeting of the Sons of Portsmouth, representing many leading New York merchants, was held Monday evening to make preparations to attend the reunion of the sons and daughters of Portsmouth on the 4th of July. Committees were appointed to carry out the project and it is expected that at least 300 will come to Portsmouth the 3d of July. They will be accompanied by the best bands to be obtained in New York, and anticipate an extremely enjoyable excursion.

A part of the additional evidence connecting Wagner with the Isle of Shoals murders is that a pencil peculiarly marked, which was given to Wagner by one of his comrades, has been found at the house on Smutty-nose Island, where the murders were committed.

Max Fischacher, Esq., of Boston, counsel for Wagner, has been here for a day or two collecting evidence for the defence. Threats of personal violence were made by some parties on Water street, whose prejudices made them forget that Wagner is entitled to all the defence he can make, and one or two witnesses whom he desired to see were kept out of the way. Mr. Fischacher desires us to say that every courtesy was extended him by the city authorities.

Burleigh & Co.'s great sale of pictures closes at the Franklin House, Monday evening, March 31st. Tickets only $1, though every ticket gets a picture, many of which are paintings or chromos worth $5 to $125.

Mr. John Langley, a nice man and an excellent workmen, has been appointed quarterman in the machinists' department at the Navy Yard, vice Flagg, resigned.

U. S. steamship Plymouth, 2400 tons, now in the European fleet, will be ordered to this Navy Yard for thorough overhauling and repairs. She will probably arrive here in May. One of the sloops-of-war which are to be built will be commenced here soon.

Representative Sulloway of Manchester and Hon. James W. Emery of Portsmouth are the most prominent candidates for Speaker of the House, thus far named.

—A wealthy farmer of Stratton, England, successfully pleaded his own illegitimacy as exempting him from liability to support his aged mother, then in the workhouse. The attention of the treasurer was directed to that part of the paragraph in which it was hinted that the defendant, William May, inherited his uncle's property, paying legacy duty as a nephew and not as a stranger in blood, which he would be if not legitimate. The treasury's inquiry has resulted in a demand being made on May for the difference between the three per cent. he paid as nephew and the ten per cent. he ought to have paid as a stranger; and they demand also compound interest on the arrears from 1856, when the uncle died, to the present date.

—A thirsty fellow, with more ingenuity than cash, stepped into a grocery in Springfield, recently, and imparted the information that there was to be a wake that night in Union street, giving the name and number. He presumed they would want four gallons of wine and four of whiskey. The order was accepted as genuine, and the thirsty young man was treated to three drinks and a cigar, after which he departed in a very serene frame of mine. But when the truckman delivered the "goods" in the evening, he casually inquired what disease the person died of. "Small-pox," was the laconic reply, but it answered the purpose, for the truckman disappeared so rapidly that he never thought of collecting a cent for the whiskey.

—A police justice at Elgin, Ill., fined a citizen five dollars for keeping a rat in a trap two hours before he killed it. Bergh can pass away now as soon as he pleases.

NEW MUSIC. J. S. Peters of New York have just published the following pieces of sheet music:—Sallie's Waltz, by Charles Hinkle; Silver-Spray, Mazurka, by Charles Hinkle; My Dear Old Mother, (song & chorus) words by J. McDowell, music by James E. Stewart; Geraldine, (song & chorus) by W. O. Fiske. For sale by D. H. Montgomery, Daniel St.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers; if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty-dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

Every robin-redbreast takes himself a mate!
Say the birds, sing the birds, "It is wrong to wait Till the May-dented Spring globe out of Summer's gate."
So I say the birds sing, once upon a day;
O, my treasure! O, my pleasure! Count thou my say
Birds' songs and birds' nests and green boughs together,
All gone: lov'ers alone laugh at bitter weather,
Summer days or Winter days; little robin Love whistles!
If so be that Love have known, his darling way,
Ah, my sweet! Ah, my sweet! Count thou my say
In the wood the wind drear in sunless set of eight,
Low down and deep down and world-forgotten gate,
But do you think the world forgets that she was sweet and white?
Then listen to his sad voice a little while, I pray!
O, my cruel! O, my jewel, Count thou my say
The sun rule in a red sun and white her 'mron spell!
May day and June air had wooed her at this start;
But we'll not let the sun should have her golden perfect heart!
Let me claim one short word for their lips to Ah, my precious! My delicious! It shall not be nay!

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, RUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined by us as to have the character of an element, so easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It is a most powerful Tonic, and Nerve Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The refined and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching and healing diseased parts, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Rush, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and pure blood to all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Testimonials have been charged by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering invalids to strong, healthy, and happy men and women, and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has the "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 18 State St., opposite Kilby St., Boston, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other Foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Models made the safest mode of the validity and "Copy of Patents of inventions, and legal and other a "true" rendered in all matters touching the same. Office of the Patent Office, Washington, D. C., attending exclusively. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All security of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved to inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of gentlemanly and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States, of New York, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is they enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders share the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,909.25. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continue commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish plugs, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representations.
COUGHS, and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are healing, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains and Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. H. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and all other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in securing inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. The Chronicle.

MARK TWAIN'S BEST.—After reading the petitions for the pardon of Foster, the car-hook assassin, Mark Twain gives vent to his feelings in the following strain:

The lawyers' opinions do not disturb me, because those gentlemen could make as able an argument in favor of Judas Iscariot, which is a great deal to say, for I never could think of Judas Iscariot without losing my temper. To my mind Judas Iscariot was nothing but a low, mean, premature Congressman. The attitude of the jury does not unsettle a body, I must admit; and it seems plain that they would have modified their verdict to murder in the second degree if the Judge's charge had permitted it. But when I come to the petition of Foster's friends and find out his true character, the generous tears will flow—I cannot help it. How easy it is to get a wrong impression of a man. I perceive that from childhood up this one has been a sweet, docile thing, full of pretty ways and gentle impulses, the charm of the fireside, the admiration of society, the idol of the Sunday school. I recognized in him the divinest nature that ever glorified any mere human being. I perceive that the sentiment with which he regarded temperance was a thing that amounted to frantic adoration. I freely confess that it was the most natural thing in the world for such an organism as this to get drunk and insult a stranger, and then beat his brains out with a car hook because he did not seem to admire it. Such is Foster. And to think that we came so near losing him! How do we but that know he is the Second Advent? Yet, after all, if the jury had not been hampered in their choice of a verdict, I think I could consent to lose him.

The humorist who invented trial by jury played a colossal, practical joke upon the world, but since we have the system, we ought to respect it—a thing which is not thoroughly easy to do, when we reflect that by command of the law a criminal jury-man must be an intellectual vacuum, attached to a melting heart and perfectly macaeronian bowels of compassion.

I have had no experience in making laws or amending them, but still I cannot understand why, when it takes twelve men to inflict the death penalty, it should take any less than twelve more to undo their work. If I were a legislature, and had just been elected, and had not had time to sell out, I would put the pardoning and commuting power into the hands of twelve able men instead of dumping so huge a burden upon the shoulders of one poor petition-persecuted individual.

—This is the way that the editor of the Cour.-Jour. pays off the Kentucky Legislature for its resolution that he is not Emperor of Kentucky:

Having waited patiently until the Kentucky Legislature had wasted three months of its time in frivolity, we felt it to be our duty to stigmatize it, elaborately and with proof, as an incompetent, lazy, and reckless body of political dead-beats.

CLEAN HANDS.—The world moves. It is not so respectable as it was a few years ago to be a rascal. People are learning the lesson that clean hands are desirable, both for personal comfort and pleasant social intercourse. They really seem to be learning that purity pays, and that personal honor and incorruptibleness are a good investment. Rogues are having a tough time of it, and it is their own fault if the young and ambitious men who are now coming upon the stage of action do not learn to place so high a price upon themselves that neither wealth nor power can buy them. The rascalities of the New York Ring are all exposed, and the members of that Ring have either run away or are staggering before public opinion and the law, disgraced and degraded men. Bribery in Congress stands exposed and rebuked, and the names that were pure have received a tarnish that can never be polished away. Men who have held their heads high in the nation, bow those heads in shame over bands which are soiled beyond cleansing. We call no names, but, scattered up and down the land, great reputations lie in ruins. Men who had wealth which they stole, and men who had position which they bought, and men who used their public office to push their private schemes, are thrown high and dry out of influence, and lie all exposed upon the rocks of disgrace, where they are sure to rot or go to pieces.

If the young politicians of the country will learn the lesson that the facts which we have recounted are so well calculated to teach, better times for the country lie in the future. Personal advantage is a mean motive to appeal to, where so vital a question as personal purity is concerned, but, as there is no danger to morals from any other appeal, it is well to meet temptation on its own ground and fight it with its own weapons. The lesson of the recent exposure is really needed by those who fancy that they can compass their ends best by base means; and if these shall learn from it that, in the long run, nothing pays so well in wealth and power and safety and comfort as virtue, they will be of incalculable benefit to them and the country. No money was ever won by treachery to trust that did not harm the winner. No power was ever achieved by bribery or retained by falsehood that did not scorch the palm of him who held it. The consciousness of ill desert, the loss of self respect, the fear of exposure and the self-commitment to a life of deception, which go always with possession unworthily won are poison in the blood, and the exposure, sooner or later, is as sure to come as death.—Dr. J. G. Holland, in Scribner's for April.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1873.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 72.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

OLD METHOD OF COMMENCING DEEDS. I have seen two deeds commencing in the way now to be named. The oldest is dated May 26, 1691, and given by Peter Weare of Hampton Falls, uncle of Gov. Marshal Weare, to his father, Nathaniel Weare, conveying to him land. The other was dated March, 1713, and given by Col. Stephen Dudley of Exeter to James Dudley of the same town, conveying to him land in Raymond.

These deeds instead of commencing as afterwards and now in this form, "Know all men by these presents," commence thus, "Know all christian people." By christian people, probably was meant the white or European race. Those implied as not christian men undoubtedly were native Indians. It was not regarded as of any consequence for them to know, even if they could by reading or otherwise anything about the business transactions of the white settlers and inhabitants.

The Weare deed above named is dated thus, "This twentieth day of May in the year of our Lord God, 1691." Peter Weare must have been a pretty strong Trinitarian one would think.

AMERICAN COMMERCE. — Senator Cragin's speech in the Senate just before the close of Congress has attracted the attention of the newspaper press of the country. The following extract from an editorial in the Alta California, one of the leading papers upon the Pacific Slope, shows the interest that is taken in the subject in that section of the country:

This amount of shipping, at its average rate of earnings, would give annually over $38,000,000. These are not wild theories, but are demonstrations drawn from our own printed official returns of commerce and navigation. Mr. Cragin shows that the loss of the carrying trade, demonstrated in his argument, was not caused chiefly by our late war, but that it was the result of what he calls a war of economy waged by subsidized iron screw steamships in the control of foreign interest against our own unaided side-wheel wooden steamers and sailing ships. The possession or control of the foreign shipping enables the holders to make ruinous combinations against our agricultural and cotton planting interests. He showed how Venice, Portugal and Holland, in the times of their great prosperity, owed it to their supplying themselves with their own built ships, and retaining their ocean-carrying trade; and how, losing that, they sank into interiority.

Many outside of Congress, although it would appear that but few within it, have long entertained similar views with Mr. Cragin, if not so carefully considered and well digested. A Senator from a maritime State, evidently with a commercial education, derived, if not from actual participation in the business, certainly from close observation and study, he has thrown more light upon the subject and upon the minds of the stupid or careless members than apparently they ever had a flash of before. That body has been very active in furthering bills and schemes calculated to aid themselves individually and directly; but, as to efficient practical action calculated to save our commerce from collapse, they have generally shown themselves indifferent or too ignorant to grasp the question and apply the remedy, or, what seems still more apparent, too selfish and metallic to care for the commerce and trade of the nation.

The aid extended by the Government of Great Britain to her shipping men, merchants, contractors and builders in enabling them to prepare suitable shipyards and appliances, by which they have produced her fleets of iron sailing ships and steamers, has been the means of making chiefly the change against us. The comparatively trifling outlay has returned to the people of England a hundred fold, and to the Government the incalculable benefits to be derived from the magnificent navy it has built up for her. Our Secretary of the Navy, appreciating the necessity of the times, has pointed to iron ships as the remedy. Our Secretary of the Treasury has again and again referred to the absolute necessity of fostering and reviving our shipping interests. Is there common sense enough in Congress and with the people to appreciate our condition and to apply the remedy so immediately within reach?

—Only two more snow storms and about four weeks of slush and mud, and we can go Maying. Doo dar.

THE STUDY OF THE PLANETS.—No observers of the starlit skies can have failed to recognize during the month of February the beauty of the planets Jupiter and Venus, as, the one in the east, and the other in the west, they reigned supreme among the twinkling lights of the azure canopy.

Many observers, doubtless, looked upon these simply as bright planets without a thought of the changes which were taking place in their movements, relative position, and brilliancy, or of the charming illustration they afforded of the laws which bind together the sun and planets of the solar system. But to the students of astronomy a valuable lesson in planetary history was given on every evening when the bright stars showed their faces.

On the 14th of February, Jupiter reached the point in his course which astronomers call the "Opposition of Jupiter and the Sun." He was then so situated that a straight line drawn from the centre of the sun would pass through the centre of the earth and Jupiter. At that time he was nearest to the earth, being only about 400,000,000 miles distant, while when he is on the opposite side of his orbit, and in conjunction with the sun, he is 590,000,000 miles from the earth. At opposition he rose at sunset, reached the meridian about midnight and set about sunrise, thus affording the most favorable opportunity for observation. He was there also at his period of greatest brilliancy, which will be seen to wane perceptibly during the present month. He will afford during this month a continued illustration of retrograde motion, departing still farther from the star Regulus, until the 17th of April, when he will retrace his path, repassing Regulus in May, and continuing his direct motion till January, 1874. There is no planet of the system whose path is more easily traced, for as his year is equal to about twelve of ours, it takes him about a year to pass through one of the constellations of the Zodiac, and being in Leo this year, he will be found in Virgo next year, and so on.

Equally perceptible changes took place in the movements of Venus. She reached her greatest eastern elongation on the 22d of February, and is now approaching the sun, as may be seen from the fact that she sets earlier every evening. She is coming nearer to the earth as she approaches her inferior conjunction, which she will reach on the 5th of May. She is increasing in brightness, and if it were not the nearer that she comes to the earth the more her darkened side is turned towards us, she would shine like a young moon. She will reach her period of greatest brilliancy on the 29th of this month, when she will be a splendid object to behold.

A third claimant for planetary honors will make his appearance this month in the evening sky. This is the planet Mars, which will rise about nine o'clock on the last part of the month. He is now in the constellation Libra, and is easily recognized by his ruddy light. He is increasing in brightness, and will be a prominent object of interest to astronomers during the month of April, reaching his opposition with the sun on the 26th inst. Telescopes all over the globe will then be in demand to improve the opportunity to examine his ice-bound poles, the storms which agitate his surface, and the clouds that gather in his morning and evening twilight, for he will then be only 50,000,000 miles distant from the earth, and that is but a slight remove in celestial measurements.

A glimpse of the swift-footed planet Mercury is among the starry possibilities for this month. He reached his greatest eastern elongation on the 18th, and was visible on that evening and those preceding and following it. He must be looked for about an hour or an hour and a half after sunset, east of the sun, and directly in his path. It requires patient watching and good eyesight to pick up the fiery planet, but he is wondrously bright and beautiful, and worth the trouble which it costs.

Those who have rare power of vision can trace the planet Uranus among the small stars of Cancer, where it will remain for seven years to come.

Thus all the visible planets except Saturn are now evening stars. Even those who do not comprehend the more complicated motions of the heavenly bodies can easily trace the path of the planets, and soon learn the secret of their movements. Jupiter is rising earlier every evening, receding from Regulus in retrograde motion, and diminishing in brilliancy as he recedes from the earth. Venus is approaching the sun, increasing in brilliancy, and setting earlier every evening. Mars is increasing in brilliancy, approaching the earth and his opposition with the sun. Mercury may be seen for a few evenings, for a short time, in the evening twilight.

Any text book on astronomy will explain the reasons for the planetary movements which we have indicated. Students of astronomy have an advantage over students of many other sciences, for celestial maps are spread out before the eye on every pleasant evening, and thus the knowledge once obtained is always easily reviewed. The study of the planets, as well as being one of the simplest of starry themes, is also one of the most satisfactory, for the planets are our brothers and sisters bound by the same laws, made up of the same constituents, traveling in similar paths, and dependent upon the same great power, whose mighty influence extends as easily over the immense distance that separates it from the uttermost boundary of the solar domain as it does over the comparatively few millions of miles that intervene between it and its nearest attendant, the fiery planet Mercury.—Prov. Journal, March 19th.

BUCHMAN'S PULMONCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

A TRIUMPHANT RECORD.— In glancing back at the history of proprietary medicines in this country, it becomes at once evident that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been the most successful of them all. The records of its triumphs cover a period of about twenty years, and during that time it has probably restored to health and vigor a greater number of debilitated invalids than all other tonics and alteratives combined. The prevention of disease and suffering that has been prevented by its extensive use as a preventive medicine is, of course, unascertainable, but it is a well known and undisputed fact that the malaria which created periodic fevers and many other distressing and dangerous disorders, seldom, if ever, produced any injurious effect upon systems that have been fortified in advance by a course of this invaluable vegetable tonic.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The New York Sons.

A large meeting of the society of Sons of Portsmouth resident in New York and Brooklyn was held at No. 2 Bond Street on Monday evening. Committees on Finance, on Transportation, on Music, and on Conference were appointed. Col. E. R. Goodrich and S. S. Nowell are Committee on Conference and are ready to confer with the home Committee of Arrangements on any matter which may be advanced by their mutual consideration. Negotiations have been made with one of the leading New York city bands, and the indications are that the delegation will number over three hundred, on the Fourth.

The Transportation Committee contemplate chartering a steamer to convey the New York and Brooklyn delegation, (escorting the sons from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington), leaving New York in the morning, and making the trip through the Sound by day, arriving in Portsmouth on Thursday evening.

This in itself will be a novel and attractive feature of the occasion, and be a fitting commencement of the festivities.

The sons and daughters are entering into the return with enthusiasm and its success so far as rests on the division of the metropolis is assured.

Custom House Change.

John Pender, Esq., a deserving young republican and one of the most active party workers in Rockingham county, has been appointed Inspector, Weigher and Gauger for this port in place of Aaron Young, Esq., who after an experience of twelve years in office, once more returns to business life. We are heartily glad of Mr. Pender's good fortune. Though the party has been greatly indebted to him for his pluck and sturdy leadership in the numerous political battles fought in the first Ward, Mr. Pender has been remembered in the disposition of the loaves and fishes only by a brief term of office covering a year and a half, in a minor position at the Navy Yard. Were the wishes of the masses of the party so well met in the disposal of offices as in this instance, therewould be more satisfaction to all. The position is worth $1500 per annum. Mr. Young is to engage in a new business, extensive in its character, and we, in common with all who have known him as one of the most genial of men and kindest of friends, wish him great success and the long continuance of friendly intercourse with those who, knowing him best, best appreciate him.

The Newington Case.

Messrs. Editors:—Some weeks since you published an article respecting a lot of underfed or starving cattle found upon a farm in Newington, about which stories were very current through the city. The substance of that article was the report of police-officer Thomas Entwistle, (who was sent to investigate the case by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals,) confirmed by the testimony of a gentleman living near neighbor to the premises in question. It appears that the suffering condition of the cattle, which is still insisted upon by the officer employed, was not by the knowledge or consent of the owner, who had been absent in in Boston for several weeks; but was caused, partly by the improvidence and carelessness of a negro in charge, and partly by the failure of parties contracted with for hay, to deliver it at the time agreed upon. The lady owning the cattle also states that the stories respecting the starving condition of her stock in the winter of '71 and '72, as told by her hired man to Officer Entwistle and others was wholly untrue, and that the man will be punished for his falsehood. At the time of these reports, Feb. 15, the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals sent a load of hay for use of the cattle, there being none in the barn, until the owner's return. Since then the lady in question has called upon the secretary of the society, Dr. Stevens, made the above explanation, and very honorably and willingly refunded the money advanced by the society. S.

Laconics.

Mr. John Varrell of Rye was thrown from his sleigh on Thursday morning in Market Street and broke one of his ribs besides badly bruising him. His horse became frightened by the slamming of a shutter.

We were somewhat surprised at the opposition made in certain quarters to the republican candidate for Mayor at the recent election. The revelations of the last week, however, show that the Portsmouth & Dover railroad schemers worked for a purpose to secure the election of a man to the Mayoralty whom they could obtain official aid from furthering their plans which are yet kept secret from outside parties. "Next year we'll be all right again," says one of them.

Harry Bloodgood, having been extricated from the mammoth snow-drifts of Western New York, will appear again at the Temple on Friday evening, April 4th.

The Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association has removed to the hall recently occupied as the Republican Headquarters, No. 5 Congress Street. The library will be open next Saturday evening.

The fine new Marshall House, at York Beach, will be conducted by E. S. Marshall & Brother, the coming season. The location is picturesque and historic, and the proprietors courteous gentlemen who know how to keep a hotel.

Two freight trains on the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad collided at Eliot at 10 o'clock, Wednesday night, the conductors thinking each other's train on the side track. The locomotives and several cars were smashed.

Mr. Augustus F. Dixon, who resided on Hanover street, died of small pox on Thursday after a brief illness. It is said he contracted the disease from a friend who came from Boston.

State News.

Concord's board of education was organized with Rev. Elisha Adams, president.

The Exeter Manufacturing Company are to make an addition to their mills 180 feet in length by 73 feet in width, adding 200 looms and 10,000 spindles.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the National Granite State Bank, it was voted to repair the capital of the Bank, —which had been reduced from $100,000 to about $40,000 by the recent defalcation of its cashier, N. Appleton Shute,—by an assessment of sixty dollars upon each share of the capital stock, to be paid by the respective stock-holders on or before the first day of May next. The directors were instructed to enforce the collection of this assessment, as also the bond of $20,000 against the late cashier and his sureties. The vote stood 656 yeas to 18 nays.

The selectmen of all the towns in Cheshire county are to meet in Keene this week to adopt a uniform system for taking the real estate invoice, as the new law provides that a new assessment, independent of all former ones, shall this year be made.

The annual report of the treasurer of the Robinson Female Seminary for the past year shows the receipts to have been $17,590 42, and the expenditures $16,012 14, leaving a cash balance in the hands of the treasurer of $1578 28.

The project of the Exeter and Salisbury Railroad is not abandoned. An application has been made to the Massachusetts legislature to extend the charter. It is designed to extend the road to Epping, thus connecting Newburyport with the New Hampshire roads. The counsel for the extension said that the building of this road had been considered so important that in its aid Newburyport had voted $75,000, Exeter $50,000, Salisbury $25,000, and amounts by other towns.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers; if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

To provide means for this magnificent Concert, One Hundred Thousand Whole Tickets only will be issued.

Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 orders.

The proceeds of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the enlargement and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most eminent citizens of the United States. The sale of tickets has already begun, and orders for the complete concert are assured, and buyers are thereby assisted that they must order at once if they desire to secure a share in the gifts.

The management of this undertaking has been entrusted by the trustees to Hon. Thos. F. Kennedy, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom communications pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed.

E. P. DUKESTEY, Pres't.

W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice Pres't.

JOHN S. CAIN, Sec'y Public Library of Ky.

FRANK HAYS AND DUTTON FRANK, Trea's.

As the time for the Concert is close at hand (April 8th), parties wanting tickets should send their orders immediately, as they will avoid the rush and delay absolutely unavoidable in the few days preceding the drawing. All orders and applications for agencies, circulars and information, will meet with prompt attention. THOS. E. BLAKEY, Agent Public Library, Kentucky, Louisville, Ky.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the other Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than it has, as affidavit. By the mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,969.53. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to the business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in the advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lagulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure only eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; tranquilize the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distracting pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no cold or potash compounding, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Salve is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the secret instep, the largest and severest Bunions, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. WHERE NEXT?—There is something fearfully startling in the recent intelligence from the Isles of Shoals; irrespective of its being the announcement of a dark crime. We are accustomed to talk of murder stalking abroad, and though shocked, are not surprised at hearing of its bloody deeds, where the multitude and consequently where crime are packed close and the fiercest and vilest passions are always rampant. Then on the frontiers of civilization, far away from settlements, unreached by restraint, where lawlessness and recklessness have sent their hardened disciples, human life is held cheap and its taking-off is an almost daily experience. But here is a wild, solitary place, given over to the elements; a place no one would care to seek in mid-winter; a place it is strange anybody would be willing to live in for any purpose except to watch the waves in their moods, and drink in the invigorating air of the ocean;—and even to that place the devil of greed persuades a human being to go by stealth and sell his soul for a few dollars by slaying defenceless women!

In this is strangest tragedy, which imagination alone can picture; and therefore to imagination it must be left. In horrid details it is not, unfortunately, peculiar. In the working out of a depraved nature, it has too many companion pieces. But the scene and the surroundings of the deed fascinate and terrify like an awful mystery or a nightmare. Who would have thought of such a horrible calamity in such a locality?

Tell of the lashing tempest; tell of the wreck and the drowning; tell of isolation, gloom, loneliness; tell of anything that lies in it the perils of the sea or the fate that puts so strangely two or three persons outside of all the bustle and change and even the criminalities of tumultuous life, and the story can be comprehended. But when the solitary and waste island, with only a single family enduring existence thereon, is visited by a homicide so wholly undreamed of, those barren and rocky acres are surely the last stage that would be selected for a murder.—Boston Transcript.

In the same train of reflections with the above, we copy the following from the Portsmouth correspondent of the New York Herald, who is alluding to this brutal tragedy, and the fact that the bodies of the unfortunate women were removed from the little desert island for burial, and services held in "the quaintly beautiful and historic old church" whence the body of the gallant Farragut was also laid in the tomb,—this moralizes; These "murders most foul" were perpetrated on one of the historic group of Islands now called "Shoals," but which Sir John Smith discovered and named for himself; and on another of which, at Gosport, stands a monument to him erected by a kindly hand, surmounted by the traditional three Turks' heads which Smith cut off—which triple feat of death came so near being enacted in dead earnest, in all save its chivalry, on the adjacent island just now. After stating that the plates on the coffins bore simply the names and ages, and date of decease, and that the services at church consisted of the regular ritual for burial —"only this, and nothing more;" no allusion to the manner in which the poor unprotected creatures were called to meet "the tremendous necessity, death;" no recital of "the deep damnation of their taking-off," he proceeds, "Ah! well, there is not need of it, the full record is made above—and all the angels in heaven must have shrieked aghast at the inhuman butchery; all the fiends in earnate rejoiced thereat. Better it could be forgot on earth.

And better, more fitting than aught else—that these mutilated bodies should be buried in the soil redeemed with their warm life blood, on that little isle of the ocean; with no service but the moaning of the winds and the swash of the waves; where the deep-sounding sea would sing an eternal requiem when calm, and the shrieking storm-king in his mad moods, lash the howling stones in fury at memory of the dead; while the glaring suns and dodging rains of ages might vainly strive to obliterate the stain.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1873.

Crime and its Prevention.

Two young roughs, only seventeen years old, recently assaulted and maltreated a man in a New York street car, (terrifying the other passengers by brandishing knives,) and finally robbed him. For this crime, within a week of its commission, they were sentenced to fifteen years each in the penitentiary, with hard labor. Not many days later another young rough (who though only twenty years old was already a notorious thief and career loafer,) was also sentenced to fifteen years of penal servitude for stealing a small sum of money from a lady in the street, the sentence following immediately on the commission of the offence. Punishment so severe, treading closely upon the heels of crime, must have a salutary influence upon the classes most likely to commit such deeds,—much greater than even a heavier sentence would have, if imposed long after the crime was committed. It is not merely the just severity of the punishment inflicted for any offence against the laws which will go to deter men from the commission of such offences, nor the certainty that such punishment will be inflicted; it is quite as essential that the law should be prompt in its action, for it to have its full effect in protecting society by repressing crime. When the New York rough becomes assured that if he commits a robbery with violence to-day he will be in prison on a long sentence a week hence, the sickening record of such crimes in that city will rapidly shrink in dimensions.

In striking contrast with the foregoing instances of sudden retribution are the cases of Foster and Stokes, and the scores of other murderers now awaiting trials in the New York jails. It was but a few weeks less than two years from the time of Mr. Putnam's murder to the execution of his murderer; and in the meantime the murderer was transformed into a hero by a wide spread, mawkish sentimentality, which led merchants and clergymen, and even the widow of the murdered man, to pray for the life of the murderer. Happily, the governor of New York showed himself the right man in the right place, in that instance at least: Foster paid the tardy penalty of his crime, and the men who have considered murder but a pastime will be less likely to indulge in that pastime, for his execution; but how much more impressive would the lesson have been had he been punished two months after the murder was committed, instead of two years!

A religious paper, commenting on Foster's execution, says "no punishment is permissable except it looks to the reformation of the criminal." This is absurd; penal laws are for the protection of society from criminals, and not for revenge upon, or the reformation of, anybody. Reforming all the criminals would be the best and cheapest way of protecting society, no doubt, but it cannot be done by statute. So far as murderers or other criminals are concerned, we cannot see that the question as to what is best for them should be taken into account at all; the only question to be considered is, "what disposition of these criminals will be most likely to deter other bad men from following their example?" Honest men have rights; criminals, as such, have none whatever.

An eminent English jurist once laid down as an axiom that "it is not the severity of pun shment for crime, but the certainty of punishment, which is effective in repressing offences against the laws." We opine that for the punishment to be adequate to the offence committed is quite as essential as for it to be certain and speedy. If a chicken thief was assured that he would have to pay five dollars for each chicken he stole, he would soon go out of the business; but a horse thief would laugh at such a penalty, were it ever so sure and speedy, as he could pay a dozen such fines from the proceeds of one crime.

A large proportion of the community are opposed to the death penalty in any case; and doubtless many great criminals escape all punishment for their misdeeds, through the repugnance of better men to having anything to do with the taking of human life. It will be remembered that seven of the jurymen who convicted Foster, swore that they would not have convicted him had they believed such a verdict would have resulted in his execution. If the abolition of the death penalty and the substitution for it of imprisonment for life would increase the certainty of punishment for murder, and thereby give increased protection to the lives of honest men, then honest men would do well to abolish the death penalty; as to whether hanging or imprisonment would be most agreeable to murderers, honest men need not trouble themselves to enquire.

Readables.

W. M. Tweed has resigned his seat in the New York senate.

"In Jefferson, the wind demolished a barn, took the roof from another, and moved one end of the Town House three inches.

A daughter and son of a farmer named Shortess and a son of a neighbor named Wadell were burned to death near Read's Landing, Minn., March 23, having been encircled by a prairie fire.

The steamship Vanderbilt was sold by auction at the Mare Island navy yard, to George Howes & Co. of San Francisco, for $42,000, currency.

Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, says the report that he is going to fight a duel with Hon. Mr. Chrisman of the Kentucky Senate, is quite correct. He adds: "We have ordered a coffin with a chimney to it, for Chrisman, and written an obituary. The obituary is mighty interesting reading."

The Biddeford Journal says the reduction from the price of single tickets from Boston to Portland on the Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads, is in packages of twenty-five—not 25 per cent. on each ticket.

Families residing on the line of the B. & M. extension would like to have the engineers on the road see that the wheels of their cars are properly oiled, as the squeaking keeps said families awake o'nights.

The Biddeford Journal, published by J. E. Butler, one of the ablest and most successful editors in the State, is a worthy representative of the thrift and enterprise of the city.—Lewiston Journal.

You are right, Bro. Dingley.

We know of no public man who is growing in public esteem faster than Gen. Hawley, member of Congress from Connecticut. The country has need of such men, firm in their convictions of right and duty. Gen. Hawley's defeat for U. S. Senator gave the lower house an incorruptible member, who it is hoped may leaven the unhealthy elements therein.

SUING FOR DAMAGES.—In Hartford the great suit of Brown agt. Rood has just been decided. It must have been something of a case, for it took three days to try it. Brown sued Rood for "malicious prosecution," and declared on two counts: 1. That Rood had prosecuted him maliciously in a civil suit; 2. That he had done the same wicked thing in a criminal case. The jury went out, and having thought over the matter came back, and upon their oaths declared that Brown ought to pay Rood ten cents, and that Rood ought to pay Brown ten cents.

—An Ohio paper tells about a brave little boy who found a broken rail on the railroad track, and perceiving the peril in which the train would be placed if it should come dashing past without warning, sat out on the fence for five long hours in the bitter cold, in order that he might carry the first news of the accident to his father, who is local editor of a paper published in the neighboring village.

THE MARR CLAIM.—Members of the Marr family throughout New England, to the number of fifty, assembled at the parlors of the United States Hotel in this city, yesterday morning, for the purpose of forming an association to recover certain property in Scotland, which, it is claimed, is rightly theirs by inheritance. The meeting was called to order by Mr. John C. Marr of Corinth. Mr. Marr was chosen chairman, and Mr. Amos S. Foster of Portsmouth, N. H., was chosen Secretary. The objects of the meeting were then declared to be first, to ascertain if the heirs of the Marr claim will give written instructions to Edward Payson, Esq., of this city, (now in Europe on business connected with the Horsham claim) authorizing him to make an examination of all records and other papers which have a bearing upon the matter, and to prosecute the claim; second, to provide means to defray the necessary charges which will attend the prosecution of the claim.

Mr. Knight of Auburn, who has been employed in the claim business in England for fifteen years, made some remarks in regard to the proper method to be followed in the prosecution of this claim. It was voted to accept the services of Mr. Payson, which have recently been offered, and to form a permanent organization to be called "The Marr Claim Association."

Benjamin F. Marr of Alna, William Trickey of Saccarappa, and J. M. Pease of Cornish, were constituted a committee to raise funds to defray the expenses attending the establishment of the claim. John C. Marr, of Cornish, was elected Treasurer. He was also constituted a committee to visit Mr. Parker of Gloucester, with the purpose of securing certain valuable papers supposed to be in his possession.

Amos S. Foster, John C. Marr and William Trickey were constituted a committee to draw up a set of instructions for the use of Mr. Payson. The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the officers.

The property in question is situated in Scotland, on the River Doe, and is said to be worth $60,000,000. The Marr family in New England claim to be descendants of one John Marr, who is supposed to have settled in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1717. They claim that John Marr was a son of John Erskine, Earl of Marr, who flourished as an advocate of the Pretender in 1715. There appears to be no evidence to substantiate this, or the claim to heirship if the descent be proved.—Portland Press, 27th.

State News.

The Concord Monitor, referring to the recent rigmarole published in the Lyre regarding the defence of Wagner, says:

It should be understood, however, that the paper inclines to the side of the defence, and its statements may not, therefore, be altogether impartial.

The town of Peterborough, at the late election, instructed the selectmen to enforce the liquor law and raised $1000 for the purpose.

Claremont voted to pay engine men a sum not exceeding twenty-five cents an hour for actual service at fires, the amount to be determined by the selectmen; and the engine that gets to a fire first, ready for work, to receive a premium of ten dollars at each fire.

The State prison is now upon a paying basis, whereas before it was a source of continual loss to the State, and required annual appropriations to meet its demands.

The editor of the Nashua Telegraph is informed by Sergeant-at-arms Ordway that all three of the Democratic Representatives from this State have drawn their share of the salary steal.

—The conundrum of a correspondent as to whether a boy shovelling with his right hand next to the blade of the shovel was right or left-handed, has been referred to a committee of one—the only left-handed person in any sense in our establishment—and he decides that the boy is left-handed; he knows how it is himself, and that is the way he shovels—with this qualification, that the paths he shovels are mostly shovelled by proxy. Ask any right-handed person to hoe a hill of corn, and you will see at once that he will place his left hand nearest the blade of the hoe, unless, indeed, it be some city fellow who does not know a hoe from a halberd. We are speaking now of the normal, healthy, natural and sensible man, the countryman.—Providence Journal.

—The announcement that Col. Andrew H. Young is to be retained as Collector of Internal Revenue for this district is received with great satisfaction, not only by his personal friends but by his fellow citizens everywhere throughout the district. Col. Young has managed his office heretofore with marked ability and faithfulness. He is one of our most enterprising and public-spirited men, and has shown himself efficient and true to every trust reposed in him. We congratulate the district on his retention in office. No man has done better service to the republican party or is more worthy of its confidence or rewards.—Dover Enquirer.

—The Samana Bay Company has adopted a flag and seal. The colors of the former are blue, red and white, and the device of the seal includes figures of Columbus and Liberty, with the inscription "Onward," and the name of the company.

—Says the Phrenological Journal: "The grave questions for the Shakers to settle are: What is truth? What is the will of God? If he had intended them to live barren lives, would he have created them male and female?"

ARE YOU OPEN TO CONVICTION? If so, you cannot doubt, from the testimony laid before the public, that Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar will cure coughs, colds, and all controllable diseases of the lungs and throat, when all other pulmonics have failed. Crittenton's, 8 6th Avenue. Sold by all Druggists.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement W. B. Lord, Agent.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

☞ Never satisfied with merely doing well, the Messrs. Rice of the American House, Boston, are constantly adding every improvement that shall tend to keep their hotel in the front rank that has long been conceded it.

The huge, drastic, griping, sickening pills, constructed of crude, coarse and bulky ingredients, are fast being superceded by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellet, or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules—the "Little Giant" Cathartic or medium in parvo Physic. Modern Chemical Science enables Dr. Pierce to extract from the juices of the most valuable roots and herbs their active medicinal principles, which, when worked into little Pellets or Granules—scarcely larger than mustard seed, renders each little Pellet as active and powerful as a large pill, while they are much more palatable and pleasant in effect. 25 cents a vial, by Druggists. 672

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Buchman's Pulmocine, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

THE Inhabitants of the City of Portsmouth are hereby required to exhibit to the assessors of said City a just and true account of their Polls and Estates, ratable by law, on or before the eighth day of April next.

All persons who do not comply with the above requirement in handing in an inventory of their ratable estate, and making oath to the same may not expect any abatement.

The Assessors, or any Justice of the Peace, or the City Clerk, are proper persons to administer the oath; and each individual making his inventory, shall have an endorsement on the same, certifying that it has been duly sworn to, and the same to be handed to one of the Assessors, or left with their Secretary at the City Clerk's Office, on or before the said eight day of April next.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Firemen's "Strike."

Our local evening contemporary, in its issue of March 27, furiously assailed "this man Creswell," who is Postmaster General of the United States, because newspaper reports say he threatens to use force to compel the railroads to run postal cars at a losing rate of compensation. Our neighbor foams at the mouth over Mr. Creswell's reported threat to "interfere with the rights of private companies," and gives him and his "understrappers" terrible warnings of what they may expect if they assume "imperial airs." As for ourselves, we do not believe the government has power, it it has the will, to compel any railroad to run postal cars except at the railroad's price; but we don't see the use of getting so angry until we are certain there is something to be angry about.

In the same issue our contemporary talks of a "strike" among the Portsmouth firemen, "as soon as the newly elected city government shall be sworn in," the object being to get their pay raised from $15 to $50. [Incidentally, the paper makes its regular monthly assault upon the chief engineer of the fire department; but this is chronic, so nobody will wonder at it.] The firemen are complimented for the manner in which they have done their work in the past, but are warned that the probable result of their "strike" will be the organization of a volunteer fire department, and that "members of this volunteer force would be made special police without pay and any efforts on the part of the strikers to interfere with the workings of the newly organized department would be promptly punished." Now we had not previously heard a word of any "strike" among the firemen; but even supposing they should refuse to serve after the 1st of April, at their present rate of compensation, we cannot see why they have not as much right to so refuse as the railroads have to refuse to run postal cars for less than their own prices. The members of the fire department are not owned by the city, and as the time for which they agreed to serve at the rate of $15 per year expires on the first Monday in April, we cannot see anything desperately wicked in their then refusing to sign over again, if their pay is not satisfactory. As to a volunteer fire department, we do not believe in it, nor do we believe one could be raised in this city, or held together three months if it was once organized; it is not easy to procure men enough to fill the department at $15 per year, and taking away all compensation would certainly not mend the matter.

Laconics.

Regarding the recent collision of freight trains on the P. S. & P. R. R., the Biddeford Times says the up and down freights had orders to pass at Eliot Depot. The down freight, drawn by the "Mousam," arrived there first, and awaited the up train. Instead of going on the side track the engineer kept his train on the main track. About 10 o'clock the up train, drawn by the "Berwick" came in quite slow and observed the "Mousam" but supposed her to be on the side track. The engineer on the "Mousam," who supposed the "Berwick," would go on the side track, when he saw her coming down upon him, reversed his engine and started his train backward just as the "Berwick" struck his engine. No one was injured and no car smashed, but both engines had their front works stove. The "Berwick" was pretty badly injured but the other was able to bring her through.

"Kent" of the Boston Traveller, writes that a curious instance of the effect of a man's conscience upon his dealings with his fellows has recently been exhibited in this city. Something like thirty years ago, a merchant here failed in business and settled with his creditors for sixty cents on a dollar, afterwards emigrating to the West. Nothing was heard of him until last week, when a letter bearing the postmark of a town in Texas was received by a gentleman in Portsmouth, containing a check for $6000. This sum, said the letter, comprised the entire balance of forty per cent., which would make the liquidation of the old debt complete, at the rate of one dollar for one hundred cents.

In the case of John Stack vs. the City of Portsmouth, carried up on a question of law, the verdict allowing Stack damages to the amount of $750 is sustained by the full bench.

Trafton & Co. are making extensive arrangements for accommodating their customers with the increased Spring trade, intending to put on more express teams and help. They will shortly begin to distribute the price currents of Boston markets each evening. They are the only agents for the New York and Boston Dispatch Company, and by promptness in obtaining and delivering goods they hope for a large increase of business.

The distribution of 1200 fine pictures, by J. B. Burleigh & Co., advertised for Monday evening next, offers a chance never before known here to secure good paintings and chromos.

Mrs. N. J. Willis of Cambridgeport will lecture at the hall lately known as "Republican Headquarters" to-morrow afternoon and evening; subject for the afternoon: "The signs of the times;" evening: "Life in the Spirit World." The public are cordially invited.

The new uniform of the Drum Corps is on exhibition at Terhune & Berry's on Congress Street. The dress is Zouave style and consists of a blue jacket with orange trimmings, red pants with orange stripes out he sides and white leggings. The cap is army style, trimmed with orange cord, with white plume tipped with red. They are ready for action and will make a fine appearance.

The amount of money to be raised in Manchester by taxation for the present year will be $293,000. The savings bank tax for that city will amount to about $30,000, and the railroad tax will amount to $11,000.

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the petition of John H. Morrill for lease of the engine house on Pleasant street was granted, at such rent as the Mayor may think proper; and the engine now in the building was ordered to be stored in the arsenal.

It was voted to exempt from taxation, for the term of three years, the tools, machinery and stock of Sweetser & Clark, at Clark's Iron Foundry.

A number of bills were ordered to be paid, among them bill of Rob't Shillaber, $441, and of J. W. Peirce and Wm. S. Willey, $55, for sheep killed by dogs.

The Board voted to pay the following amounts as compensation in full to the claimants for loss of property, etc., on account of small-pox: Daniel Mason, $137.50; Isaac H. Farr, $50; Charles Ham, $50; Elisha Tripp, $25.61; A. A. Payne $49.67; John J. Grogan, $84.50; B. F. Walker, $44; Patrick Bates, $111; John Stokell, $107.95; John L. Rice, $68; Mrs. Olive Ham, $200.

A vote of thanks to the Mayor was passed and the Board adjourned.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—In the case of Leonard Studley vs. J. K. Baker, et al.—a libel for salvage, just concluded in the Massachusetts court, a decree was rendered for the libellant for $200 and costs. It will be recollected that the libellant in this suit was the mate of the schooner Harriet Gardner, owned by the defendant; that at the time the U. S. S. Guerriere left this port with the remains of Admiral Farragut on board, she ran aground on a dangerous shoal in Vineyard Sound, the above-named schooner with other vessels assisting in getting the frigate afloat. The government of the United States awarded the schooner $3500, and the libellant now sued to recover a portion of it, alleging that he was entitled to be paid for salvage services. The defendants denied the jurisdiction of the court, and that the services rendered were salvage services, and alleged that the money was paid by the United States for the services of the vessel only. Hon. Gilman Marston was counsel for the libellant. The case excited considerable interest.

—City Marshal Frank B. Johnson is deserving of much credit for the active interest he has taken in the Wagner case, since the moment he was informed of this "murder most foul." It was mainly through his efforts that Wagner was captured, having first "winded" him at early morn of the 6th, thence following him up to the moment he took the train to Boston, and afterward to the man's haunts in North Street. This information imparted to Chief of Police Savage, together with a general description, and photograph of Wagner, led to his arrest by that officer and his posse, in the identical place where Mr. Johnson stated he was, our official not deeming it prudent to put in an appearance there for fear of exciting the suspicions of the criminal, who was taken entirely unawares, owing to the quiet yet effective manner Mr. Johnson had worked up the case. Chief of Police Savage and his aids are deserving of much credit for their valuable services.

—A pair of heavy boots which Wagner had on when he landed at Newcastle, were taken to the spot where Mrs. Campbell stated she saw the person answering to the descriptions given her. They were found to exactly fit the tracks in the snow which Wagner was obliged to cross in order to gain his temporary hiding place near this lady's home. After remaining there for a short time Wagner was seen to slowly creep away some distance, and afterwards to mount a rock for a few moments and look around, probably to find his whereabouts, to see which road to take, and if the coast was clear.

—Portsmouth has been particularly fortunate during the past twelve months in the small numbers of fires. Still it behooves all property owners to use that constant vigilance which insures the price of exception. A large fire would seriously disarrange the water supply of our city, and doubtless cause much trouble. The subject of increasing the water power was left in the hands of the Board of Trade some months ago. They have not reported yet.

—Capt. John Stokell has signified to Chief Marshal William H. Sise, his intention to organize a company of cavalry for duty next July 4th. Efforts have begun thus early for raising a large company of "Antiques and Horribles," for an early morning parade. It will be recollected that the fantastics of '53 were one among the many "features" of that time, causing great merriment in the many good points represented. Will not the parade for '73 be made even superior to that?

—Hon. E. A. Stevens, who resides in Malden, when a resident here was earnest, influential and useful in church as well as State matters; and in his new home is doing good work as a lay preacher, taking his turn with others in conducting services at a mission church in that vicinity. A few weeks since he delivered a fine Sunday evening discourse at the Congregational Chapel in this city, taking for his text, "Speak to the children of Israel, that they go forward!"

—Dr. Strong will remain in town to administer his Sulphur Baths, but a short time longer—and those who need them, should improve the opportunity. These Baths are a pleasant and safe remedial agent for many, perhaps all diseases; and the pleasant old doctor will tell you true of many a wonderful cure. See his advertisement, and call soon.

—An exquisite Easter cross of wax, the work of Mrs. Samuel Lamprey, is on exhibition at Foster's book-store. The many varieties of delicately tinted flowers, so gracefully twined around the marble-like cross, presents a picture at once beautiful and ennobling, reflecting much credit upon the talented lady who conceived it.

—The Old Sexton, Mr. Robert Bell, of this city, who had "gathered them in," so many and so long, was himself gathered to his fathers the past week. He had been so closely housed from public view by decrepitude, for years, that many supposed him long since gone where "the ivy green" twineth.

—The award of Burleigh & Co's great Picture sale will be made at the Franklin House on Monday evening next. Whoever buys any ticket, will receive a good picture; but the lucky ones will get oil paintings and chromos worth from $5 to $125; see advertisement.

—The new City government will be inaugurated Tuesday morning next, at the Court House. The new Board of Assessors has organized by choosing R. K. Oxford, Chairman, and M. Bufford, Clerk. Probably most of the present city officers will be re-elected by the Councils.

—The house on Richards Avenue occupied by James D. Butler, Esq., caught fire from a defective chimney Monday morning, the flames beginning to make good headway when discovered. It was put out without an alarm by Mr. Butler, who worked with a broken wrist, but with his whole heart.

—Last year the month of March was the coldest March in half a century. The South Pond did not break up until near the middle of April. Just now we are reminded that Jack Frost hovers lovingly about, reluctant to take his final departure for other regions.

—The Episcopalians and Unitarians will make fine flower displays on Easter Sunday, April 13. Confirmation will be administered at St. John's church. The music at the Unitarian church will be elaborate, and arranged expressly for the occasion.

—As Mr. Newton Johnston of this city, was boring a hole with a bit, a few days since, the stock slipped, and striking him on the breast, started a rib or two, from which he is quite lame.

—Rev. Mrs. Fannie E. Roberts, of Dover, will commence her pastoral labors with the Universalist society at Kittery, next Sunday.

—Is there a worse piece of sidewalk in any prominent position in our city, than that extending below the Rockingham Bank to State Street?

—Hon. William H. Y. Hackett it is hoped will consent to act as orator of the day on the occasion of the return of the Sons next July 4th.

—The Christian Church at Rye have voted unanimously to continue their pastor, the Rev. Alvah H. Morrill, another year.

RUTH BLAY.—The width of a gulf which a single life may bridge over, was shown in the case of a Mrs. Eastman, who died in Conway, in 1867, at the age of 105. Just ninety-nine years before, Ruth Blay, a young school mistress, was executed at Portsmouth "for concealing the birth of her child, so that it might not come to light whether it was born alive or not." The poor woman was sentenced to death, but it being evident that the child was dead when born, the Royal Governor granted a reprieve. The Sheriff was in a hurry for his dinner, however, and would not wait until the result of the application for executive clemency was known. Soon after all was over, the pardon arrived, and the Sheriff came near being lynched by the people.

The arrest of the unfortunate Ruth was occasioned by the discovery of the child's corpse by two of the little scholars. One of them was the Mrs. Eastman, whose name we have given above, who was six years of age when she became the unintentional cause of the death of her mistress. The foregoing is a remarkable instance by its close, but is by no means a solitary one, and proves that the "dark ages" witnessed, which the events of antiquity are handed down to a remote posterity, need not be a long one.—Exeter News Letter.

Hon. John Lynch, late member of Congress from Maine, having had a grand reception at Portland, the question arises, what sin has he committed? If he has been a good representative his constituents are unkind to throw a suspicion upon his character in that way.—Boston Herald.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxyde of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an easy digestible, palatable, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Element, Iron, which "giveth life a thousand fold," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood then carries every part of the body, repairing damages and wasts, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed on.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Dysentery, Loss of Coast, Internal Viper, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life to every part of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, nervous, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,203.35. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commission to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine" so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL, HOOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulins, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the heart, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so uniformly successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain and misery produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or polish compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and delicate, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Pinched Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Collections on the soles or heels of the feet, unequaled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely sure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Piles Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TRIPPENEY, Kittery; E. S. SAYFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 705 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary.

The Chronicle.

LAST WORDS OF GREAT MEN.—It is one of the sensational sayings of Dr. Johnson that the gist of a story lies in its truth.

Historians and biographers generally afford us palpable evidence of the appalling significance attending the "last words" of most of our once great men, interlarded with such incidents and trite sayings as really seemed most appropriate to them.

These writers have—it seemed to me—even been prolific in invention.

The heroic and melodramatic speech put into the mouth of Cambronne, at Waterloo, for instance:—"The guard dies, but never surrenders!"—is a startling instance of what these historians will oftentimes sacrifice for truth.

What Cambronne did say, when summoned to surrender by the beefeating Englishers, was uttered with frozen contempt, and was really to the effect that "The enemy lies, and so does Mrs. Johnson!"

That was what Cam said, in the presence of our respectable reporter, who sagaciously took it down on the spot.

The last hours and parting words of truly great men afford a topic of perennial interest to mankind, and perhaps this may help to account for the number of striking sentences and sententious sayings attributed to the dying.

There was Byron—everybody knew "By." Well, Byron said, just as he was about to expire, "I must sneeze it out," and we all know how faithfully he kept his word.

Daniel Webster's last "best thing" was, "I am here, like a pig's foot—staunch and true!"

These words were, perhaps, Daniel's most memorable one, and it is a noteworthy fact and a source of consolation to his friends that he was always there when he was wanted!

Canning's "last words" were, "Give me time—three days' grace!" "Can" relinquished his "best" with marvellous submission.

Goethe's last call was for "Light—more mud!" and then Goethe got right up and "dusted."

Rabelais exclaimed on his death bed:—"The farce is played out!" and "out" went Rabelais on the very first "base."

Schlegel, they say, died with the word haber on his lips; but it is certainly doubtful whether he would have or there or not.

Pitt's heart was broken at Austerlitz, and what did Pitt say? "Save the pieces!"

Locke's "last words" were, "Life is a conundrum!" and Locke incontinently "gave it up!"

Let us, then, gaze with benevolent rapture on what John Adams said. "I've got a king full!" and it is well known how John "drew out" when he found himself "busted."

Henry VIII., of England, being given over to his physicians, very naturally exclaimed, "I am lost; I am lost!" and then corked their phials—by expiring!

Hobbes, just before his last breath, exclaimed, "I'm about to leap into space; I can lay over Sam Patch, on the bounce!" and away went Hobbes' soul into ethereal mildness. Hobbes was a trifle "slangy."

Gasendi said considerable before he died—in fact, "Gass" had devoted the best portion of his valuable life in ringing the changes on "last words." But "Gass" was hardly equal to the occasion when he exclaimed, "I know what brought me into the world, but it was always a mystery to me to know what good it ever did me in remaining!" This was weak in "Gass."

The last words of great soldiers are often quoted, although not always properly.

Those of General Wolfe, at the siege of Quebec, on hearing in his last moments the exclamation, "See how they run!" were, "I see it with a 'flush'—what have you got?" and the General secured the coin.

The French General Montcalm, the antagonist of Wolfe, having lost all his "chips," merely exclaimed, "Dead broke!" and died with a broken heart. But Monte was "game" to the last, and "passed out" without a flicker.

The last words of Nelson were, "Thank God; I have paid the duty!" and the next day the Custom House gave him his "clearance."

Napoleon, at St. Helena—where he had a fine opportunity to study up "last words"—hardly did himself justice when he exclaimed:—"Head of the Army!" instead of the head and tail of the corps; which would not have individualized any portion of the army! Here we have another instance that best "last words" are generally said on the spur of the moment, and not always on reflection!

When Calanus ascended the burning funeral pile, and Alexander, the great circus man, asked him if he was in need of anything, he significantly said he "only wanted time to contract with Woodward's Fire King to take his place!" That was a "red hot" answer of Calanus', and proved him equal to the occasion.

Sir Thomas Moore—who is now no more—went to execution, remarking that the scaffold on which he was to perish

"was too weak, and, if he had it about him, he would 'take cathis' a little stronger!"

This was the last favor Thomas ever asked for, and he got it right back of the ear with interest. There was nothing penurious or mean about Thomas.

Anne Boleyn demanded of her executioner if he was master of the "situation," and replied that she "used to run a Grover and Baker, and knew all about em!"

The Earl of Chesterfield was too polite to draw his last breath in company, and so his "last words" were never recorded.

Many other great men have said fair things in transits, but they were either ashamed of them and said them so low nobody could hear them, or, they were not of sufficient importance to diverge to an enlightened and discriminating public.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1873.

DARWIN ANTICIPATED:—But for the antiquity of the fabulous dialogue which follows—M. Lavour, a Frenchman, averring that he has the original manuscript, more than 250 years old, which contains it—we might regard the same as a fresh and admirably constructed satire on Darwinism. The dialogue purports to have taken place between St. Dominick, canon of Osma, early in the thirteenth century, and a flea (puice). The story goes that the flea, after persevering efforts to draw blood from the saint's nose without finding any, at last tumbled, in an exhausted condition, on the book which Dominick was reading. The saint slammed his book together to make an end of the intruder, but, instead of that, puice entered into conversation with the canon, claiming to be the father of fleas, and professing to have learned all about the beginning of man from "the records of the Dead Sea apes." At first, it is narrated, the canon was sceptical; but when the prisoner assured him that "without fleas man would return to the taboon state of his original barbarism," more attention was paid to the flea, when this dialogue ensued:

Pul.—The fleas, though carnivorous, are not ungrateful, like the lions. They cultivate the soil that feeds them. There is one tribe, which is indigenous to the apes, never bite like the vampires, without pain, but always take care that itching should follow their puncture.

Dom.—Thou fool! Callest thou that benefiting the race?

Pulx—Of course, for then the ape must scratch.

Dom.—What, then, but to irritate their tempers and bring them nearer to perdition?

Pul.—No, but to make them amiable by making them sociable. For they found that where two or three were gathered together scratching proceeded more expeditiously, and two or three could not be gathered together nor associate upon terms without some of those mutual forbearances and self-repressions which are summed up under the term amiability.

Dom.—Granted. But none the less monkeys they for all their grinning and chattering.

Pul.—Aye, but with the multiplication of the means of scratching came a loss of hair.

Dom.—So the poor apes must shiver in the night wind to accommodate the rancorous fleas.

Pul.—No; but the loss of hair constrained the apes to cast about for shelter, and made them build huts, since they could not emigrate to these warmer climates where their kinsmen still remain apes.

Dom.—Is there more of this paradox, Pulex?

Pul.—There is more. The apes had to go abroad from their huts in pursuit of food. The sense of cold constrained them to seek clothing. To obtain clothing it was necessary to have the skins of animals. But the pursuit of animals could not be successfully carried on without weapons; the slaughter of animals tended toward flesh eating; so came war, tribal unions, government, taxes, civilization—all the result of a flea-bite! So that man may be said to be the final cause of the fleas.

PATTERSON'S DEFENCE.—The New York Tribune says:—

Senator Anthony's proposition to allow Mr. Patterson of New Hampshire to make an explanation is fair enough, but his resolution to print that statement as part of the official record of the Senate is something extraordinary. It would be allowing a private citizen to make a speech in the Senate. We have nothing now to do with the unfortunate circumstances which have debarred Mr. Patterson from the privilege of being heard on the floor of the Senate in his own defence. Whoever is to blame therefor, the case is closed in the Senate as effectually as though ten years, instead of a few weeks, had passed since Mr. Patterson ceased to be a Senator of the United States. But the defence which Mr. Patterson has prepared, if we may judge from the extracts which we print to-day, would not help him nor justify the dignity of the Senate if it were printed. We have had two or three statements already from the same pen; this last is no improvement on the unfortunates which have gone before.

State News.

Evans, the Northwood murderer, has undergone a considerable change, physically, since his incarceration in the New Hampshire State Prison. Instead of the infirmity which marked his walk and speech when he came there, he now appears as vigorous and active as any of the prisoners, and ascends the stairs to his cell without supporting himself by the iron rails as he formerly attempted to do. He is allowed no communication with any one except the officers, and is given no opportunity to indulge his passion for cant and psalm-singing.

While a boy named Lavison was sweeping in the spinning-room of No. 3 mill, at the print works in Manchester, Thursday forenoon, he was caught between the jack and the carriage, and so badly injured that he lived only a few minutes. He was twelve years of age.

Ex-Governor Berry built a tannery at Bristol, in 1826. It took twelve barrels of cider and one barrel of rum to build it, and three extra gallons to put the ridgepole on. The result was there was so much spirit infused into the undertaking that it culminated in a fight, and one man had his leg broken. Upon this Governor B. formed a temperance society among the employees of the tannery, and has kept it up ever since. This is said to have been the first temperance society formed in the State of New Hampshire.

A Concord dog recently made his director off a lace handkerchief which a lady dropped upon the sofa, having previously swallowed a pair of gloves and tried his best to get down a pair of gaiters.

Mr. William F. Fernald of Rochester, recently telegraph clerk in the superintendent's office of the Boston and Maine railroad, has received an appointment as station agent at Old Orchard Beach, on the new extension. He is a brother to Mr. Ed. Fernald, editor of the Great Falls Journal.

The store of Mr. Nathaniel Bachelder, at North Hampton, was burned with its contents on Friday evening; loss estimated at $2400, with $1400 insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The old town house at Hopkinton was burned Saturday morning. Loss $3000; no insurance.

A little daughter of Mr. Henry Smith of Manchester was so severely scalded by falling into a tub of boiling water that she died. She was about a year old.

SNEAK THIEVING.—When the Tribune commended the three New Hampshire Congressmen, the other day, for voting against the salary grab, it was upon the supposition that they were too honest to vote themselves money they had not earned, or to take it after other and less scrupulous men had voted it. It is hardly necessary to say that if this was a dishonest transaction—and the moral sense of the community certainly seems to have revolted against it as having precisely that quality—the act of taking and pocketing that money after it had been voted differed from the disgrace of voting for it only in the degree in which sneak theft differs from highway robbery.

It now appears that Messrs. Hibbard and Parker, members of the last Congress from New Hampshire, after having made capital for themselves on the stamp before the late election in that State by proclaiming their opposition to the salary grab, as soon as the election was over wrote to Washington and drew the five thousand dollars unearned money. It is with great regret—for we do want to believe in somebody—that we withdraw the commendation heretofore pronounced on these gentlemen, and, upon this state of facts, pronounce them humbugs and shams. By boasting of their opposition to the measure, and setting that up as a claim for re-election, they admitted that the grab was dishonest and shameful; by refusing to draw their share of the plunder before the election, they deceived their constituents with a counterfeit of honesty; by drawing it after the election was over, they confessed, that being too cowardly to steal on their own account, they were mean enough to boast of it and make a pretence of virtue till a convenient opportunity, when they sneaked back and took their share of the proceeds of the theft.

By the side of this transaction the shamelessness and audacity of Mr. Butler and his followers, who openly voted for this seizure, become respectable. They at least put their names to it, without so much as resorting to the device of a round robin. They said, "We have the power to take this money, we want it, and so we take it." Perhaps they would never have dared do it had they stood so near an election as the New Hampshire members, and been liable to be called to account by their constituents while a month. We do not think they would. Not one of the perpetrators of this outrage would have dared vote for it had his election been pending. But however that may be, they did have the shameful courage to walk up deliberately to the vote and take the responsibility for their baseness. These New Hampshire fellows have shown neither honesty nor courage. Let us thank God one of them is defeated and take shame to ourselves that the other is returned.—New York Tribune.

Mrs. Susan Cauney, an aged lady of about seventy years, was found dead in the woods, Thursday evening, about sixty rods from her house, in Berwick. When found, she was partially covered with snow and her body frozen very hard. Foul play is suspected.

There is a meteorologist Dr. Teall, who announces in a Philadelphia newspaper that we are approaching a climax of a pestilential period. From 1880 to 1885, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune will come nearer the earth than they have been for eighteen hundred years. The result will be, as the doctor says it has been before, that we shall have all manner of unpleasantness — plague, famine, and awfully hot and cold weather.

The Daily Graphic is to have a rival, so they say. The rumor is that the publishers of a "well-known illustrated" weekly are to start an illustrated daily. This must mean either Harper or Frank Leslie—most probably the former.

The confession of John M. Osborne, who was hung at Galesburg, Ill., on the 5th inst, for the murder of Mrs. Mathews, is somewhat remarkable. It appears that it was thought desirable by certain parties to put Mrs. Mathews out of the way, as she was a witness in important cases. A perfect stranger approached Osborne and offered him first a smaller sum and then $5,000 to do the deed. He higgled and hesitated, and finally consented, and did the deed under circumstances of shocking and unmentionable brutality. He had not the least grudge against the poor woman; he did the bloody work solely for the pay.

Thomas Smith, colored, was hanged at Louisville, Friday, for the murder of Joseph Braden. The execution was public, and seven thousand people attended.

"Having let off the Confederate chiefs from a well-deserved hanging, the nation has an interest in inquiring what use has been made of this clemency by the objects thereof." It is in this way that a so-called Republican newspaper prefaces its information that the aforesaid "chiefs" are apparently endeavoring to secure a respectable livelihood. Mr. Davis is President of an insurance company; Mr. Stephens is writing for a newspaper; Messrs. Beauregard and Bragg superintend street railways; Hood is a cotton factor; Hill practices law; so does Semmes; Forrest keeps a livery stable; H. V. Johnson is a planter.

According to the best testimony $30,000 was divided among six New York Senators last spring to secure some railroad legislation.

The total cut of logs in Maine the past winter, will reach nearly 450,000,000 feet, of which the Penobscot River takes the lead, the cut on those waters being 115,000,000 feet. The cut of this winter, with the old logs on hand, amounts to over 590,000,000 feet, showing a falling off as compared with the logs on hand last year at this time of some 180,000,000 feet.

A contemporary asks the absurd question: "Shall organ-grinders be put to death?" Of course, there is no use in discussing that point.

While there are about ten thousand men who think they know all about the perpetual motion principle, it is safe to say that there is not a solitary soul in this universe who can explain why a railroad engineer blows his whistle as he shoots by a passenger train. People who have popped up from their seats and clutched their scalps on these occasions are somewhat interested in an explanation.

The legislature of Illinois has just rejected a bill to provide for the punishment of habitual wife-whippers, by publicly whipping the offenders upon the bare back.

—A Greenbush (N. Y.) party "reckoned without their host," decidedly, for he was absent when they arrived, and while they were having the jolliest time, at about midnight, he came in, gloriously drunk, and at once comprehending the situation, surprised the surprisers by an indiscriminate but everywhere vigorous assault. Men, women and all fled for their lives, and one young woman, hotly pressed, took the back-yard picket fence at a flying leap, but, not being arrayed for such lofty gymnastics, she fell headlong on the other side, caught by her skirts. It was the quickest scattering on record and the conqueror is enriched by the wrappings, overcoats and hats of the entire party, besides a bounteous collation which they brought. None of them have, as yet, made their "party calls."

FACTORY OPERATIVES, after the exhaustion of their long day of labor in overheated and poorly ventilated rooms, need a stimulant that is nourishing as well as warming. Neither tea nor coffee, with all their agreeable properties, is so eminently suited to meet this need as is Cocoa or Chocolate. That prepared by Walter Baker & Co., Boston, has the highest reputation the world over. Try it!

The huge, drastic, griping, sickening pills, constructed of crude, coarse and bulky ingredients, are fast being superseded by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules—the "Little Giant" Cathartic or maltum in parvo Physic. Modern Chemical Science enables Dr. Pierce to extract from the juices of the most valuable roots and herbs their active medicinal principles, which, when worked into little Pellets or Granules—scarcely larger than mustard seed, renders each little Pellet as active and powerful as a large pill, while they are much more palatable and pleasant in effect. 25 cents a vial, by Druggists. 672

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Presentation.

Mr. Frederick A. Didier, for three years past the faithful and efficient clerk to Pay Inspector W. W. Williams, at this naval station, being about to retire from that position, it was recently suggested among the many and warm friends he has made that he be presented with a token of the esteem in which he is held by them. The suggestion met with a ready response; and on Saturday Mr. Didier was requested to step into a room near his office, where he was surprised at finding assembled a large number of his fellow clerks, writers and others, one of whom addressed him substantially as follows:—

Mr. Didier:—Your presence here has been requested, in order that a few of the many friends whom you have won by your unassuming bearing as a gentleman and your obliging courtesy as an official, may have an opportunity of thus publicly expressing their regret at the prospective sundering of the pleasant official relations which have heretofore existed between you and them, and of presenting you with a testimonial of their friendship and esteem. I could wish that your friends had selected some one better qualified than myself to give expression to their sentiments,—some one who could have said all which I would wish to say; yet I take both pride and pleasure in being chosen as the agent to convey their commendations and good wishes to a gentleman so well worthy to receive them as yourself. We offer for your acceptance this chain and walking stick, confident that they will be highly prized; not merely as beautiful specimens of skillful, tasteful, artistic workmanship, nor for their intrinsic value, but as souvenirs of kindly and pleasant social and business intercourse, as tokens of our regret at parting with an esteemed associate, and as tangible though inadequate evidences of the friendly regard which we entertain for you. Accept them, Mr. Didier, and with them our earnest assurance that wherever you may go and in whatever business or profession you may hereafter be engaged, you will carry with you and retain our warmest feelings of good will and our most earnest aspirations for your long continued prosperity and happiness.

At the close of his remarks the speaker handed to Mr. Didier a heavy watch chain and engraved seal, and a gold-headed ebony cane, the whole having been procured at a cost of $120. The surprise was complete, and the recipient was taken flat aback; but he responded, briefly, and in terms which showed how highly he appreciated the good will of his friends. Having taken a few minutes to realize the situation, Mr. Didier forwarded to the donors a written acknowledgement, as follows:

Gentlemen:—It is with pleasure that I acknowledge the receipt of the beautiful testimonial presented to me to-day, and assure you that your gifts will ever be cherished by me, as being above all valuation; and that not less lasting and valued will be the pleasant remembrance of your flattering and generous expressions of regard. Coming from my old friends and associates, at the close of my labors in a position whose duties I have striven to perform faithfully and with courtesy to all, without thought of special reward, your commendations and kind wishes are as grateful to me as they were unexpected. Returning you my sincere thanks for these tokens of your friendship, and wishing you all health, prosperity and happiness, I remain, gentlemen,

Very truly yours,

FRED'K B. DIDIER.

Mr. Didier may justly feel proud that he leaves only friends behind him, on retiring from a position in which a less courteous gentleman could easily have made himself obnoxious to those with whom he was officially brought in contact.

Laconics.

A young son of Mr. Thomas Moulton, residing on Water street, was taken to the small-pox hospital on Saturday, suffering from varioloid.

The sleighing in this vicinity has lasted for 101 consecutive days, ending on Saturday. The south-easterly rain storm of Saturday night about finished it.

Tickets to Prof. Jaques' singing school concert next Wednesday evening will be sold for 25 cents, notwithstanding the fact that he pays $100 for outside help.

The great sale of Pictures by Burleigh & Co. closes to-day, (Monday), and the distribution will be made this evening at the Franklin House. See the advertisement in another column, the pictures at Burleigh's store, and improve this last chance to secure tickets, if desired.

The late Augustus F. Dixon of this city, who recently died of the small pox, was insured in the Odd Fellows' Relief Association, thereby securing $1050 to his widow.

A NEW CASABIANCA. — The man looked at his boy proudly, sternly, sorrowfully. The lad looked into his father's face sadly, exultingly, heroically. It was a living tableau no artist could reproduce. "Billy," said the father, gravely, "I took your mother and sister to church yesterday." "Yes, air," replied the boy, gazing out through the window at the flicker as it hitched down the gate-post, and finally dropped into the grass with a shrill chirp. "And you didn't water the pigs?" "O-o-o! Oh, air! Geeroody! Oh, me! Lawsy, lawsy me!" The slender scion of an apple tree rose and fell in the hand of Mr. Coulter, and up from the jacket of the lad, like incense from an altar, rose a cloud of dust, mingled with the nap of jeans. Down in the young clover of the meadow the lark and sparrows sang cheerily, the goats and flies danced up and down in the sunshine, the fresh soft leaves of the vines rustled, and all was merry indeed. Billy's eyes turned up towards the face of his father in appealing agony, but still with a sharp bias the switch cut the air, falling steadily and merrilessly on his shoulders. And along the green banks of the river the willows shook their shiny fingers at the lifting fog, and the voices of children going by to school smote the sweet May wind. "Oh, pap, I'll not forget the pigs no more!" "Spect, you won't, neather." The wind, by a sudden puff, lifted into the room a shower of white bloom petals from a sweet apple tree, letting them fall gracefully upon the patchwork carpet, the while a ploughman whistled plaintively in a distant field. "Outch! Crakes! Oh, pap, pap!" "Shut your mouth, r'l I'll split you to the backbone." How many delightful places in the woods, how many cool spots besides the murmuring river, would have been more pleasant to Billy than the place he then occupied. "Oh, me! oh, me!" yelled the lad. Still the dust rose and danced in the slanting jet of sunlight that fell across the room, and the hens out at the barn cackled and sang for joy over new eggs laid in choice places. At one time during the falling of the rod the girl quit washing, and thrusting her head into the kitchen said, in a subdued tone, "My land, ain't Bill gittin' an awful one?" "You're mighty right," replied the mother, solemnly. Along towards the last Mr. Coulter tiptoed at every stroke. The switch actually screamed through the air as it fell. Billy danced. "Now go, sir!" cried the men, tossing the frizzled stump of the gad out at the window. "Go now, and the next time you water them pigs." And, while the finch poured out a cataract of melody from the locust, he went. Poor boy! that was a terrible thrashing, and, to make it worse, it had been promised to him the evening before, so that he had been dreading it and shivering over it all night. Now, as he walked through the breakfast-room, his sister looked at him in a commiserating way, but, on passing through the kitchen, he could not catch the eye of his mother. Finally he stood in the free, open air, in front of the saddle-closets. It was just then a speckled rooster on the barn-yard fence flopped his wings and crowed vociferously. A turkey-cock was strutting upon the grass by the old cherry tree. Billy opened the door of the closets." A boy's will is the wind's will, and the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts." Billy peeped into the closet, and then cast a glance about him, as if to see if anything was near. At length, during a pleasant lull in the morning wind, and while the low, tenderly mellow flow of the river was distinctly audible, and the song of the finch increased in volume, and the bleating of new lambs in the meadow died in fluttering echoes under the barn, and while the fragrance of apple-blooms grew fainter, and while the sun, now flaming just above the eastern tree-tops, launched a shower over him from head to foot, he took from under his jacket behind a double sheepskin, which, with an ineffable smile, he tossed into the closet. Then, as the yellow flicker rose rapidly from the grass, Billy walked off, whistling the air of that once popular ballad:

"Oh, give me back my fifteen cents."

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers; if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

OF

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the best Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well [illegible] remedy is offered to the public, confident in the experience of over forty years, that it will recommend itself to every one who falls to try it, as it invariably effects cures of

Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest or Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaints, &c. &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS, and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exertion of the vocal organs, will find this the best PREPARATION with which to effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties. [illegible]

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietor, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

To provide means for this magnificent Concert, One Hundred Thousand Whole Tickets only will be issued.

Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 orders.

The object of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the enlarge ment and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most competent and reliable business officers. A sale of tickets has already progressed so far that complete success is assured, and buyers are therefore cautioned against the delay of one day in forwarding orders to participate in the drawing.

The management of this enterprise has been committed by the trustees to Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom communications pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed.

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs, during the long trying climate of New England.

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered by" "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulin, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure early eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distracting pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary forms and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, [Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. The Chronicle.

The Five Extinguisher.

BY FRANK CLIVE.

Jones and his wife did not agree,
As married people should!
Cause: Incompatibility
About igniting wood.

The bosom of the manly Jones
With deep contempt was filled,
Whenever Mrs. Jones essayed
The household fire to build.

For woman kind he wisely deems,
Incompetent to learn
The art mysterious by which
A fire is made to burn.

If Jones took up the tongs to poke
The waning fire about,
Quoth Mrs. Jones, "Of course the fire
Will go out!" "Will go—out!"

Come, Jones! Do leave the fire alone!
"The worse the more you stir!"
Thus impudent was she to him,
And likewise he to her.

'Twas evident theirs was a match,
That had been made on earth,
For fire brands of discussion turned
On their domestic hearth.

One day in Jones' little town
The clam'rous fire bells rang;
The dread appeal smote Jones' ear,
And to his feet he sprang,

And seized his water-pail and rushed
Toward the door pell mell,
When Mrs. Jones' dulcet tones
Upon his hearing fell.

"Where are you going, Jones?" cried she,
"Pray what are you about?"
"To fight you raging fire," cried he,
"And try to put it out!"

Upspake the partner of his joys,
Quick to avenge her wrongs,
"If you desire to stop that fire
Why don't you take the tongs?"

Then Jones became a widower
In quite a tragic way—
But Mrs. Jones died quite content,
For she had "had her say!"

The jurors being married men,
Could not enough admire
The promptitude with which Jones paled
Her "ineffectual fire."

Nor did those jurors hesitate
To fully justify
Jones on the ground of his "emotional insanity." —Buffalo Courier.

SPIRITUALISM.—In accordance with invitations, sparingly extended, nearly a score of gentlemen and ladies assembled at the house of Mrs. Hardy, 4 Concord square, last evening, for the purpose of witnessing some of the curious physical manifestations which for some time past have been growing in frequency there. Among the number present at this time were William Lloyd Garrison, Robert Dale Owen and Miss Owen, Dr. Bartol, Lieutenant Commander Dyer and Lieutenant Greene, of the United States Navy. The first manifestation occurred in the parlor, where the entire company was assembled. The gas was burning brightly in two different chandliers, when, at the request of the host, it slowly began to dim in one, and finally appeared only as bluish points in the different burners. After waxing and waning for some time, now blazing up clear and bright in one part, and again fading almost to nothingness in another, the whole series of lights went out entirely.

A lighted match would set them going almost instantly, but quite as suddenly would they disappear again. This phenomenon has been noticed only for about four weeks past. The party was then invited to the dining-room below, where fifteen of them gathered closely around a common black-walnut extension dining-table with two gas jets burning brightly immediately above it. Three slates, of different sizes, were laid upon the table, and the merest bit of a slate pencil was furnished for the use of the invisible writers. Mrs. Hardy, the medium, then held one side of the slates beneath the table, while a gentleman opposite held the other side. A minute of quiet waiting followed, and then the little pencil was heard to tap distinctly three or four times on the hard surface of the slate, and an examination showed that the words "happy greeting" were written in a fair hand upon it.

Following this were written a number of names, most of which were promptly recognized by some of those present; and then the unseen hand wrote "Get Owen's slate." This proved to be a contrivance which Mr. Owen had fixed the day before. It consisted of two small slates hinged together on one side and locked with a small padlock on the other. Small pieces of paper inserted opposite the hinges were intended to give the ghostly scribes a chance to introduce the wonderfully small pencil between the slates. Lieutenant Dyer joined with the medium in holding the slate beneath the table. For a minute, perhaps, faint, grating sounds were occasionally heard, then came the warning taps, and the slate was brought into the light. "We have written inside," was the only message to be seen, and at once everybody was impatient to know what this could mean. Mr. Owen carefully took a small key from his purse and after several trials unlocked the slate.

Inside was found written in a clear, fair hand, "My dear ones of earth, hope; there is immortality for you all.

Theodore Parker. Violet." Everybody now regretted that the slate had not been examined before the trial was made but Mr. Owen said there was no writing on it when he last locked it. Other attempts were subsequently made to get writing done within the locked slate, but without avail. When importuned, the invisible writer persisted in declining, saying, "We are like the ladies, when we won't, we won't." Each of those present received communications, except Dr. Bartol, and subsequently most of the party were favored with touches on the hand or wrist, held under the table, by the invisible agency. The séance concluded with experiments in which a slate was firmly pressed against the under side of the table with no hand was upon it and a pencilslate placed beneath the board was shortly after found open. The meeting seemed to deeply interest those in attendance. —Post.

TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1873.

The Goodrich Murder.

A woman was the cause and a Spaniard named Pedro Rocoso was the murderer. Goodrich seems to have been a libertine of the first class. He had seduced a girl named Kate Stoddard, under promise of marriage, four years ago, and she had a child by him. They lived together secretly, the wedding day being postponed on different pretexts. Finally Kate discovered that Goodrich was engaged to a Miss Clem. He denied it and to satisfy her a mock marriage was performed. She found out the trick and in February they had a quarrel, in which he beat her and knocked her head against the wall. A neighbor heard her cries. Miss Stoddard went away from him, but subsequently wrote a letter seeking reconciliation, which was found by the police.

Mrs. Lucetta J. Myers, who has since been living with Goodrich, was arrested last Thursday night. Rosoco was her accepted lover. Before becoming acquainted with Goodrich she was intimate with the Spaniard. Finding Goodrich possessed of ample means she forsook Rosoco for him. When her people removed, she changed her workshop and strove to hide her whereabouts from the Spaniard. That he was cognizant of her preference for Goodrich and jealous of the favored lover is evidenced by the dispute they had on meeting in her house. To save him from the vindictive Rosoco she threw Goodrich into another room. After her removal, Rosoco was unable to find her. Search and inquiry, however, revealed to him her abode and the fond intimacy which existed between her and his more favored rival.

Thursday night, he watched her as she started for Brooklyn. Following, he tracked her to Goodrich's house in Dagraw street, and sought for a way to enter. After repeatedly traversing the vacant lots at the rear of the houses, he climbed over the fence and gained an entrance to the building by the back basement. The latch he turned with the jagged jack-knife found on the floor. Within the building he coolly prepared himself for his work. Closing the shutters he surveyed the place and ascended to the rooms above where were his love and the favored suitor.

Driven to desperation by revenge he sought their room, and breaking in, confronted them. Startled by the sudden appearance of Rosoco on the scene the pair rushed from the room. As Goodrich strove to pass the infuriated Spaniard a struggle ensued. Eluding him, he rushed to the rooms below, followed by Rosoco, who had possessed himself of the pistol. When Goodrich reached the basement, the Spaniard dashed against the door, and, levelling the weapon, discharged the shot that pierced his left temple. Frantic with rage he rushed on the prostrate man, and placing the pistol behind his ear, discharged two more shots. His revenge being satisfied he fled, taking from the deceased the valuables that are missing. To the woman Myers he briefly stated what he had done, and the necessity of his seeking safety in flight. Hurriedly telling her that he would go to Baltimore he quit the house. The woman recovering from her fright at once looked about to conceal the commission of the horrible crime. Locking the doors she threw the key of the basement door into a basket of apples and arranged the body as found. As the early streaks of morning appeared the woman was on her way to her home.

A despatch from Brooklyn says it is almost beyond doubt that Mrs. Myers was at home with her parents on the night of the murder and not, as alleged, with Goodrich. She says she met Rosoco the Saturday morning after the murder. She had read an account of it in Friday evening's papers, and, suspecting Rosoco, accused him of it. Since then she alleges she has not seen him.

Two little boys were stopped recently between Lawrence and Methuen. One carried an old pistol, and the other had four tablespoons stuck in a belt, round his waist. When asked where they were going and what they were doing with the weapons, they said they were going West to fight the Indians, and become scouts of the prairie. They had been to see Buffalo Bill on Monday evening. They were conveyed to their homes, where each received a dose of Buffalo leather for himself.

The reading test doesn't amount to much in Bridgeport, according to the Standard. A man went before the selectmen to be made a voter. His qualifications were all right save in one respect. He could not read. His spelling was first-rate, but his pronunciation poor. For instance, V-o-t-e-r-s spelled Standard; C-o-n-s-e-c-r-a-t-e-d officers. After working away for about an hour, it was stated that his eyesight was bad. He could see to spell, but couldn't see to pronounce. He was admitted.

Commodore Vanderbilt's half a million for a Methodist college in Tennessee has set the Nashville, Chattanooga and Knoxville editors, who want it located in their respective cities, by the ears. Knoxville will give five acres for a site, while the Chattanooga man "calls him" with a tender of the whole of Lookout Mountain, with its fine view of six States, and Lake Lula thrown in.

It is astonishing how much wisdom there is in the papers. Here is a Minnesota journal that, with a gravity that is characteristic of it at all times, describes the old flag which the first Minnesota Volunteers carried to Bull Run, and says, "It bears the inscription 'May God defend the right,' the regiment having been on the right during that battle.'

"THE WATCH-DOG OF THE TREASURY."—Very probably he is occupied in constructing specimens of that mysterious signature which ornaments all our paper money, and is to most men a riddle more unsolvable than any that the Sphinx ever propounded. Translated, it is F. E. Spinner. We observe that the pen with which it is written is of peculiar construction, and has three points, and that the ink used has the thickness and consistency of mud and blackness of Egyptian darkness, and is "piled up" on the paper to a height of which we would be incredulous had we never seen it, and which, having been seen, renders us more incredulous still. This delightful quality in the ink, the messenger informs us, is produced by long exposure to the atmosphere in an open vessel; to be accurate, in an old pitcher with a broken nose. It is astonishing, we are further told, to note the number of people, principally from the country districts, who stray into the Treasurer's room during the course of a year for the purpose of shaking hands with "the man who makes that funny signature," and of looking wonderingly on to see how he makes it. We are quite sure to be affably received, unless some circumstance of an unusually disturbing nature has occurred, for "the General," as he is familiarly called, notwithstanding his reputation for the use of strong words, is really a man of uncommon good-nature. Even when provoked to one of his ebullitions of righteous wrath, his bark is proverbially worse than his bite, and the goodness of his heart usually leads him to make reparation for violence of language by lenity of action. So it happens that applicants for favors at his hands are sometimes told by their friends, who know the old gentleman's peculiarities, that it is a favorable circumstance that on the first presentation of their cases they have been roundly scolded, since the chances are, that after the first heat of temper has cooled, penitence for undue harshness will lead him on second consideration to grant their requests. Not even the General's most ardent admirers—and no man has more—will claim that he is a handsome man. And even should they have the hardihood to do so, the vignette on certain fifty-cent notes, of which there are many still in circulation, would furnish a complete refutation of their assertion. But to be fair, the shin-plasters do not do him justice. There is an expression of honesty and openness of nature about his homely features, and a twinkle of humor in the eye, which the artist has failed to reproduce, and which render the face, like Lincoln's, kind and genial and far from unpleasing. A grizzly mustache, cut unreasonably short at the corners of the mouth, does not help to supply the lack of beauty in the features. The wide, determined mouth, and the square, heavy chin, suggest the irreverent idea that personal appearance, no less than watchful care of the nation's treasure may have led to the bestowal of the sobriquet of "Watch-dog of the Treasury," by which the faithful Treasurer is so well known.

The room is of moderate size and plainly furnished, and gives evidence that of the vast amount of money which has passed through his office, but little has been used to minister to the Treasurer's comfort. A door opens into a still smaller apartment in which the Treasurer sleeps. The responsibility of the safe keeping of hundreds of millions is too great to be devolved upon others, and the General therefore rests where he can in a moment assure himself that the public treasure in his keeping is safe. Once, before he began sleeping at the Treasury, he was awakened in the night by a strong impression that something was wrong at the Department. He lay for a long time tossing uneasily on his bed, and trying to close his eyes and convince himself that it was a mere freak of an over-taxed brain; but it would not be driven away. At last, about two o'clock in the morning, in order to assure himself that his impression was at fault, he arose, hastily dressed, and set out for the Treasury. On his way he met a watchman from the Department, hastening to arouse him with the information that the door of one of the vaults had just been found standing wide open. A careless clerk, whose duty it was to close and lock the door, had failed to perform his duty that night, and the watchman on going his rounds had discovered the neglect. Since that night the Treasurer has inspected the doors and locks of the vaults himself, and has satisfied himself, by attempting to turn handles, that they are securely locked. The inspection is made twice every evening—once soon after the departure of the clerks, and again before retiring to rest. There are few public officers whom sense of duty and responsibility constrain to thus sacrifice their own time and comfort in the interest of the government. The moneyed responsibility is indeed tremendous, and such, we venture to assert, as never fell on the shoulders of one man before. That we do not exaggerate is evidenced by the fact that the notes, bonds, and securities in the vaults of the Treasurer's office amount on an average to eight hundred million dollars.—Scribner's for April.

—Artemus Ward once lost money. He thus recounts the transaction: "A gentleman friend of mine came to me, with tears in his eyes. I said, 'Why these weeps?' He said he had a mortgage on his farm, and wanted to borrow $200. I lent him the money, and he went away. Some time after he returned with more tears. He said he must leave me forever. I ventured to remind him of $200 he borrowed. He was much cut up. I thought I would not be hard upon him, so I told him I would throw off $100. He brightened, shook my hand, and said, 'Old friend, I won't allow you to outdo me in liberality; I'll throw off the other hundred!'"

—A unprecedented combat occurred at Albany last Monday. It was between two goats and a man. The cunning and boldness of the animals are said to have been remarkable. They dodged about like professional pugilists; they ran between the man's legs; they jumped against his body, and, as the report says, "bucked him in all possible ways." As for the man, all he could do was to kick out wildly. The more he kicked the more ferocious became the goats, and it is thought they would have killed him if their owner had not by force withdrawn them from the arena.

—The Macoupin (Ill.) Inquirer says that a Greene-County young lady, who is worth $30,000, recently refused to marry a clergyman because she thought she was unfit to be the wife of a minister. He then abandoned his sacred calling, and proposed again. The second time she declined his offer, on the ground that she was too good to marry a man who would throw away his clerical robes to win a woman's hand.

—A Sunday-school teacher in Hartford was surprised on Sunday last. She had been explaining the story of the crucifixion to her class of little boys, who seemed to take great interest in the story. When she thought they fully understood the subject, one of them suddenly burst but and said, "By golly; I'll bet you they wouldn't have done it if Buffalo Bill 'd been there!"

—James McAllister of La Motte, Ia., a youth of eighteen, not satisfied with the usual mechanical appliances for splitting logs, thought to rend one "old settler" with gunpowder. He bored a big hole and filled it with powder, and, having no fuse handy, dropped in a live coal. He will never split any more logs.

—After fifteen years' experience, the Omaha publishers have come to the conclusion that the newspaper business is a legitimate one, and they have cut off their dead heads and given notice that free puffing has also ceased. All they ask is to pay and be paid like white folks.

—A Western newspaper advocates early marriages on the somewhat original ground that those who fought at Thermopylæ must have been married men, with the exception of the two that escaped, one of whom was a widower and the other a reporter.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

A Rough Customer.

A well known sportsman of this city on Thursday received by express a covered barrel from some unknown friend, but not having been advised that anything was coming for him he was a little suspicious as to its contents; and being determined that nobody should "ring him" in as the victim of a practical joke, he altered the address of the box and sent it to another sportsman, who keeps a provision and meat store. When the box was opened, as it was immediately, out popped a lively animile, whose each individual hair standing on end revealed the frightful porcupine. Then and there was hurrying to and fro, and jumping up on barrels and counter; and happy was the man who could reach a meat hook set far up in the wall, wherewith to draw himself up out of danger. The hedgehog evidently recognized that he had not been placed where he would do most good, and made tracks out of doors and under an outbuilding, nobody seeming to have any interest in investigating him; and next morning he was found in a marble-yard near the Eastern depot, by the proprietor thereof, who was surprised by the movement of something near him, and looking down saw the strange animal at his feet, probably selecting a grave stone for himself. It is said that the astonished marble dealer sprang an incredible number of feet straight up into the air, but on getting back to the earth again he proceeded to translate the visitor from this cold world.

Putting on Frills.

Ever since the first adoption of chignons and jute switches by the ladies, and the invention of the fearful straddle-bugs with which mankind sought to (but didn't) scare womankind into abandoning their hideous head gear, "back hair" has been regarded as a snare and a delusion,—a special device of the enemy, gotten up solely to delude and swindle the innocently trusting half of the human race, meaning, of course, the masculine half. But "back hair" is now no more a sham than is the short, stumpy row of bristles which fashion has decreed her female votaries shall wear on their foreheads, to make themselves look as idiotic and homely as possible. We don't know the technical name given to the strip of hair which the ladies formerly brushed down on their foreheads and then cut off on a line with their eyebrows, but they now disfigure their foreheads and make themselves look quite as much like simpletons, by sewing a little false hair in the front part of their bonnets, or having it stuck in a comb, which keeps it in place when the head is uncovered! This is the most sensible sham the dear creatures have invented for some time,—beats jute and newspaper panniers all hollow.

Laconics.

The lot of land on Fleet street, the carriage-house and brick stable in the rear of the Mechanics' reading room building, were disposed of at private sale to R. H. Beacham on Monday for $4800. The entrance to the stable from Congress street belongs to the Mechanics' Association and can be closed up at any time, as Mr. Beacham must now open a passage to Fleet street. The carriage-house is on land owned by the Association, and will be moved back to the lot purchased by Mr. Beacham. The lot now owned by the Association is 71 1-2 feet by 80. Congress Block covers a space of 62 by 50 feet. Now is the time for the city to widen Fleet street four feet, which would leave the Association lot a length of 67 1-2 feet on Congress street. On Saturday evening, the Association refused to sell their entire property to the owners of Congress Block for $15,000.

Mr. H. M. Smith writes us from Chelsea regarding the statement of an evening paper that "there is much ill feeling in certain circles in regard to the case of Mr. Dixon (who recently died of small-pox,) and hard talk that we do not care to repeat, "saying that "the family and friends feel badly enough at the loss of husband, brother and son, without the spreading of street gossip and the conveying of entirely erroneous impressions by the local press." The facts appear to be that early in January, Mrs. Smith was ill with small-pox in Chelsea, and a lady who had been nursing her and who has been charged with bringing the disease to the family of Mr. Dixon, complied with the regulations of the Board of Health. Six weeks ago, she came to Portsmouth. Five weeks afterward, Mr. Dixon was taken sick. Mr. Smith thinks it not altogether reasonable to suppose that Mr. Dixon contracted the disease from this source.

It will be seen by the advertisement that Mrs. R. K. Stoddard and her son, Master DeWitt C. Hough, are to lecture and "demonstrate the presence and power of spirits" at Congress Hall this and to-morrow evenings. The entertainment will doubtless be an interesting one, as the rope-tying feat, ring and musical manifestations, and the coat mystery are to be performed. Notices of the press where they have visited assert that the phenomena are of the most wonderful character, and have puzzled savans in the large cities.

The new city government will be sworn in to-day.

The women of Concord will soon present a petition to the mayor, calling upon him to carry out the instructions of the city government with regard to the liquor traffic.

There is a lady residing in Pelham, who was not wedded till sixty years of age, but who has since had four husbands, all of whom are now deceased.

An embankment in the Silver street cut at Dover, on the Dover and Portsmouth Railroad, thirty feet in depth, caved in, Saturday, burying up completely two workmen and a horse and dump cart. The workmen were rescued comparatively uninjured, having been under the sand for some time.

Mary Shattuck of Nashua, an insane woman, jumped from an open window at the Concord insane asylum, on Friday, and received injuries from which she died, Saturday morning.

The increase of polls in Nashua, last year, was 100, showing an increase of about 500 in population.

It is reported that a well-known citizen of Allenstown has been offered $100,000 for the wood and timber on his farm.

Senator Patterson now proposes a European tour. As he is a "scholarly" man, he will doubtless write a book of travels, and we shall have a new version of the "Innocents Abroad."

—A fond father in Burlington growled like a dog with a sore head because a physician charged $10 for removing a kernel of corn from his son's ear, where it had lodged. He said a coffin only cost $7, and the corn would have sprouted soon and might have been pulled up by the roots.

—A Rhode Island editor, wanting two lines to complete a column, observes that "a sensible woman is the most sensible being on earth." Which, our cynic says, is as if one should write, "Hot ice cream is the hottest thing in the world."

—Rev. Dr. Newman is going around the world. When we see such men as Rev. Dr. Newman start around the world, we always regret that the world isn't a great deal farther around than it is.—Courier-Journal.

—Miss Clara Tracy, a down-East damsel, lost one of her earrings in a snow storm. A horse picked it up with his foot, and when the driver knocked a snow ball out of his hoof the missing jewel was found!

DEATHS.

In Dedham, Mass., March 28th, SARAH THERESA (Daisy) MARTYN, aged 1 year, niece of Rev. Carlos Martyn of Portsmouth.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen: and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers: if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

Morning Chronicle.

The April number of Old and New contains a remarkable supply of explicit and entertaining papers. Two new serial novels are begun,—one by an American, and one by an Englishman. The former is Mr. Frederic B. Perkins' story of "Scraps, or The Lost Library." The latter, by Mr. F. C. Burnand, the well-known humorist, and author of the "Happy Thought" books, is the form of an autobiography, beginning with the birth of the hero. There are two papers of a natural history sort, one in particular entitled "Some cats I have known." Mr. T. G. Appleton has a quaint and thoughtful sketch entitled "The two Marks." There is a lively story of the mining district by Fred. W. Loring, and quite a remarkable apology for what is called "Red Tape," by Mr. J. B. Moss. Mr. F. S. Pike discusses the Spanish republic, expressing good hopes for its future; and there is a curious disquisition, of a philological nature, by Mr. A. H. Leale. Joaquin Miller contributes a short poem on Westminster Abbey; and Caroline M. Hewes has another, very fresh and musical and graceful, called "When the Oak Thinks."

—A Rochester (N. Y.) man walked into the City Hospital, with the blood streaming from his head, and stated that as he was walking along the street he felt something hard hit his head, and on examination discovered that there was a bullet hole through it, but he heard no report.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an alkaline, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing agent, from the blood of a healthy person, "a thousand fold," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its invigorating effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into every part of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been dragged by the use of this remedy, from weak, weary, suffering prostration to strong, healthy, and happy men and women, and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

You find each bottle to PERUVIAN SYRUP lines in the giant.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

Governors' Portrait Gallery.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mch. 29.

My Dear Sir: I thank you for the publicity you gave my letter concerning the "Portraits of our Governors" by causing it to be published in the Independent Statesman of the 16th of January last. It awakened quite an interest and together with articles by yourselves and others which have appeared in New Hampshire papers, served to promote the object intended by its publication:—that of attracting attention to the subject and making the collection as complete as possible. There will be wanting after the portraits already promised as furnished, those of President Meshach Weare and Governors John Taylor Gilman and John Bell. We supposed there were no likenesses of President Weare in existence, but I have been informed by Walter Ingalls, Esq., an artist of acknowledged reputation who is now painting the portraits of many distinguished men at Washington, that when he was a representative from Sanbornton in the New Hampshire legislature in 1848, there was a movement in contemplation to procure a portrait of Meshach Weare. He is confident that the late Caleb Stark of Dunbarton exhibited to him at that time a likeness of President Weare and also one of a similar size of his grandfather General John Stark. They were either a small print or crayon. I hope you may be able to secure these valuable relics for the State. Referring to Mr. Ingalls, who is a native of Canterbury, his success in his profession is amply attested by the many exquisite portraits he has produced, as well as by his copies of the works of the great masters while on the continent, and his valuable collection of paintings of Brazilian fruits, scenery and people, mainly on exhibition at the Agricultural Department in this city, are regarded as of rare excellence and worthy of his genius.

Hon. Montgomery Blair, a son-in-law of the late Governor Levi Woodbury, has consulted the estimable widow of the Governor who has a very excellent portrait of her distinguished husband in the family mansion at Portsmouth and will furnish a copy to the State. I am pleased to learn that a portrait of Gov. Sullivan will soon be added to the collection. There are two admirable pencil sketches in possession of Rev. Dr. Bouton of your city belonging to the N. H. Historical Society, one of General Sullivan, the other of President Bartlett, which were sketched by Trumbull while on a visit to New Hampshire during the life time of the departed patriots. A portrait of John Taylor Gilman, who was Governor fourteen years, is in possession of the family at Portland, Me.

The Portrait Gallery of New Hampshire governors is of incalculable value, and to you more than all others should be accorded the honor of securing the most valuable contributions to the interesting group. Your unceasing and persistent efforts have been signalized by most gratifying results. Portraits of New Hampshire's eminent sons and citizens who have been celebrated in her annals, other than as Governors, are a valuable acquisition, and the State House a fitting and proper repository for the collection. I have read with great satisfaction that the portraits of our Revolutionary generals, Stark, Cilley, "Light Infantry Poor and Yorktown Scammel" will soon adorn the walls of our Representative Hall. A portrait of Hon. Nicholas Gilman, who was a member of the Executive Council from 1777 for seven years, a representative in the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th U. S. Congress, President of N. H. Senate and U. S. Senator from 1805 to May 1814, when he died, is in the possession of the Schuyler family in New York. Commodore R. Harris Wyman, U. S. N., informs me that a portrait of his great grandfather, Hon. Woodbury Langdon, a brother of Gov. John and who was prominent in the early political history of the State, is in possession of the Eustis family in Massachusetts.

New Hampshire reveres the memory of Chief Justice Wm. W. Richardson, who presided twenty-two years in her courts with marked impartiality and ability. Hon. Wm. A. Richardson the present able and accomplished Secre-sry of the U. S. Treasury will endeavor to procure a portrait of his honored uncle and present it to the State. Another matter of interest to New Hampshire requires attention. An act of Congress which is found in "U. S. Statutes at Large," Vol. 13, page 347, chap 210, sec. 2., act of July 2, 1864, provides that a marble floor be constructed in the old hall of the House of Representatives and that suitable structures and railings shall be erected therein for the reception and protection of statuary and authorized the President to provide and furnish statues in marble or bronze, not exceeding two in number for each State of deceased persons who have been citizens thereof and illustrious for their historical renown or from distinguished civic or military services such as each state shall determine to be worthy of this National commemoration, and when so furnished the same shall be placed in the old hall of the House of Representatives in the capitol of the U. S., which is set apart as a National Statuary Hall for the purposes indicated.

In response to the foregoing, Rhode Island has furnished marble statutes, the size of Roger Williams and Nathaniel Greene; Connecticut, Jonathan Trumbull and Roger Sherman; Massachusetts has provided for John Winthrop and Samuel Adams; Vermont, Ethan Allen and Jacob Collamore; New Jersey, Richard Stockton and Phil Kearney; New York is about to make a selection, which is, I believe, all the progress yet made. The Hall also contains statues of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Alexander Hamilton, which were furnished by the U. S. New Hampshire should provide for this National commemoration of two of her eminent citizens in accordance with the act of Congress. There are many names from which a selection would have to be made. Wentworths, Stark, Sullivans, Langdons, Wingate, Thornton, Bartletts, Weare, Whipple, Poor, Cilleys, Scammel, Gilmans, Livermores, Plumers, Bells, Woodbury, Pierces and other cherished names pass in review before us, but there will be no difficulty in designating two of the number particularly worthy of this distinction. New Hampshire had many illustrious sons. On her historic scroll are inscribed the names of men distinguished in all the professions and of unquestioned patriotism and ability. Many become citizens of other states and achieved a national reputation, but will not of course be honored in the selection conspicuous among whom are Webster, Cass, Fessenden and Greeley now dead (and Chase, Dix and Wilson still living) who have made such an impress on the age in which they lived as to render their memoreis imperishable while history records their eminent public services. I trust the next legislature will make provisions to comply with the invitation of Congress. Civilized nations have always commemorated important historic events and perpetuated either in painting or statuary their men of renown. In our own country the same custom has been followed: In the Rotunda, in the centre of the Capitol, under its magnificent dome are to be seen very large historical paintings representing "Landing of Columbus," "Embarcation of the Pilgrims," "Discovery of the Mississippi River," "Baptism of Pocahontas," "Declaration of Independence," "Surrender of Burgoyne," "Surrender of Cornwallis," "Washington resigning his commission," and in the Senate wing of the Capitol has been recently suspended a large and splendid painting of the "Battle of Lake Erie," Commodore Perry's victory, but I have not time to pursue the subject further and remain Yours most truly,

THOMAS L. TULLOCK.

To Hon. B. F. Prescott, Sec. of State.

—Among the other productions of the great West are fearless art critics. Peoria has one. He writes for the Review. This is the way he dishes up the Rubinstein concert: "Mademoiselle Liebhart didn't leave a dry eye in the wigwam when she sang 'There stoo plash home,' and it was the general impression among her German auditors that she sang 'Rawting Awdah' in English, while the English speaking inhabitants were equally positive that 'Robin Adair' was a German ballad. Mademoiselle Ormesy had, and we suppose still retains, a magnificent voice for a fog whistle. Its compass was perfectly surprising. She would shake the chandelier with a wild whoop that made every man instinctively feel for his scalp, and follow it up with a roar that would shame a bassoon."

—A Detroit woman undertook to take some bluing the other morning and set about it with much energy. After the Fire Department had gone, and a tarpaulin had been put over the hole in the roof her husband told her that he admired her aspiring disposition, but a fire in the kitchen stove, simply, would have answered every purpose.

State News.

A citizen of Walpole on his way to town meeting recently saw a snow-drift that was thirty-five rods in length and thirty feet deep by actual measurement.

A decidedly curious suit is just decided at Manchester. Some time since a horse belonging to David J. Moulton of Weare was frightened by the sudden barking of a dog owned by Benjamin Holt of Dunbarton, and inflicted serious injuries upon the former's five-year old daughter. Moulton brought suit for damages, and the Supreme Judicial Court has just awarded him $1450. Owners of barking dogs, take notice.

It is proposed to change the time of the annual election from March to September; also to have the legislature assemble in September instead of June.

The school committee of a town in Merrimack county, began its annual report in the following eloquent style:

Fellow-Citizens — Since we were called on to report the condition of schools, we unconsciously have moved through space at the rapid rate of about sixty-nine thousand miles per hour, at the mean distance of ninety-three millions of miles from the fountain-head of light. As we have been moving on a circular plane orbit, we are to-day at the same distance from the sun of our solar system that we were a year ago—no farther, no nearer. And how will this compare (you will ask,) with the condition of our schools in reference to the fountain-head of knowledge? We will try and give a true, faithful and impartial report. You desire no learned disquisition; nothing but simple facts," etc.

It has been decided that Miss Perkins shall remain at the Charles street school, Newburyport, and that an assistant teacher shall be appointed.

A distressed-looking individual, who had been summoned to serve as a juror in Philadelphia, asked the judge to excuse him, because he had conscientious scruples against sending to prison; there was too much false swearing; he had been there, and knew how it was himself.

The public debt was reduced $1,644,-008.97 in March.

—Rafting is the prevailing popular amusement with juveniles this month. The boy whose parents own the pond is generally chosen captain of the craft. The craft quite frequently consists of a couple of boards the captain's father has laid away to season. The captain stands at the bow and hollers, and the other officers, whose claim to the berth rests principally on the fact that they have dry pants at home, stand at the stern and spatter water on outsiders who are on the shore, with their hands in their breeches pocket and guile in their hearts. They thus navigate for hours at a time, and then fight over the distance they have made and finally go home to see their parents about it, and are dried with a bed cord, and are put to bed, where they can feel of their injuries without molestation.

—An English critic says that "when the history of American literature comes to be written the name of Samuel Langhorne Clemens will be mentioned among its founders." The critic expects thanks for the remark, being ridiculously ignorant of the fact that Mr. Clemens' main purpose in life thus far has been to keep his middle name from the knowledge of a confiding public.—Rochester Chronicle.

—A woman recently tendered to a clerk of the San Francisco Post Office ninety-nine coppers, for which she demanded thirty-three stamps. Being told that she could only legally tender four coppers, she began to pace the corridor in great wrath, calling occasionally at the window until she had made thirty-three separate tenders of the coppers and had received thirty-three three-cent stamps.

—At a hotel in Troy a washerwoman unconsciously gathered up a baby with the soiled clothes and carried it off in her basket. The mother missed her infant, and after diligent search the landlord found it at the laundry, unwashed and unmangled.

—What requires more philosophy than taking things as they come? Parting with things as they go.

—AMERICANS look with pride upon the money premiums for exceeding merit awarded exhibitors from this country at European International Exhibitions. Especially are Walter Baker & Co., of Boston, to be commended for securing and wearing the first premiums at the Paris exposition for the finest preparations of Chocolate and Cocoa, although coming in competition with the whole world as well as the most celebrated French manufacturers. The 1200 pictures in Burleigh & Co's great sale, were awarded among the ticket-holders, at the Franklin House, Monday evening, by the following committee, chosen from the large audience present—(which included many ladies)—E. D. Coffin, Henry C. Walker, John H. Knox, C. A. Wiggin, Wm. Gardenley, Jr., Portsmouth; John W. Wentworth, Calvin L. Hayes, Robert Briard, Emery; Joseph O. Simpson, Greenland. The pictures will be delivered at Burleigh & Co.'s store, on and after Thursday. The 100 best pictures only were announced by the committee; but every ticket not called by them will receive a $1 chromo or other picture.

Wonderful Entertainment!

The public will have abundant opportunity to rigidly scrutinize these manifestations, as a Committee of their own selection will conduct this marvellous performance and report on the above phenomena.

These profoundly mysterious Phenomena are now being experimentally investigated by the Scientists of the Old and New World, and Master Hough has been subject to the closest scrutiny, and to tests of the severest character by Scientific Gentlemen and Members of the Press, in the principal cities of the United States, who unanimously acknowledge that the Manifestations are inexplicable on known laws.

During the evening's Seance, selections will be made from the following manifestations, exhibiting both the Chemical and Physical power of Master Hough as a medium.

☞ Gentlemen are requested to bring Handcuffs and Waxed Cords to secure the youth.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The New City Government

Was sworn in at the Court House, Tuesday morning. The Common Council was called to order by Mr. Henry A. Yeaton, Clerk of last year's Board, and Mr. Charles A. Hazlett was chosen President pro tem. On motion of Councilman Charles E. Simpson, it was voted to notify the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the temporary organization of the Council. Both Boards then met together, and the oath of office was administered to Mayor Marvin, by the City Clerk. The Mayor then administered the oath to the Aldermen and Councilmen, after which the convention rose.

The Common Council then balloted for a President with the following result:—

Whole No. Votes	10
Neo for a choice	5
Charles C. Akerman	9
John W. Prior	1

and Mr. Chas. C. Akerman was declared elected and on taking the chair made a brief speech of thanks, stating that he would serve in the position to the best of his ability.

On balloting for a clerk of the Board, Mr. Henry A. Yeaton was unanimously chosen, receiving ten votes. The oath was administered by James P. Bartlett, Esq.

On motion of Councilman Wm. H. Lovell, the Board of Mayor and Aldermen was notified that the organization of the Common Council had been perfected. Both Boards then met in convention and balloted for City Clerk. Hon. Marcellus Bufford was chosen, receiving all the votes cast, eighteen. He took the oath of office administered by James P. Bartlett, Esq. Prayer was then offered by Rev. James De Normandie, after which the Mayor delivered an address, of which we give an abstract.

The city debt is $207,700, having been reduced $39,700 last year, principally by the transfer of bonds from government for bounty claims. There is in the hands of the City Treasurer $31,500, making the net debt $176,200, not counting the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad liabilities. The amount of $33,200 is due this year, of which $1700 must be raised by taxation; bonds to the amount of $2700, due some years ago, have not been presented for payment. The State and county taxes the present year exceed those of last year by $9503. The Mayor made a lengthy statement regarding the action of the city government of 1872 in giving aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad and said that the whole amount of subscriptions to the Road by individuals is $96,500, all paid in.

The police force should be well disciplined, and the Mayor expressed his convictions that the dignity of the position of chief magistrate of the city should be maintained and that he should have absolute power in discharging unfaithful officers, if necessary, thinking that the possession of such power will go far towards removing cause of complaint. A small, well disciplined and well paid force is sufficient for the protection of the city. A reduction of the force of night police, from six in number to four, and an increase of pay, would be beneficial, the fact that the bank watchman are vigilant and about the vicinity of Market Square being sufficient cause for the reduction.

The Mayor closed his address, which was generally well complimented by those who heard it, by praising the "improving condition" of the streets, on which $9,334.86 were expended the past year, complimenting the fire department so efficiently managed, and saying the bill for the reorganization of the department was defeated by the Common Council. He said the city was possessed of the best machines for the extinction of fires that skilled labor could produce, including, we presume, that light and airy, easily moved and always useful go-cart, Steamer No 1. The Mayor's opinion that energetic measures should be at once taken to obtain a greater supply of water, will meet the approval of our citizens generally. Two reservoirs were built last year and have proved a success.

The Mayor was exceedingly eulogistic of the City Clerk, whose devotion to his duties and efficiency cannot be too greatly praised, gave the faithful City Physician a merited compliment for his activity and promptness in preventing the spread of small pox, only three deaths from that disease having resulted, and had a good word for the Superintendent of the City Farm, as eminently "the right man in the right place;" but when he chose to say that the schools of Portsmouth compare favorably with those of other cities, we were inclined to wonder if there is another city in New England where so little progress is made in the common sense branches of education as in the High Schools of the municipality known, in olden times, as "Strawberry Bank."

The Mayor gives in his adhesion to the universal sentiment of our citizens and recommends the appropriation of a liberal sum by the city government for specific purposes to be expended at the coming reunion of the Sons and Daughters under direction of officers of the city. He says the coming host will be heartily welcomed, and he isn't too enthusiastic in the matter, either, for if the city government will be as liberal as the citizens wish, the reunion will be a grand success. The city of Dover is desirous of uniting with this city in a celebration commemorating the settlement of the two places, 250 years ago, next Fall, but at present the reunion is uppermost in the minds of Portsmouth people. Let us hope, with the Mayor, that each and every member of the new city government will do their duty during their term of office, "wisely and well."

After the adjournment of both Boards, short calls were made by the Mayor, Aldermen and Councilmen at the engine houses and High Schools.

Bloodgood's Combination.

It is well known that Bloodgood always brings a first-rate show to Portsmouth, and our readers will be pleased to have the opportunity afforded to see the new stars they bring with them this week. The New Haven Register says of them:

The execution of the difficult feats performed by La Belle Celeste and Charles Matthews, is wonderful. La Belle Celeste will make the terrific leap from the gallery, leaving her bar and passing through the air, 14 feet, and catching Mr. C. C. Matthews by the hands. Mr. C. C. Matthews in his famous act "Cloud Swing, or at home in the Air," is unequalled. Messrs. Walters and Morton, in song and dance, can carry off the palm from all competitors, and will appear in a new style this evening. Bloodgood himself is brim full of talent, and executes his various impersonations to perfection, creating great merriment among the audience. Miss Lisle Ridell looked very charming and sang very prettily. Jimmy Manning, the dashing artist and character vocalist, is one of the best in his line. In fact the acting of the entire company is without reproach.

The Barnabee Concert.

A short time ago, a committee of the Mercantile Library Association, entered into correspondence with Mr. Henry C. Barnabee, who replies as follows:—

Messrs. James C. Brown, Thos. E. O. Marvin, Wm. H. Sise and John H. Cheever—Gentlemen:

Your favor was duly received. As one of the original founders of that institution, the M. L. A. of Portsmouth, I am glad to know that there is a prospect of its being again started on its career of usefulness.

My earliest public effort was made in the presence of its members, and to the confidence there obtained I owe much of the success which has attended my later, though still humble efforts.

I shall be glad and happy to assist you in any way possible.

The "Barnabee Troupe" make a trip eastward in the week of April, commencing Monday, the 14th.

I had already engaged the "Temple" for Tuesday, April 15th. I am engaged in the enterprise with another party, and as the expenses are large and the risk considerable, I cannot make you a sharer to the extent that I would like, but I will make it satisfactory. Any assistance which you can render in helping me to fill the house—I should like to see the Temple full once—will be gratefully appreciated. With my best wishes for ample success in your endeavors to place the M. L. A. on a sure foundation, I remain,

Yours very truly,
H. C. BARNABEE.

That Bequest.

Messrs. Editors:—I am neither learned in, nor particularly fond of, the law; in fact, about the only acquaintance I ever had with it was when I sued a fellow once. Previous to this suit I had always supposed myself a very fair sort of citizen; but before the case was half through I found out that I was the chief of sinners, and that my having escaped the gallows so long was a striking commentary on the merciful disposition of the general public. Then they wound up the fun by making me pay a lot of money to the other chap, as "exemplary damages"—the only "exemplary" thing about the whole business, that I could see. From this experience, you may readily suppose that I am not greatly enamored of the courts; yet I do respect some of the gentlemen of the legal profession, and one of those who stand highest in my estimation is Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett. Your evening contemporary therefore touched me in a tender place when it said, (after it had asked if Mr. Hackett would "rise to explain" matters concerning the Cutts bequest for improving Richards Avenue,) "many people express the opinion that while the sum of twenty thousand dollars earns good interest, the trustees will be in no haste to expend it." I cannot believe that the sentence I have quoted was intended to convey the impression that the trustees are purposely delaying matters in order that they may personally benefit by the bequest, yet it is certainly well calculated to convey that impression. It would be "a work of supererogation" to defend Mr. Hackett from an insinuation of betraying or neglecting any trust reposed in him; and the facts in this case are, if I am correctly informed, that the trustees will not realize any personal advantage whatever from the fund, beyond the privilege of giving their services for nothing, and that the Massachusetts courts have not yet placed the bequest where the trustees can do anything at all with it. If any person wants to try to hurry up the courts, he may; I don't; I had enough of courts a good while ago. Yours,

EX. DAM.

A Suggestion.

As a citizen who takes a great interest in the approaching return of the Sons of Portsmouth, I would like to take up a small space in your paper in regard to the Independent Military Company being organized here. I understand that it is composed of the best young men in the city; and of course our citizens one and all will feel proud of them, and would like to see them appear in as bright and dashing uniforms as possible, say red caps with white plume, red swallow-tail coats and dark blue pants; they would then look the most brilliant in the procession, and it would not cost any more than the grey, which I understand they are to adopt. A red opera flannel would be light and comfortable and would not fade a great deal, and could be had for 75 cts. per yard; and besides red would not draw the heat to any greater degree than any other color. But if they insist on having grey, let them by all means have the coats cut swallow-tail, and Maj. Tilton, Capt. Tredick and all the rest would look better, and decidedly more military in swallow-tails than in jackets. Jackets would look too much like the celebrated High School Cadets of a few years ago.

CITIZEN AND SUBSCRIBER.

Laconics.

We have been shown a copy of "The Mother's Guide," a book for the instruction of young mothers in the management of infants. It is replete with practical information in relation to the subject matter contained in it, and if carefully studied will be a valuable aid to the proper rearing of children, about which there is so much ignorance. The agent for this city and vicinity is Mr. John Mead, an affable gentleman well adapted to the disagreeable duties of a canvasser.

The first appearance of Master De Witt C. Hough at Congress Hall drew a large audience, who were amused and highly entertained by the coat doffing, knot untying and other remarkable demonstrations, which it is claimed is done by spirit influence. Mrs. Stoddard and young Hough stay for only one more exhibition, at the same place, this evening. Admission 25 cents.

Some two or three months ago a lady lost a gold watch on Daniel street, in the daytime, but though the loss was promptly advertised in the local papers, and a suitable reward offered for the return of the watch, the finder did not make himself known. City Marshal Johnson at length became satisfied that a man named Hiram C. Norcross, residing in Wenham, Mass., had the watch, and after making several trips to that place without being able to find him, a few days ago managed to secure an interview, the result being that Norcross came to this city on Tuesday and restored the watch to its owner,—and actually received a reward for his "honesty!"

The late Augustus F. Dixon was insured in the Mutual Life Insurance Co., Henry A. Yeaton, agent, to the amount of $1500.

The steamer Clara Bateman, Capt. Rand, having received extensive repairs during the past winter, will take the river in a short time, when Capt. Rand will be ready to answer all calls for a powerful and reliable tug or for the transportation of pleasure parties. The steamer has been fitted with new boilers and had her engines thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and will also receive a new deck house and the needful coats of paint, before being again put on the river; and we hope the skillful and courteous skipper will receive the encouragement his enterprise deserves during the coming season.

Mr. Andrew J. Grace, of Kittery, slipped and fell in Neal's shipyard, on Monday, and broke his knee-pan.

KEEP THE ANIMALS OFF THE FIELDS. The first sight of grass has a tendency to tempt farmers to turn out their animals on to the land as soon as the snow disappears. Under any circumstances this may be put down as a bad practice, especially allowing the mow lands to be run over while in a wet and soft condition, to say nothing of the knawing off of the crown of the grass plants. Better pay a high price for a little hay, and add to it a liberal supply of meal, and keep the animals in the barn until May, or until the ground shall have become settled, and the grass shall have a fair start. Such a course will be better for the land, for the animals and of course for the owner. Don't be guilty of lessening the chances for a hay crop by feeding the fields this spring. And, so far as this matter is concerned, there is no sort of doubt that it is one of the very worst practices, to turn the cattle into the fields at any season of the year. It is a very common practice in the fall, but certainly is a very bad one. So far as our observation goes, fields thus fed do not produce scarcely half as much as they would under a more judicious treatment.

—An illusion of absent-mindedness is told of an excitable young drug clerk, who filled his customer's bottle with the liniment desired, and receiving therefor a nice new twenty-five cent shinplaster, pasted it on the bottle and put the label in the cash drawer.

To provide means for this magnificent Concert, One Hundred Thousand Whole Tickets only will be issued.

Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; and Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 orders.

The object of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal approval, is the enlargement and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most eminent citizens of the United States. The sale of tickets has already progressed so far that complete success is assured, and buyers are therefore notified that they must order at once if they desire to participate in the drawing.

The management of this undertaking has been committed by the trustees to Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, to whom communications pertaining to the Gift Concert may be addressed.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country. It is the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,157,869.55. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to the business. Address, branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of upmost date reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS, CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, COUGH.

By R. V. PIERCE M. D., Of Buffalo, N. Y.

CONSUMPTION.—The great prevalence of this disease, and its fatal results, are well calculated to enlist our best efforts for its cure. What is Consumption? It is a disease of the lungs produced by an acrid and impure condition of the blood, which circulating through these most delicate organs, poisons and irritates their tissues and invites the scrofulous humors of the blood, causing the deposition of tubercles and establishing local scrofula. Another prolific exciting cause of the development of scrofulous disease of the lungs, or tubercle or consumption, is Chronic Nasal Catarrh, which extending along the mucous lining membrane of the throat, trachea and bronchial tubes, finally attacks the substance of the lungs, and here establishes such an irritation as to invite the blood to deposit its burden of impurities in these organs. Consumption itself is not so often hereditary as is generally supposed. That a condition of low vitality may be transmitted from parents to children is unquestionably true. It is this deficiency of vitality which is inherited—a weakness which makes nutrition imperfect, and leads to the deposit of tubercles. But thousands of persons who inherit feeble vitality would never suffer from consumption if the functions of the system were kept correct and the blood pure. When the liver becomes torpid, and but very imperfectly pours off the effete, poisonous materials of the blood, the lungs, as has before been shown, become irritated. The general health becomes broken down, and the person feels languid, weak, faint, drowsy and confused. Pain in the right side, in the region of the liver, and sympathetic pain in the shoulders and spine, and through the lungs, is generally complained of. The patient has a dry, hacking cough—that liver Cough! Small minute tubercles are developed in the lungs, and perhaps exist for months all unknown to their victim. Nothing is done to remove the tubercles by the ordinary treatment. Cough is only a symptom of the disease, yet this only is aimed at in the usual treatment.

There is no rational way to cure consumption except to purify the blood. Those poisonous materials in the blood which cause the tubercles must be thrown off by exciting the liver to action. Vitality must be supported, the system nourished and built up, and the development of tubercles thus prevented. Remove the blood poison by restoring the action of the liver, and the cough, which is only a symptom of the real disease, is relieved. You thereby strike at the root of incipient consumption and cure the patient.

From the properties and remedial effects of my Golden Medical Discovery, the reader will readily understand why it has been so successful in curing this fatal malady.

With it I have arrested the hacking and harassing cough, the night sweats and hectic fever of the consumptive invalid, snatched from the jaws of death and restored to health and happiness many who, but for my Discovery, must soon have fallen victims to that relentless foe. God, I believe, has instilled into the roots and plants from which this wonderful medicine is extracted, the healing properties, by the use of which Consumption, the scourge of the human family, may in its early stages be promptly arrested and permanently cured. I do not wish to delude, flatter, and then disappoint the afflicted by asserting that this can be accomplished when the lungs are half consumed, as many do who, being devoid of all conscience, aim to humbug the afflicted that they may sell their often worse than worthless compounds.

But if my Golden Medical Discovery is employed in the first or early stages of the disease, I know from ample observation and actual tests in hundreds of cases, that it will positively arrest the disease and restore health and strength. From its wonderful power over this terrible disease, I thought strongly of calling it my Consumptive cure; but from the fact that it is a perfect specific for the sore throat and hoarseness to which ministers and other public speakers and singers are subject and also for Bronchitis, and all severe coughs, and is an invaluable remedy for disease of the Liver, and also as a Blood Purifier, I decided not to apply to it a name which might mislead and prevent its use in other diseases for which it is so admirably adapted. I wish to mention a most wonderful nutritive property which it possesses, and which so peculiarly adapts it to the wants of the consumptive and the scrofulous. The nutritive properties possessed by Cod Liver Oil are trifling when compared with those possessed by my Discovery. It is astonishing to see how it builds up the solid muscle, and increases the flesh and weight of those whose systems are reduced below the usual standard of perfect health.

BRONCHITIS.—This is an irritation or inflammation of the bronchial tubes, which carry the air we breathe into the lungs. It arises from a cold settled in the throat, from catarrh extending to these parts, from scrofulous affections, and from severe use of the vice. The irritation from this latter cause commences in the larynx and glottis, which are the organs of the voice, and extending downward, produces sore throat, hoarseness, coughing and spitting of mucous matter, sometimes mixed with blood. It is chiefly dangerous from its tendency to spread into the lungs, and terminate in consumption. Those afflicted with it should avoid the irritating causes which have brought it on, such as too much use of the voice, inhalation of irritating substances, or colds which settle in the throat. It cannot be an extension of Catarrh from the head, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy should be used until the Catarrh is cured. In treating Bronchitis, mucilaginous drinks of slippery elm bark, or gum arabic, should be used to assist in soothing the local irritation.

My Golden Medical Discovery should be taken in teaspoonful doses every two or three hours. A wanted position applied to the extreme upper part of the chest is very commendable as an assistant. In obstinate cases, a vesicant is often advantageous, care being had, of course, to avoid taking cold. Should the bowels incline to be costive, they must be kept loose and free by small laxative doses of my Purgative Pellets repeated daily. It is in the cure of severe and obstinate cases of this disease that my Golden Medical Discovery has achieved unparalleled success, and won the loudest praise from all who have used it.

Consumption.—Cough is not a disease, but simply a symptom by which various diseased conditions of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs manifest themselves. But whether it arises from the irritation produced in the throat and larynx by taking cold, from an attack of Bronchitis, from incipient Consumption, or from various other causes, nothing will allay it more speedily or cure it more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does not matter whether it may be a recent or acute attack, or a lingering or chronic cough, my Discovery is in either case equally well adapted for its relief and permanent cure. In fact, I believe it will cure a cough in one half the time necessary to cure it with any other medicine, and it does it not by drying it up, but by removing the cause, subduing the irritation and healing the affected parts.

No time should be lost in commencing the use of a proper medicine for the relief of a Cough, for unless this course is pursued, serious and dangerous disease of the lungs is liable to result. My Discovery is wrapped with a pamphlet giving full directions for its use in colds and coughs, also advice as to other valuable means which may be employed to aid the Discovery in breaking up a cold and subduing the cough.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1873.

Wreck of Steamship Atlantic.

A little more than a year ago, the White Star line of steamships began running between Queenstown and New York, and being considered swift, comfortable and safe, at once became the favorite line of European travellers on account of the unrivaled magnificence of their accomodations. The steamers are compared to great floating hotels, and are so nearly alike that a description of one would answer for all. They are between 420 and 450 feet long and very low and narrow, giving the appearance of a size much greater than they really are. The steamers each have four masts, and are the fastest that cross the Atlantic. The Adriatic last May made the fastest trip ever known, the time from Queenstown to New York having been seven days, sixteen hours and fifty-five minutes. The average passage of the steamers is nine days. Indeed about everything seemed to be sacrificed to speed and elegance, and there has been in many a distrust of the seaworthiness of the steamers. Enough passengers had already been booked to insure crowded cabins all summer.

Steamship Atlantic of this line, from Liverpool March 20, for New York touched at Queenstown, Ireland, on the 21st, where she cooled, and on leaving had a full cargo, with 800 steerage passengers and fifty in the cabin, making with her crew about 1038 souls. On the 31st, when 400 miles from Halifax, the coal gave out. During the trip a succession of heavy head winds and rough weather had been experienced; in endeavoring to make the port of Halifax, the vessel entered a dense fog and ran by the mouth of the harbor, past Sambro Light, something like twenty miles, and around the west side of the peninsula on to Meagher's Rocks, near Cape Prospect, striking heavily at two o'clock, on the morning of April 1st.

Mr. Brady, third officer of the Atlantic, who was saved, says he was in his berth at the time and was thrown out by the shock. Running on deck, he seized an axe and began to clear away the starboard life-boat. He observed that the captain and other officers were engaged in clearing the other boats. Mr. Brady succeeded in getting his life-boat out, and there was a push for it. This was the only boat launched, and it had no sooner touched the water than a crowd made a rush to get into it. Mr. Brady had to use force to prevent them from crowding in. He put two women in, and about dozen men also got in. Just then the steamer fell over and sank. The boat, with its living freight, was carried down with the steamer, and all in it were drowned. The hull of the steamer became almost totally submerged and only the bow and the masts remained above water. The greater part of the passengers were in their rooms below at the time, and were immediately drowned. Indeed, so soon after striking did the vessel sink that many of the passengers were no doubt sleeping peacefully in ignorance of all that was going on around them, and passed into eternity without a struggle. Of those on deck, numbering several hundred; many were washed overboard when the ship fell over. Many, however, had taken refuge in the rigging and on the bow, and were still living, but with the prospect of almost certain death before them, for they knew not where they were, and were in momentary expectation of the ship sinking and engulfing them all. Even as they were, clinging to the rigging in desperation, with the sea washing them continuously, their situation was most trying, and every few minutes some of them, benumbed by the cold and exhausted from their struggles, loosed their hold and perished.

Mr. Brady scrambled into the mizzen rigging, which was above water. Seeing that he could do nothing there he went forward, and unrove the halyards, being assisted by Speakman and Owen, quartermasters. Mr. Brady took the halyards, and all three swam to the rock, and then a line was hauled ashore and a number of passengers landed by it. A number had got on the rock, but as the tide was rising their position was no better than on the vessel. Just then the fishermen on shore came out in boats and rescued those on the rock and a large number from the rigging. Brady remained at the scene until noon, when all who were alive on board had been saved, except the chief officer, Mr. Frith, who was in the rigging shouting for help. Brady says he tried to get a crew to go out to rescue Frith, but the sea was so heavy that nobody would volunteer. Altogether about 250 were saved, including Captain Williams, the fourth officer, Mr. Brown, the doctor, and several engineers and sailors. Not a single woman or child was saved. About 700 persons were drowned, two-thirds of them being women and children.

The Atlantic was an iron ship, and was built at Belfast, Ireland, in 1871. She had a capacity of 3723 tons, and her draft was 22 feet. The length of the boat was 410 feet, the breadth 40 feet and 9 inches, and the depth 23 feet. She carried four masts, and had six bulkheads.

The immediate cause of the disaster was the pilot mistaking Prospect Head light for that on Cape Sambro. This statement is made by one of the rescued officers. At two o'clock, by mistaking the Prospect Light for Sambro Light, she ran on Meagher's Rock, struck three or four times heavily, and before scarce an effort could be made to save the passengers she keeled over on her beam ends and sank. Great blame is attached to the captain on account of the vessel being short of coal. This is regarded as downright carelessness on the part of that official, and entirely different from his usual conduct in the control of the vessel. A statement is made that the vessel was short of coal on account of the advance in the price in England, the owners of the vessel being resolved to economize the use of fuel. The steamer was short of fuel when only ten days out of port, though she only burned fifty tons a day.

Readables.

A passenger train from Boston on the Boston and Maine railroad, Monday night, ran into an engine which was standing upon the track near the junction with the Maine Central. The cow-catchers, head-lights, etc., were smashed. The passengers were badly shaken up, but not much hurt.

A tornado visited Franklin, Williamson county, Tennessee, Tuesday, and left scarcely a whole building in the place. One person was injured.

Daniel S. Marsh has confessed to drowning his little child in Charlestown, Mass., in August, 1872.

Charles M. Barras, author of "The Black Crook," who was injured by jumping from a railroad train near Stamford on Sunday, died on Monday.

They always do things energetically out West. A St. Paul man sneezed, one day, and so strained his spinal column that he has been helpless ever since.

New York Correspondence.

The Present Universalist Church—The Women in the Reunion—The Portsmouth New-Yorkers—Oldest Sea—Advent of Barnum—Barnum vs. Bennett.

I regret to have excited the ire of any who a writing of that "delightful Universalist Church, before its alteration." I w it as long and as loud as any contend for its great present beauty, both in its exterior and interior, and I sincerely thank the gentlemen, who in their undue haste to modernize the church, did raze the graceful pulpit that in memory seems to us the purity of architectural elegance, and did level to the unbeautiful "slip" those historical box-pews, yet secured to coming generations, the symmetrical spire, the magnificent dome, and, more than all else, that blessed inscription, that has possessed the souls and sweetened the lives of the many men and women who have been the happy recipients of its silent but its resistless teaching, "God is Love." In all the after years of eloquence and logic and cheer of Chapin, King, Goodrich, Ballou, Brooks and others, their words seem only the echo of that perpetual flowering sermon of our boyhood.

We are rejoiced at the woman movement in connection with "The Reunion," for, while it will be of great service at home and make success a surety, it is invaluable out here, where the ladies have said to the whiskered absents, "thats all very nice, you have your fine music, you march in processions, receive the bouquets and kisses that are thrown to you, go to the dinner, listen to and make your speeches; you are received! Won't you please to tell us just what we are to do, what part we have in the play." To all such badinage, when repeated, respectfully referred to the Ladies General Committee.

The "born in Portsmouth" New Yorkers are thoroughly organized, and well at work, hoping and striving that upon the coming 4th, not one shall be left behind. The committees are live, earnest men, and will honor their native city and themselves in the result of their well-directed efforts. Our estimable friend, James W. Emery, Esq., of the firm of John T. Wilson & Co., is now, among the Sons, the earliest resident in New York. He left Portsmouth in the year 1828, and has been in busy, active pursuits to the present writing. We all hope that he may be the oldest son for many years in the future. The postal and travelling facilities, between the two cities have, in his business life, been much changed. A letter, now three cents prepaid, has been eighteen and three-quarters cents not prepaid; now the journey is counted in hours, then in days. It was an old-fashioned salutation, "What's new?" In the advance of New York civilization that question has passed out of use. The same evening papers that published three or four columns of the last hours of Foster, contained as many columns of the shocking details of the Goodrich murder. "There's a woman in it," says an old anchorite, and it does test the ingenuity of a gallant gentleman to account for the presence and participation of the sex in most of the recent murders. Had the foolish girl who was leered at in the street-car gone to her seat, as she should, the lives of Putnam and Foster would have been spared, and the State saved a lasting disgrace. The murders of Fisk, O'Neil and Goodrich all seem to be consummations in which women have been, perhaps, unwilling agents. The action of Gov. Dix is not much criticised, because, at this juncture, no matter how unwise the law, or how mistaken the verdict, the community are afraid of any precedent that shall affect the enforcement of the statute where crime is fully established. We believe Judge Pierpont to be entirely right in his letter to the governor, when he claims that Foster's execution "though against the law and evidence, would be the beginning of the end of the death penalty." When that disgrace shall be wiped from our statutes, then crime will be proven, and when proven, punished; and with penalties in accord with the teachings of Christ, and the time in which we live, not that of thousands of years ago.

The great showman, Barnum, has made his so-called triumphal march, through the city to-day. We believe in genius, and have some choice too in the mode of its development, but, with all the untruth and shamelessness of this man, one instinctively likes his daring and persistency. He has great power for good, but in no sense is he an example. He insults any American community in his boasting of such exploits as Joyce Heth, the Woolly Horse, the What Is It, the Imported Goat, and other notorious humbugs. He announces to-day a three-mile procession, and the boys and girls are all out to see. "Where's your three miles?" say they all. "Oh, that's one of Barnum's three miles," say they again. Isn't that a repute to be wished for. Mr. Barnum's genius crops out in cunning and impudence. In the fall of 1871, he leased for two months the American Institute Building, announcing it in all of the city papers, save the Herald. Mr. Bennett had not forgotten the old theatrical war made upon him, led by Barnum, and he had said and meant it, that he "would not advertise for Barnum for $10,000 a line." Jointly with Barnum's advertisements at this time, there appeared in the Herald a long advertisement of the proprietors of the London Zoological Institute, claiming that they had leased the American Institute Building, and should produce a mammoth show. On the following day another advertisement was issued by them, containing a letter from Barnum threatening injunction and damages, they answering it in threats at the "great humbug showman," and declaring their intention to open and continue their performance in spite of any of Barnum's threats. The public was greatly excited, knowing the resources and fighting powers of both parties. Each succeeding Herald contained a new and longer advertisement of the Londoners, each consisting in part of one or more fresh letters of Barnum, until the building was opened by Barnum with his usual display, peacefully and successfully performing for the term of his lease. It was afterwards developed that the London Institute knew nothing of the matter whatever, and that the entire series of advertisements were written and paid for by Barnum, Bennett being the unconscious and indignant victim of his old enemy. The conception of such a scheme is possible with but few other men than Barnum.

The Sunday school scholars of the M. E. church have presented Rev. C. M. Dinsmore, the retiring pastor, with an elegant Cassell Bible worth $25.

Messrs. Editors:—Mayor Marvin states in his inaugural address that the cities of Portsmouth and Dover have paid up in full their subscriptions to the Portsmouth & Dover railroad and the other subscribers the amount of their assessments; flesh and fish, already? By the way, it appears its contractors have been sued for labor!

THE WESTINGHOUSE BRAKE.—There was a private exhibition of the Westinghouse air brake, in practical operation, on the line of the Eastern railroad, Tuesday. A large number of persons, including the Earl of Caithness, Scotland, and several of the most prominent managers of railroads centering in Boston, took a special train from the Causeway street station at eleven o'clock, and proceeded to the "scene of action," on the East Boston branch, below Revere station. Here Mr. Westinghouse explained the workings of the air brake in a very interesting way, and gave a detailed description of the new auxiliary apparatus, which is set in operation by merely pulling a cord suspended in each car, and which not only apprizes the engineer of the danger, but works instantly in locking the brake in that and every car. A series of experiments were next instituted, which exhibited the efficiency of the Westinghouse brake in a remarkable degree. The train, while going at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, on a down grade of forty feet to the mile, was, on signal by Superintendent Prescott, brought to a stand-still in nineteen seconds, having run, after the application of the brake, five hundred and seventy-nine feet. In the next experiment, the train, with the engine throttle "wide open," and under a pressure of one hundred and twenty-eight pounds of steam, was stopped in twenty-five seconds, and within a distance of seven hundred and ninety-six feet. Then followed an interesting experiment, showing how, if the connection between any two cars of a train is broken, by that act the brake is put in motion, and the sections of the train, at a uniform distance are brought to a stand-still gradually, and in almost precisely the same time. The train, which, at the time of breaking connection, was going at the rate of about forty miles an hour, was stopped in eighteen seconds, within the distance of six hundred and twenty-one feet.

One of the heavy items which went to increase the public debt was $1,324,000 drawn by the disbursing officers of the House and Senate on account of the additional compensation of Congressmen. But for this unusual draft the decrease of the debt for the month would have been within a small fraction of three millions.

—A woman living near Nashville, named Hannah, is very anxious to marry. One of her neighbors, who knows full well Hannah's ambition, told her if she could look away over to Farmer Sheldon's barn, some three miles off, and see a hen's egg on the gable end of it, she would be married within sixty days. Taking a commanding position Hannah commenced her gaze of love. After a long and earnest look, she was asked if she could "discover the egg?" "Well," said Hannah, "I can just make out the outlines of the egg, but I can't see the barn."

—The heart of a deacon afflicted with the inevitable contribution-box, at a recent meeting for foreign missions was gladdened by observing among its contents a neatly-rolled package that one could easily imagine to be a "check," or something of that agreeable nature. On hastily investigating, his former belief in the depravity of human nature was changed to a certainty by discovering one dollar and a cent, and upon the paper the following: "The cent is for the heathen, and the dollar to get it to them."

—A very patient mathematician has been in the habits of pasting away for reference all items relating to vast English estates which have fallen to American heirs. He footed up four years' accumulations recently, and found the aggregate exceeded by one hundred and thirty-nine millions the appraised value of Great Britain. He didn't count in the Geneva award either.

We commend to our readers the new-fashioned three-decker hats for theatre, concert, opera, and church use. They are constructed with a window in front and rear to enable persons sitting behind the wearer to see what is going on.—Harper's Weekly.

TEMPERANCE MEETING IN RAYMOND. Very spirited union meetings have been held on Sabbath evenings in the course of the late cold season. They have been fully attended and highly interesting. No lectures have been given, but several gentlemen in town have discussed the principles of the reform, and there has been some assistance by Revs. Edgerly of New Durham, Stearns of Epping and the pastor of Belknap church in Dover.

On one point there has been some difference of opinion and on that there has been an animated, yet courteous discussion. This was as to how those engaged in the liquor traffic should be treated. A stranger in town, not well versed in facts, early in the meetings with a great show of words condemned the execution of the law as carried on in the State, and urged that the traffic should be treated with kindness and love. This was met and answered by Rev. W. H. of this town, among the most able speakers we have over had here. He urged that the Most High does not love sin and wrong doers. We are never told to love other transgressors, such as liars, thieves and murderers. No great wrong is shown by fornicators and other violators of the seventh commandment, especially if the offender is a female. This great kindness, to those sending out the streams of destruction in the community is a false sentimentality, that does not take hold on reform, but is always very pleasing to those who patronize liquor places.

After this matter seemed adjusted, another stranger came to town to lecture on a scientific subject. He spoke in one meeting and favored treating traffickers very kindly. It was repulsive to the feelings of the meeting. This he felt and was so embarrassed that he could not find what to say. The next evening in his scientific lecture he acknowledged that when an audience have no sympathy for the speaker nor confidence in what he said, it was difficult for him to speak.

The principle brain set fourth is an important one, here it is presented for consideration. What is truth relative to it? Let it be studied and found, then let it be the battle cry in the effort for reform. A CITIZEN.

"HOW'S TRICKS."—There is a lawyer in this city who, for the accommodation of his clients, has a speaking-tube leading from the main entrance of his building to his office, which is up just a few flights. For several days past a smart young wag named Swartz has amused himself by calling for the lawyer through the pipe, and then profanely ordering him to set out on an excursion to Tartarus. For some time this fun was taken in good part by the legal expounder of the new Code, until the fine humor of the joke no longer became apparent. Accordingly, one afternoon, the disciple of Blackstone provided himself with a tea-kettle of water, heated to about 210 degrees Fahrenheit, and waited alongside the pipe. Pretty soon the old, familiar sound came up through the pipe—

"Say, Cap, how's Tricks?"

"Tricks is better now—I guess he'll get well," responded the lawyer, reaching out after the tea-kettle.

"What's been the matter with him?"

"He got burnt."

"How?"

"I'll tell you in a minute."

"Oh, you go to——."

The lawyer had finished his last sentence, and then let a quart of scalding water down the pipe. Swartz had his mouth over it, and when the water struck it he was somewhat surprised. Water was apt to surprise him, but hot water was an unexpected novelty.

The man above poured in the water for about a minute, and then looked out of the window. The smart young man was getting along the sidewalk at a pretty lively gait, having evidently just got up from a sitting posture. He was trying to yell "Police," but couldn't articulate with much success. About half an hour afterward he found himself able to speak, and inquired, "Did that boiler explosion hurt anybody." San Francisco Chronicle.

—The only conveyance between Aberystwith and Aberayron is a two-horse wagonette. First, second and third-class fares are booked in this primitive conveyance, and the following curious distinction is made between the passengers: First-class passengers are allowed to retain their seats throughout the journey; second-class have to get out and walk up the hills, which are both numerous and steep, after the fashion of the Welsh hills; third-class have not only to get out at the steep places, but have to assist in pushing the vehicle up them. This arrangement works very well, but the pace is not great.—Court Journal.

—The first result of a new Sunday law in Lafayette, Ind., was the arrest of the city editor and five compositors of a morning paper, a milkman and twenty railway hands; and the sexions of the churches were notified not to ring the bells.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers: if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

Morning Chronicle.

—Western women think that people are growing over-fussy nowadays. If a man dies, and two or three grains of strychnine, or half a pound of arsenic, or an ounce or so of antimony be found in his stomach, his poor wife has to go off to prison, and go through a trial and see her name in the newspapers, and be acquitted, and neglect her sewing until she has not a thing fit to wear.

—Many young people are deterred from becoming members or attending church, because they are not willing to forego the pleasure of dancing, or attending theatrical performances; and are, therefore, deprived of the moral influences which a regular church attendance would secure to them.—New York Home Circle.

—An old bachelor said: "There's a sight more jewelry worn now-a-days than when I was young; but there's one place that I don't see now." "What is that?" asked a young lady. "A thimble," was the reply. He was regarded with contempt and scorn by every lady in the room for the rest of the evening.

—The Morristown (Pa.) Herald tells of a young woman who arose in her sleep, one night, and after partially dressing herself fell out of the window. She lit squarely on her bustle and bounded back into the room again; the shock awoke her, and she didn't know she had been out of the room.

OF

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

CONSUMPTION!

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of

Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest or Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaints, &c. &c.

CONSUMPTION

CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

Does not dry up a Cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens the phlegm from the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS,

and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signatures of "I. BUTTS," and the initial name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading stock, life insurance company of this country, and is the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual rates during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid in by the assured, and would have paid losses in the company. By the stock system, the company insures its policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1872, had a surplus of $1,131,502.66. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to efficient and reliable men who will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible disease engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Cough, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immes diate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine" so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no ideal cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it (before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &C. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lopulinn, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, tetaing, tumors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst case of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the most instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

AMONG THE TOILETTES.—Fashionable young ladies are on the qui vive for the new bonnet.

Trained skirts for the street have gone entirely out of fashion.

Embroidery will be the rage for spring and summer promenade costumes.

The English fashion of wearing gaiters is gaining a footing among some young gentlemen.

Amber, as a choice article of jewelry, well retains its ancient popularity.

Colored hose has been much worn by the ladies during the winter, scarlet being the fashionable hue.

Something new in lockets is a large Roman gold star, with a neat monogram in the centre.

In imitation of the gentlemen, certain ladies are wearing colored linen collars and cuffs.

Peach will be one of the fashionable colors this spring, especially for carriage toilettes.

There will be no shabby, rag bag Dolly Vardens next summer, for which Heaven be praised.

A new style of collar—French, we believe—is to have the first letter of the fair wearer's name embroidered thereon.

Roman sashes will be fashionable next summer, and are especially stylish and effective when worn with light muslin dresses.

Young married ladies wear a neat little lace breakfast cap, tied with gay-colored ribbon.

Jet will be extensively used in the trimming of the new bonnet, and feathers are to have a conspicuous place.

There is no decided change yet in the arrangement of the modern belle's hair, save she parts it on the side and covers her forehead with what our grandmammas called "spit curls."

A new style of feather trimming is called "peacock," and is intended to enhance dresses of black silk.

Long or pendant ear-rings have had their day, and now our fashionable ladies are wearing small stud-like bits of gold in their dainty ears.

We are promised an early revival of the old-fashioned lace collars, such as were worn by the excellent wife of G. Washington, Esq.

High combs, something after the Spanish style, "are all the rage." Those of jet or amber are most popular among those who can afford to buy them.

Dresses of Victoria lawn will be fashionable, extremely so, next summer, and if you want to, you can put embroidery on the skirt.

Chain bracelets of tortoise shell have been introduced. They are unpleasantly like handcuffs.

The Metternich sash is a wide piece of blue silk, with delicate bouquets of flowers worked thereon in charming profusion.

We do not make a rash or random assertion when we say that seven out of every ten so-called fashionable young ladies either paint or pencil their eyebrows. It is simply disgusting.

The new hat for ladies is a genuine sailor hat, turned up all round and ornamented with a bit of ribbon or buckle of plate. It is rather too rough and ready to be genteel.

Promenade costumes this spring are made of two or three different shades and kinds of material, and are the most curious and outre-looking outfits imaginable.

Six and eight-button gloves continue en regle for all full dress occasions. The style is so elegant that it seems destined to continue long in vogue.

Sleeveless jackets are to be revived in all their ancient glory, and with considerable modern adornment. Those of silk, heavily embroidered, are regarded the most fashionable.

Modern brides now wear two veils, one of long tulle falling down the back, and a shorter one, cut pointed, worn over the face.

A pretty fashion has been introduced of wearing natural flowers in the hair at evening parties, and has been met with great popularity.

Indian shawl costumes will be among the elegant styles of the spring. They are, as a matter of course, very expensive, consequently the fashion will not be very general.

The Chinese sunshade will be brought into requisition again next summer; also, the delicate affair of black lace over white satin and white coral handle.

Parchment paper is the largest upon which Dame Fortune insists invitations should be written. The envelopes correspond in style, and are such as Oliver Cromwell might have used.

Lace scarfs continue to be worn, both with the street and house costume. Guipure lace, we believe, is the favorite.

The newest French shoe is of black silk, embroidered with beads; and lacing at the side, high above the ankle. It has a thin sole and a small, flat heel.

Very large fans—a style introduced in the winter—will continue in vogue all summer. Those of white lace, with gilt or coral sticks, are particularly handsome.

George William Curtis has resigned his position as one of the advisory board of the civil service, of which he was not only chairman but the efficient and working member.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1873.

The Atlantic Disaster.

Later reports of the wreck of the steamship Atlantic show that there were aboard of the vessel 52 cabin passengers, 800 in the steerage and 143 officers and sailors. Those known to be saved number 430, and consequently the death roll is decreased to 545.

Patrick Leahy went into the forward steerage and had not been there but a few seconds when the crash came. With his chum, one Hogan, he instantly attempted to gain the deck but even in a moment the passage-ways had become blocked. Such was the startling nature of the shock that it had aroused passengers out of their berths and they rushed into the passages before they knew or thought of what was the matter. When Leahy reached the deck the ship had commenced to rock from side to side. Then there were few but the officers and crew visible. He saw several men jump overboard and sink. Some of them did not make an attempt to see what the danger was, but as in all cases of shipwreck, became dazed and ventured on the first chance of getting out of the vessel that presented itself. There were six life-boats swung to the deck, and these were taken possession of by men and several cast off, th others being swept away by the waves. All save one succumbed to the fury of the waves immediately and the occupants were drowned. When the water commenced to come into the steerage the passengers made for the hurricane deck. The captain shouted for any men who had life-belts or buoys, to rush into the sea or mount the rigging, as there were the only chances for life. Leahy and his chum immediately ascended the rigging after much trouble, and from thence had a good view of what was going on. "Then," said he, "I saw the first and an awful sight." It was just glimming day. A large mass of something drifted past the ship on top of a wave, and then was lost to view in the trough of the sea. As it passed by, a moan—it must have been a shriek, but the tempest dulled the sound—seemed to surge up from the mass, which extended over fifty yards of water. "What is that," asked Leahy of one next him. "Sea lions," said the man addressed, probably a foreigner who did not know that we had none such on our shores. "My God," said another, "it's the women;" and so it was. The sea swept them out of the steerage, and with their children to the number of two or three hundred they drifted thus to eternity. Leahy was in the rigging seven hours, moving up and down to keep his blood in circulation.

J. W. Firth, chief officer of the Atlantic, says, "All had been washed off the wreck except a woman, a boy and myself. The sea had become so rough that the boats could not venture near us. Soon the boy was washed off, but he swam gallantly and reached one of the boats in safety. I got a firm hold of the woman and secured her in the rigging. At two o'clock in the afternoon, after we had been in the rigging ten hours, Rev. Mr. Ancient, a Church of England clergyman, whose noble conduct I can never forget while I live, got a crew of four men to row him out to the wreck. He got into the main rigging, and then advanced as far as he could towards me, and threw it to me. I caught it, made it fast around my body, and jumped. A sea swept me off the wreck, but Mr. Ancient held fast to the line, pulled me back, and got me safe in the boat. I was then so exhausted and benumbed that I was hardly able to do anything for myself, and but for the clergyman's gallant conduct I must have perished soon. The woman after bearing up with remarkable strength under her great trials, had died two hours before Mr. Ancient arrived. Her half-nude body was still fast in the rigging, her eyes protruding, her mouth foaming, a terrible ghastly spectacle, rendered more ghastly by the contrast with the numerous jewels which sparkled on her hands. We had to leave her body there, and it is probably there yet.

There are few cases of such loss of life since the British frigates St. George and Defiance were wrecked off the coast of Jutland in 1811 and 2000 lives were lost; 446 lives were lost on the Royal Charter, wrecked on the Anglesea coast in 1859; 235 men were drowned in the Pomona, which was cast away on Black Water Bank the same year; 561 persons were lost on the Austria, which was burned in mid ocean; 186 people were on the Pacific, which disappeared in 1856, and 480 on the City of Glasgow, which disappeared in 1854; 300 were lost on the Arctic the same year off the coast of Newfoundland; 220 persons were lost on the Hungarian, off the same coast, in 1866, and 325 lives lost by the wreck of the Northfleet in the English Channel last January.

The dead body of an unknown man, found in the woods at Greenville, R. I., was removed to an undertaker's office, where a coroner's jury and three doctors were summoned to investigate the cause of death. On removing the clothing it was found that the man died from small-pox, and the consternation of the jury, the doctors, witnesses and officials may be better imagined than described. So many people were exposed, the town authorities at once ordered a general vaccination of the citizens.

It is stated that new circumstances have been brought to light in the Goodrich murder, which, if they prove to be correct, will make this one of the most startling and romantic murders ever committed. It is claimed that neither Roscoe nor Mrs. Myers had anything to do with the murder, and that Goodrich was killed on the morning his body was discovered. Private parties are working up the circumstances alluded to.

A hopeful youth in Tilton, about fourteen years old, stole $70 from his mother, and then started off on a spree with two other boys about the same age. They were arrested and locked up, but subsequently taken out by their parents.

SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—It appears that there has been a mistake in counting the Congressional vote in the town of Hopkinton, and that Mr. Bell has received thirteen more votes than he has been accredited with. The town officers of Hopkinton were in town to-day in order to present an amended return to that effect. If such amendment is received the official returns in the Secretary of State's office will give Mr. Bell a majority of six over Mr. Pike—not to speak of the amended vote of Nashua, which, if allowed, will further increase Mr. Bell's plurality.—Concord Patriot.

GALONICAL GEMS.—The Hanover Herald says that a good story comes to it from a certain village near by, noted for its railroad facilities and the ardency of the liquor sold. A thirsty stranger was lately supplied with a dose, when a moment after he was observed kicking and swearing vigorously. Amid his imprecations were heard these words: "I wouldn't have cared for the coat of my stomach, but to have those new boots charred up by that infernal stuff is unendurable."

Old Time Chronicles, No. 72.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Enemies of the Country in the Revolutionary War.—The legislative body then consisted of a Council and House of Representatives. The President of the Council was in effect Governor.

Late in 1778, when the war had been going on more than two years, an act was passed to prevent the return of those who had left the country, or should leave and had joined or should join the enemy. Those named in the act in Rockingham County will be given.

Portsmouth.—John Wentworth, Esq., late Governor, Peter Lewis, John Fisher, George Meserve, Robert Trail, George Bajd, John Treaton, John Cochran, Samuel Hale, Jr., Edward Parry, Thomas M. Donough, Andrew Pepperel Sparhawk, all of them Esquires; Maj. Robert Roberts, Patrick Barn, John Smith, Wm. J. Regasm, these three mariners; Dr. Stephen Little, Thomas Arbinclosa, Archibald Arbinclosa, Robert Robinson, Hugh Henderson, Gilliam Butler, James McMasters, John McMasters, George Craige, merchants; James Bigby, yeoman; Wm. Peavy, mariner; Benj. Hart, rope-maker; Bartholomew Stavers, post rider; Philip Bayley, trader; Sam'l Holland, Esq., Benning Wentworth, gentleman, and Jude Kenniston, mariner.

Exeter.—Robert L. Fowle, printer. [He was then publishing the first newspaper of Exeter.]

Londonderry. — Stephen Holland, Richard Holland, John Davidson, James Fulton, Thomas Smith, Dennis O. Hola.

Newmarket.—Jacob Brown, George Bell.

It is seen that the number at Portsmouth was large, and quite a portion of them by their titles persons of considerable influence. John Wentworth, the last royal Governor, had resided here. He was in favor of the acts of the British Ministry, and his influence over many in the town was probably considerable.

The act specified that if any of these or others, who should leave the Province and join the enemy, should return without leave of the Assembly, they were to be apprehended by the Sheriffs, or Selectmen, Overseers of the Poor, Committee of Safety, Grand Jurors, Tythingmen, Constables and other inhabitants of the town where they may presume to come, and be lodged in the jail.

The justice before whom they should be brought and committed to jail should notify the Board of War, and this Board should at once transport them into some part of the British dominions. If those thus transported were able, it should be at their own expense, others at the expense of the State.

Those transported and returning again without leave should on conviction by the "Superior Court of Judicature, suffer the pains of DEATH."

Any commander of a vessel knowingly bringing in any such person, or if any person should harbor or conceal any of this class, they were liable to a fine of £500.

If the provisions of this act should seem too severe, it should be considered that the necessities of war are urgent and strict in their demands, and traitors to the just cause of one's country deserve severe treatment.

The act passed the House of Representatives Nov. 11, 1778, and was signed, John Langdon, Speaker. The Council concurred Nov. 19, and signed, M. Weare, President.

THE RIGHTS OF OUR FISHERMEN.—The following circular relative to the fisheries on the coast of Canada issued the Treasury department:

By circular under date of March 6, 1872, this department notified collectors of customs and the public in regard to restrictions to which American vessels will be subject when employed in fishing on the coasts of the British North American colonies, and that provisions between the United States and Great Britain, proclaimed July 4, 1871, so far as they relate to the fisheries, would not go into effect until the laws required to carry them into operation were passed by the imperial Parliament of Great Britain, by the parliament of Canada and by the legislature of Prince Edward Island on the one hand, and by the Congress of the United States on the other. The Secretary of State recently assured me that he had been officially informed by Her Britannic Majesty's minister at Washington that the executive government of the Dominion of Canada, regarding the act of Congress giving effect to the treaty of Washington as not going into operation till July 1, 1873, has decided that till that time American fishermen have no legal right to fish in Canada waters, and their vessels are liable to seizure for doing so; that the Dominion government will, however, take no steps to prevent vessels from fishing within the three-mile limit; that such vessels will have permission to fish so far as that government can grant it, and that it is not probable any seizure will be made at the instance of private parties, that that should such a case occur the good offices of the government will be used in advising the release of vessels and the remission of any penalties incurred. In view of this courteous and liberal act of the government of the Dominion you are hereby enjoined to make known to the public interested in the subject, as far as possible, that until the treaty of Washington relating to the fisheries shall go into effect, the liberty of fishing in waters hereafter to be thrown open to fishermen of the United States by the operation of these provisions is permissory only, and subject to attempts by private parties to enforce the still existing legal restrictions which are set forth in the circular of this department already referred to, and that if American fishermen engage in fishing within the three mile limit heretofore mentioned before July 1, 1873, they may still be subjected to serious difficulty by private parties under the provisions of the statues of the Dominion of Canada.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Fire at Rye Beach.

About half past nine o'clock, Thursday morning, fire broke out through the roof of the Ocean House cook-room, near the chimney; all attempts to save the monster building were futile and it burned to the ground. Nearly all the furniture was saved. The company's loss is $100,000; insurance, $60,000.

More Than Satisfaction

Is guaranteed by the Bloodgood combination at the Temple, this evening. Harry proposes to be there himself with a new speech and new funnyisms; Walters and Morton, two of the best eccentric dancers in America, are with him; and Miss Lisie Riddell, a favorite singer, and other celebrities worth seeing and hearing, will make the programme highly enjoyable. Bloodgood always has the largest audiences in Portsmouth because he performs all and more than he promises; the only thing in that regard we have to complain of being that he gives too much of a good thing, when two thirds of the entertainment would abundantly satisfy.

A Pleasant Home Gathering.

Twenty years ago the Sons of Portsmouth, N. H., were invited by the Common Council of their birthplace to return home to a reception prepared for them on the Fourth of July, and such a response was given as astounded the few who did not answer at roll-call, for the reason that they did not imagine so many would do so, or that it would be productive of so great an amount of pleasure. The delegations from New-York and Boston alone would have furnished a fair-sized population for a new community of the West. Those who came from the larger cities brought with them bands of music, and among the returned Sons from their many places of sojourn were members of Congress and State Legislatures, ex-Governors of States, Mayors of cities, representatives of the clerical, medical and legal professions, editors of newspapers, and, indeed, of every walk of useful and honorable life. No Roman conqueror ever had a grander re-entry into the "seven-hilled city;" triumphal arches met them at every turning, while the citizens vied with each other in mottoes of welcome, intermingled with the decorations of the exterior of their dwellings along the route of the grand procession, which, with the dinner and levee in the evening, both held under an immense tent, formed part of the festivities of the occasion. A call has again gone forth from the city government for a second return of the natives of Portsmouth on the ensuing Fourth of July, and they will come, "an army with banners," not only from the length and breadth of the North American Continent, but from foreign lands and the islands of the sea, in answer to the call, so numerous are they who hail from the birthplace they remember and love so well. Such as come from the larger cities of the Union will leave behind no finer bands of music than those that accompany them. The call this year embraces not only the sons and daughters, but the sons-in-law and daughters-in-law, the grandsons and granddaughters of Portsmouth, who will all receive the same glad welcome. Combined with the Reception Jubilee will be a celebration of the 250th anniversary of the first settlement of the place, and the probability is, that, with the numbers who will come from the watering-places of the neighborhood, the Isles of Shoals and the various beaches whose hotels overflow each season with summer visitors, to witness the scene that will be presented, so large a gathering has never before occurred at the ancient settlement of "Strawberry Bank," as Portsmouth was called in the earlier days of its history. —N. Y. Express.

The concert at the Temple, Wednesday evening, by Prof. Jaques and his singing school, assisted by Mrs. Jaques contralto, and Miss Cate, pianist, was attended by a good audience and gave very general satisfaction. Miss Cate and Mrs. Jaques are superior performers, and the pupils of Prof. Jaques school gave ample evidence of having been ably instructed.

The New York Sons of Portsmouth are to pay $1450 for Downing's Ninth Regiment Band for three days, at the coming reunion. The Boston Sons are to bring three bands.

—The Superintendent had moralized upon the commandment to work six days and rest the seventh, and explained that this "rest" did not consist of sleeping and lying around, but in doing good, for instance, going to Sunday school, etc., and then he questioned:

"What did God do the first six days?"

"Worked!" chirruped a little shaver.

"And what on the seventh?"

"Went to Sunday school!" yelled a second.

Podunk School Examination.

Messrs. Editors:—Knowing the commendable interest which you take in everything which concerns education, I make bold to request the insertion in your valuable paper of the following brief report of the semi-occasional examination of the Podunk High School, at present under the able tuition of the subscriber. On Thursday last I received the customary notice from the examiners, as follows:

Dear Sir:—On Tuesday afternoon next, April 2d, A. D. 1873, at 2 o'clock, the Examining Committee will make an unannounced visit to the school under your instruction and care, for the purpose of instituting a rigid and searching enquiry into the proficiency of the scholars, and the degree of advancement they have made in their studies since the last examination. You will please take due notice and govern yourself accordingly.

Very resp'y yours,
SPEAKWELL ALWAYS, Chairman.

I at once numbered the scholars in the various classes, (experience has taught me that nothing conduces to a brilliant examination so much as numbering the scholars,) and gave each one a card with his number on it. The questions I was to ask any scholar, and the answers he was to give, were then marked with a number corresponding to the one on his card; in addition to which each question in my books had written over it, in pencil, the name of the scholar who was to answer it. This latter precaution you will perceive was admirably adapted to obviate confusion which might arise from the pupils getting into the wrong places in their classes, thereby transposing their numbers and rendering themselves liable to be asked the wrong questions; in fact, I did at one time think of having the scholars mix themselves up in class on examination day, as the consequent skipping about would show their proficiency in a most favorable light. This plan, however I abandoned.

Having completed all the necessary arrangements, I confidently awaited the unexpected visit of the examiners, who arrived promptly on time Tuesday afternoon. The ensuing examination was the most brilliantly successful which has ever taken place in this town, and drew forth the most flattering and well deserved encomiums from the committee. The only hitches in the whole affair were occasioned by the absence of a pupil in the geography class, (so that when I asked this question, "What are the five great divisions of the earth?" Nobody could answer it,) and by the meddlesome action of an inexperienced member of the committee, who persisted in examining the history class himself, and learned that Brigham Young was the father of his country, that Napoleon Bonapatte crossed the Alps in an open boat to attack the Hessians, and lots of other things which he didn't know of before. Afterwards, when I examined the class myself, the committee were unqualified in their compliments of the proficiency of the pupils.

At the close of the examination each of the scholars was presented with a medal and diploma, after which a pleasant episode occurred, in the shape of a presentation to the efficient teacher of the school, by the pupils, of a wheelbarrow load of potatoes,—wheelbarrow and all,—showing the high estimation in which the instructor is held by those who profit by his labors. The committee then addressed the school, alluding to the acknowledged fact that there is no other school like it anywhere, and took their leave with expressions of great pleasure; and I then declared a vacation for the next six months. Yours for education,

SILAS BIRCH.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen: and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers: if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

BROW-BEATING WITNESSES.—Can nothing be done to check the custom of brow-beating witnesses, now indulged in to such an extent? Neither age nor sex, high standing nor failing health, is a defence against the insults of "learned counsel." When Gen. Cole was on trial for murder at Albany, one of his counsel asked a gentleman who was a witness on the other side: "Were you not in trouble at one time in regard to your accounts with the bank of which you are cashier?" Quick as a flash the reply came: "If I had you outside for ten minutes, I would show you very soon whether there was any trouble or not." In this city, during the hearing of a civil case in the marine court, a lady had been so taunted by counsel while testifying that a jurryman of 60 years arose indignantly and said the remarks were "uncalled for and insulting," and that if he were the lady's brother he would slap the lawyer's face and "knock his teeth down his throat." He then asked the court to protect the lady, but the court first finished a hearty burst of laughter at the joke, and then—reprimanded the juror.—The Graphic.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON. After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with despatch. Careful examinations made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, [Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such remarkable proof of greatness and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is as combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the food itself. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by furnishing the Invigorated and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, renewing with marvellous strength, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Tumors, Abscesses, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Disease of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and bringing up an iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

GRANDEST SCHEME OF THE AGE!

$500,000 CASH GIFTS.

$100,000 for only $10.

Under authority of special legislative act of March 27, 1872, the trustees now announce the Third Grand Gift Concert, for the benefit of the Public Library of Kentucky, to come off in Library Hall, at Louisville, Ky., on TUESDAY, APRIL 8, 1873.

At this time, the best musical talent that can be procured from all parts of the country will add pleasure to the entertainment, and Ten Thousand Cash Gifts, aggregating the total of Half a Million Dollars currency will be distributed by lot to the ticket-holders, as follows:

One Grand Cash Gift,		$1,000 00
One Grand Cash Gift,		50,000

9,000 Cash Gifts of 10 "		90,000
Total, 10 000 Gifts, all Cash,		$500 000

To provide means for this magnificent Concert, One Hundred Thousand Whole Tickets only will be issued.

Whole Tickets, $10; Halves, $5; Quarters, $2.50. Eleven whole Tickets for $100. No discount on less than $100 orders.

The object of this Third Grand Concert, like the two heretofore given with such universal success, is the enlargement and endowment of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, by the special act authorizing the concert for its benefit, is to be forever free to all citizens of every State. The drawing will be under the supervision of the Trustees of the Library, assisted by the most eminent citizens of the United States. The sale of tickets has already progressed so far that complete success is assured, and buyers are therefore notified that they must order at once if they desire to participate in the drawing.

The management of this undertaking has been committed by the trustees to Hon. Thos. F. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, who will have entire charge of the Gift Concert may be addressed.

JOHN F. TORBETT, Pres't.

W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice Pres't.

JOHN S. CAIN, Sec'y Public Library of Ky.

FARMERS AND DRAKE BANK, Trus'y.

As the time for the Concert is close at hand April 8th, parties wanting tickets should send in their orders immediately if they would avoid the rush and delay absolutely unavoidable in the few days preceding the drawing. All orders and applications for agencies, circulars and information will meet with prompt attention. THOS. E. BLAMLETT, Agent Public Library, Kentucky, Louisville, Ky.

EMPLOYMENT!

The National Life Insurance [Company of the United States of America, chartered by Congress, is the leading Cash, life Insurance company of this country, and has the largest cash capital of any pure insurance company of like kind in the world. It is thus enabled to reduce its premiums largely. Indeed, had it charged the ordinary Mutual ions during the last four and a half years, it would have received from its patrons $1,250,000 more than was paid it. By the mutual system, the policy holders insure the company. By the stock system, the company insures the policy holders. The National has nearly two dollars of assets to every one of liabilities, and on Jan. 1, 1873, had a surplus of $1,000,000. It wants an agent in every locality where it is not now represented, and will give liberal and continuous commissions to the competent. Agents here will give personal attention to its business. Address branch office, Philadelphia, where the business of the company is transacted.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Disease. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ONCE of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleyantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a world-wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing throbbing from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleyantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREPETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

An Honest Man: What is He Like?

The poet says "An honest man 's the noblest work of God;" but he does not so define or describe him, that all may recognize one at sight. And then ideas differ so much, that the same actions or character are variously estimated or judged by different parties—each from his own standpoint. For instance, the successful stock-jobber or speculator is generally regarded as a shrewd and enviable man, no matter how much misery he may have caused—how many widows' houses, or single shares, he may have devoured, or how many orphans' portions swept away, by his operations; while the gambler on a smaller scale, who perhaps handles his dice, cards or chips with far more honesty, is denounced on all hands as such. Then, of course, there may be both honest and dishonest gamblers, of both the kinds alluded to.

Many people insist that honesty, like modesty, is entirely a matter of fashion. Thus, those in favor of temperance, deem all who thrive on the manufacture or sale of liquors, enemies of the race; and do not envy them the wealth so acquired, nor desire money bought at the price of true manhood. So in Indian days, and in Indian latitudes, he was (and perhaps still is) a hero, who slung the most scalps at his belt; while at a safe distance of time or country from the chivalrous redman, such pastime is styled murder.

Another very general idea seems to be, that circumstances do or should govern a man's honesty. But my observation does not agree with this, any more than that men are much more likely to be contented or happy, in what the world calls favorable circumstances, rather than those who are surrounded only with what are popularly regarded deprivations. As an example—the Boston papers, in stating their approval of the increase of pay to the dishonest horse-car conductors, (who certainly have been as much underpaid as overworked,) express the hope and expectation that their honesty will also increase. But I could never see that either the efficiency or honesty of man or boy, had much relevence to the amount of his duty or pay. In the recent bank theft at Exeter, it was frequently remarked by the press, that Shute's income was so large, and his condition so favorable, that there was no need or excuse for him to steal; but such conditions usually exist in such cases, and it is not commonly the needy man who betrays his trust. The same idea applies to the rebellion, when never a jack-tar turned traitor to his flag, but many an officer did. Neither was a poor printer ever known to betray a trust confided to him, but many a well-paid correspondent or Congressman has done so, and thus brought out private treaties and other transactions. So also with mean actions—a "great" or rich man is just as likely to be guilty of them,—and more, than a poor one; for very possibly he got rich by being mean or dishonest—which is too great a real price to pay for a questionable benefit.

But I started to tell a story, not to preach a sermon. One day recently,—during the Credit (or discredit) Mobilier investigations; but before our recent city election, which would seem to be hardly less creditable to some parties concerned therein; I was standing for a moment in a stable-yard, looking at some of the nice peddlers' teams, which do so abound in these days. A jolly fellow named ——, who drives a $1000 pair of bay horses, was just fitting his team for a start; and likewise a less humorous chap was filling with bottles another cart, bearing the names of Seth W. Fowle & Son, and of various medicines. As I read I pondered, and the light of other days shone around me—wherein I saw an old bill against said Fowles for advertising, which I failed to collect, because (on account of "speculations") they failed to pay anybody about that time. And I recollected, that when in accordance with my lifelong idea of things, that a man should pay as he goes, and pay what he owes, I denounced said Fowle transaction on the ground that they had no right to speculate at my risk or expense, and that to risk the money of others was not honest,—the junior of the firm stood up valiantly and commendably for his father, since deceased, and of whom all spoke well when alive.

So as I read the signs on that cart, I made running comments, or thought aloud: "Wistar's Balsam, Peruvian Syrup—Seth W. Fowle & Son; the old man is dead; and he never saved any money out of the business thought he ought to." The reply of Fowle's driver, as he kept on handling the bottles, was, "Seth W. Fowle was an honest man!" "Ah! was he?" I replied. At this juncture, a new moralist appeared on the scene; this was the other pedler, who turned from his own team and addressing the medicine and honesty man, asked, "And is he dead?" "Yes," replied Medicus. "What did he look like when he was alive?" "Well, he didn't look like a good many of the men I see now-a-days." "Was he happy when he was well? did he enjoy his victuals as a general thing?" and "did he keep up good courage?" were among the questions propounded by our jolly friend, without much reply by the less loquacious but by no means dumb-founded medicated medium.

The fourth actor in this scene, now appeared in the shape of a hostler of humble mien who wore a coat all tattered and torn, and presented an appearance all forlorn. To him, I appealed, thus: "Here, Fred, is a fellow who wants to see an honest man—can't you show him what one is like?" "Yes," said he, "here is one—let him look at me." "Here, I have found you an honest man," said I, "how do you like the looks of him?" "Well, he looks kind o' thin and poor, like it," said he, "turn him round—oh, yes, that's about it, clothes all ragged, now turn your pockets wrong side out—yes, not a cent in 'em, that's it, he's an honest man; that's the kind of clothes they most wear, no money in their pockets, and not much to eat."

I could but laugh heartily at this pleasant badinage, which was well carried out, and did not occupy more than five minutes; and as I turned away, I asked myself whether there was not too much truth in the idea; and I queried again whether great store of gold or other riches can ever be obtained,—much less retained, under the golden rule? Truly, the love of money is the root of much evil—and yet, how constantly is the lesson taught, by precept and example, to young and old,—get rich, make money! To this end did Shute default, our Congressmen fall, and Wagner murder his best friends—for the love of money. I recollect hearing Rev. Dr. Peabody, in a lyceum lecture, several years ago, suggest the idea that the amount of property that any man should be allowed to accumulate, might well be limited by law—and he argued that this restriction would hardly be more of an interference with private rights for the public benefit, than our other laws cutting off and forbidding primogeniture and entail. I forget whether he named any amount of limit, but if no man was allowed to accumulate or possess more than a reasonable competence, say $25,000 or $50,000, the passion for greed would be clipped in its wings. The reduction of the rate of interest, and the resumption of specie payments, is of far more importance to the laboring man, than whether he shall work eight hours or ten for a day's work; and these are the labor reforms needed, next to a reform in the personal habits of the laborers themselves. V.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION WANTED. Mr. James O. Adams, Secretary of the Board of Agriculture, has prepared and issued a circular to the various farmers' organizations, asking for information on various subjects, to the end that he may secure data for the preparation of a statement setting forth the profits of capital employed in agriculture, as authorized by the last Legislature. Among the interrogatories are the following: "Are farmers making money by farming? What per cent. do they make on capital invested? What proportion of farmers sons' abandon farming pursuits? Are farmers equally taxed in proportion to owners of other property? What breeds of neat stock are kept and has the value of stock been increased? Who owns valuable horses and what is the stock? What breeds of sheep are kept and does sheep breeding pay? How large a portion of the town is covered with forests? What are the leading farm crops? What kind of fruit is produced? What demand is there for farm labor? What are the several sources of income to the farmer? The Secretary desires to correspond with some intelligent gentleman or lady in every town, in regard to farm interests. Address James O. Adams, Concord.

The Lost Steamer

Atlantic was insured in London companies for $150,000. There were in all 760 steerage passengers on the vessel. The passengers and crew as she sailed from Liverpool were classified as follows:—

English—Hundred and ninety-eight men, seventy-four women, twenty-eight male children, twenty-one female children.

Scotch—Seven men, four women.

Irish—Forty-three men, eighteen women, three children.

Other nationalities—Hundred and fifty adult males, thirty-two women, nineteen male children, and eighteen female children.

A large number of emigrants embarked at Queenstown, making the total number of souls upon the steamer when she sailed from that port, 952.

Mrs. Graff, who lost her husband and two children, is a raving maniac in New York in consequence of her affliction.

The owners of the Atlantic say the quantity of coal on board was 967 tons, against an average consumption during eighteen voyages of 744 tons.

State News.

On Thursday evening, March 20, the daughter of Charles Page of Canaan overturned a kerosene lamp upon the floor and the flames rapidly spread. Mrs. Page, finding that they could not be extinguished, with the aid of her daughter, took her two small children from their bed, placed them in a basket, and started through the blinding storm to the nearest place of safety. They struggled on with their burden till both were too much exhausted to go farther, then the mother, leaving her children in the storm started to procure aid and to give the alarm of fire. The children were at last brought to the house of a neighbor, but no aid could be procured in staying the flames, and the house was soon consumed.

As Auburn fisherman, a few days since, while fishing through a hole in the ice, caught a trout so large he could not be brought through the orifice. The fisherman, however, gently played with his fish with one hand while he chopped ice with the other, until the opening had been enlarged sufficiently, then with a skillful jerk he brought out a dead cat with a brick on its neck, the entire prize, weighing over nine pounds. The profanity that ensued caused a heavy thaw for sixty rods in all directions.

SINGULAR MURDER CASE.—In Bath county, Kentucky, one Bailey was in the habit of getting drunk, and when so he had also the habit of growling like a dog to frighten his friends. On a dark night last November, having freely indulged in whiskey, he went to the house of George Shrout after the family were asleep, and sought to gain admittance. Shrout was awakened by the noise and came down to the door, taking his shot-gun with him. Opening the front door he saw a dim object in the darkness, and, calling out to it, received no answer. He then gave warning that he was about to shoot, but the object only replied by a series of loud growls. Shrout then fired and was horrified to hear the cries of a human being. He seems to have been badly frightened, and without examining further locked the door and went up stairs again. Bailey was mortally wounded and lay groaning before the house until some passer by carried him back to town, where he died in a few hours. Shrout was arrested next morning. At the trial a statement as above was given and substantiated by the mother of the accused, who was at the side of her son at the time. The jury brought in at once a verdict of not guilty. The event created great excitement in the vicinity, as both parties were well known. Bailey left a wife and seven children.

—An absent-minded man in Tennessee used a roll of greenbacks as a stopper to his molasses jug, and the next day nearly tore the inside of his house to pieces looking for the missing money. His wife set things right when she baked gingerbread that afternoon.

—There was a great elevation of noses at a "Black Crook" performance in New Haven, recently, and it continued until a guano worker was smelt out, and politely invited to leave the hall, which he did after getting his money back.

—A lady in Denver recently received a note from a neighbor, reading,—"Will you please lend me a waterfall or something I can wave on my head? I am going to have my picture taken and a pair of Earrings."

Nixon, the New York murderer, will be hanged on the 16th of May.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen; and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers; if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

An Explanation.

Mayor Marvin, in that portion of his inaugural message devoted to the Fire Department, says:

"A bill to re-organize the Department, to decrease the number, and increase the pay of the members, passed the late Board of Aldermen but was defeated in the Common Council."

Though this statement of the Mayor's is literally true, yet the inference which would naturally be drawn from it, viz: that the late Board of Aldermen advocated an increase of the firemen's pay, while the Common Council opposed it, is entirely at variance with the truth. The facts are that the bill which "passed the late Board of Aldermen but was defeated in the Common Council," came down to the lower board from the upper one, containing provisions for reorganizing the department and decreasing the number of its members, but not for increasing the pay. The Common Council amended the bill, striking out several clauses which were not satisfactory, and adding one providing for increasing the compensation of the firemen, with the single exception, I think, of the Chief Engineer; and the bill as amended was passed and returned to the Board of Aldermen. Some of the Council amendments were concurred in by the Aldermen, among them the increase of pay; and the Council finally withdrew their opposition to certain features of the bill to which they were unanimously opposed, for no other reason than that the Aldermen had agreed to the increase of pay. When the Aldermen again took up the bill, and (fortified by legal opinion) sent it back to the Council with a notification that the Board of Aldermen alone had a right under the State laws to choose the officers of the fire department, the Council defeated the whole measure, believing they had yielded quite enough before, in voting for its several obnoxious features solely to save the one which they favored.

EX-COUNCILMAN.

Rye.

All the out-buildings connected with the Ocean House except a small cottage used for the help were consumed at the recent fire. Our correspondent "Harry," says "when the fire broke out there was no one present but Mr. Job Jenness and his family—the former being confined to the house by a lingering sickness which has troubled him for several months past. The cisterns and force pump had been frozen up for months, and the town affords no engines or indeed any unusual facilities for putting out fires. The fire was soon discovered, however, and people began to flock from every direction eager to save whatever they could from destruction. In a few minutes a hundred men were busily engaged in removing the splendid furniture and whatever could be most easily handled. The wind was brisk from the Northwest, and the flames made rapid headway. They ran across the main house, and caught the lofty cupola, which afforded the most vulnerable point of attack. The great heat increased the breeze to almost a gale, and in a few minutes the points of flame were seen darting up all over the vast expanse of roof. In a minute more the whole upper story was one lurid mass of seething flame, and was indeed a magnificent spectacle, as it leaped in fiery jets from the hundreds of windows all over the house. The falling of the cupola, the showers of burning cinders that came down the stairway, and the terrific roar of the approaching flames, gave warning to the people that further stay in the building was extremely hazardous. In a few minutes more the central part of the house fell in with a fearful crash, which was soon followed by the North and South wings, together with the chimneys. One tremendous burst of flame shot up into the air, and then the heat gradually subsided. In a little more than an hour from the time the fire was first discovered, the entire building was a mass of smouldering ruins.

The present house was commenced in 1862, and was opened for the public in the summer of 1863. The Hotel has always been very popular, and has had a first class patronage — chiefly from the South and West. The total loss is probably not far from $100,000. The amount of Insurance cannot be exactly ascertained, insomuch as the Boston fire and Mr. Jenness' ill health has prevented him from renewing some of his expired policies. Mr. Jenness has however estimated the amount of insurance at not far from $60,000.

The loss is a heavy blow to the boarding interests of Rye, but in all probability the house will be rebuilt, as the location is a desirable one, and is widely and favorably known among the travelling public. Mr. Jenness had commenced improving and decorating the interior, and was expecting to do an immense business the coming season. He had also a plan which included the laying out of a new avenue, and the building of several cottages by wealthy parties in Boston. These contemplated improvements will be delayed, but it is not believed that such a fine location for business will be allowed to remain permanently unimproved.

Mr. Jenness desires your correspondent to thank the people for their heroic efforts to save his property, and to assure them that sickness and the attending excitement alone prevented him from tendering a more substantial recognition."

City Councils.

The first regular meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, was a decidedly irregular and somewhat informal affair, in which the Mayor displayed discourtesy to members of the Board for which he deserves censure by that body. The charter gives the Mayor power to veto all acts of the Board regarding "the laying out of highways and other matters," and Mayor Marvin's pompous assumption of authority on this occasion was outrageous and impudent, leading lookers-on to the conclusion that he for the time being imagined himself a small sized god. To pass any measure over his veto requires the vote of the republican members of the Board, six in number, there being but two democratic members, who, of course, support their ally, the Mayor.

After the records of the previous meeting had been approved, the Mayor in defiance of the rules of the Board which state what business shall first be brought up, began reading a list of committees he would like to appoint. Alderman Hayes arose and moved that the Board proceed to ballot for its committees. The Mayor hesitated and then continued reading and declared the list appointed. Alderman Hayes called for his motion to be put and the Mayor said there was no motion before the Board. Alderman Sise stated that he had seconded the motion of Mr. Hayes, which was heard by the gentleman on his right. The Mayor replied that the gentleman on the right was not chairman of the Board, and at once proceeded to present other business for consideration. Five of the republican members, astonished at this impertinence, sat silently looking on, appearing dazed and uncertain how to act. Aldermen Wilson and the Mayor then had a sort of colloquial interchange of opinions as to the proper way of disposing of the business, during which the following business was transacted, the Mayor, in all but two instances, putting motions that Alderman Wilson made but were not seconded, and declaring them passed when but one voice could be heard voting on them.

The petition of John E. Salter for sidewalk on Court street was granted.

Petitions of W. F. Fernald and others that the grade of Freeman's Point road be raised and a bridge built across the railroad, and of E. E. Rand for use of Ward One ward room for a school, were referred to the proper committees.

Petition of A. J. Penhallow for use of Court House on Fast Day for a temperance address, was granted, so far as the city is concerned.

Petition of John W. Young for leave to erect a stand on sidewalk on the 4th of July, was referred to Committee on Streets.

J. D. Goodrich was appointed to collect statistics of births and deaths in Ward Three.

Petition of E. A. Tilton for arms, etc., for "the independent battalion," a military organization numbering 95 men, was read, and it was voted "that the mayor be authorized to procure the arms, etc., in the name of the city." The mayor appointed Ald. Sise to assist.

Several claims (among them Dr. Whittier's, for $1349.50,) against the city were referred to the proper committee. Mrs. Carrie Rice received leave to withdraw her claim for $72.

Ald. Davis presented the following preamble and resolution, which was unanimously adopted.

Whereas, The late and irregular hours at which the polls are sometimes closed in this city are regarded by the great majority of our citizens as injurious to the purity and fairness of our elections: and

Whereas, The will of the people should be ascertained and registered without opportunity or temptation to fraud and unfair dealing; therefore

Resolved, That the Representatives elect to General Court from the City of Portsmouth be requested to secure the passage of a law of a general or local character, providing for the closing of the polls in this city at a certain time, not later than six o'clock, P. M.

Alderman Wilson had an engagement at eight o'clock, and about that time the Mayor stated that there was no further business before the Board. Alderman Hayes then presented an appeal from the decision of the Mayor regarding the appointment of committees, and as the yeas and nays were about to be called, Alderman Wilson floated out of the room, sent for his hat, disappeared down the stairway and was lost in outer darkness. The Board waited patiently for his return for full five minutes and Alderman Spinney, becoming anxious in consequence of Mr. Wilson's absence, followed him.

On the question, "Shall the Mayor be sustained," Aldermen Trefethen and Lefavour voted "yea," and Aldermen Garrett, Sise, Davis and Hayes voted "nay." The Mayor announced that three had voted "yea" and two "nay," and was about to cast his vote and defeat the motion by a tie, when Alderman Hayes called his attention to the fact that six members had voted. The Mayor replied that it "made no difference. I non-concur," thus vetoing the vote of appeal. Alderman Hayes asked by what law the Mayor could veto such a vote and moved to pass the appeal over the veto. The Mayor requested Alderman Hayes to re-state his motion, but Mr. Hayes said "I think the Board understand the matter thoroughly," and moved to adjourn, which the Mayor put, although it was not seconded. One member voted "yea" and one voted "nay," and the Mayor declared the Board adjourned. Whether another attack on the cod liver oil works will be made remains to be ascertained.

The Common Council met as per adjournment, the President in the chair. The records of the last meeting were read and approved, and the rules of the last Council adopted. The Committees were then announced by the President, as follows:

JOINT STANDING COMMITTEES.

Finance—Hazlett, George and Bennett.

Engrossing Bills—Prior, Lovell and Russell.

City Lands and Buildings—Hazlett, Critchley and Evans.

Streets — Simpson, Sears and Russell.

Fire Department — Sears, Simpson and Bennett.

Schools—Prior, Critchley and Evans.

Claims—George, Simpson and Lovell.

Burying Grounds—Critchley, Prior and Evans.

Printing—Prior, Lovell and Bennett.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Elections—Sears, Simpson and Russell.

Bills on Second Reading—Hazlett, George and Simpson.

A communication from a committee of the Dover city government concerning a joint celebration of the anniversary of the settlement of the two cities was read, and Councilmen Hazlett, Lovell and Simpson were appointed a a committee, with such as the Aldermen may appoint, to confer with the Dover committee.

A bill looking to the reorganization of the Fire Department was introduced by Councilman Sears, read once and referred.

For the Ladies.

Many ladies are asking "What shall we do towards preparing for the reception of the Sons and Daughters?" There will be sufficient employment for willing hands after the city appropriates money for the REUNION, and in the meanwhile, we would advise the fair querists who may have facilities for growing flowers in season for the Fourth of July, to set themselves at work as soon as convenient to cultivate flowers for adorning arches and for manufacturing wreaths and bouquets for the occasion. There is a general desire for ornamentation of the principal streets at that time and all the flowers our fair friends can raise will be needed.

Laconics.

Mr. Frank Weeks, of Wakefield, succeeds Mr. Wm. O. Sides as inspector in the Boston custom house.

Mr. G. B. Bartlett will give another of his unique tableau entertainments in aid of the Young People's Union on the evening of May 1st.

The Barnabee company had a large audience at Manchester, Wednesday evening, and the concert is warmly praised by the Mirror.

Several cars of a freight train ran off the track in a cut at Eliot, Thursday night, and trains were delayed for hours in consequence. The cars were smashed and the track was cleared by hoisting the debris up over the ledge. Delayed passengers vented their displeasure in remarkable remarks which were pungently expressive. No persons were injured by the accident.

On Wednesday evening, after the close of the "Black Crook" performance, an extra train will leave this city for Great Falls, to accommodate an excursion party from that city proposing to see the "Crook."

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—Thursday next is Fast Day.

—Robins in great numbers have appeared in the suburbs this week.

—Just thirteen weeks to prepare for the reception of the Sons on July 4th.

—"That prospective corpse" is what the Bangor Commercial delicately calls Wagner.

—A disagreeable spectacle on a holy day—nine drunkards seen on Congress Street last Sabbath—one of these being fairly dragged to the station house, followed by crowd of over two hundred people. Query: Who sold the liquor?

—An exquisite memorial cross composed of rare exotics, was displayed on the communion table at the Universalist church last Sabbath, in commemoration of the death of the late Rev. Tobias H. Miller—that being the third anniversary.

—One of the sweetest places to look upon is the window in Mr. J. N. Tarlton's new confectionery store, where is displayed such a tempting variety of fresh candies, bon bons and fruit, as to fairly "make one's mouth water in deliciousness" as Mark Twain says. Give him a call.

—Mrs. Emma E. Weston of East Boston will hold public test circles at Mercantile Hall (late Republican Headquarters) on Sunday afternoon and evening. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged at the door. To avoid disturbance the doors will be closed at 3½ in the afternoon and 7½ in the evening, after which there will be no admittance.

—The parties who attempted to perpetrate an "April fool" on the public Tuesday, by causing to be printed and circulated handbills announcing a free exhibition by Prof. Richardson on the tight rope stretched across the street at Congress and Chestnut streets, with the expectation of drawing a crowd, must have felt somewhat chagrined when the hour arrived to find themselves the only parties gulled. It was too thin.

Mr. H. C. Barnabee makes the definite announcement this week of his appearance at the Temple on Tuesday evening April 15th. The talented artistes who appear in concert with him are well known, and their previous performances here so well remembered as to justify promise of "the best concert of the season." Let the Temple hold such an audience as will crowd every part. The Mercantile Library Association will share in the proceeds. Barnabee's first appearance on any stage, was in the early days of the P. M. L. A. exhibitions.

—Miss Emily S. Peluzzi, whose death in South Carolina we recorded last week, had been for several years employed in teaching colored children in that State and Florida, having originally entered on this useful mission, with other ladies, under the auspices of the Unitarian Society of this her native city. She was a lovely young woman; and what the Transcript says of her in Boston, is also more generally true here at home—that "she had many friends in this city, who will learn with great sorrow of her early departure in the midst of her usefulness and rare devotion." The body was brought to this city for burial on Tuesday.

—Next Sunday week is Easter Day; and the week immediately preceding is often called Passion Week, or Holy Week, because during this week occur the days which commemorate the successive stages in the Sufferings of our Lord. On Wednesday the plot was laid for his arrest; on Thursday He instituted the Holy Supper; on Friday, He was condemned, tortured and crucified; during Saturday, He lay in the sepulchre; on Easter morning He rose from the dead and brought life and immortality to light for men. Services will be held daily in St. John's Congregation as follows: Mon. & Wed. at 7½ P. M. in the Chapel. Tues. & Sat. at 5 P. M. in the Chapel. Thursday Holy Communion at 7½ P. M. in the church. Good Friday at 10½ A. M. in the church. On Easter day April 13, four services will be held, viz: Morning Prayer at 7½ A. M. in the chapel; Litany & Holy Communion, with Confirmation by the Bishop of the Diocese at 10½ A. M. in the Church; also in the Church the Children's Sunday School Anniversary at 3½ P. M.; and Evening Service at 7½ P. M.

Morning Chronicle.

Starved to Death.

Some months ago a married man in this city became enamored of a designing woman and presently began to neglect his family. The intimacy continued until the man drew the small sum he had saved from his earnings from the bank, and it is stated, gave it to this woman. He then left the city and his wife and five children to the tender mercy of chance. About the first of January a sixth child was born and since that time the poor woman has experienced the most cruel vicissitudes of life. She had no money, and although her neighbors, who were knowing to her circumstances, did all they could for her relief, she has suffered for food and food. Last week the child died. The physician who was called said death was caused from "lack of proper nourishment," in other words the child was starved to death. In this short paragraph there is a text for a practical sermon, and yet the reader should not criticise the philanthropists of the city, for so far as we can learn, all who have been knowing to this poor woman's misfortune have assisted her. Could they have known the exact state of her affairs, more would have been done.—Nashua Telegraph.

—At the door of a certain hat store in New York hangs the sign, "We block your hat, while you wait for fifty cents." There entered a countryman, the other day, and answered affirmatively to the question of hat-blocking. The work was performed, and he was asked if he would have anything else in the hat line. He replied in the negative, but continued to "hang round" as though something was unpaid. At last the clerk asked him what he was waiting for. "Waiting for that fifty cents," he said. He didn't get it. The hatter had misplaced his comma.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment' warning, when a physician may be out of immes diate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

Is the ultimatum of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "Discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, and Much has been said and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the worst bunion, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. H. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TRESPENNEN, Kittery; E. S. SAYFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Patterson Again.

The Keene Sentinel admits into its columns a letter from Washington, written by one of Patterson's pets, which says, "Mr. Patterson leaves the Senate with character unspotted!" The statement might be true — if there were any foundation of truth in it."

Per contra, the Amherst Cabinet, which has never been inimical to the ex-Senator's interests, says of his printed defence, thousands of copies of which are being sent all over the State:—

The statement can only be regarded as a final appeal to the public for a reversal of the Investigating Committee's report, and the action by Congress so far as it recorded therewith. It states no new facts, nor does it disprove any of those material ones which were developed by the investigation; but it claims to put them in their true light, by divesting them of their temporary excitement and reducing them to their just importance. But what caused this excitement in the matter? Was it not the conduct of such men as Senator Patterson which inflamed the public feeling and carried it to the degree of which he now complains? Had they admitted the facts at once by a clear and consistent account of the whole matter, it could have been easily disposed of. But instead of this course, they seem to have emulated the skill of a novelist in working up the interest of a criminal romance; their story of one day had a startling explanation on the next, and it was only gradually and forcibly worked out of them, till the public could never be sure of what was coming next. Here were all the elements of general, perhaps undue, excitement.

Mr. Patterson's intimation that the "public press" compelled an investigation is absurd; while the "ovation" to Oakes Ames and Mr. Colfax can hardly be considered the voice of the people. But the thinnest of all is the intimation that the investigation did not injuriously affect the Republican cause in New Hampshire at the late election. That this State was then saved by the party is due to the fact that they were discreet enough to drop Mr. Patterson long before the election. We had sincerely hoped that Mr. Patterson could make some show in his own favor, but must confess that he has a very poor case.

The Coos Republican says:—

Like the Mississippi steamboat stranded on a sand bar, in every effort he makes to get himself out of his trouble, he springs a "wusser leak" in his already shipwrecked character as an honest politician and statesman. We have not seen the whole, but the concluding paragraphs are enough to indicate the depths of political depravity into which he has fallen. From the sentiments expressed we are not surprised that Senators Scott and Stevenson should denounce some of his statements as falsehoods. * * * If Mr. Patterson has any friends who care at all to save the few remaining shreds of his political character, they will either hasten him off to Europe at once, or put him in some asylum where he cannot publish any more "explanations."

The Brunswick (Me.) Telegraph says Patterson's defence is of itself sufficient proof of unfitness to hold Senatorial office.

SEWING ON BUTTONS.—It is bad enough to see a bachelor sew on a button, but he is the embodiment of grace alongside of a married man. Necessity has compelled experience in the case of the former, but the latter has always depended upon some one else for this service, and, fortunately for the sake of society, it is rarely he is obliged to resort to the needle himself. Sometimes the patient wife scalds her right hand, or runs a silver under the nail of the index finger of that hand, and it is then that the man clutches the needle around the neck, and forgetting to tie a knot in the thread commences to put on the button. It is always in the morning, and from five to twenty minutes after he is expected to be down street. He lays the button exactly on the site of its predecessor, and pushes the needle through one eye, and draws the thread after, leaving about three inches of it sticking up for lee way. He says to himself, "Well, if women don't have the easiest time I ever see." Then he comes back the other way, and gets the needle through the cloth well enough, and lays himself out to find the eye, but in spite of a great deal of jabbing the needle point persists in bucking against the solid parts of that button, and finally, when he loses patience, his fingers catch the thread and that three inches he had left to hold the button slips through the eye in a twinkling, and the button rolls leisurely across the floor. He picks it up without a single remark, out of respect for his children, and makes another attempt to fasten it. This time when coming back with the needle he keeps both the thread and the button from slipping by covering them with his thumb, and it is out of regard for that part of him that he feels around for the eye in a very careful and judicious manner, but eventually losing his philcophy, as the search becomes more and more hopeless, he falls to jabbing about in a loose and savage manner, and it is just then the needle finds the opening, and comes up through the button and part way through his thumb with a celerity that no human ingenuity can guard against. Then he lays down the things, with a few familiar ejaculations, and presses the injured hand between his knees, and then holds it aside his arm, and finally jams it into his mouth, and all the while he prances about the floor and calls upon heaven and earth to witness that there has never been anything like it since the world was created, and howls, and winches, and moans, and sobs. After a while he calms down, and puts on his pantaloons, and fastens them together with a stick, and goes to his business a changed man.—Danbury News.

MONDAY, APRIL 7, 1873.

Levi Woodbury.

Although Governor Woodbury lived until 1851, yet for the twenty preceding years he had been seldom seen in Concord, or any other interior town. He was first chosen Senator in Congress, June, 1825, and thenceforth to the close of life was, with scarcely any intermission, in the public service. He was Senator in Congress from 1825 to 1831, and again from 1841 to 1845; was at one time Secretary of the Navy, and again Secretary of the Treasury; and at his death was an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Levi Woodbury, one of a large family of children, the offspring of Peter Woodbury, was born in Francestown, Dec. 22, 1789, and died in Portsmouth, Sept. 4, 1851, aged 61. He studied law at the Litchfield (Conn.) Law School; also with Hon. S. Dana, of Boston, and Hon. Jeremiah Smith, of Exeter. Entered upon the practice of law in Francestown, September, 1812, where he remained until 1819, when he became an inhabitant of Portsmouth, which was ever after his home. He was appointed to the Bench of the Superior Court in 1816, and being but 27 years of age, was spoken of occasionally as the "baby judge." In March, 1823, he was chosen Governor, but failed of re-election in 1824, his successor being Hon. David L. Morrill, then of Goffstown, afterward of Concord. In March, 1825, Governor Woodbury was chosen one of the Representatives of Portsmouth in the Legislature, was elected Speaker of the House, and during the same session Senator in Congress for six years, becoming the successor of John Hon. F. Parrott, who also was a resident of Portsmouth.

The first time the writer of these sketches ever saw Levi Woodbury was as the central figure in a procession by which he was escorted into town the day he became chief Magistrate of New Hampshire. He had been holding a term of court in Haverhill, and was met by the usual committee of the Legislature appointed to officially inform him of his election, and a cavalcade of citizens of Concord and other places, at Brown's tavern, West Concord—the Concord Light Infantry performing escort service. It was rather a "big day" especially for all that portion of the people who were gratified by that turn in political affairs, which was a defeat of the regular nominee of what was then known as the Republican party, represented by the N. H. Patriot. Hon. Samuel Dinsmoor, of Keene, was the regularly nominated Republican candidate, but was defeated by 3027 majority—what was left of the old Federal party turning in, nearly to a man, to the support of Mr. Woodbury. Hence, the day that gentleman was inducted into the office of Governor was rather a happy one for all who were particularly hostile to the Patriot and its distinguished proprietor and conductor. Their joy, however was of brief duration, as all know who are familiar with the partisan politics of New Hampshire at the time here spoken of.

These sketches would not possess much interest for the general reader—perhaps they do not as they are—if consisting merely of statements of facts in the form of figures. Hence it becomes necessary to incorporate within them something of a more personal nature, that the reader, who never saw, may have at least a general idea of the public man who is the subject of an article.

It will be seen by the date of his birth that Gov. Woodbury was not 54 years of age when he became Governor. He was, I think, about 5 feet, 9 or 10 inches in stature; rather full though not then plethoric habit; neither light nor dark complexion, but would be called light; had neither a particularly winning, and certainly not repelling, countenance; a face indicating a mind bent upon high purposes, and the studious habits of its possessor. He may be said to have been one of the most commanding looking of the public men of New Hampshire, either of his own or any other times. In the sketch of Hon. Ezekiel Webster, published in these columns several weeks since, it was said that there was long suspended in the Concord Bank a print of Dr. John Mason Good, an English physician, which bore very close resemblance to Mr. Webster. So when Governor Woodbury was in life, his face and head compared with the face and head of Hon. George Canning, Prime Minister of England, and the resemblance was quite striking, even at first sight. We had a Governor of New Hampshire, a successor of Mr. Woodbury, who appeared in Concord, in June, and during his term of service, dressed in a suit of coarse cloth, sometimes called the "pepper and salt" style. This was a shallow device to gain the favor of the people; we say shallow, because no man like more to see those in official station becomingly dressed than people who are themselves in homespun apparel. Levi Woodbury understood this, and although a straight out Democrat, never stooped to acquire popular applause. He was always carefully dressed in black, and still without any appearance of having bestowed particular pains upon his apparel; in fact, so clad that his garments neither attracted attention by their elegance or their oddity.

In the sketch of Governor Plumer, he was pronounced one of the most industrious men who ever lived in New Hampshire. But he was one of those lean, cadaverous men who often have great powers of endurance, and, moreover, Gov. Plumer employed the means by which to preserve his health. As Gov. Woodbury increased in years, he became more fleshy. Man of his make-up are apt to grow indolent, if not originally so. He was one of the most laborious men that ever worked at a desk or table; and I have been informed by Portsmouth men that he took no exercise for its own sake; passing directly from the dinner table to office work, and there laboring until evening. He was neither an easy speaker nor flexible writer. The productions of his pen were wrought out as blacksmiths work iron upon the anvil. He wrote, rewrote, and interlined, and, not only so, but much of his papers as passed through a printing-office were so changed on the proof sheet as to put workmen in any other than a pleasant frame of mind.

It has been several times asserted, and with much probability, that had he lived he would have been nominated for President in 1852, by the convention which brought forward Franklin Pierce. Gov. Woodbury, it is seen above, was at his decease 61 years of age. He died an overworked man.—Concord Monitor.

Readables.

Three English clerks were recently engaged in firing blank cartridges at a mark, when one of them passed his rifle to another, asking him to fire at his breast. He complied with his friend's request, and the man fell dead, having, unperceived by his fellows, put a ball in the gun. In the dead man's hand was the following letter: March 5, 1873.—I am very glad you have saved me the trouble of shooting myself. I know you are anxious to become a marksman in the corps; perhaps I will be of service to you by making a target of myself. Wishing you success to your first shot, I remain yours respectfully, Alfred Roberts.

A bill abolishing the whipping-post as a punishment for crime passed the Kentucky house of Representatives, Thursday, by a vote of 53 to 21.

When the winter is mild, ice will not form, and consequently the price goes up in summer. The past winter was not mild, but the price this summer must go up all the same, for the cold interfered with the work of cutting. This is the logic of the dealers.

Our bright ex-Congressman S. S. Cox, now traveling in the South, a few days since strolled from his hotel before breakfast to take a look at things. The following dialogue occurred:

First colored citizen (to second colored citizen, distant two hundred yards up street). "You, Sam!"

Ex-M. C. (supposing himself to be addressed) "Hey?"

First colored cit. "I spoke, sar, to de odder called pusson, up de street."—Blind ex-M. C. Cox.

A special committee of the Illinois Senate has reported in favor of abolishing the grand jury system. They argue that grand jury examinations are exparte and unfair, the accused having no opportunity to defend himself from indictment. The committee recommend that persons accused of crime, instead of being submitted to a grand jury for commitment, be examined by a judge or by three magistrates, who may commit or discharge according to the evidence which they shall hear.

Fifty-six of the Senatorial conscript fathers have already drawn their extra back pay. The only one yet known to refuse is Corbett, of Oregon, whose mileage, under the old system, is greater than the increased salary. But all the Senators agree that Ben. Butler is very wicked.

Major Ben Perley Poore has become managing editor of the Washington Daily Chronicle.

In New York, recently, Mary Brown, aged nine years, was run over by a larger beer cart. The driver, after the accident, started his horses on a run and tried to escape, but was arrested and would have been lynched by the crowd at the station but for the protection of the police.

Intelligence of the murder of five surveyors by Cheyenne Indians, in Colorado, and of a mail carrier near Fort Laramie, Wyoming, is received.

Dr. Buchner, scientifically considering women, asserts that the existence of the sex is "not an inherent natural necessity." Perhaps not in his opinion, since he has been born, but there was a time when it was a decided necessity to him.

State News.

Of nine cases of small-pox in Epping, four have proved fatal.

It is said that Colonel Palmer, the great route-agent, who was injured at Seabrook last summer upon the Eastern Railroad, and claims sixty thousand dollars' damage. The company having been exonerated from blame by a coroner's jury in two States, will of course vigorously contest the claim.

Peter Percy, Esq., of Greenfield, voted for the seventy-third time his annual ballot at the recent election.

The Lebanon Free Press has finally come to the conclusion that the present system of nominations needs renovating. The republican State committee thought otherwise when they unwisely refused to let the people nominate. Experience, after all, is the best teacher.

Mrs. Nancy Pendergast of Newmarket, who was formerly the wife of the late Joseph Sawyer of Newbury, Mass., has a pile of almanacs from 1746 to 1872 inclusive, 127 years, a very few numbers of which are missing.

During the fearful gale on the night of the 20th ult., a house in Jefferson was discovered to be on fire. The head of the family said, "We are gunners," as he in vain tried to remove the blazing board. But some intrepid young ladies replied "not yet." With almost superhuman strength two of them tore away the burning mass, while a third ventured into the room with pails of water, with which the fire was soon extinguished.

A. A. Perkins, Esq., Supt. of the Conway division of the Eastern Railroad, returned from Florida on Friday night of last week, greatly improved in health.

HOW THEY TRADE IN KENTUCKY.—At Point Creek, Jackson county, a trader had bought sheep of a resident. Resident had one more to sell, when the following conversation ensued:

Trader—"I'll give you two dollars for that sheep."

Resident—"It's worth five dollars."

T.—"It ain't worth two dollars."

R.—"It's worth five dollars."

T.—"It ain't."

R. (drawing a large navy)—"What's that there sheep worth?"

T.—"Under the circumstances, I think it's worth nigh unto six dollars."

They traded forthwith.

In his book on Chronic Diseases Dr. Pierce says of his Golden Medical Discovery:

"God, I believe, has instilled into the roots and plants from which this wonderful medicine is extracted, the healing properties, by the use of which Consumption, the scourge of the human family, may be promptly arrested and permanently cured. I do not wish to delude, flatter and then disappoint the afflicted by asserting that this can be accomplished when the lungs are half consumed, as many do who, being devoid of all conscience, aim to humbug the afflicted, that they may sell their often worse than worthless compounds. But if my Golden Medical Discovery is employed in the first or early stages of the disease, I know from ample observation and actual test in hundreds of cases, that it will arrest the disease and restore health and strength." 616.

SMALL-POX.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen call the attention of Physicians and Householders to the Law of the State and the Ordinance of the City relative to cases of Small-pox occurring in this city, as follows:

It shall be the duty of every physician who attends upon any person sick with the small pox to immediately report the same to the Health Officers or the Mayor and Aldermen: and if any physician shall neglect so to do he shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars.

When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick of the small pox, he shall immediately give notice to the Health Officers: if any such householder shall refuse or neglect to do so he shall for each refusal or neglect forfeit the sum of twenty dollars.

The Board of Aldermen have requested the Mayor to cause IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION to be instituted for every violation of the above provisions.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Big Thing.

Portsmouth may not be the largest city in the world, nor the most enterprising; we cannot boast of Bunker Hills, Plymouth Rocks and such things among its natural productions; but we can safely assert that our city has produced at least one original idea, which is that the chairman of a legislative body can "veto" a vote declining to sustain the ruling of the chair! Heretofore, the decision of the authority which makes the rules has been regarded as final in determining the question as to whether or no those rules have been observed; and it remained for the chairman of a Portsmouth legislative body to discover that the chair is the final judge as to whether the chair has ruled correctly or otherwise! It is evident that this astounding discovery will entirely do away with "appeals from the ruling of the chair," and give to the chairman supreme power; and, as we look at it, it also gives him power to make the body over which he presides sit in eternal session, notwithstanding the ancient and universal rule that "a motion to adjourn is always in order," as it is just as easy and permissable for him to "veto" a vote for adjournment as one declaring that his rulings are not in accordance with the views of the men who made the rules. Something more than two years ago the Journal suggested that the title of the upper branch of our city government should be changed from "Board of Mayor and Aldermen" to "Board of Mayor and Alderman Hatch;" but in view of the remarkable proceedings of Thursday evening, we think "The Board of Mayor Marvin" would be the appropriate designation for that body now, though some may think the "Board of Mayor Marvin and Ex-Alderman Hatch" most suitable.

Laconics.

About 350 of the rescued passengers of the steamship Atlantic passed through this city, early Saturday morning, in a special train from Portland. In Boston they quartered at Faneuil Hall and were kindly cared for, taking the evening train for New York. Among the lost passengers was Albert Sumner, son of Judge Increase Sumner, of Massachusetts, who had recently completed his musical education at Dresden.

In our report of the Board of Mayor and Alderman, we transposed the declaration of the vote on the appeal from the Mayor's decision. He first announced that two had voted to sustain him and three in the negative, afterward correcting the mistake and nonconcurring.

Hon. Thomas L. Tullock, wife and son, will leave New York on the 19th inst. for Europe.

The chairman of the Board of Assessors desires us to remind tax-payers that the time for a sworn return of their property expires to-morrow. See advertisement.

It seems to be the general opinion that property for taxation in Rye, is valued lower than in most other towns. Bank shares even, are reported to be assessed for less than their par value, when they are worth much more than par.

Fashion is rarely useful. It scorns utility. That of wearing the hair loosely down the back is now going out just as fly-time begins to dawn.

The republicans of Portsmouth offer Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett as the next candidate for governor. Worse men than he is will be offered, or offer themselves.—Laconia Democrat.

In looking over statistics of the U. S. Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows for the year 1871, we find the following enormous sums paid out for charitable objects:—

For relief of brethren,	$504,299.57
" " " widowed families,	91,068.99
" the education of orphans,	9,861.81
" burying the dead,	138,639.44
" sufferers by Chicago fire,	131,161.61
" " " Wisconsin fire,	16,867.23
" " " Michigan fire,	8,391.82
Total	$1,000,304.43

WOMEN IN AMERICAN SOCIETY.—Roberts Brothers have published a neatly bound book with the above title, with contents including The School-Girl; After Graduation; Ornamental Young Ladies; The Accomplishments; Getting Married; The Better Way; Weddings; The Feminine Mania for Clothes; Social Discomforts; Evening Parties; Beauty as a Power; Charitable Fairs; Summer Resorts; A Sojourn in Arcady; Our Farmers' Wives; Invalidism as a Pursuit; The Physical Education of Girls; The Reforms Needed in Dress; Grandmothers' Houses; The Queen of Home. Abbie G. Woolson is the author. The book should be read by all the ladies. For sale by J. H. Foster. Price $1.50.

THE OTHER SIDE.—The Biddeford Journal has following defense of the increase of salaries of members of Congress:—

We alluded last week to the howl raised by many over the increase of congressional salaries to $7500. We think it none too large and have reason so to think. The manner in which it was obtained we condemn—that clause which makes the increase retroactive for the 42d Congress; but it will be pleased that the increase could not have been voted without that clause and it is evident that the plea is well made as a matter of fact; but it is no excuse save on a point of policy.

The only question for the people on this subject is, was the salary of $5000 per year sufficient? Here must be taken into account the cost of living in Washington. The wife of a member during inauguration week went househunting for one day. She answered all the advertisements of "houses to let" and in the evening told us of the result. The lowest rent for any respectable house was $2000, and that was a small, cheap house that would belittle the influence of a member to live in. An eligible house, properly furnished, cannot be obtained in Washington short of $3000, which is the cost of the bare rent, and after adding the cost of table fare and servants, how much will remain of the $5000? Senator Morrill has rooms in a private house and how much he pays we do not know, but it cannot be less than $50 per week, or $2600 per year. The salary is so small that he cannot afford to take his family with him. Senator Hamlin boards at Willards' Hotel. He has two small rooms, by no means eligibly situated, and what do you think he has to pay? One hundred dollars per week and that for himself alone! The people will see by these figures how much will remain out of the salary of $5000.

Do you say that these prices are outrageously high? So say we, but what are we going to do about it? Such they are, and we know of no right Congress has to pass a law that shall make them any lower. Do you?

Under the old law, members received in addition to their salaries a certain amount for mileage, which was very unequal. The members from Oregon received $6492.80; from California, $4029.60; from Texas, $3000; Kansas, $2552.10; from Delaware, $182. By the new law they receive $7500 and no mileage; so that those members from the extreme States do not actually receive so much as they did under the old law, and the pay only of those members who live within a certain radius of the Capital, is actually increased.

We submit that the extensive condemnation of the measure, is not warranted by an examination of the subject. And a judgment although very general, may be shown to be fallible, as the clamor of the press and people for the abolishing of the franking privilege, has proved itself to be; while a demand for its restoration is imperatively required.

ONE BRIGHT SPOT.—A few days before Mr. N. A. Shute, cashier of the Exeter Bank and treasurer of the Savings Bank, defaulted, absconding with a large amount of money, Mr. Brackett Jones of South Newmarket, N. H., went to Exeter and offered Mr. Shute a thousand dollars with which to purchase for him a government bond of the same value. Mr. Shute took the money and told him he would purchase the bond in Boston or New York. Shortly afterwards Mr. Shute absconded, and Mr. Brackett thought he had seen the last of his money, when he was agreeably surprised by the reception of a thousand dollar bond, enclosed in an envelope directed to him, found by Shute's father among his papers.—Boston Traveller.

Is there any justification for Shute's robbing other people of $200,000?

The Goodrich Murder.

As the threads in the detectives' hands begin to show the pattern of the work, the mystery of the Goodrich case lightens up. It is the old, old story of love, jealousy, and murder. The actors are a poor girl, and a rejected, revengeful suitor. One is dead, the second is in prison, and the third is a fugitive with the sleuth-hounds of the law on his tracks. With every fresh revelation, the warning to those who meddle with the terrible passions of the race grows more intense. Love outside the pale of marriage is fraught with ruin and death. Scarcely less impressive is the picture of the sewing woman, who can earn but enough to pay her rent by the hard labor of ten hours, and is compelled to pawn her honor to get bread for her father and her child. It should make the world very merciful to the shortcomings of the poor.—N. Y. Graphic.

—The dramatic critic of the New York Tribune says Buffalo Bill and Texas Jack as drivers of the peaceful omnibus might attain a lofty eminence.

Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by enclosing one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. Morning Chronicle.

THE FARMER'S GARDEN.—About the 25th of April is soon enough in this latitude, to commence sowing peas, beets, lettuce, turnips, onions, &c., in the open ground. But on warm, well drained land, early peas and turnips, lettuce, beets and onions may be put in the first week in April. Sow the early red or white top strap turnip on fresh sod, manured with superphosphate, at the rate of 500 pounds per acre, or wood ashes at the rate of 200 bushels per acre. This will give you clean, handsome turnips about the middle of July. Sow in drills eighteen inches apart and thin to four or five inches in the row. Peas that require brush are best sown in double drills twelve inches apart, with two feet between the rows. The ground for early peas should be only moderately enriched with well rotted manure. For early beets, lettuce and onions, on the other hand, the soil can hardly be too rich. The latter usually succeed best sown on the "winter face;" that is on land prepared in the fall. The advantages of this method are, that by plowing and cultivating in the manure in the fall, it becomes thoroughly incorporated with the soil. The fall rains soften, the winter frosts disintegrate it, until the particles become a part of the soil. Another is that your land is all ready to go to work upon in the spring. If the soil is inclined to be heavy, it is a good plan to have it plowed in narrow beds or ridges. These being exposed to the sun will thaw and dry much sooner than if left perfectly flat. They may be broken down in the spring with a harrow and one-horse cultivator. For onions this fall preparation of land cannot be too highly recommended. But if the land is to be prepared this spring, begin by drawing on fine old manure (compost is best) at the rate of fifty two-horse loads to the acre. Work this under about four inches with a one-horse plow or cultivator. Harrow thoroughly and roll with a heavy garden roller. Rake clean with a wooden tooth rake. Mark off twelve inches apart each way, and plant your seed, putting a five or six seeds in a hill. Cover with common road sand, mixed with a little plaster. This will cause the seeds to germinate promptly, and also help mark the hills at the first hoeing. This method of planting in hills saves much labor in weeding and the crop will not be materially lessened.

THE "CREEPING" OR RAILROAD RAILS has attracted some attention of late, and while we do not attempt to explain it, we offer a point on the fact that, on lines running north and south, the western rail "creeps" faster than the eastern rail; that is, this strange movement of the rail toward the south is more marked in one rail than in the other on the same track. Furthermore, it has been noticed that on such a line the eastern rail wears out the fastest. Both of these points, we think can be explained by the motion of the earth as it turns from the west toward the east. Everything that has free motion is dragged after the whirling globe; every wind that blows, and every tide that moves feels the influence, and our train going north or south is pulled over toward the east, and naturally presses the eastern rail most heavily. The western rail, being relieved of its share of weight, "creeps" more freely and quickly. It is also noticed that the wheels that run on the eastern rail wear out the first, and we can but think that this earth motion is the true cause. The practical side of this is, that the eastern rail and wheels should be stronger.—Scientific American.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and raises "a thousand Ills" among the "Hearthsts" broad of white blood.—Philadelphia Ledger.
